Everything is up and running, with the exception of a verizon switching center nearby that got some water damage.

I've been doing business as usual, no troubles at all.

As a gesture of our Solidarity, that all of us purchase an American Flag for mounting to an automobile antenna. They can be purchased in single lots for as little as .50 ea.

I personally would like to see every automobile in the Country flying the flag.

I have purchased a Gross to give away, and have written to local businesses suggesting they give them away as well. Perhaps others on this list will see fit to do the same.

In a short search on the web, I found this site;

http://www.anyflag.com/american/indoor.htm#1

I am in no way affiliated with this company or any Flag company.

Forsberg is wrong. While that happens to be the same letter and number as an Amateur call sign, there is no copyright, trademark or any other right to it, A kid on a walkie talkie from Toys R Us could use that designation, or it could be on anyone's license plate. As long as you are not claiming it to be an Amateur call sign assigned to you, you can use it in any way you wish. Thanks and call me at 717-338-2502 if any problems.

PA-SitRep
Pennsylvania [Emergency] Situation Report E-Mail List

The PA-SitRep mailing list is a free communications tool that will enable you to monitor and report on major emergency situations throughout the State of Pennsylvania including weather emergencies, natural disasters, environmental disasters, civil disturbances and threats of terrorism.

The list is extremely low volume because messages to the list are limited only to those containing verified emergency situation reports of Major Import within the State of Pennsylvania.

The list is run from a private server at my expense, so there are no advertisements necessary or permitted.
Rumors, hearsay, unconfirmed and or inaccurate
reports and chat are strictly prohibited.

Subscribers do not have to be members of any specific emergency services organizations to join the PA-SitRep mailing list. ANYONE willing and able to comply with the posting guidelines is welcome.

The list protocol for posting messages is designed to cater to those who use digital cell phones or alphanumeric pagers for text messaging. The first paragraph of the messages posted to the list are brief summaries limited to 100 characters, followed by a more detailed situation report.

I think every Canadian and American is saddened and outraged by this despicable act. Personally I hope the US finds and tortures who is responsible.

My thoughts and prayers are with everyone who was touched by this terrible tragedy.

Sinclair actually wrote this back in the 60's and for awhile it was even played along side rock & role music of the time. Good to see it has resurfaced though.

I would think they would, dunno-

I do know that the Gov. of Mississippi has the authority to do so-

He started today.

I'll bet FEMA could jerk some chains either way-

I think that most Canadians are relatively pro-American, though I think we could probably give them a little more respect than WE do as Americans. We should especially stop bugging them aboot... oops... I mean ABOUT their accent.

Not to rain on the parade, but this speech you posted "America: The Good Neighbor" was given back in 1973 by Gordon Sinclair on his Toronto show. It is not completely authentic... though America certainly is AT LEAST as great as Sinclair suggests. 8-)

The text has been updated by people circulating it through e-mail to make it seem like it is current (adding current events like the SF earthquake and such).

...for more info:

http://urbanlegends.tqn.com/library/blamericans.htm

I also got an e-mail today from people urging us to fly our flags daily (which I am doing). Called "Flags Across America", please do this!

It also urged us to step outside tomorrow night (9/14/01) at 7pm for "Lights Across America" and "light a candle or shine a flashlight up into the sky". This is "to show these terrorists we are the UNITED states of America!" While this thought is touching, our sunset in San Francisco is at 7:20pm, and I hardly think my flashlight can compete with the sun. Is it too late to get this moved to 8pm? 8-)

Yes, but the Governor of Mississippi, like governors in other states, can only prosecute through their respective attorneys general. I don't think FEMA has any prosecutorial/judicial powers of any kind.

Greetings!

I'm looking to pick up a good DXpedition rig. Ideally, I'd like to find a rig that is suitable to be used as a mobile HF rig in the car AND suitable to put in a rucksack and hiked to the top of a mountain. Fancy bells & whistles are nice but not a necessity. Willing to consider new and/or used (but probably prefer new). Ultimately, looking for the best price/performance mix. Would greatly appreciate suggestions both on make/model and also places to obtain.

Also: I'm interested in picking up a mobile 2M all-mode unit. Again, all suggestions appreciated.

THX!!

Connecticut's are fine. Have you tried your bank's tellers, telephone's, or bank-by-web site?

Have you tried a teller, telephone, or bank-by web? Have others been able to use the ATMs? A guy I work with was freaking out because he couldn't withdraw money. It turns out _his_ magnetic strip was damaged.
<G> Then again, many of us KNOW our balance, 'cause we keep a register.

Kenwood TS50S, its a reliable rig. Has a good receiver and has agood transmitter. Its small and very well constructed. Unlike its newer brothers does not have all those Mickey Mouse connections internal ribbon cables etc. IF you really want to give this radio punch get a external RF speech processor. By the way you can also wind the power up to about 200 watts, although 150 watts seems reliable.

Another good choice is the Icom IC 735, great receiver and very reliable. It is one of the best radios Icom ever built. The Yaesu FT900 would also be a good choice.

Would you like to be the torturer? What instruments would you use? The Rack, thumbscrews, anus electrodes or something more sophisticated? Would you like to enter the competition for Chief Torturer. Please come up with some original ideas and join the long queue of applicants.

How long would you need before the doctor certified death? 3 hours, 3 days or 3 months? Or would you bring him back to full health between many torturing sessions so that you could extract maximum personal satisfaction.?

May be an "emergency" for your bank, but certainly not for the system.

I do so because SuperNews has a better news feed that NetZero.
It isn't a "anonymous mailor service". It's a feed that I PAY for.

Anyway, I use my REAL email when posting.
You don't. You are too afraid to.

It's confusing why you call out someone for using a remailer, when you do the same thing. You are a yellow-belly coward. Everyone here knows it. I bet it makes you really angry that you are losing this battle, and that everyone knows it!

we can become better friends. Someone as colorful and charasmatic as you would be at the top of my Best Friend list in a snap.

First of all, you need to get the right person to yell at.
Second, I see that ARES needs volunteers, (not out of the NYC region yet) amateurs with VHF/UHF mobile rigs, etc, for communications near the WTC or where it used to be.
You can believe that if I could get away from my duites here, I would be Well for starters, I don't whine and let the fact that I can't get to NYC keep me from doing something. I have spent several hours emailing a number of manufacturers and suppliers who can supply many of the items needed by the rescue workers asking them to think about donating those needed items. I received a number of emails from these manufacturers and suppliers stating that they are either already doing just that or that they will gladly do so, thanking me for the suggestion, and are making the arrangements.

What can be said of you?

Well, you hit the World Trade Center, but you missed America!
You hit the Pentagon, but you missed America!
You used helpless American bodies to take out other American bodies, but like a poor marksman, you STILL missed America!

Why? Because of something you guys will never understand.
America isn't about a building or two, not about financial centers, not about military centers.
America isn't about a place.
America isn't even about a bunch of people.
America is about an IDEA.
An idea that you can go someplace where you can earn as much as you can figure out how to; live, for the most part, like you envisioned living; and pursue happiness. (No guarantees that you'll reach it, but you can sure try!)

Yeah, we're fat, sloppy, easy-going goofs most of the time. That's an unfortunate image to project to the world, but it comes of feeling free and easy about the world you live in. It's unfortunate too, because people start to forget that when you attack Americans, they tend to fight like a cornered badger. The first we knew of the War of 1812 was when England burned Washington D.C. to the ground. Didn't turn out like England thought it was going to, and it's not going to turn out like you think, either. Sorry, but you're not the first bully on our shores, just the most recent.

There's a spirit that tends to take over people who come to this country looking for opportunity, looking for liberty, looking for freedom, even if they misuse it.

You guys seem to be incapable of understanding that we don't live in America, America lives in US! American Spirit is what it's called. Killing a few thousand of us, or a few million of us, won't change it. Most of the time, it's a pretty happy-go-lucky kind of Spirit. Until we're crossed in a cowardly manner. Then it becomes an entirely different kind of Spirit.

Wait until you see what we do with that Spirit this time.

Sleep tight, if you can.

We're coming.

I have a 2001 Chevy Tahoe that has a bad problem with conductive RFI. It is so bad that you can hear it on the AC DELCO radio in the truck on AM. I have chased it down and tried every known trick in the book. I have reduced the fuel pump RFI by 90% but there is a terrible ignition RFI that all the tricks have failed to reduce.

The radio is wired directly to the pos and neg terminals of the battery. (Again, I have proven this to be ignition conductive RFI and not transmitted through the power lines) Everything is properly grounded. I have shielded the individual sparkplug coils and cables and grounded them with no reduction. That goes for the computer too. (The RFI is the same with other HF Rigs installed in the truck)

I have taken an antenna, hooked it up to the radio and placed it 15 feet from the truck while it is running. The RFI is only reduced by about 3 S units. A shortwave radio picks up the RFI from over 20 feet.

The dealership is lost and Chevy takes the stance that it is an aftermarket non-approved radio. I have pointed out to Chevy that the truck interferes with other radios around it and its own Delco radio. They said they would get back to me.

What is really strange is my previous vehicle, a 1999 Tahoe had absolutely NO noise. The radio sounded the same whether the engine was running or not.

If anyone has any experience with a like vehicle or problem, I would like to hear about it.

This is a Call to ARMS, the USA has been attacked by the scum from the middle east. If you think the fight is going to be overseas your only half right. But the fight is going to be right in the good USA too for the enemy is already here. The military of course will be fighting the good fight in the middle east but who will be here in America to fight the enemy? We the people of course. We all need to buy GUNS and lots of AMMO. We also should be forming "Minute Man Militias" in our own communities to help defend this great country of ours. The National Guard and police can not be every were, we must have ways to defend our selves. Also prepare your selves in other ways such as having plenty of water and food. Also have some form of communications that can run on emergency power or batteries such as a FRS radios and CB. If your are a HAM your station should be all ready prepared, put your Field Day skills to work. Do your part for operation "Homeland Defense" and get ready. Pray this War will be over soon and God Bless Your All.

When you do find the problem, will you please forward it to me or post it here? I'm in the process of installing my 706 in my 2001 Sierra. I haven't got to the point of having to deal with noise yet, but sure would appreciate any info. How did you quiet the fuel pump? I'm sure I'll have to deal with that one...
Have you seen GM's Mobile Radio Installation Guidelines at

Ameritron AL-811 & Spare Set of Tubes
This unit is just over a year old and in clean and perfect condition, no scratches dings or rubs. This unit has never failed or been serviced. It has been a non-smoking environment and ran conservatively (its rated at 600 watts and I ran it at 500). It has 10 meters enabled (just a wire cut on this model). It is wired for 110v and can easily be changed to 220v if that is your preference. The tubes are in perfect shape/full output. The price includes a spare set of new 811's. The original box and manual are included. If you like mint gear you will not be disappointed. Price $500 Oh, reason for selling: New Alpha finally arrived : -)

Clinton,

Yes, I have seen that page. It has nothing but common sense installation instructions. Chevy is more concerned that your radio will cause problems with the vehicle than the other way around.

There are 2 ways to combat the fuel pump RFI. (I know a lot of 706 owners who have this problem in Chevy, Ford and Toyota) One is to have the gas tank completely dropped and a filter installed at the POS lead to ground. (This is a dealership job) The other, the approach I took, was to lower the tank (this is easy as the bands that hold the tank are easily removed and put back on.) to where it rests on the frame and reach in and place as many ferrite beads (snap on) on the leads to the pump as close to the pump as you can. This reduce the fuel pump noise 90%.

The ignition conductive RFI is a whole different story.

Back about 1976 the Canadian Department of Communications was within 60 days of outlawing the sale of Ford products for a similar reason. I know I could hear my wife coming for blocks; she still doesn't know how I was able to have the garage door open for her.

The problem was that the hood was not electrically part of the car so the solution was a simple-minded brass spring that was mounted to the firewall and engaged the hood when closed. With a whole new generation of engineers and accountants, GM may have done it again. Hearing it in the AM-FM kind of sounds more like direct radiation than conduction thru wiring.

A bit of coax braid may do wonders. On some older GM products (Camaros were notorious) people would notice that the headlites got brighter when the clutch was stepped on. The usual problem was a wreck where the ground straps were not re-attached but now and again life got hectic at the factory. I have no clue about 2001s but GM grounding and body panel attachment have always been a hit or miss proposition.

NOW AVAILABLE Program STUBTUNE

Design of open-wire etc stubline Matching Transformers.

May be used at either end of antenna feedline.

Select Zo of lines used in xfmr, then -

Vary length of one line to obtain resistive match to Ro of line between xfmr and transmitter.

Then vary length of stub line to tune out reactance.

Faster and more accurate than Smith Chart. Just as educational.

Takes line loss into account in xfmr design. Calculates actual loss on line with possibly high SWR.

Physical dimensions included in results. Also dB per 100 feet of line.

Download STUBTUNE in a few seconds from website below, etc.

Maybe Dimmy could send Bin Laden a ton of magazine subscriptions and then spam his ISP? Say, 500 or 600 spams a day? If Bin Laden's mom is in a health care facility, dimmy could drop in and threaten her, too while he's at it.

Let's get this right. According to Roger, Stagger Lee is Ray Chason.
According to Ray Chason, Stagger Lee is not he.
Roger posted Ray Chason's street address in a fit of anger, but Roger erred.
Trouble is that Roger remains undaunted and is convinced that Stagger is Ray.
Roger has not a clue about who is who and continues to whine, cry, and spew his venomous filth. If there is only one constant to Roger's messages, it is that he is capable of limited responses that are interlaced with sputtering smut. If it is true that profanity is the effort of a feeble mind to express itself, Roger is indeed feeble-minded. But we already knew that.

First some specs concerning Afganistan:

Literacy rate: 47% (male), 15% (female).
Per capita GDP: $800 per year
Electricity: 430 million kilowatt-hours

http://www.cia.gov/cia/publications/factbook/geos/af.html

What websites ? The ones they etch into stone tablets with hammer & chisel ?

The only thing the Afgans are good at is making bearded babies in tents pitched in the sand, and having bad underarm odor.

No, this whole affair in NYC was the product of either Iran or Iraq and possibly Yemen and the Sudan tossed in.

Let me put it to you another way: Brother Stair lives better and is more intellegent than your average Afgani. Bin Laden had a hand in this, but his real enablers are in the countries listed above.

Think about it. If the situation were real desperate, who the hell would want cash? It's great that you now have $450 but if it got REAL bad, all out war, etc. what good is cash? I would want to barter with food, soap, fuel, wood for burning to stay warm, etc. Cash? You can't eat cash. That just how foolish having $450 in cash really is.

Does anyone know if the middle pin on mic connector, the pin No 8, is ready functional for receive on Icom IC-2400E?
Is it ready to connect there my packet modem in that way to get packet signals directly from pin No 8 and not from the speaker plug?

Thank you indeed, and best 73s.

The problem with being "prudent" is that America's economy depends on the money in America's banks. If everyone in the nation were as "prudent" as you, we would have a financial CRISIS on our hands. America's infrastructure is strong enough. At this point PANIC is America's real enemy. It can be compared to the Y2K scare in that there was no danger other than the overreaction of the public.

If you want to be an alarmist and empty your bank account, that's fine. But you should keep it to yourself. Spreading ideas like that can be a REAL danger to America. Just look at what happened with gasoline prices...sparked by a few rumors on the internet (and some opportunistic, greedy, retailers).

The public should take it upon themselves to act calmly and rationally in this difficult time.

NOTE FROM THE EDITOR: The tragedy and terrorist act that took place in New York, September 11, 2001, will have an effect on everyone in years to come, especially the future youth of the world. Modern man (I use the term loosely after what has happen) has provided the world (by TV broadcasts) imagines that were horrifying. It is hard to believe that individuals would go to such great lengths to create such destruction and death. However, if the individuals who plotted this terrible act of terrorism think they have damaged the "American Spirit/Patriotism", they better think otherwise. Over the last several days, after reading my E-mail and messages from the DX Reflectors, I was "truly touched" by my fellow DXers/Amateurs from other countries expressing their condolences and outrage of this terrorist act. If anything, this tragedy has strenghtend the "American Spirit/Patriotism" and has bought the world closer together. Check out the following web site: http://uweb.ucsb.edu/~deter/thankyou.htm
My family would like to send our condolences to the families that have lost their loved ones in the World Trade Center tragedy and thank the many heroic individuals in their recuse work. Also, we would like to thank the many foreign individuals/amateurs/friends who expressed their condolences. Please pray for world peace and God bless America..... 73 de Tedd KB8NW

3B8, MAURITIUS. Jack/PA3BAG and Hans/PA0VHA will be active as 3B8/PA3BAG and 3B8/PA0VHA from October 1-16th. Their activity will be on RTTY, PSK31, CW and SSB on all bands including the WARC bands. QSL Manager for this event is PA0VHA: Hans Vernhout, Ph.de Goedestraat 54, NL 3132 XR Vlaardingen, The Netherlands. As members of the PI4CC contest group, see also their home page at: http://www.pi4cc.nl

9K2USA, KUWAIT. Effective September 15th, the Kuwait Amateur Radio Society (KARS), in conjunction with the Kuwait Ministry of Communications, has authorized the use of the callsign 9K2USA. This single callsign 9K2USA (NINE KILO TWO UNITED STATES of AMERICA) will be heard on all bands and all modes and will be used by "all Kuwait Amateurs" simultaneously. As a small token of the sympathy and support for the people of the United States from the citizens of Kuwait, and as an expression of deep condolence, the callsign will be used until the end of September. The Kuwait Amateur Radio Society (KARS) will be doing the QSL chores. They will put together a common database, and all QSLs will be via 9K2RA.

9L, SIERRA LEONE. Elmer, 9L1DX, a doctor working in Sierra Leone, is expected to be there for the next two or three years. During his spare time, look for him on 80/40/20/15/10 meters SSB. He was active during the last week on 15 meters (between 21253 and 21300 kHz) at various times (around 0030z, 1100z and 2345z). QSL via EA4CEN.

9M6, EAST MALAYSIA. Hein, DL2OBF, will be at the Hillview Gardens Resort for this year's CQ WW DX SSB Contest. He will take part as 9M6A in the Single Op/All Band/Assisted category. His operating time outside the contest will be limited; some CW with a focus on the WARC bands is possible. QSL via N2OO.

A2, BOSTWANA. Mako/JA1OEM and Toshi/JA1ELY will operate from Botswana during the following schedule. Mako will operate between September 21st and October 17th. His activity will be on 160-10 meters, SSB (limited English)/CW. Toshi will operate between September 21-28th. His activity will be on 80-10 meters SSB/CW/RTTY. They don't know what their callsigns are, possibly A25/JA1OEM and A25/JA1ELY. QSL to homecall.
JA1OEM - Shinichi Toyofuku: P.O.Box 9, Sswara, 287-8691 JAPAN
JA1ELY - Toshikazu Kusano: P.O.Box 8, Kamata, Tokyo, 144-8691 JAPAN

A5, BHUTAN. Dr. Glenn Johnson, W0GJ, informs OPDX (in a long press release which will be sent to all OPDX InterNet Subscriber as an additional bulletin) that October 26, 2001, marks the inaugural day for the Bhutan Amateur Radio Club (BARC). The officers of the new club are:
President: Mr. Thinley Dorji
Director of the BTA Ministry of Communications

Secretary: Mr. Phub Tshering, Executive Engineer of the BTA

Member : Mr. Thinlay Wangchuck, Ministry of Trade and Industry

Mr. Yasuo (Zorro) Miyazawa (JH1AJT) and Dr. Glenn Johnson (W0GJ) are Honorary/Founding Members, and have been issued special lifetime callsigns of A51A and A51B respectively. To celebrate the formation of the Bhutan Amateur Radio Club, A50A will be active as a multi-multi entry in the CQWW SSB Contest October 27-28th. A team of U.S. operators will be helping the licensed Bhutanese hams learn to operate in a contest environment from the Bhutan Ham Centre, operated by Yeshey Dorji, A51AA. Before and after the contest the U.S. hams will concentrate on the low bands, WARC bands and new modes. Expect A50A to be active in future contests and special events in Bhutan. Currently, here is the list of operators:
U.S. Operators: (Oct. 23 - Nov. 1) Bhutan Operators:
Dave Anderson, KW4DA - A52DA Yeshey Dorji, A51AA
Chuck Brady, N4BQW - A52CB Kesang Namgyel, A51KC
Pat Cahill, NOADQ - A52PC Parop Kinley, A51PK
Glenn Johnson, W0GJ - A51B Pema Rinzen, A51PR
Stewart Lewis, W0SHL - A52SL Dorji Yeshey, A51UD
Ken Nollet, K0EN - A52ED Ambika Gurung, A51YL
Steve Towle, W0HT - A52ST Wangpo Dorji, A51WD

QSL information for A50A: Bhutan Amateur Radio Club (BARC), P.O. Box 88 Thimphu, Bhutan (At least two green stamps required for return postage). Also, Bhutan is not set up to handle bureau cards yet. The American Team QSL information is via their home callsign. The Bhutanese operator's QSL information can be found on: http://www.qrz.com
To see more information on visiting Bhutan, check out the Web site: http://www.qsl.net/a51aa

DXCC NEWS. Wayne Mills, N7NG/1, Manager of the ARRL's Membership Services Department, reports: "Effective immediately, all applications for DXCC credit that are postmarked by September 30th, will be eligible for inclusion in the next Annual List. Applications do not need to be actually received in Newington by that date. All mail must show clear evidence of the posting date, or date of receipt by carriers other than the world postal system. This change should alleviate most problems arising from mail delays currently being reported. Applications will still be listed on the web as we receive them."

FM, MARTINIQUE. Operators and members of the Pordenone Gangsters Club, Andy/IV3BTY, Luke/IV3JVJ, Dan/IV3TDM, Leon/FM5DN, Dennis/FM5GU and

Lucien/FM5WD will be active as FM5GU in the CQWW SSB Contest as a Multi/Single entry. For details, check out the Web site: http://www.qsl.net/fm5gu

FO0/A, AUSTRAL ISLANDS. Jon/WB8YJF and Leo/K8PYD will be active from the Austral Islands, September 24th through October 3rd. There will be a heavy emphasis on RTTY. They will also be active on CW with some SSB. Their activity will include an entry in the CQWW RTTY Contest. Callsigns will be announced later (possibly FO0SEV and FO0FRY). Operations will be on 80-10 meters. They will use WB8YJF's callsign in the contest. QSLs go to home callsign direct, if possible (It is MUCH faster).

IOTA NEWS.....
AS-147. Takeshi, JE3DST, will be active from Okushiri Island (Okushiri-cho Okushiri-gun Hokkaidou) from September 22-25th, as JI3DST/8. Activity will be on 17/15/12/10/6 meters SSB. QSL via the Bureau ONLY (Please don't send QSL by Air mail.).

EU-128. Karl, DL1ZU, will activate the Schleswig-Holstein State East Group as DL1ZU/p, September 19th through October 7th. Activity will be on 80-10 meters on CW and PSK31. QSL via the homecall/bureau.

NA-136. John, N1OLO, informs OPDX that due to new restrictions placed on them by the island's owner, station N1EV will only be operating from Sheffield Island on September 30th, 1400-2100z. They will be operating on 15, 20, and 40 meters SSB. The modes CW/RTTY/PSK31 will be operated on a secondary basis. Please check the DX cluster for frequency and mode.

JT, MONGOLIA (Trip Cancelled). Ken, K4ZW, reports that "given the tragic events in the United States this week and the certainty of further action, the uncertainty of air travel out of Washington D.C., and the desires of our families, Karl/K4YT and I have decided to postpone our journey to Mongolia. It is our desire to complete this project in the near future once conditions dictate that it is prudent to do so. For those of you who have provided support for this effort, all the items have been procured and will be used towards their stated intent. Details regarding the rescheduling of our trip will be provided once they are known."

KC4, ANTARCTICA. Jim, WA2EUJ, who was active as KC4USV and working at McMurdo Station on their radio communications gear, indicated that he would be on the air as much as possible during the next few months. Jim is just one of several operators at KC4USV and states his QSL Manager is K1IED. Station KC4USV has been heard on or around 14203, 14250 or 18130 kHz, usually after 0000z and as late as 0800z.

KH3, JOHNSTON ATOLL. The K3J team finally made it to the Atoll after flight delays and clearance to fly due to the tragedy in New York. Their operation began September 14th. Operations are "expected" to end September 18th.

KH4, MIDWAY. Activity by KH4/DL7VFR and KH4/DL2RUM that was to take place September 20-29th, is now cancelled due to circumstances and tragedy in the USA (flights not assured, special security requirements on KH4).

LIGHTHOUSE ACTIVITY.....
Jim Buffington, K5JIM, Publicity Chairman for the Amateur Radio Lighthouse Society, reports that plans for "Lighthouse Christmas Lights 2001" have been announced by the Amateur Radio Lighthouse Society (ARLHS), sponsor of the special event. "It's not a contest, and you do NOT have to operate from a lighthouse in order to participate," said ARLHS President and Founder, Jim Weidner, K2JXW. "Christmas Lights" will take place from 0001z December 22, 2001, through 2359z January 2, 2002. Any and all modes can be used. Detailed information about the event, including suggested frequencies, can be found on the ARLHS Web site: http://www.arlhs.com
Certificates will be available for working five or more lighthouses or lightships, and for working ten or more ARLHS member stations.

LX, LUXEMBOURG. A group of Dutch radio amateurs will operate as LX9SW now through September 23rd. Activity will be on CW/SSB/RTTY on all bands, including the WARC bands. QSL via PA1KW, bureau ok. There will be an on-line log-search with info and links at:
http://www.qsl.net/pi4zut/lx/lx.htm

MU, GUERNSEY. Hein, DL2OBF, will be active in the CQ WW CW Contest as MU/DL2OBF. He will take part in the Single Op/All Band/Low Power category. There will be no operations outside the contest. QSL via DL2OBF.

QSL INFO AND NEWS.....
Larry, W6OD, reported that the QSLs and certificates for the Andorra "contest/anniversary" special event stations actived in March 2000 are being received. He received his on September 9th.

Charly, K4VUD, informed OPDX that he made over 4200 contacts over this past summer with his HS0ZCW callsign in Thailand. He had time to make only two contacts with his new India callsign, VU3CHE, but he did see the Taj Mahal and attend the Dalai Lama's birthday celebration in India. QSL via buro or direct to K4VUD.

SPECIAL THANKS. Alan, VK4AAR, states, "A word of thanks to the amateurs of the world who made it possible to donate around $20,000.00 (TO DATE) to the charity, Camp Quality, which works hard to make life a little more tolerable and pleasant for children suffering with cancer and other terminal illnesses. Surplus funds after postage stamps were bought made this possible. From the kids, Camp Quality, VK0MM and me..... thank you so much..... 73, Alan..VK4AAR."

T88, PALAU ISLAND. Nobu, JA7AYE, will operate as T88AY between September 20th and September 24th. Activity will be on 80-10 meters, SSB/CW. He will pay special attention for EU. QSL to homecall: Nobuyasu Hosaka, 98-118, Haramae, Oogawara, 989-1201 JAPAN.

XV, VIETNAM. Remember to look for Sam, JA1EUI, staying in Danang at the end of the week (September 21-28th). He hopes to sign XV3Z or XV3ZZ. His activity will be on 80-6 meters SSB. QSL via JA1EUI: Satoru Matushima, 2469-5 Toda, Atugi, 243-0023, Japan.

YE, INDONESIA. Donny, YB1BOD, informs OPDX that the ORARI Lokal Bekasi Club station, YE1ZTC, will participate in the upcomming CQWW CW Contest and probably the Phone Contest. Last year they participate with the callsign YC1ZTC, however, shortly after they were granted the callsign YE1ZTC to enchance their DX operating (The Indonesian prefixes YC and YF prefix do not have privileges on 20 meter and the WARC bands). Their main bands for the contests will be the 15, 10 and 20 meters since they have marginal antennas on 160, 80 and 40 meters. They request to please lower your CW speed (25 - 30 wpm) since not all of their operators are used to contest style QSO (however they are training them). They will enter the contest as a Multi/Single entry. QSL cards should be either via the Bureau, the address listed on QRZ.COM or YB1BOD (who handles the cards for YE1ZTC).

ZL7, CHATHAM ISLANDS. Roger/G3SXW and Nigel/G3TXF are now active until September 23rd, as ZL7/homecall. Their activity will be CW only on the following suggested frequencies: 3503, 7003, 10103, 14023, 18073, 21023, 24893 and 28023 kHz (listening 1-3 kHz up). QSL via their home callsign, G3SXW and G3TXF. For more detailed information, check the Web page:

Just a reminder that tonight (every Sunday night) from 8:00 PM Eastern time to Midnite is Radio NewYork International with John P. Lightning.
Program is done LIVE from Brooklyn NYC and is quite good. John P. Lightning and his crew put on a great program.

WBCQ - 7.415 mHz shortwave live radio starting at 8:00 PM Eastern Sunday.

I also understand that you can also hear RNYI on the Net but I don't have the URL.
If anyone has the infor for RNYI via Real Audio please post the same !

Anyone have any suggestions for putting a 2 meter antenna on a Geo Tracker convertible? I have 5/8 base loaded cushcraft in my spare parts but don't have much roof area for a ground plane. Just a roll bar that is under the fabric. How about putting it on the hood? Or would someone suggest a different antenna? Maybe a marine antenna? Thanks at one time I believe Antenna Specialists made a mount for fiberglass fire trucks that was a vertical dipole with the cable running up a pipe to a mount, up from which ran a 1/4 or 5/8 and down from which ran an adjustible sleeve. It would hitch up to a ball mount or bumper mount. Worked good

I know this may have been asked/answered many times, but I must have missed it. I've been licensed since 1988 and active the entire time, but can't recall ever learning why the 2m FM "Calling Frequency" or sometimes more correctly put, the "Centralized and Localized Ragchew Channel" is at 146.520. The same question goes for the 6m call frequency 52.525, etc,etc band to band, so forth and so on. Regarding 2m, I've done the simple math (the only math I can do) and .520 does not seem 1/2 way between anything, the band edges, voice-only ranges (up from the cw portion), etc. I need to know just in the event I ever make it to "Jeopardy" and there's a ham category the same day I'm there asking this very question. Knowledge is the only cure for ignorance.

I was given information that the Motorola Maxtrac radio is 9600 bps packet capable, assuming that the transmit audio is injected at the junction of R223, C228, and R222 on the RF board. I have the radio and these instructions, but do not have a service manual for the Maxtrac. Therefore, it has been difficult for me to locate the junction of the three components.

I would appreciate any assistance that can be provided to locate these components (picture, photo, diagram, etc.) If anyone has experience with using a Maxtrac for 9600 bps packet, that would be helpful as well.

Please send information to scoville@sprynet.com. Thank you in advance!

Lew,

>>Take a pice of wire and ground the tail pipe to the frame at the back of car. I did this to a Chevy S10 and took the noise level from +10 down to 1<<

Been there, done that. Nothing gained.

New wrinkle - The NB is useless as it distorts the audio to the point of uninteligibility. I have been in contact with Alinco and there reply was incredulous!

Even though the Alinco has a NB problem, the RFI is present in 2 other rigs I have.

>>Alex,

I am sorry but I find your answer hard to fathom. This radio was built and designed to be used mobile. The NB distorts the audio whether the engine is running or not. It occurs in the shack on the bench. I have had several mobile HF rigs including a relatively plain jane Radio Shack HTX10 that all had NBs and all worked to some degree with no distortion of the audio.

No ClearSpeach Speaker is going clear up that distortion as it is caused in the NB circuit before the amplification circuit. The fact that Alinco recommends an after-market product to solve a problem in design is inexcusable.

If this is endemic in Alinco Mobile HF rigs, and from your answer, it appears so, Alinco needs to go back to the drawing board with their NB circuits.

Regards

PA-SitRep
Pennsylvania [Emergency] Situation Report E-Mail List

The PA-SitRep mailing list is a free communications tool that will enable you to monitor and report on major emergency situations throughout the State of Pennsylvania including weather emergencies, natural disasters, environmental disasters, civil disturbances and threats of terrorism.

The list is extremely low volume because messages to the list are limited only to those containing verified
emergency situation reports of Major Import within the State of Pennsylvania.

The list is run from a private server at my expense, so
there are no advertisements necessary or permitted.
Rumors, hearsay, unconfirmed and or inaccurate
reports and chat are strictly prohibited.

Subscribers do not have to be members of any specific emergency services organizations to join the PA-SitRep mailing list. ANYONE willing and able to comply with the posting guidelines is welcome.

The list protocol for posting messages is designed to cater to those who use digital cell phones or alphanumeric pagers for text messaging. The first paragraph of the messages posted to the list are brief summaries limited to 100 characters, followed by a more detailed situation report.

For more information, or if you'd like to subscribe,

Does anyone use writelog. How do you like it. Is it easy to use and does it do all needed in a contest. Especially important is if you have used TRLOG, how does it compare?

I am converting totally to WIN2000 no win98 and NO DOS, and am sick of booting and finding ways to make dos run so I am looking for a windows program/. I am also sick of waiting for a windows version of TRLOG.

I have been reading the book, "200 Meters and Down" and am in the middle of the spark hey-days. The authors talk about the various frequencies used in those days, primarily in meters rather than kilohertz. Some operated at 180 meters, others at 100 meters and 50 meters. My question is how was frequency established in the spark days? Was it the length of the spark or ?? And how did they know they were receiving a message on 100 meters, for example?

2724. LA Area Repeater

FCC to Prohibit Automatic Control on LA Area Repeater
NEWINGTON, CT, Sep 18, 2001--The FCC has told the owner of the W6NUT repeater in the Los Angeles, California, area to expect a letter terminating authority to operate the machine under automatic control until further notice. An FCC review into the repeater's operation initiated last winter followed allegations that the licensee or control operator failed to address "long periods of jamming by users, broadcasting, music playing as well as a plethora of other violations."
The latest chapter in the W6NUT saga came in a September 7 letter to repeater owner Kathryn Tucker, AA6TK, from FCC Special Counsel for Amateur Radio Enforcement Riley Hollingsworth. Hollingsworth specifically cited incidents of alleged rules violations in early February on W6NUT and reiterated that extensive monitoring of W6NUT showed "no evidence that a control operator even exists for this repeater." The FCC also has reported receiving numerous complaints about W6NUT.
In her reply to the FCC, Tucker identified her husband, Roy Tucker, N6TK, as the primary control operator "24 hours a day, 7 days a week, 52 weeks out of the year." But elsewhere in her response, Tucker noted that he was not on duty during the alleged misbehavior in early February that prompted the FCC review. Tucker also told the FCC that it was not the repeater's policy "to attempt to remove unruly operators" from using W6NUT. As for complaints, Tucker told the FCC that the W6NUT policy was to let them "go in one ear and out the other."
Hollingsworth's September 7 letter suggested that Tucker was misinformed about the FCC rules governing repeater operation. He also asked Tucker to document her designation of Roy Tucker as the W6NUTcontrol operator, and he noted that the rules hold licensee and control operator "equally responsible for the proper operation of the station." Automatic control does not absolve the licensee or control operator of the responsibility for illegal or improper conduct that airs, Hollingsworth explained. While there's an exception for inadvertent communications that violate the rules, he said, FCC rules do not consider improper or illegal conduct that's repetitive or continues for hours or days to be inadvertent.
The rules do "not exempt the repeater station licensee from responsibility for the proper operation of his or her station or allow a repeater station licensee to ignore complaints, Hollingsworth wrote. "Given your response, it is evident that you do not understand the duties of a control operator," Hollingsworth said. "Further, we find no merit to your implication that the responsibility of the owner/licensee/control operator of a repeater ends with technical operation of the station's equipment." Hollingsworth said Tucker's understanding of automatic control--as indicated by her reply--was "in error." Automatic control is not a method of operator control, he said. Under automatic control, a repeater may be operated without a control operator to babysit the repeater, provided devices and procedures are in place to ensure technical compliance.

Hollingsworth requested that the licensee or the control operator conduct a time and usage study of W6NUT's operation for 14 consecutive 24-hour periods to demonstrate that the repeater can comply with FCC rules without a control operator on duty. He said the FCC wants to know the date, time and length of transmissions, the stations originating the transmissions, a brief summary of the content, notes about any apparent violations, the times the control operator had to act to "insure the immediate proper operation" of the repeater, and any down periods. Hollingsworth said the repeater may continue to operate using remote or local control in the meantime. Tucker was given 30 days to respond.

The W6NUT repeater on 147.435 MHz has attracted a following of what some observers call "nontraditional" amateur users. It also was said to have been radio home of Richard Burton, ex-WB6JAC, sentenced earlier this year to prison for unlicensed operation.

As a result of the early February incident, Gregory S. Cook, ex-KC6USO, of Chico, turned in his license, and the FCC ordered Ted R. Sorensen III, KC6PQW, of Agoura Hills off all repeaters on the 144, 222, or 440-MHz bands for the next three years.

I am looking for the best value in an automatic mobile antenna tuner that will tune a stainless-steel 102-in CB whip to cover all bands 80-10 (160 would be nice but not essential).

I also plan to use this antenna on MARS frequencies so the ability to cover areas of the HF spectrum outside of the ham bands would be a big help.

The transceiver to be used is an Icom IC-735.

This antenna will be mounted on the rear bumper of a motorhome.

Thanks in advance for any advice...

This just in to my desk.....

Dear Friends,
I sadly report that my friend of many years, Walter Miller, passed away this morning (Sept 18, 2001). I was in telephone contact with his wife and son about an hour ago and they gave me the details on his funeral as follows:

It will be held at 10 AM Saturday, Sept 22 at the Higgins Funeral Home
209 West 8th St.
Plainfield, NJ 07060

Visiting hours 7 - 9 PM Friday

Walter suffered greatly from rheumatoid arthritis and cancer of the lung, back and brain. May he rest in peace.

I too am a DSP system architect, hardware and software designer. I also do EMI testing. I use Sharc DSPs and the 2100 family from Analog Devices. Which DSPs do you use? I have built my own DSP system for my ham radio and am presently writing filters to work on the audio, while my Icom 746 works on IF at 14 kHz. I suppose the DSP does the downconversion directly with its own mixer or decimator. Do you know more about that? I suppose the reason they operate at 14 kHz rather than the audio band it to save filtering requirements, since any AC97 codec can sample at 44 kHz and thus reduce improve the filtering capabilities.

Although early in the planning stages, a great DXpedition is being planned. The long-time user of quality handheld transceivers, Osama bin Laden, will soon be operating from the depths of Hell. He will be signing as IM666B, using the aid of Satan, IM666A, who will be bin Laden's logistical coordinator. Adolph Hitler will work with Osama during contests in the Multi-op category. Saddam Hussein, H3LL will serve as IM666B's QSL manager until he becomes a Silent Key himself, and that most likely will be in the relative near future. Of course, bin Laden will not be able to operate until he unpacks his radio, unfortunately for him, it will be under 200,000+ tons of former skyscraper debris we pound up his chute. Gee, I guess now we will get to find out what happens when one incinerates a ni-cad.

Osama, just remember, once in Hell, you can check-out anytime you like, but you can never leave. Have a nice eternity :) Bbye.

This unit was made in the mid-1960's by RF Communication of Rochester, NY.It uses a single 8164/3-1000Z power triode tube. It covers from 2MHZ to 30 MHz in ten steps. It can be tuned either manually or automatically with servo motors. This unit comes from a silent key and was given to our club. All I can tell you that the filaments of the tubes light up and the servo motors work. NO high voltage tests have been done. This is a very heavy duty unit. It weights about 250 pounds. This unit is for pick up or delivery (?) only. It is located in Northern New Jersey. We have no idea what this amplifier may be worth. If interested make us an offer. Any questions or offers should be sent to sawman2@aol.com. Pictures apon request.

Frequency, in most rigs of that era was determined by two things....
1) the primary tank LC, and 2) the antenna circuit LC. The sparking frequency only determined the ``modulation'' or tone of the spark.
The higher the make/break sparking frequency, the higher the audio tone heard in the receiver headset. Later tube transmitters often had MCW or TONE markings where some sort of an interrupting chopper or audio modulation was added to CW to emulate what a spark would sound like, in military and commercial circuits, and on 600M.

A 60 cycle spark gave a low mushy 120 hz audio tone.

A true interrupter spark (typical of low power ham sets) gave maybe a 50 to 200 hz audio tone, depending upon how slow or fast the sparking transformer interrupter contacts would make or break.

A 500 cycle spark gave a a 1000 hz audio tone.

A rotary gap spark would give anywhere from 200hz to 1000 or more hz depending upon how fast it rotated and how many sparking point pairs there were on the wheel.

Coupling was rather tight, and although you could get approximately in the right area by the LC of the primary tank, coupling to the antenna could pull you wildly one way or another. Thus, your true transmitting frequency was only very approximate.

A proper spark was loosely coupled, and you could measure the bandwidth or ``decrement`` of the spark, and it had to meet certain regulated standards. There were special wavemeters, e.g., the Kolster Decremeter, used to measure and plot the bandwidth of the spark wave.
It was important commercially, but not so much in amateur circles.
Most ham sets were not so loosely coupled, generally, but as time went on, and The Old Man ranted about ``Rotten Sparks'' etc., things got a little better.

Most spark would only be good for maybe 100 mile communications, at best. So, you had groups of operators that tended to work on certain frequencies, to be heard amongst themselves. When the need arose for longer distance communication, you had to relay the traffic, and that was one of the founding functions of the ARRL, to assist/coordinate etc, that relaying. Remember, receivers in that era used crystals mostly, and not until the late spark era, after WWI, were hams able to get many vacuum tubes to make amplifying tuners. My dad, an old sparker since 1914 (SK) used to say that all he could work were the fellow ops/kids around town, and little else, back then on just a crystal tuner and a model T ford spark set. Commercial and military sets could get out to 100-500 miles with some care if they were of the 1kw-2kw and larger sizes. Few hams could afford that kind of spark horsepower. Most had maybe 50-200 watts input, unless they had a really big set.

Since amateurs had 200 meters and down, effectively 1.5 mhz and up, the exact frequency did not matter much. Frequency meters were poor in that era, being nothing more than precision tuned tanks with a lamp or crystal and a headset, vaguely remotely somwhere back in time calibrated against NBS, or an approximation thereto. Thus frequency was only very approximate. Ham tuners of the era would tune easily from 200-50 meters, if you examine their circuitry, and often down into the commercial ranges (600M/450M/300M). Thus, dial calibration, especially as we know it, was very crude, and imprecise.

As to calibrating receivers, your best guess was just a guess. You tried to listen in to commercial stations and get some idea of a dial calibration, but the rest at 200m and down was pure guess, or trust of your wavemeter calibration. What was plus or minus a few meters, back then, right?

I also heard that Walter was in bad shape. WB2CLN mentioned he was in the hospital on 3.960 a few nights ago while I was listening on the Sony 2010.
Alot of people may not have known that Walter was also a very gifted Engineer, having graduated with honors from the Stevens Institute of Technology in NNJ. I can think of several technical glitches both at home and in the shop that his suggestions held the solution to the problem at hand.
(One of which was a way to use the earpiece from an ordinary common telephone receiver as a microphone for replacement of the electret condensor unit used today with virtually all ham rigs and computer teleconference equipment that gives a tremendous improvement in audio quality in almost all cases)
He also knew how to put out a clean, near AM quality sideband signal on HF which is unmatched in my book. The R.A. did cause him much pain over the past few Years, but he endured it well occupying his time in his home workshop or on the ham radio. I will miss him.

think that if someone wanted to be real generous and send me something nice, my address is good in QRZ.
It's tough living alone on days like your birthday. I mean, i am depressed alot of the time. No one at the Church seems to care. So where do i have to go? Listening to Prophet Stair and Hal Turner, they comfort me. All i do is sit at the computer and read newsgroups and read Hal's webpages. I've tried going to a couple of country dance places, but none of gals would have a dance with me. It seems every time I try to do something that would be

This is a poorly edited transcript of a June 5, 1973 radio broadcast by the late Gordon Sinclair. If anyone is interested in the original text and a little background on the piece take a look at this link.

I'm gonna GIT that rag head Laden for sure. Pull out all the stops. Go for broke.
I'm gonna spam him and all rag heds. Go to About.com and really git em'.
Next I'll send a whole bunch of magazine subscriptons from the John Birchers...Muslims like dat stuff. Dey cain't read our stuff anyway and only look at pictures.

By the way...did you see the rag head playmate of the month?
Neither did I. Har Har Har Har Har Har......
I heard it was a goat.
I like goats. And hogs.
Once in a while I like sheep, too.
But mostly I like Old Milwaukee.

Watch out Rag Hed...
I'm headed your way.
I'm gonna git you.
Don't worry though.
I cain't own a gun.

Freedom is about making your own choices and taking personal responsibility for those choices.
We cannot legitimately blame others for our own actions.

"Loonies" are not censored in our free land because:

People are not forced to listen to what some loony says.

Therefore, people are not harmed by what some loony says.

Therefore, if people listen, they do so willingly, are actively seeking something about which to be offended, and have only themselves to blame.

This is common sense and taking responsibility for one's own choices.

Too bad the rest of the world doesn't get it.

Thanks Bob for that detailed explanation. There is a lot of info in old QST's, but I guess I would have to buy the ARRL CD's to be able to read them.

There were cases where spark was capable of great distances. Marconi made it from Newfoundland to South Wales in 1901, which pretty much started amateur interest in radio.

Walter was also a lovable drunk which undoubtedly killed him. The 3.950 anti-Semites as well as that creep Billy used to use him while YEE was in a drunken stupor and encouraged him to play Nazi marching music,trivialize the Holocaust and discuss microwave crematoria for victims of Nazi brutality.
Poor Walt played right into their hands. Quite often he used to call to apologize for his anti-Semitism, blaming it on drunkenness. He'd tell me that alcohol would take away his arthritic pain which was ridiculous. There are drugs known as Cox inhibitors that do it so liquor was merely an excuse and I told him so.
A few years ago I was in the process of litigating against him for slandering me while in dental practice for 22 years. He responded to my lawyer, rendered a written apology and I dropped the case. He called to tell me that once again, alcohol was to blame for his lunacy.
I begged Walter to get help. I tried to make him understand that alcohol was destroying him but nothing worked. His extreme intelligence was masked by booze and he certainly was intellectually head and shoulders above the 14.313 and 3.950 halfwits with whom he associated.
Let him rest in peace.

Of course. It's exaclty like noting that you're an inbred sister-fucker

There's nothing wrong with doing either of those things.

AntUians have always been against racism, read the fucking FAQ, moron.
However, the fact that we refrain from using that particularly odious word isn't proof of that. Just as your own elision of the final letters of that word are not proof that you're not the Klan-loving fucKKKhead you

It's legal now; what is your problem?

Subject to the infamous 'three-prong' test:

1. It has a legitimate public purpose.
2. It does not favor one religion or sect over another.
3. It does not entangle the state in religious affairs.

The test has been the law since the Everson Case in, I believe, 1951.

You want to hijack a captive audience to pray in Southern Baptist? Aside from being first-rate bad manners it ain't legal. You will note that owing to the lack of compulsion and no attempt to dictate a prayer or who/what it is directed toward everything you mention fits the test admirably. An Orthodox Druid, should he chose to, could participate on an equal footing.

As a sidelite, I happen to share the same last name as Vashti McCollum (daughter of a Lutheran minister) who started the whole thing in 1947. McCollum vs Board of Education contains Jefferson's phrase, "wall of separation of Church and State" and has caused me endless crap from the God Squad even tho I am in no way related to her. At the time, the braindead portion of the God Squad thought she was some sort of Russian Communist. Her name comes from Esther; she's the one who would NOT dance for the king's drunken party.

Your 100% correct Doc. I didn't bring the aspect of alcohol up at the time of my post as I was still in a bit of shock at hearing of Walter's passing.
I knew about it also. Thanks for reminding us that there is a real person behind every microphone, with real-world issues that are often not spoken about on ham radio.

Your correct also about the sicko goofballs who would goade him on while he was amobreiated and on 3.950 and 14.313 - just goes to show what some people are mad of and how low they can go on those freq's. Thank Glub Reily cleaned most of this mess up in the meantime! It's unfortunate we have those sorry individuals in our midst. Hopefully they'll gravitate to the wacky world of domestic shortwave radio now and remain offf ham radio for good.

thus gets his "lover" ready so he can take advantage of her.

I have an Alinco DX-70TH and the EDX-2 Auto Tuner. I did the math on what it takes to do all frequencies on all bands. I came up with - 65 ft random wire does all except a portion on 15 meters.

Two excellent Cox inhibitors can be prescribed by a physician.
1. Celebrex
2. Viox
They are much kinder to stomach mucosa than other anti-inflammatories, for example Naprocyn, and if taken with meals, rarely cause any problems. Also Celebrex comes in 100 and 200 mg. capsules which can be taken one 100 twice daily or one 200, once daily.
Also a great "herb" medicine for osteoarthritis is GLUCOSAMINE with CHONDROITIN. This and Cox inhibitors can be taken together which prove very effective.

Obsess much, smegmalips? Or didn't you get to finish that bubble bath with your gay father, Jonnie the toilet licker Noballs? Your father makes you dress up in your dead mommas clothes.
Poor Joanie Kimball Noballs, he'd enlist but even with the "don't ask, don't tell" policy, he'd have trouble explaining the gerbil shoved up his asshole to the military doctors.

Indeed, but you narcissitic weightlifter types always look that way.
That why you shill vitamins at gnc, johnnie boy? Or do you just "grease yourself up" for private sessions with your father?

COX-2 inhibitors are also on the expensive side, Celebrex in particular.

Foidamoah, their use has recently been associated with heart/cardiovascular problems. It's a controversial issue: do the COX inhibitors cause problems, or are they just not providing protections that other medications (e.g., NSAIDS) do provide.

Medicine evolves, as does all of science. There are no magic bullets.

Can anybody tell me where Uncle Sam can find an experienced War Hero? We need a man among men who has experience as a Navy Seal, an Airborne combat-ready man with heavy weapons experience and an ability to infiltrate enemy lines, especially over Beirut? We need a man with Expert qualifications on several light to heavy weapons.
We are looking for a candidate who is:
1. Qualified as Expert with the M-16/CAR-15, M-14, LAW and Baretta 9mm.
2. HALO qualified jumper. (High Altitude, Low Opening)
3. Demolitions experience, especially with C-4 and Det Cord.
4. Ability to deploy Claymoor mines and anti-personnel weapons.
5. Proficiency with scope-equipped Remington .308 sniper rifles.
6. Expertise with infiltration and subversive techniques.
7. Able to pass a drug screen test.

Darn it!!! Number Seven left Dimmy out! He was pretty good at #6, too.
He hid from law enforcement real well.
Back to square one.

Hi all, hope someone can help. I just acquired an old marine DF or RDF portable receiver. Mine is a Raytheon "RAY DF-20," but is a typical Japanese made unit of 1970's vintage sold under the Ray Jefferson and other brand names. Can receive and DF on three bands from .16 to 3.8 MHz, also receives a couple of VHF marine and weather channels. Has a large, rotatable ferrite bar antenna on top (with compass rose) and ONE telescoping "sense" antenna. I put 4 "D" cells in and she is a pretty hot LF receiver. Outside and at night, I got every broadcast station from halfway across the US from my home near Philly. Even WWV at 2.5 MHz came in strong (on the ferrite bar antenna!) Everything seems to work just fine.

I can't figure out how to DF with the thing! You spin the ferrite (directional) antenna, and you get TWO "peaks" and TWO "nulls" on the S meter. I tune for null, press the "sense" button and a strong signal will once again show on the meter (presumably off of the "sense" telescopic whip.) This must somehow show which side of the directional antenna the station is located, but I cant for the life of me figure out how.

The radio has a rudimentary BFO, RF gain control, "TUNE" position (receives well) and X1, X2 switch positions (receives nothing.) I can send you a digital pic of the panel if it would help with your explanation.

My thanks in advance for the help!

If replying to my e-mail address, please remove the word "SPAMFREE" to get through.

Joe,

I can't remember exactly how that one works, had one years ago. From what I can recall I think you first find the null on the loop, then put it in the tune position, hold the df button and reduce the rf gain to get a mid scale reading on the meter. You then rotate the loop slightly to either side of the null that you had. If the signal increases slightly when rotated clockwise you have the true direction null. If the signal decreases when rotating clockwise you have the 180 degree null. I may have the null rotation directions backwards, can't remember. Try it on some stations that you know the direction of.

I was at a Pharmacology conference in British Columbia in March of this year and there was much heated debate over the efficacy/toxicity associated with the use of COX-II inhibitors. The bottom line is that there are very few pharmacologically "clean" drugs or treatments. One notable exception being cocaine which is highly specific for a type of receptor in the brain. Drugs such as naproxyn are mixed COX-I/COX-II inhibitors while drugs such as Celebrex are considered as specific for COX-II. Unfortunately, drug development tends to be based on a mythical average human being with respect to dosing and doing regimens. A drug that might be okay with a North American market could play hell with someone with a Mediterranean or Asian background.

Just a reminder: acute inflammation is not a bad thing. Only when inflammation becomes chronic is harm done. Acute inflammation is part of the normal healing process.

I quite agree, Rich - "Medicine evolves, as does all of science".

Joseph

When the signal nuls, the ferite rod is pointing at the transmitter, but of course you dont know if its forewards or backwards.

Then turn the radio 90 degrees from nul to where the signal is a max.

You now have two maxima.

Now switch in the sense. One of the maxima will be stronger than the other. That gives you the forewards or backwards.

In effect the sense aerial plus the rod aerial produce a sort of cardiod pattern, like a simple vhf beam.

The nuls with the sense off are much more accurate,than the cardioid with the sense on. So you find the nuls first and the use the sense to tell which way.

Gents, thanks for your replies....MUCH appreciated. Here's what I found, using an amalgam of your suggestions.....:

I tuned a strong station of known direction in which the SENSE button gave a appreciable RISE in signal strenth on one of the NULLS.

ONE NULL produces a RISE in signal in one direction and a DIP in the other direction (as ferrite antenna is moved slightly.) The DIP is the direction of the station. Turn ferrite antenna to THAT NULL (is quite precise,) and read the bearing to the station (as compass rose is oriented to magnetic heading.)

I am going to get out my compass and try to triangulate my position (from the back yard) off of two or three stations. If I can do this sucessfully, perhaps this receiver may have a place aboard the sailboat as something more than a toy.

I'll tell you, this thing is indeed a HOT LF receiver. I can pick up and identify a aviation NDB at 220 kHz thats more that 50 NM from my house, from INSIDE! I believe that these are fairly low power stations.

THANKS AGAIN!

You do have a problem, don't you?

I don't exactly see what "point" you've read into my comments. Nor do I care to guess the perverse thoughts in your mind that you seem to be sure are in my mind.

I was merely offering some information and the simple opinion that life involves lots of trade-offs. No comment on Doc, nor on W2YEE.

If you have a problem with that, seek professional help.

Twice-fired FCC employee wanted by Federal Communications Commission for violations of Part 97. George F. Arsics, Jr., ex K1QKJ, AB4ZV, and currently W2ZB, is wanted by the FCC for multiple repeat violations of part 97 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended. As you will recall this is the ex-Powder Springs FCC employee who was caught by his co-workers jamming KV4FZ on 14.313 in a drunken stupor, and promptly fired. Since that time Arsics has been directly involved with the jamming, stalking, and harassment of several amateurs through a group known as the "Goodfellows". Other accomplices of Arsics in this activity have been N4CND, WB2OTK (call revoked), N4XCV (call revoked), KA9BSD, KK9G, and N9PGE. Arsics lost his home at 2571 Bethany Lane in a last minute sale to avoid foreclosure earlier this year. Thus his FCC ULS data is fraudalent. Arsics has done this in the past, once listing the retirement home where his father passed on his 610. This enables him to freely jam other amateurs on HF with no fear of revocation. According to part 97, and we quote,
" §97.23 Mailing address.
Each license grant must show the grantee's correct name and mailing address. The mailing address must be in an area where the amateur service is regulated by the FCC and where the grantee can receive mail delivery by the United States Postal Service. Revocation of the station license or suspension of the operator license may result when correspondence from the FCC is returned as undeliverable because the grantee failed to provide the correct mailing address."

If you know the actual physical location of the station owned by George Arsics, Jr. used to jam and stalk other hams, please report this information to your local FCC Field Office or contact Riley Hollingsworth, Special Counsel for Amateur Radio Enforcement at rholling@FCC.gov.

* PLEASE NOTE: The report "could" contain "Pirate/SLIM" operations. As always, you never know - "Work First Worry Later" (WFWL).

3B8, MAURITIUS. A couple of stations from here continue to be active on a few of the WARC bands. Taher, 3B8DB, generally hangs around 24896 kHz between 1115-1330z before he moves to 10 meters. Also, Abid, 3B8FG, can be found on 30 meters generally around 10105 kHz between 1300-1400z.

3D2, CONWAY REEF (Update/Reminder). Hrane, YT1AD, has sent out a press release (Nr. 2) containing the following information. The international team of operators which include YT1AD, YU7AV, YU1DX, YU1AU, YZ7AA, N6TQA, RZ3AA and Z31FU/ZS6MG, are preparing for the big DXpedition to Conway Reef. Two callsigns will be used (to be announced the day of their operation), one for CW/RTTY and the other for SSB. They expect to arrive on the reef at 0700z, October 1st and operate until October 10th. Activity will be on 160-6 meters, in the DX windows, operating on CW/SSB/RTTY/PSK31 and possibly SSTV. QSLs for CW/RTTY go via YT1AD: Dr. Hrane Milosevic, 36 206 Vitanovac, Yugoslavia. QSLs for SSB go via Z32AU: Kostevski Dragan, P.O. Box 35, 6000 Ohrid, Macedonia. For up-to-date info, check the Web (after September 25th) at: http://www.kragujevac.co.yu/3d2

3W, VIETNAM. There was plenty of activity from this one during the past week. Hau, 3W2LI, from in Saigon, can usually be found on 15 meters (21270-21275) between 1300-1430z. Sam, 3W3ZZ, in Danan until September 28th, can also be found on 15 meters on various frequencies (21230, 21295, 21300 and 21360) between 1300-1400z and 0600-0730z. QSL via JA1EUI. Juergen, 3W9HRN, has been very active on 15/12/10 meters. Activity seems to be between 1100-1600z and as early as 0230z. QSL via DL1HRN.

5U, NIGER. The same crew that aired 5U2K, 5U3T and 5U5A in March of 2001 will go back to Niger in January/February of 2002 for a 2 week DXpedition. The group will be larger this time with participation of 3 to 4 new operators from Italy and USA. At least 3 stations will be put on air with special attention to 80/160 meters. Operations will take place on 160-10 meters on CW/SSB/RTTY/PSK31 and on 6 meters on CW/SSB. A dedicated Web page will be shortly put on-line, and it will include all the information about the upcoming activity. Callsigns (3) will be announced later.

9M6, EAST MALAYSIA. Two Japanese operators Mat/JA1JQJ and Kuni/JA8VE will be active between October 10-14th. They hope to receive the callsigns 9M6JQT and 9M6VET. Activity will be on 80-6 meters on CW/SSB. For CW, check 7 kHz from the low end of the band edge and on SSB, check the suggested frequencies: 3798, 7080, 14170, 18130, 21270, 24940, 28470 and 50120 kHz. QSL via homecalls.
JA1JQJ - Shigeo Matui, 2-31-10 Shimoseya, Yokohama, 246-0035 Japan.
JA8VE - Kunio Saito, 2-26-5-554 Nishituruma, Yamato, 242-0005 Japan.

9N, NEPAL. Operators Hiro/JA0BYS, Sato/JH0HDL and Mako/JI0LQJ will be in Kathmandu between September 24th and October 2nd. The group has applied for individual callsigns: 9N7BY, 9N7DL and 9N7QJ. They plan to operate on 80-10 meters and possibly 6 meters. QSLs all callsigns to JH0HDL.

A5, BHUTAN (Correction to OPDX.529). The correct listing of Bhutan operators are:
Yeshey Dorji, A51AA Pema Rinzen, A51PR
Kesang Namgyel, A51KC Dorji Yeshey, A51YL
Parop Kinley, A51PK Wangpo Dorji, A51WD

ARRL COMPUTER AND WEB SITE. We have been advised that the League's computer was hit by the new virus, and they have been working all week on it. This is the reason why the section, "List of DXCC Applications Received", seems to be stuck on September 18th. As of Sunday, September 23rd, the problem is almost cleared up.

C98, MOZAMBIQUE. Rei, C98RF, has been really active on 30/12/10 meters over the past week. Watch 12 meters 1100-1730z, 30 meters after 2100z and 10 meters very early after 0900z. QSL via DL6DQW.

CN, MOROCCO. Al, NH7A, informs OPDX that his CN2AC SOAB CQWW SSB Contest operation has been canceled due to the events on September 11th. He will instead operate from Maui as NH7A, SOAB in the contest. QSL via M0FCR.

ET, ETHIOPIA. Claudio, ET3VSC, has been pleasing many CW ops over the past week with activity on 12/10 meters. Look for him between 1830-2130z on either band. QSL via K3IRV.

FO & FO/A, FRENCH POLYNESIA AND AUSTRAL ISLANDS. Marcel, ON4QM, is signing FO0DEH again from French Polynesia and will be active between September 25th and October 25th. He plans to visit the Pukapuka Atoll (OC-062) and Rapa (OC-051) in the Austral Islands. There is a possibility he may also visit Reao Atoll (OC-238). QSL via ON4QM.

FO/A, AUSTRALS ISLANDS. Jon, WB8YJF, informs OPDX that Leo/K8PYD and he are postponing their DXpedition to Australs Island until the beginning of December, due to the events of the past two weeks and the chaos in the airline industry. Jon states their tickets are being re-written, and he will let us know when they find out the exact dates. Their operation will still have an emphasizies on RTTY.

FR/T, TROMELIN ISLAND. Jacques, FR5ZU, was heard signing FR5ZU/T this past week. His activity is expected to last until October 5th. He was heard on 17 meters between 1400-1500z and/or 15 meters 1400-1630z. QSL via JA8FCG

HC8, GALAPAGOS ISLANDS. Jon, N0JK, and a group of operators will be returning to the HC8N station on San Cristobal Island in the Galapagos, November 20-26th. They plan to participate in the CQ WW CW Contest. Their activity will be on HF and 6/2 meters as well as the satellites.

HS50, HUNGARY. Operators/members from the Hungarian's High Speed Club (HSC) (HA3OV/Anti, HA3NU/Lacy, HA1AG/Zoli etc.) will activate the HG50HSC callsign to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the High Speed Club. The HSC is dedicated to promoting High Speed Telegraphy for half of a century. The HSC contests of the past served as a cradle for several of today's contesters. QSL via the bureau (please indicate via HA1AG) or direct.
If you'd like to get your QSL via the bureau, just send an E-mail to:
ha1ag@compuserve.com
For more information, please visit their website at: http://www.hsc.de

IOTA NEWS.....
OC-108. John, YB5NOF, will be operating as YB5NOF/p on Anambas Island from now through September 26th. His activity will be SSB only running 100 watts into a R7 Cushcraft GP antenna. Try to look for him on 21260 and 14260 +/- kHz. QSL via YB5NOF:
John E.Daluas, P.O.Box 194/CPA, Ciputat 15401, INDONESIA.

IOTA TRIP. Nico, PA0MIR, will try to leave the Netherlands on October 8th and will try to operate in the WAG Contest with the callsign ZL1/PA0MIR (OC-201) and in the CQWW Contest with ZL3/PA0MIR. He will be active from OC-134 or OC-203 and from the different ZL regions until November 8th. From ZL-land, he will fly to Australia. Using the callsign VK3FEI/*, he will try to operate from OC-001, OC-006, OC-233 and OC-136. Other IOTAs are not yet determined, but he will remain in the region until March. Operation will also be tried from Lord Howe or from Norfolk Island if transport can be arranged. A trip to Fiji (3D2) is also planned too. Nico ask you for real reports (no standard 59(9)) except in the contests. QSL for all operations will be taken care of on his return, via PA0MIR: Nico van der Bijl, Lepelblad 129, NL 1441 VH Purmerend, The Netherlands. SWL-reports should contain at least 3 stations worked at the time/band reported. This is not a large-scale operation, but a single-operator with 100 watts using either a mobile vertical or dipoles. His operation time will be concentrated on the times for openings to EU.

JD, OGASAWARA. Operators JD1BKZ and JM1MKB/JD1 have been active on 6 meters from AS-031 (QL17CC). They will be there for the next 3-5 years. Their equipment is a TS-690S and "hat-hentena". QSL both JD1BKZ and JM1MKB/JD1 via the bureau. However, Yoshi, JE2DWZ, reports that if you need QSL faster than the bureau, you can QSL to JE2DWZ with a SAE and sufficient USD or IRC. He will be pleased to handle your QSL as a QSL Manager. Their QSL cards will be printed soon. JE2DWZ's address is: Yoshiyuki Mori, 20-16 Takiko-cho, Showa Nagoya, 466-0053 JAPAN.

KH6, HAWAII (Morocco Op Cancelled). Al, NH7A, informs OPDX that his CN2AC SOAB CQWW SSB Contest operation has been canceled due to the events of September 11th. He will instead operate from Maui as NH7A, SOAB in the contest. QSL via M0FCR.

LS2, VERDE ISLAND (Argentina). Radio Club Mar Del Plata (LU2DT) will activate Verde Island, November 23-25th, for the first time ever using the callsign LS2D. Verde Island is located 40 miles south from Bahia Blanca, Argentina, in the Atlantic Ocean. Suggested frequencies are:
CW - 3510, 7005, 14020, 21020, 28020 and 50110
SSB - 3680, 7080, 14190, 21290, 28400 and 50110 kHz.

OD, LEBANON. Pavel, OD5/OK1MU, provided some interesting activity this past week on 10 meters FM and the WARC bands. Watch around 29450 kHz beginning about 1400z. Also, look for him on 17 meters (around 18083 or 18160) after 1500z and again after 2030z. On 30 meters, try around 2230z. QSL via OK1TN.

OH0, ALAND ISLANDS. Pentti (aka Ben), OH3TY, will be active as OH0/OH3TY starting on September 24th. His activity will be mainly on 10 meters. Look for him to sign OH0HEY in the CQWW RTTY Contest. QSL via OH3TY, direct or the bureau is OK.

QSL INFO AND NEWS.....
Phil Whitchurch, G3SWH, informs OPDX that as a result of his recent visit to Madagascar and meetings with the local hams there, Phil is now the QSL Manager for the following Madagascar stations:

5R8FL, 5R8FT, 5R8FV, 5R8GO and 5R8GZ.

Mariano, EA9LS, informs OPDX that the log for his 2001 WAE SSB Contest operation is available on the Web at: http://dx.qsl.net/logs

QSL cards for Tony's recent TK/IK1QBT/p activity from Corsica (IOTA EU-014, DIFM TK-01) can be sent direct to: Tony Gallo, Via Capo S. Spirito 1/16, 17052 Borghetto S. Spirito - SV, Italy (or through the bureau). Pictures and logs at available at: http://www.qsl.net/ik1qbt

SPECIAL EVENT. Herman, ON4AME, announces that he will be active the weekend of September 28-30th, using the special callsign OS0TIB. This is to celebrate the 25th anniversary of the Metro in Brussels. For a special QSL card send it to the QSL Manager Eric, ON7RN.

SU, EGYPT. Said, SU1SK, was heard on 12 meters SSB and 10 meters FM this past week. Watch around 24945 or 24948 kHz after 1600z. Also, look him around 29350 kHz 0815z. QSL via direct to CBA. Ahmed, SU3AM, has also been active. His activity has been on 17/15/10 meters SSB mainly between 1600-1700z (also after 0830z). Watch frequencies 18150, 21303 and 28460 kHz. QSL via DL5ZBV.

TR, GABON. Jean-Claude, TR8XX, has been active on 17/12/10 meters CW. Watch 18082, 24905 and 28010 kHz between 1530-1730z. QSL via F2XX.

TT8, CHAD. Chris, TT8DX, was heard on 18150 kHz around 1800z. QSLs go to F5OGL. Paco, TT8FC, was heard begging for QSOs on 10 meters this past weekend. Watch 28470 kHz around 2130z. QSL via EA4AHK.

VP5, TURKS & CAICOS ISLANDS. Bill, VP5/K5GY has cancelled his trip to Providenciales. VP5YG will not be active during the CQ/WW RTTY Contest at the end of September.

VK, AUSTRALIA. Remember to look for Bert, PA3GIO, to be active as VK6GIO now through October 8th before his operation from Lord Howe Island. His activity will be very limited. He may have a chances to operate from Kangaroo Island (OC-139) using the callsign VK6GIO/5.

XU, CAMBODIA. Claude, XU7ABN, has been pleasing the digital guys by operating on RTTY and PSK31. His activity has been on 20 meters between 1830-1930z and on 15 meters around 1330z. QSL via F5JRY.

hello all,
2.4 is a nice setup on lans. yes perhapps it's easy to drop in on a network even with encryption enabled. look for a setup that will allow you to run multi-endpoint. this way the tranciever is only looking for specific mac addresses anything else wont see it (provided it's comercially made). I install these networks without any problems whatsoever. gud luck de under a greater threat of further acts of terrorism in the U.S.

Please consider joining the PA-SitRep mail list and become a proactive member. The PA-SitRep posting protocol caters to the users of digital cell phones as well as users of regular internet e-mail. The posting protocol to the list mandates a brief summary under 100 characters so that list participants can read the messages on their cell phones and be instantly updated with information regarding emergency situations within the State of Pennsylvania while they are mobile.

For information on how to use your Digital cell phone as a text pager, please visit the following address:

The PA-SitRep mailing list is a free communications tool that will enable you to monitor and report on major emergency situations throughout the State of Pennsylvania including weather emergencies, natural disasters, environmental disasters, civil disturbances and threats of terrorism, major fires, manhunts, and Amateur Radio Emergency Net activations.

The list is extremely low volume because messages to the list are limited only to those containing verified emergency situation reports of Major Import within the State of Pennsylvania.

The list is run from a private server at my expense, so there are no advertisements necessary or permitted. Rumors, hearsay, unconfirmed and or inaccurate reports and chat are strictly prohibited.

Subscribers do not have to be members of any specific emergency services organizations to join the PA-SitRep mailing list. ANYONE willing and from my studying for my tests, I seem to recall that the calling freq's were set by "gentlemans agreement", in the section in the general nbook, regarding good radio practice, one question comments on this, and the answer was all of the above, concerning FCC regs, band plan, gentlemans agreements ect.

Twice-fired FCC employee wanted by Federal Communications Commission for violations of Part 97. George F. Arsics, Jr., ex K1QKJ, AB4ZV, and currently W2ZB, is wanted by the FCC for multiple repeat violations of part 97 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended. As you will recall this is the ex-Powder Springs FCC employee who was caught by his co-workers jamming KV4FZ on 14.313 in a drunken stupor, and promptly fired. Since that time Arsics has been directly involved with the jamming, stalking, and harassment of several amateurs through a group known as the "Goodfellows". Other accomplices of Arsics in this activity have been N4CND, WB2OTK (call revoked), N4XCV (call revoked), KA9BSD, KK9G, and N9PGE. Arsics lost his home at 2571 Bethany Lane in a last minute sale to avoid foreclosure earlier this year. Thus his FCC ULS data is fraudalent. Arsics has done this in the past, once listing the retirement home where his father passed on his 610. This enables him to freely jam other amateurs on HF with no fear of revocation. According to part 97, and we quote,
" ¬97.23 Mailing address.
Each license grant must show the grantee's correct name and mailing address. The mailing address must be in an area where the amateur service is regulated by the FCC and where the grantee can receive mail delivery by the United States Postal Service. Revocation of the station license or suspension of the operator license may result when correspondence from the FCC is returned as undeliverable because the grantee failed to provide the correct mailing address."

If you know the actual physical location of the station owned by George Arsics, Jr. used to jam and stalk other hams, please report this information to your local FCC Field Office or contact Riley Hollingsworth, Special Counsel for Amateur Radio Enforcement at rholling@FCC.gov.

Thank you for your reply, but I am very much aware of the concept of calling frequencies, etc. I've been a General since 1990, but don't know why the frequency of 146.520 is now, and pretty much, always has been the calling frequency. I've gotten many responses, all telling me what I've known for years, the "Gentleman's Agreement" aspect. I'm just curious as to why the frequencies we take for granted as calling frequencies, (52.525, 446.000 etc.) are what they are, not why we have calling freqs, etc. I do thank you sincerily for your time, however.

Actually when 2 meter FM began it started on 146.940. A lot of surplus taxi and various 2 way wide band FM gear became available because the FCC mandated narrow band for commercial users from now on.

All we did was re-tune to the ham band and drop deviation levels to 'about 5 kc' by turning down the deviation control.

Since there was not a lot of QRM up there, we didn't worry much about the 'wide as a barn door' front ends of the receivers.

Later on 146.94 simplex (direct) was taken over by the .34/94 repeater pairs in many areas and it basically destroyed using .94 for non repeater types.

146.52 was chosen because it was in the middle of the repeater operations at the time.

Same with the 6 meter and the other v/uhf bands.

In days of old when the wideband (15kHz deviation) FM gear that had been outlawed on business band became available, repeaters started out on 146.94 (remember Techs could not go above 147) and is to this day the most popular repeater freq followed by 88, 76, 82, and 64.
The calling freq in those days was 94.

I would suspect that when 147 was opened, there were some input-low repeaters on or above 147 so that 146.40 was the last input freq.

In most places, 52 is the middle of the ancient 60 kHz channelization, furthest from the highest input, 146.40 and from the lowest output, 146.64.
So it became simplex central.

NEW PROGRAM  BOTLOAD.exe

This little program answers the frequently asked questions "What is the inductance of a bottom loading coil needed to resonate a vertical antenna and how many turns of what gauge wire ?

Also how many picofarads will resonate the antenna when its input reactance is inductive ?

And what heights of antenna will give a feedpoint input resistance of 50 ohms or 75 ohms ? And what loading coil or tuning capacitance should be used at those heights.

Covers any antenna height from a few inches to several wavelengths on 160m.

Dimensions in metres, feet, inches and American Wire Gauge.

I have set up a new "reflector" called Ham Rant. This is a reflector for hams to post and comment about NON radio related items. You can subscribe at hamrant-subscribe@yahoogroups.com or view on the web at http://groups.yahoo.com/group/hamrant .

Some hams have suggested that hams who want to comment on such items as politics or world affairs should subscribe to the hundreds of email groups that already exist. While this is clearly an option, it is not as much fun (IMO) as debating issues among a group you already know.

So, Ham Rant is set up. Subscribe and have fun.

Andy.

Twice-fired FCC employee wanted by Federal Communications Commission for violations of Part 97. George F. Arsics, Jr., ex K1QKJ, AB4ZV, and currently W2ZB, is wanted by the FCC for multiple repeat violations of part 97 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended. As you will recall this is the ex-Powder Springs FCC employee who was caught by his co-workers jamming KV4FZ on 14.313 in a drunken stupor, and promptly fired. Since that time Arsics has been directly involved with the jamming, stalking, and harassment of several amateurs through a group known as the "Goodfellows". Other accomplices of Arsics in this activity have been N4CND, WB2OTK (call revoked), N4XCV (call revoked), KA9BSD, KK9G, and N9PGE. Arsics lost his home at 2571 Bethany Lane in a last minute sale to avoid foreclosure earlier this year. Thus his FCC ULS data is fraudalent. Arsics has done this in the past, once listing the retirement home where his father passed on his 610. This enables him to freely jam other amateurs on HF with no fear of revocation. According to part 97, and we quote,
" §97.23 Mailing address.
Each license grant must show the grantee's correct name and mailing address. The mailing address must be in an area where the amateur service is regulated by the FCC and where the grantee can receive mail delivery by the United States Postal Service. Revocation of the station license or suspension of the operator license may result when correspondence from the FCC is returned as undeliverable because the grantee failed to provide the correct mailing address."

If you know the actual physical location of the station owned by George Arsics, Jr. used to jam and stalk other hams, please report this information to your local FCC Field Office or contact Riley Hollingsworth, Special Counsel for Amateur Radio Enforcement at rholling@FCC.gov.

I had a very similar problem with a 91 S10 4DR Blazer. It would emit a RFI signal down in the commercial low-band portion of the spectrum around 46 - 49 Mhz. I was able to see this by using a spectrum analyzer.

When the engine is shut off the RFI goes away - I isolated the problem to the "speed module" which was hidden behind the front passenger kick-plate near the computer.

This is way above what the dealership would understand, so they put me intouch with a engineer at the plant and I was able to convience them that the problem was theirs. They sent me another "speed module" which fixed the problem. this took almost a year to happen.

I think you can probable built a small metal shield or wrap aluminum foiled around the speed module and ground it to the chassis to create a similar effect.

Would be interested to see a follow-up.

Good luck
Bill

2859. FS: Radio Shack Simplex Repeater Controller

This is a BRAND NEW simplex repeater controller from Radio Shack. Part number 19-345. $29.95 plus $4.00 shipping in 50 United States only.

Here is the description from the instructions:

Your RadioShack Simplex Repeater Controller extends the range of your Business Band or Amateur Radio system. It easily connects to many 2-way radio transceivers and automatically records what the transceiver receives (up to 30 seconds). then keys the transceiver and retransmits the recorded transmission. It is simple, compact, and easy to carry and use.

You can use the repeater to extend the range of many RadioShack and other handheld Amateur Radio and Business Band transceivers that have external microphone/ speaker jacks. It is also compatible with Icom, Yaesu, Alinco, Standard, and other transceivers.

The repeater has these features:

Receive Signal Indicator - lights to show that the connected transceiver is receiving a transmission and the repeater is recording.

Low Power Circuitry - automatically enters a very low power mode between transmissions.

Power Sources

You can power the repeater using any of these power sources:

* four AAA batteries (not supplied)
* standard AC power (using an optional AC adapter)
* vehicle battery power (using an optional DC adapter)

Anyone know of a really good CD-ROM atlas, one that has a detailed index of all those remote burghs (world-wide) that hams have qsos with? Guess I'm thinking of a ROM which is equivalent to, say, the Times Atlas of the World or similar.
Thanks.

I've had this HT for a little more than a year, just long enought for the warranty to run out. When I turn it on I get the PLL error code. I tried the suggestion about turning it off and on again, same problem. I've set the HT back to default mode, no dice. The HT has no modifications, uses the supplied rubber ducky and a fresh set of batteries, but seconds after turning it on it shows the error code. Is there a fix for this problem. If not how much will sending it to Rat Shack for repair set me back?

The Icom 706 is the best 6 meter rig available.

It has Subaudible tone encode and decode built in

Also, I found out that the hustler mobile antenna resonates exactly in the middle of the 6 meter band with no coil installed.

Have fun.

2880. Looking for VHF hand-held ... can you advise?

Good morning, all.

I've been inactive for the last 10 years or so and am looking to get back in to VHF FM.

Looking through the Ham Radio Outlet catalog, I see that there are now a lot of handhelds with extended receive capability. So, I thought I'd lay out some specs for you all and see if you can advise me on what is available.

1. MUST be able to use off-the-shelf batteries (AA, AAA, 9V). I have had it with idiot manufacturers who sell radios with proprietary battery packs and then quit making the battery packs. I currently have a perfectly good Kenwood TH-21AT that is useless because I can't buy a battery or charger for it.

2. Receive capability should be 30 MHz to 1.2 GHz, AM and FM (SSB would also be nice but not necessary). I am particularly interested in being able to listen to aviation frequencies in the 108-136.975 AM band. Scanning ability would be real nice.

3. Transmit capability restricted to 144-148 will be fine, though ability to transmit in other bands would be welcome.

4. Antenna connection should be BNC or some other standard (TNC, RCA phono, etc.), or adaptable to one of those with an external adapter, so that it can be used with an external antenna.

The closest thing I've found so far is the Icom IC-Q7A, which does most of what I need except that I can't tell about the antenna connection or the scanning ability on receive. But, its output power is a little anemic at 350 mW ... if I can I'd rather get more like 1 watt or better.

Any suggestions?

Thanks...

I've been trying without success to find a new battery and charger for a perfectly good Kenwood TH-21AT 2 meter HT.

I wrote Kenwood about it, and they responded with a reply that's excerpted below. Following is my response to them. You all may or may not be interested and might want to consider whether you want to continue to do business with companies that think it's perfectly OK to build in guaranteed obsolescence into their products so that you have to replace them every few years.

Thanks, but so far no joy.

I have completely had it with idiot companies like Kenwood that sell radios and then quit making the batteries, forcing us to throw perfectly good radios into the trash and buy new ones!

I know that one of your marketing geniuses no doubt thought that was A Real Fine Idea to force us to turn our radios into disposables and buy new ones every few years whether we need them or not.

I for one will never buy another radio that doesn't include the ability to be used with standard off the shelf batteries (AA, AAA, etc.), or at least be adapted to use such batteries.

And, thanks to your somewhat cavalier attitude about this ("NiCad batteries for older radios are no longer available from Kenwood", as though this was a perfectly normal and acceptable thing and how can we possibly expect anything different?), I doubt that I'll ever buy another Kenwood product .. not that Icom and Yaesu and the others are necessarily any better, but I guess that today was just your day to piss me off.

I feel your pain Eric but it's not that unusual for a company to stop supporting older "stuff".

I learned that the hard way with my Dodge Ram truck. The carb went bad and the dealer told me a similar story. Dodge no longer supports normally aspirated engines. I wound up having to get one from a local shop that rebuilds them. Even places like NAPA, and AutoZone don't stock them anymore.

Second the motion. Unless you want to change the laws of logic and five hundred years of customary use of the English language, Freedom Of Religion necessarily and completely implies freedom FROM religion. "None of the above" must be one of the choices. Wish we could extend THAT to the ballot!

2887. Pennsylvania Amateur Emergency Net notification delivery system

I own and operate www.PA-SitRep.com and the PA-SitRep (Pennsylvania [Emergency] Situation Report) e-mail list. I am opening the list for an additional function for hams: Amateur Radio Emergency Net Activation notification.

Subscriptions to the list are free, subscribers may unsubscribe at any time and the list contains no spam, chat or advertisements. List traffic is limited to ONLY major emergency situation reports within the State of Pennsylvania and the list traffic is extremely low volume. I am opening the list to all HAMS within the State of PA and offering Net Controls the ability to notify all list members of Pennsylvania EMERGENCY Net Activations via the mail list to the list subscribers' digital cell phones or their home computers.

The PA-SitRep list message posting protocol caters to the limited character capacity of digital cell phones and text pagers by limiting the first portion of the posted message to 100 characters or less. Information on how to use your digital cell phone for alphanumeric messaging is available on my site at the following address:

http://www.pa-sitrep.com/cell.htm

If the need arises to call up an Emergency Net within the State of PA, the net control could simply post a message to the list. Here's an example:

07/21/01 14:30 WPA: TORNADO WARNING - SKYWARN NET ACTIVATED ON 149.090

Within about 5 - 60 seconds after sending the message to the list, all list subscribers with digital cell phones (and home PC e-mail users) will receive the message. It's an easy and free way to reach multiple users instantly via e-mail to cell phone. Additionally, all subscribers will receive the emergency situation reports that are posted to the list.

Information regarding the list is available at:
http://www.pa-sitrep.com/pasitrep.htm

To subscribe, visit:
http://pa-sitrep.com/mailman/listinfo/pa_pa-sitrep.com

Please consider the use of the list and any questions or comments may be e-mailed to:
pasitrep@pa-sitrep.com

Thanks very much and we'll look forward to your participation.

I will be having my birthday again this year on Wedensday. I will be 28. I think that if someone wanted to be real generous and send me something nice, my address is good in QRZ.
It's tough living alone on days like your birthday. I mean, i am depressed alot of the time. No one at the Church seems to care. So where do i have to go? Listening to Prophet Stair and Hal Turner, they comfort me. All i do is sit at the computer and read newsgroups and read Hal's webpages. I've tried going to a couple of country dance places, but none of gals would have a dance with me. It seems every time I try to do something that would be break away from this life of lonlyness always fails.

Good evening, Dan.

Yes, I know. I'm not complaining that Kenwood doesn't support the TH21AT anymore; what I'm objecting to is companies that sell us proprietary disposables like batteries, that no one else in the world makes, and then cuts us loose after a few years.

Of course it's our fault for putting up with it all these years. I for one am not going to stand still for it anymore. NO battery operated radio will get my consideration unless it can be run from standard batteries, with or without an adapter.

Fortunately, it seems that some of the manufacturers are getting the message ... there seems to be a pretty good selection of HTs around these days that will take AA cells.

Eric--

I, too, feel your pain....

However, as eager as manufacturers are to sell you a new version of something you already have, all is not lost regarding your TH21AT.

I have a TH21AT, and its companion, a TH41AT. Nice for what they are, but they really aren't that much, and they definitely were never all the rage, which might have helped to extend the longevity of their parts availability.

I have a NiCd pack that has 4 cells, and a NiCd pack that holds 6 cells.
The sixer died on me about 4 years ago, and, cheap SOB that I am, I refused to pay the going rate for an aftermarket pack, and I didn't even research the price or availability yet! I merely went to Radio Shack, bought six of their NiCd rechargeables, and re-packed my case with them. Still going strong, and it was probably what, $15 bucks to do so.

I have seen SCADS of cellphone NiCd packs (I have about 4 four cell units right now) that I picked up brand new for $1 each, sealed. Those cells can be used for your type of repair since they are NiCd, and 1.3 to 1.5 volt cells.

Did your charger stop working? There are many aftermarket chargers like the Maha junk in QST, or even Radio Shack has a universal one (but it is $50! Ouch!)

I see ads in QST all the time for NiCd cells with or without the solder tabs, and they also come without the button top which can lead to a very tight fit inside some cases (like my RS NiCd choice ended up). These cells run about $1.50-1.75 each.

Keep in mind that if you could get a new pack from Kenwood, you'd be nailed for at least $50, so you didn't want them to stock one anyway, you just didn't realize it yet! :)

Screw 'em! Do it yourself, and for less!

Good evening, Mark.

Well, I don't know what kind of cells are used inside the battery pack, because so far I have not been able to get it open. I've been afraid that if I force it too much I'll break it.

However since you indicate that there are standard cells within, and not some oddball cell shape, I'll try again. If I break it, I break it, I guess.

Incidentally I have been in several e-mail exchanges with Kenwood on this topic throughout this afternoon, and I do owe them an apology and a retraction which I'll post here shortly.

I have been in a several-layers-deep e-mail exchange with a customer support person at Kenwood this afternoon, and he has advised me that Kenwood has always followed the policy of making off-the-shelf (AA or AAA) battery packs available for all of their handheld radios.

If that's the case, they should probably advertise that fact more clearly. The Kenwood listings and ads in the HRO catalog only show the availability of such battery boxes for two of the five hand-helds shown.

Nevertheless, I should not have characterized Kenwood as an "idiot company" that "sells radios and then quits making the batteries" for them. For that I apologize to them and to you.

I will say that I am quite impressed with Kenwood's customer service; after a bit of a false start, they bent over backwards during a good part of this afternoon to help me fix my problem.

Eric--

My small pack that I thought had 4 cells actually has 6 cells, and they are AAA size. My larger pack has 6 cells also, but they are AA size.

The smaller of my packs is a PB-21, DC 7.2 volt (6 x 1.2volts), rated at 180mAh. It was super glued shut, but opened with a flat blade screwdriver used slowly.

The larger is a PB-21H, DC 7.2 volt (6 x 1.2 volts), rated at 500mAh. It has screws I could loosen to open it.

Obviously, the amp-hour rating might change if you use different cells than the factory ones Kenwood used, but I wouldn't let this concern you much. Fresh NiCd cells will be a nice change.

Both packs opened for me without too much fuss. Newer models can survive an atom-splitting event at epicenter. I had a Yaesu pack of this variety once. Once!

Also, yes, if you break it, you break it. Not like it has much value as is, either. But, there are some places that will re-pack them for you for less than a new one, so a good battery case might be useful for that option.

Good luck, and use a blade slowly if you decide to operate...and be prepared for leakage. Dead cells tend to ooze!

Thanks for your help. I was able to get the battery pack open. As with yours, this one has six AAA cells. I'm pretty sure I can get some replacement cells here locally.

I have another question ref. PL which I'll use to open a new thread

How things change, when one is off the air for ten years or more.

While I wasn't looking, it seems that everyone added PL tone access to all of the repeaters around here.

Do any of you know how to make the Kenwood TH-21AT 2-meter handheld generate PL tones of various frequencies?

It has a "Tone" pushbutton switch on top but the owner's manual has long since gone down the pipe, so I have no idea how to use it.

Thanks...

No, STUPIDASS, learn to quit cutting and pasting and leaving half the post out.
Then learn to fucking READ.
If you weren't such a fucking RETARD, you'd note that the post came from EditorInChief (mthack@postoffice.swbell.net) not me.

Here's the post, you brain-dead imbecile, now take your foot out of your mouth:

Check it out, while digging around in a swbell newsgroup to find out if the newsadmin knew about the supercedes going on...Ray Chasons name came up.

Why?

Here's a full quote:

Given that there are 300 million of diverse 'us', we have to practice very diligently the tolerance that we preach. Our liberty allows dissenting voices to be loud-spoken. By the same token, its not hard to assemble a huge foe worthy of shaking the bees from any man's bonnet.
...that largesse equates to a very impressive equilibriate when you score away all the politics and other nutters.
That is how (not why) we can kick ass and take names against detractors worldwide. Simple equation..God forbid we turn REALLY bad.
We are a pretty good team and work well together...something the Osama-clones might not have foreseen.
You can rant until tomorrow about America's past faux pas but at the end of the day you will find a nation comprised of freely independent minds that favor their status as the free-ist county in the World. No other nation can stake that claim.. That is why we can be proudly be

So choose the alternative if you don't agree.

Yes.

But you won't be happy about how to go about it...!

First off, you need to have the optional TU-6 subaudible tone encoder installed. It was an option, and not standard issue.

Second, you need to solder and/or desolder pins 1 - 6 to select which frequency you'd like to use as a CTCSS tone.

These radios are nice (as in everything they are designed to do, they do it well) but they really aren't much in today's world, feature-wise.

Setting a PL tone is a situation where you choose your most likely tone for your desired repeater(s), and hard wire it by soldering it, then close the case. The tone switch then toggles the pre-set tone on, or off.

I can send you a copy of my TU-6 sheet, but first check to see if you have the unit installed. The panel where the battery snaps on can be removed, and the TU-6 encoder should be an add on module with brown, white, and black wires leading to the main circuit board. The actual module should be soldered to the frame/chassis of the radio itself.

Since you seem to be using repeaters where many are requiring CTCSS tones, keep in mind you cannot switch tone frequencies without opening the case, and solering/desoldering. I 'spose you could find a DIP switch, but it would not install cleanly, and would be more trouble than it is worth.

Wish there was an easier answer!

Mark

You're right, I didn't. :-(

Mine doesn't have the TU-6 encoder installed, and even if it did, there are so many different PL frequencies used by the repeaters around here that it wouldn't work out very well.

I found a place that has PB-21 battery packs in stock (the full pack including case, not just the insert) and sells them for about what some of the other sources mentioned here sell the inserts. So I ordered two battery packs and a charger.

(I also was able to get my current PB-21 apart without breaking it, and as a temporary measure, haywired up a low-current power supply and some clip leads and tried charging the battery that way, and by a miracle it still seems to want to hold a charge at least somewhat.)

Now it looks like the TH-21AT is going to be of only limited usefulness anyway, even if I do get new batteries and a charger for it. I wonder if I can reach the battery people on Monday morning and cancel the order?

I've decided to go down to the local Ham Radio Outlet store later this morning and buy a new hand-held anyway ... probably should have done that to begin with.

It WILL be a model that takes AA batteries. ;-)

It'll probably be the IC-Q7A (I want something with a wide coverage receiver) if I can convince myself that I can live with 350 mw (there are tons of repeaters around here so 350 mw will probably be OK).

Yes, I am probably going to buy an IC-Q7A today, if I decide I can live with the flea power (350 mw). I like the idea of the tiny size, AA cells, and wide receive coverage.

It seems that most of the manufacturers have smartened up and are offering at least the option of off-the-shelf batteries, these days.

I hope you enjoy your new purchase. If it is affordable, and doesn't dent your budget, it is most likely the way to go for you as far as what you would like to do with a handheld in your area.

Most new radios have features galore, so you shouldn't be disappointed. The TH21AT for me, usually ends up being a receiver and monitor for my local area. It transmits just fine, but I just tend to use it for what it is.

Ultimately, I was going to dedicate it to transmitting APRS data for my QTH, but I am not sure the MIC and earphone jacks are wired the same way that most Kenwood handhelds are.

PS--Kenwood also made a "battery eliminator" tyre of adapter for these radios. It looks like th PB-21 pack, but is empty and allows you to use an external 12v supply for the radio.
Again, these are still handy in the shack if you cannot use it as a portable. eBay might be a source for these, or local Ham shops/fests.

You could also take your dead PB-21 pack, and put a DC jack through the side--make your own battery eliminator.

Just depends on how much time makes sense.

Either way, glad you found a solution, and hope your back on the air!

Spell lamer. Gay Chason can't do any better, either. Why is it you're posting to USENET on a Friday night? No woman, soon to have no job because of the upcoming termination and/or layoffs...poor Gay Chason wouldn't DARE say any of this to someone in person.

2957. Advice for new hams on buying used HF rigs.

I often get asked by new hams what is a good used HF rig to start out with.
I always tell them a Kenwood TS440 or some other rig with alot of memory channels because I've found restructured hams appreciate these rigs more.
For example, the Kenwood TS440 has 100 memory channels, so a new restructured ham can store all 40 CB channels and still have 60 memories left over.

I also recommend handie-talkies for VHF/UHF to restructured hams. This way they don't need to be near a power source whenever they was to kerchunk all the repeaters in the area.

I'm proud to be able to do my part in supporting the ARRL in their continuing efforts to dumb down ham radio and turn it into CB.

I have a Radio Shack 5/8 wave 2M magmount...The coil/whip portion mounts onto the magmount base with a PL-259 / SO-239 combination..The only problem is that the center pins are inverted. In other words, the coil portion, which has the screw down barrel (outside looks like a PL-259) has a "socket" and not a pin. The threaded base (which looks like a SO-239 panel mount on the outside) has the center pin. So a normal connector set will not fit these...That's my problem. I wanted to put a 1/4 whip on a PL-259 and be able to use the same mag mount base for around the town usage, and switch to the stock 5/8 whip and coil when I'm going long distance.

Any suggestions? Does anyone sell these inverted connectors? What are they called?

Thanks,
Matt

Well that was really an informative message. Cross-posted too! It's easy to criticize the hard work of others while we sit on our lazy ass. If not for the efforts of the ARRL in the 1920's and 1930's there wouldn't be any ham radio for you to make fun of, dumbed down or not.

i dont know what they are called but i have just the mag base and was wondering the same thing more than likely radio shack had these made special so you have to buy parts from them but i dont believe there is a quarter wave replacement if you are good at fabracating you could try to make a plug to work buy cutting off the male part of the pl259 and tear apart a so239 and solder on the jack part it might work who knows i was thinking of a way to adapt the thing to take a 3/8 threaded antenna
good luck

My daughter's 1995 Ford Taurus had a problem in the wiring system on the transmission. I needed to replace that portion of the wiring harness, but it was no longer available from Ford at any price. The car is 6 years old and cost about 18 grand when it was new. Now I can't buy parts. You're complaining about not being able to buy an original battery from the radio manufacturer at least 15 years after the last one was made and sold. Pretty minor stuff. Who would expect Kenwood to keep batteries even if the third party suppliers no longer find it profitable? I'd be PO'd if I had a one year old 870 and couldn't buy a part. That isn't the case. Get over it and keep things in perspective.

Attack on America: How to Find Terrorists and Spies on the Air - Part 2

Ham radio operators across the nation and around the world continue to look for ways to help in the United States war against terrorism.

Some are still providing communications in the New York City area Others have headed the call by FCC Special Counsel Riley Hollingsworth to watch the radio spectrum and report suspicious transmissions.

Last week, monitoring specialist Joe Schroeder, W9JUV, gave us a bit of insight into what to listen for on the high frequency bands. Joe is back with a look at the spectrum above 50 MHz and the way that terrorists cells might try to use it: FRS probably not an option because there are just to many people on it.

There's not so much the chance of being overheard and having the whistle blown.

More likely, some kid is going to inadvertently break in and break up the communications. Especially in a mall or some downtown area.

CB at 27 MHz is also a no. I would also say that the ham bands are not a good alternative because there is to much of an opportunity for radio amateurs to come across such communications and recognize that it is not normal ham radio talk. What hoes on in the Amateur VHF and UHF bands is so normal sounding that many hams readily recognize all of the voices. If there was something abnormal going on it would stick out much more than on an HF band like 20 or 40 meters.

One thing Riley Hollingsworth suggested was to tape any suspicious communications. If you do, we would suggest using fresh tape and also using a direct connection to your recorder from your station receiver.

This will eliminate the chance of room noise obscuring what you are trying to record.

And, if you do happen across something that needs to be reported probably the best place to forward it is directly to the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The FBI has set up a toll free number for leads or other information on the terrorist attack. It's at: (866) 483-5137

Well, ya gotta admit that the post is sadly funny and has a ring of truth to it. We have a few of those CB/Ham "newbies" in our area, too. You know who they are. Buy a Rad Shack HT and tie up the local repeaters for hours on end until their ni-cads go dead. You know them...they have no idea what simplex means. They are really befuddled when they get a UHF HT. You hear them ask. "whats the numbers to set up for the repeaters?" Of course they mean, "what is the offset?". Like that is high math to them....
They further add to this merriment when they say, "I'm gonna call AES and order me one of them kickers that gives me 30 watts out."
There are, of course, the rabble who buy used HF rigs and "open" them so they can use them on 11 meters. 10-4, Good Buddy? I heard that I did.
Oh...and I will NOT touch on the newbie females who find out how to use the auto patch enabled systems. That is another story for another day.

Your statement is incorrect.

That was never my complaint.

My complaint is manufacturers who insist on making proprietary, one-of accessories, without which their primary product(s) won't work, so that you have to throw the primary product (in this case a perfectly good HT) into the trash every few years and buy a new one.

Fortunately I've discovered that most of the manufacturers, including Kenwood it seems, have gotten the message on that and are offering the option of using off the shelf batteries.

Good evening, Mark.

Actually, I didn't buy it. I went down to HRO in Salem, NH, and between myself and Malcolm at HRO we tried to make it trip the Derry, NH repeater (next town over) with no luck. We were able to trip up the Salem machine (one of the few around here that has no PL) but according to Malcolm you can practically see the antenna from the front door of HRO so that wasn't much of a test. Trials with a few other machines around the area were pretty well unsuccessful too.

I guess 350 mw just isn't going to cut it even around here. Either that or we were doing something wrong, perhaps in setting up the PL, or there was something wrong with the radio.

While I was there I saw an ad they had on the wall for a new Kenwood HT, the TH-F6A. It has transmit coverage on 2M, 220, and 440, and receive coverage practically from DC to the ultraviolet range (well, from 100 KHz to 1300 MHz) including CW and SSB. I hardly need all those bells and whistles but it looks intriguing, so I'm considering it.

Ah, the toys... ;-)

Well, you're a troll.

But it is interesting to wonder why the manufacturers put so many memories into HF radios. None of the memories on my FT-847 contain HF frequencies; only a few VHF repeaters and simplex frequencies.
I don't even know how many memories it has; probably 100. My old IC-726 had 26 or something and that was about 24 more than I needed then too.

I don't use the memories on my FT-847, since it's so easy to simply enter the frequency on the keypad... I do use them on my IC-706, but only as quick access to different bands, rather than spinning the tuning knob from now till Tuesday to get from 146.82 to 7.120...

Gee..it takes no large amount of genius to program HF memories into your FT-847. Trouble is who wants to? You can put 14.313 in memory, but all that you will hear is a Ham version of CB. Same for 3.950. Why bother? Most Hams are rather fluid and do not adhere to any one frequency. Of course there are those few who "park" themselves in one area and who exclude others from their conversations. They are easily ignored and for the most part they have little to offer the hobby.

Roger. Why not just give it a break and shut up?
Enough, already. Your immature and filthy posts are now redundant to the point of nausea.
Your verbal tantrums are not entertaining, they are not funny, and they only serve to reflect badly upon your less than shining intellect.
If you allow Chason and others to continually "get your goat" you are only falling victim to their ploys. You profess to be in posession of a higher-than-average intellect, yet you cannot resist responding with horrid posts. This attitude of yours is much akin to the third graders who gather on the playground during recess and call each other names and then respond, "I know you are, but what am I?"
(PSSST! Rog...got a tip for you...they are playing you like the petulant child you are.)

So, Rog. Want to escape your third grade attitude and move up to something a bit more mature? How about fifth grade? That should pretty much suit you.

Why recommend a radio that has 100% failure rate? It's not a matter of if the PLL will go bad, but when. Kenwood goofed on the potting compound and it will eventually take the radio out. This used to be common knowledge.

Forget Kenwood. Get yourself an Alinco DJ-V5T instead.
Had mine 2 years with no problems whatsoever. It is made with a piggyback battery pack, much like those used in Motorola NexTel cellphones. I got the standard NiCad and "AA" cell (uses four double-A cells) battery pack.

Gee, I wonder how long my TS-440 SAT has until it turns into a pumpkin?? Had it now for about 10 years and so far so good! There goes that 100% rating huh. Oh well, maybe I got the 1 in a million so that won't screw up the record will it? And as far as those restructured hams go, I believe if we all look back a little in time we will see that even we started out with a 4 channel (or 23 or maybe even a 40 channel depending on our age) cb that stimulated our interest enough to further our radio experiences. "It

My IC736 has around 100 memories, I think. I can't remember for sure because I don't use them for HF. Too easy to enter the freqs on the keypad.

On the 706MKIIG I had in the truck, that was another story. Used it on 70cm all the time and had my favorite repeaters programmed in.

My new FT817 only has ONE memory channel programmed and it too is a UHF repeater.

Ol' Elmer Fuddy-duddy must be his name because if he was a TRUE Elmer, he'd be reassuring NEW or RESTRUCTURED(if you will) hams and teaching them proper operating techniques and all of the fun aspects that Amateur Radio has to offer.

I was wondering the same thing only based on the fact that the 440's keypad fails and is no longer available.AES told me it is the only rig they will not take on a trade.

We have a variation of that here...

The newbie who shows up as fresh meat to the local ham club is bedazzled and all revved up in the belief that ham radio is an institution, and that all hams adhere to a chivalrous code of ethics and brotherhood. Then the big wheel club icons get them to buy the most expensive radios they can afford and finally screw around with them until they sell their radios at ten cents on the dollar to this snickering bunch of club craphounds, or simply resign themselves to shut-up and show up at the meetings and pay their dues like the rest of the captives who show up regularly.

What these poor newbies never find out, is that it doesn't have to be that way. The local club meeting may only account for 2% of the local ham population because the rest don't have the inclination to play the games of The CLUB and worship their kingdom.

These "others" are more often better rounded and may actually have jobs and family, and may even spend 3 out of 4 weekends on family outings, and very probably spend more time on radio projects or operations on their own because they enjoy the real ham radio hobby more than club politics and pecking orders and in general have transcended the brainwashing and NEED for congregating at the muddy water hole.

If you want to congregate (and there are good reasons to do so) be aware of your surroundings and keep your wits as you enjoy the company of (some) others. Don't be like the teenage girl who steps off the bus in the big city for the first time, right into the arms of her new PIMP Daddy!

: I often get asked by new hams what is a good used HF rig to start out with.
: I always tell them a Kenwood TS440 or some other rig with alot of memory
: channels because I've found restructured hams appreciate these rigs more.
: For example, the Kenwood TS440 has 100 memory channels, so a new
: restructured ham can store all 40 CB channels and still have 60 memories
: left over.
: I also recommend handie-talkies for VHF/UHF to restructured hams. This way
: they don't need to be near a power source whenever they was to kerchunk all
: the repeaters in the area.
: I'm proud to be able to do my part in supporting the ARRL in their

On the other hand, whose idea was it to integrate cartoon characters

I still think recruiting die hard CB'ers for Ham Radio, is like trying to

Why bother with a membership to the country club, if all you want to

Now, Lloyd, you know damn well where it came from.....

Well Mr. Davies, you have had more than an ample amount of time to confess about your arrest and criminal record.

So, without further delay, we will tell everyone what a liar and pervert you are.

Date: July 4, 1998 caught masturbating in the back row of the movie theater. Lloyd claimed he saw " a bug on my pee pee and I was trying to shake it off".

Date: September 12, 1998 caught showing two young boys his " willie ". the parents moved and didn't prosecute.

Date: December 21, 1998 caught jerking off behind the local porno magazine store to pictures of naked men.

Date: March 8, 1999 caught putting " secret sauce ' on pizza just before delivering it.

July 4, 1999 (you have something to tell us about july 4th Lloyd?) caught putting his penis in the cotton candy machine at local fair, then offering some special cotton candy to young boys.

October 14, 1999 caught cornholing a friend in back seat of car at local park (a pickle park?) claimed he got stuck while playing leapfrog.

Date: January 12, 2000 Caught at local traffic light with no pants on and jerking off.

Date: August 16, 2000 Caught at pickle park at rest stop soliciting oral sex.

Date: October 20, 2000 caught screwing a pumpkin outside of Athens, claimed he was making pumpkin pie filling for a friend.

Date: January, 2001 caught cornholing a cow, contracted the mad cow disease, as evidenced by his bizarre behavious lately. Acting tough etc.

These record are on file in our Atlanta office Mr. Davies.

I am always amazed when I read these descriptions of radio clubs. I have belonged to eight different clubs in four different states and I have never seen what you describe. My current club meets at a middle school that is very well supported by the club with equipment and training. We spend our time on public service, and not playing political games.

Of course seeing where you live probably explains a lot. So. Calif. is rife with politics and a non friendly ham atmosphere. A good example being the closed repeaters everywhere. And before you get the wrong idea, I am a native Californian and have belonged to three ham clubs in So. Calif.

One of the conveniences of having 100 memories is the ability to choose a memory channel number that is a mnemonic for the frequency. Thus I have used the following on my HF Transceiver 66, 77, 82, 88 corresponds to most listened to broadcast stations 66 = 660 Mets games, 77 = 770 Yankees, 82 = 820 NPR, 88 = 880 All news
5, 10, 15 are WWV at 5, 10 or 15 MHx
6 = 28,885 6 meter DX coordination
I have a few other stored but as you see most are not for use for transmitting.

Mr. Davies:

Radical elements in Islam twisted the words of the Koran for their own ends.
The Jews have radical elements within their midst who do the same with the Talmud.
Christians used the Bible Scriptures to justify The Inqusition which gave the world the Dark Ages.
The Japanese cut-and-pasted their beliefs in WW-II to make the Emperor into a living god, giving the world things like the Battan Death March and the slaughter of hundreds of thousands of Mongolians. in the late 30's In Germany, Hitler created a whole new religion under National Socialism and the guiding "principles" of Himmler's SS and the Anneherbe Colleges.
In America the principal of "Manifest Destiny" in the 1800's was used as justification for the genocide of Native Americans.
In Puritian America in the late 1600's, people were burned alive at the stake for such acts as having black cats, charting the movements of the planets or stars in the night sky, or having (now known as) mental illness.
The Balkans region has a history of so many instances of psudo-religious pogoms, that it would take an hour to list them all in typeset.

I'm sure I missed some other examples. But you get the idea I hope....

Suffice it to say, when people cut-and-paste the documents of a religious belief (and I mean ANY belief at all) to make a people or race or culture the representation all that is of "bad" in the world, you will see the human person then commit acts of atrocities that knows no bounds whatsoever as the same it now justified as doing an act of "good" or "righteousness".

Sept 11, 2001 at the WTC was nothing new - it was just the latest chapter in human history's ongoing sorry track record of behavor. It's not the end either. History teaches us that.

(I hope you understood the preceeding Mr. Davies)

A good point. As far as recent history, look no further than the Protestants and Catholics in Ireland. Amazing what people will do in the name of religion. Unfortunately you are also very correct about this simply being the latest and not the last.

* PLEASE NOTE: The report "could" contain "Pirate/SLIM" operations. As always, you never know - "Work First Worry Later" (WFWL).

3W6, VIETNAM. Remember to look for Bob, N4CD, to show up from here starting October 2nd through October 15th. His callsign is still unknown, but he has asked for 3W6CD. Activity will only be on 40/20/15/10 meters. QSL to N4CD direct or for overseas stations via the bureau. Please, no cards from stateside USA via the bureau.

4L, GEORGIA. David, 4L1DA, informs OPDX that station 4L0G will participate in the CQWW SSB Contest. Operators mentioned are: 4L1DA/David, 4L2M/Mamuka, 4L7O/Thomas, 4L7CE/Gogita and 4L4CR/Mike. QSL via DL7BO.

5B4, CYPRUS (Also Possibly ZC4). Rick, AI5P, will be active as 5B4/AI5P from October 4-11th. Reports indicate that he may also try to operate from the club station in the U.K. Sov. Base Area on Cyprus (ZC4) for a few hours.

5B4, CYPRUS. Johan, PA3FDO, will be active as 5B4/PA3FDO from October 13-23rd, using only a 100 watts and vertical dipoles. His focus will be on 12 and 17 meters for those who still need 5B4. QSL via homecall. Sending via the Bureau is OK.

5T5, MAURlTANIA. The "Japan DX News" reports that from October 6-16th, a seven member team from the International Amateur Radio Volunteers (IARV) organization will make their annual visit to the Sahara Desert as part of a technical aid program. They expect to be permitted to operate amateur radio with individual callsigns using the format 5T5 as well as 5T5U. The operation will be carried out mainly in the CW mode, including activity on 10 MHz band. Send your QSL to each operator's home callsign.

9K2USA UPDATE. Bob, 9K2ZZ, reports that the positive response to the use of 9K2USA by Kuwait amateurs has been overwhelming. He states, "Thanks to all who have E-mailed the Kuwait Amateur Radio Society <9k2ra@kars.org>, your support is appreciated by both the Kuwaiti Amateurs, and those of us who are guest operators in Kuwait. The 'official' 9K2USA QSL card has been finalized." It is now posted on the website at: http://www.k4cy.com Bob states, "The cards are being printed this week, and logistics are now in place for a quick turnaround on cards received by the Radio Society. I would, once again, encourage those of you who have not E-mailed the Radio Society of Kuwait to please send them a message expressing your opinion on this unprecedented event. Thanks again for everyones help/support during the past weeks, Bob."

AMATEUR RADIO LIGHTHOUSE SOCIETY CONVENTION CANCELLED. Jim Buffington, K5JIM, Publicity Chairman for the Amateur Radio Lighthouse Society (ARLHS) announced Monday that its planned convention, which was set for November 9-11th in Brunswick, Georgia, has been cancelled. Spokesman Jim, K5JIM, said the event was apparently a victim of the terrorist bombings, at least in part, since some members who had planned to fly in from overseas opted out. "For that matter," said Buffington, "some who would have flown from distant locations in the U.S. also indicated a reluctance to travel." "Postponed would be a better word," said Buffington, "because we're already making plans for a meeting in 2002 and expect to announce the dates soon." Those who made reservations at the Holiday Inn in Brunswick are reminded to cancel them.

AP, PAKISTAN. Peter/ON6TT and Robert/S53R reportedly have left Afghanistan and are now staying in Islamabad. Both are expected to be active possibly on 160-17 meters. Both are expected to try to receive callsigns, however, Robert and Peter were heard using the callsigns AP2ARS. Robert has been heard on 40/30 meters over the past week.

C6,BAHAMAS. Ed, K8EP, will be active as C6A/K8EP from November 20-27th. Activity will be on CW/SSB and an entry in the CQWW CW Contest. QSL via K8EP.

CONTEST REMINDER! Mike, VK4DX, wants to remind everyone that the Oceania DX Contests, formerly known as VK/ZL Contests, will be held October 6-7th (SSB) and October 13-14th (CW). As of this year, the time has been changed, so the contest starts at 0800z on Saturday and ends at 0800z on Sunday. For full contest rules, please visit VK4DX's contest calendar or the NZART Web sites at: http://www.vk4dx.net http://www.nzart.org.nz/nzart/update/contests/oceania/

DX BASH. Just a reminder that the annual DX BASH will be held next weekend, October 5-6th. There will be great programs on DXing, contesting, and all kinds of radio fun. All the info is available on the Web at: http://www.dxbash.com

FM, MARTINIQUE (Update). The Pordenone Gangsters (IV3TDM/Dan, IV3JVJ/Luca and IV3BTY/Andrea) will once again be here and will operate from October 22-26th. The callsigns will be FM/homecall, and they should be able to have two stations active simultaneously on two different bands. Their activity will be mainly SSB, but Luca is expected to operate some RTTY and Andrea on CW. On October 27-28th, they will join the FM5GU team for the CQWW SSB Contest. QSLs for FM/homecall operations should go to IV3TDM's CBA. QSLs for FM5GU operation is via KU9C's CBA. All details are available on the web site: http://www.qsl.net/fm5gu/The%20Pordenone%20Gangsters.htm

FO, MARQUESAS ISLANDS. Operators SP9FIH and SQ9LR will be on the air as FO/SP9FIH probably begining in the second half of October (depends on their job duties and airlines schedule). They plan to be active on 80-6 meters SSB and RTTY for 2 weeks from Nuku Hiva (OC-027). QSL via SP9FIH.

FS, FRENCH SAINT MARTIN. Look for Ann/W2AZK and Brian/KF2HC of the North Jersey DX Association (NJDXA) to be active from the French side of Saint Martin (IOTA NA-105) November 26th through December 2nd. They will operate SSB and CW on 40-10 meters using the callsigns FS/home. The bands 160/80 meters will be added if circumstances allow. Because of anticipated luggage restrictions ,they are planning a modest station which will include an IC-706, wire antennas, and possibly a Force-12 Sigma vertical dipole. Yagi antennas (including perhaps 6m), and a second station may be added if they find they have room to transport the extra equipment. QSL via their home callsign direct or via the bureau. Check "DX News" on NJDXA's Web page for any last minute announcements at: http://www.njdxa.org/

IOTA NEWS.....
AS-043. Operators JI1PLF/1, 7N1GMK/1, and 7N1PVR/1 plan to be active from Hachijo Island, November 2-5th. They will be on 80-10 meters, including the WARC bands SSB and CW. QSL via their home callsigns.

LIGHTHOUSE NEWS.....
AMATEUR RADIO LIGHTHOUSE SOCIETY CONVENTION CANCELLED. Jim Buffington,

K5JIM, Publicity Chairman for the Amateur Radio Lighthouse Society (ARLHS) announced Monday that its planned convention, which was set for November 9-11th in Brunswick, Georgia, has been cancelled. Spokesman Jim, K5JIM, said the event was apparently a victim of the terrorist bombings, at least in part, since some members who had planned to fly in from overseas opted out. "For that matter," said Buffington, "some who would have flown from distant locations in the U.S. also indicated a reluctance to travel. Postponed would be a better word," said Buffington, "because we're already making plans for a meeting in 2002 and expect to announce the dates soon." Those who made reservations at the Holiday Inn in Brunswick are reminded to cancel them.

Don, W9DC, informs OPDX that Ted, W8TTS, has added a current up-to-date list of WLHA to his web page for use in the "DX4Win" logging program and also a limited text version which contains only the Lighthouse names and WLHA numbers. The URL address is:
http://home.neo.rr.com/tsarah/www/w8tts.html

OOPPPSS (Correction in OPDX.530). Wolff, DJ5JH (HSC #372), informs OPDX that the HSC (mentioned in last week's bulletin) is not a Hungarian CW Club, but is a German High Speed Club founded in 1951 by Richard Dargatz, DL1XA, and others with over 1000 members. To become a member, one must have at least 5 QSOs of 30 minutes at 25 wpm with 5 different HSC members and the QSL cards with the confirmation of these facts.

OX3, GREENLAND. Ben, OZ5IPA, will be active from Kangerlussuak from October 27th through November 5th, outside of the CQWW Contest. Ben will be active on SSB/CW and on all bands including the WARC as a single operator 12 hrs/day (1000-2200z). There is a slight possibility he will be active on SSTV and RTTY October 30th. He will participate in the International Police Associations Contest the first weekend of November. His QSL is good for the "Sherlock Holmes Award" and most police awards. QSL via OZ5IPA direct only to: Ben Jakobsen, 9 Knoldager, DK-2670 Greve, Denmark. For more info, check the following Web pages:
Contest info - http://www.ipa-rc.de Ben's Web - http://www.iparc.dk

QSL INFO AND NEWS.....
Mac, WA4FFW, reports, as of September 28th, all 3Y0C QSLs which he has received have been processed and mailed. This includes those not found in the log, Bureau, and SWL reports. He ask that you allow 2 weeks for delivery due to slowed mail to some areas, especially International mail. Mac stated all request which did not come up in the computer database were very carefully checked against Chuck's paper log. Resposes to all cards received have been completed. Approximately 90% of those NIL in the computer log was found in the paper log. The delay in the latest mailing of cards were due to the time required to verify against the paper log, and it certainly proved to be worth the effort for most of the requests. Mac wants to thank N4OL and WJ4T who worked endlessly to help get the cards out. A special thanks also to those who sent extra financial help with the QSL expense. He will continue to process incoming cards promptly, but it will not be daily. He will now work on a backlog of cards for other stations he manages.

NOT THE QSL MANAGER. Hannes, DL3NM (ex-DL3NEO) is NOT the QSL Manager for 4U1ITU or 4U1VIC. He is receiving many direct QSLs for these calls, especially from USA. He can QSL only the following activities:
4U1ITU: August 21-26th, 1994
4U1VIC: November 20-21st, 1998.

QSL Manager, Joe, W3HNK, reported this past week, that anyone needing a JT1CO card to please send him your QSL and 1 USD ASAP, and he will get a QSL card back to you in due time!

RSGB HF AND IOTA CONVENTION will be held October 12-14th, at the Beaumont Conference Centre, Old Windsor, UK. A full line of programs and speakers are scheduled to take place at this year's event (OH2BH, G3KMA, G3ZAY, G3SWH, RW3GW, UA9OBA, The D68C Story, 3B6RF Agalega Dxpedition, VP8SDX Falklands, Cocos-Keeling/Chatham Island by G3SXW, ZD7K/ZD8K, Logbook of the World by N7NG and much much more). Booking details, online registration and the program can be found on the Web at: http://www.rsgb.org.uk
OPDX InterNet Subscribers will receive an additional bulletin with more details.

SPECIAL EVENT. Eric/KU6J and Ron/K6KYJ, will be active from 160 meters through 440 MHz on SSB, CW, Digital, RTTY, Satellite, and FM using the special callsign N6C. The "Special Event" callsign N6C has been assigned to the "2001 Colusa County California QSO Party Expedition". Their location will be at the Black Oak Camp (elevation 5,800 ft), in the Mendocino National Forest. This callsign will be valid only from October 4-11th. QSL via KU6J.

T30, WEST KIRIBATI. Eric, T30ES, a Peace Corps volunteer on Butari Tari Island (OC-17), continues to be active. He was heard on 14280 kHz usually between 1000-1200z on Thursdays and Sunday evenings (his time) and sometimes on Tuesday. He will be there for another year plus. He runs on low power (TS-430), on batteries which are charged on a solar panel which he borrows from a friend. His antenna is a dipole strung between two coconut trees. QSL via CARA: P O Box 3441, Danbury, CT 06813.

T32, EASTERN KIRIBATI. Hiro, JP1TRJ, informed OPDX that he and Takashi/ JR7TEQ and Hiro/JA1PCY will be active from Christmas Island (OC-024) from October 1-7th, signing T32RJ, T32EQ and T32CY respectively. Their activitty will be on SSB/CW/RTTY on 160-6 meters. QSL T32CY via JA1PCY, T32EQ via JR7TEQ and T32RJ via JP1TRJ.

TI, COSTA RICA. Goram, SM4DHF, will be active as TI2/SM4DHF from the QTH of Henry TI2HMG, from October 24th to November 4th. He will be taking part in the CQ WW Phone Contest as a Single Op/Single Band/Low Power entry (10, 15 or 20 meters, which will be decided later). Before and after the contest he will also be active on CW and RTTY. QSL via homecall SM4DHF.

V3, BELIZE. Begin look for Joe, K8JP, to be active and signing V31JP. He will be there until April 2002. He is mainly a CW operator.

VP5, TURKS AND CAICOS ISLANDS. The VP5T group will be operating from VP5JM's place on Providenciales (NA-002) in the Turks & Caicos Islands during the period of October 23-30th. Operators will be Frank/WA2VYA, Ken/K2WB and Jack/N2VW. They plan a Multi-Multi operation during the CQWW SSB Contest, October 27-28th as VP5T. QSL via N2VW. Before and after the contest the operators will operate as VP5/homecall. Their activity will be mostly on CW, the WARC bands and PSK31. QSL to homecall.

WRTC2002 PRESS RELEASE (#9). Ari, OH1EH, reports that the following experienced contesters have been nominated to represent their countries in WRTC2002:
CANADA : VE3EJ John Sluymer SWEDEN: SM5IMO Dan Hultgren
VE7ZO Jim Roberts SM3SGP Gunnar Widell

FINLAND: OH1MDR Timo Pohjola UKRAINE: UT4UZ Yuri "Jerry" Onipko
OH1MM Pasi Alanko UT3UA Sergey Vasilenko

GERMANY: DJ6QT Walter Skudlarek YUGOSLAVIA: YU7BW Robert Homolja
DJ2YA Ulrich Weiss YU1ZZ Milanovic Milan
DK3GI Roland Mensch
DL1IAO Stefan von Baltz

XU, CAMBODIA. Alan, F6BFH, informs OPDX that a French team (from the Presence Radioamateur) will be here between October 22nd through November 10th. The following will be involved with this operation as well as their specific duties:
Yves, F5TYY - Radio Op and video.
Alan, F6BFH - Radio Op and video. His XYL Danielle will take pictures, be narrator on the video and give "Moral Support".
Jacqueline, F6EGG - YL Radio Op and medical person in charge.
Bernard, F9IE - Radio Op and Logistic transmissions. His XYL Micheline will take pictures, design the QSL and give "Moral Support".
Alan/F6BFH has received his callsign, XU7ABW, the others will go to the Telecom Ministry in Phnom Penh to receive their lisences. The team will have two IC-706MK2 radios with a dipole for 80-6 meters and plan to be active on CW and SSB. They will be travelling like backpackers with only knapsacks, including the radio equipment. They will try to activate Koh Poah Island (AS-133) in the Shianoukville archipelago. QSL via home callsigns, and the bureau is 100%. Alan states this operation would not be possible without the help of Franck, DL4KQ (XU7ABR). Also, a special thanks goes to Mister Christian Pichon, Logistic and Technical Advisor for the Cambodian-German Health Project, and the team of Paul/F2YT, Josiane/F5MVT (Honor Members of Presence Radioamateur), for special technical support. ADDED NOTE: Alan states that a special cup will be awarded to the station having the maximum number of QSOs on the maximum number of bands. Send your request by E-mail to: f6bfh@wanadoo.fr

XX9, MACAU. Ed, K8EP, will be active as XX9TEP from October 11-17th. Activity will be on CW/SSB and probably on all bands. QSL to K8EP.

YN, NICARAGUA. Laurie, G3UML, informs OPDX that station YN2EJ will be activated from the city of Granada, Nicaragua, for the CQWWDX Phone Contest at the end of October. Operators will be Eddie/W5GCX, Laurie/G3UML and

Frosty/K5LBU. QSLs for EU/AF are via G3UML, all others go to W5GCX. All cards will be answered. This is a relatively modest Multi-Op/Single-Tx operation, using Icom transceivers, a small amplifier, a mini-quad and wire antennas. Last year the two U.S. Ops, signing YN2EJG, provided the only activity from Nicaragua and made almost 3000 QSOs.

ZL7 OPERATION WRAP-UP. The ZL7/G3SXW and ZL7/G3TXF operations are now QRT, but if you are interested, they now have the stats by continent and band from their trip to Chatham Island posted on their Web site: http://www.g3txf.com/dxtrip/ZL7_G3TXF/ZL7.htm

ZONE 2. Hisato, 7K1WLE, is planning to stay at Resolute Bay on Cornwallis Island in the Queen Elizabeth Islands Group, Nunavut, Canada (Canada north polar region: CQ ZONE2, IOTA NA-009), from October 25-31st. He will possibly sign VY0/7K1WLE or AK2M/VY0. He will use an IC-706MKII w/IC-2KL and wire antenna. He will be active mainly on the low bands. His operation from ZONE 2 on low bands will be a great interest to low banders because Hisato's operation will be influenced by an aurora propagation. The sunrise/sunset at Resolute Bay is 1534z/2030z. Pilot stations for him are JP1IOF/Toshi and JF6OJX/Tad. QSL via JN1HOW.

No, you're a chickenshit coward who hides behind several sockpuppets.
You're the dullest illegitimate bastard child of a truck stop whore who's fahter, one of her johns used to beat your syphlitic momma up.
The only reason you live in that HUD apartment is because of your beating up your momma and she kicked your sorry, lazy, hardly ever worked anywhere ass out.

Admission that it was you hiding behind that sock noted.

Run along and netkkkop to silence your opponents as usual, cuntflap.

It appears to me Dick, that if all the new applications for ham licenses was left up to you to accept or deny that there would be only the "Old Timers" left that have proven themselves to your satisfaction and when then die off that would be the end of this great hobby of ours. Too bad because I know of quite a few pending applicants that are studying there butts off just to become an amateur license holder. I think I'll print your postings for them to read. They will probably be so ashamed of their cb background that maybe you'll get your wish and they will just forget the whole thing. Would that make you happy? I'm sure it would! Well I'm not going to mention to them anything about you because you and others like you only make up a very small % of Ham operators. The majority of Hams like it when new blood show up for the testing. I have never seen any money turned down from new applicants either. I really can't believe that you would categorize all cber's by a few less than desirables that you may have encountered. That would be like saying all Hams are like you! What a horrible thought that would be. I hope you don't trip and fall off that cloud that you are riding cause it's a long drop down here to reality.....73....."Porky" KA4ZSG

I always recommend that they build a CW rig from scratch. A couple dozen components can be assembled into a QRP transmitter that will teach them quite a bit about building and applying some of the theory they studied, and will enable them to communicate with stations half way around the globe. There is no greater thrill than having QSOs on equipment you've build yourself.

And if I am not mistaken, this little slotted socket can be screwed out of there.
If the other end will do the same thing, they might be able to be swapped-- pin in coil and socket in the base. I have done this in the past with AS antennas when converting to/from NMO mounts. In some of the AS NMO mounts, the pin in the coil is spring-loaded, and it will screw out as well. I have then substituted the slotted socket to to coil to mate with other kinds of mounts.

Also, I have removed the socket, found a small screw that would screw into the bottom of the coil where the socket was, and was just the right size to make contact with/fit into a socket on the mount. Sometimes, with a little imagination,
you can make it work.

I think this may be a misconception of the liberal-Christian mindset.

Sura 9 of the Qur'an declares the antagonism of Islam to all other religions. All but Muslims are excluded from Mecca and the rites of pilgrimage. Idolaters are threatened with slaughter and slavery. War is declared against Jews and Christians until they are humbled and pay tribute. This aura is called "the crusade chapter", and in the early campaigns was often read on the field before battle.

In matters political, Islam is a system of despotism at home and aggression abroad. The Qur'an teaches that a religious war is a sacred duty whenever there is a chance of success against the "Infidel". It further teaches that while the damnation of all infidels will be hopeless and eternal, Muslims, who, through holding the true religion, have been guilty of heinous sins, will, after expiating their crimes, be delivered from hell to Paradise, where the joys and glories are fantastic and sensual -- where each of the faithful is assigned seventy-two wives of the resplendent and ravishing girls of Paradise solely for enjoyment. (No similar thing for female Muslims on arriving in Paradise, I'm afraid.)

At home, religion and the state are not separated in Islam. Hence Islamic jurisprudence, civil and criminal, is mainly based on the Qur'an and on the "Traditions". Thousands of judicial decisions are attributed to Mohammed and incorporated in the various collections of Hadith. The rights of non-Muslim subjects are of the vaguest and most limited kind. Although murder, manslaughter, and suicide are explicitly forbidden, blood revenge is allowed. False evidence is allowed to hide a Muslim's crime and to save his reputation or life. Slave-mistresses and concubines are permitted in any number. In case of unfaithfulness, the wife's evidence, either in her own defense or against her husband, is not admitted, while that of the husband invariably is. The evidence of two women, if admitted, is sometimes allowed to be worth that of one man. The man is allowed to repudiate his wife on the slightest pretext, but the woman is not permitted even to separate herself from her husband unless it be for ill-usage, want of proper maintenance, or neglect of conjugal duty; and even then she generally loses her dowry, when she does not if divorced by her husband, unless she has been guilty of immodesty or notorious disobedience. In matters of inheritance, generally speaking, males are entitled to twice as much as females.

Memories on HF can certainly be useful for many operators. For example, net operators can store net frequencies. People who use modes that have fixed gathering frequencies (RTTY, SSTV, QRP, etc.) can put those frequencies in their rig. And they're an obvious win for the 10m repeater users, if there is anyone still doing that.

On the other hand, HF memories are pretty useless to the typical contester or HF ragchewer. But they add little or nothing to the cost of the radio (once you have a microcontroller-run radio, memory is easy to do), so you might as well have them.

Perhaps you haven't noticed that the FT-874 is a general coverage receiver, covering the shortwave broadcast bands as well as the ham bands. Those memories are handy for storing common shortwave broadcast frequencies, as well as commonly used ham frequencies.

I also have several of my previous employer's HF frequencies programmed into memories. And, since I'm a member of the USCGAUX, I have some memories set aside for the HF marine frequencies. I also have a dozen or so memories set aside for local HF and VHF civil defense frequencies, and for VHF marine frequencies.

All of that uses about half of the memories in my FT-847.

There you go! I built a couple of dead bug pip-squeaks before cobbling up power supplies for TCS boatanchors. The joy of discovery! (and reverse engineering)

When I was in High School, there was a kid who actually tore up transistor radios and junk and built up a QRP transmitter/receiver and mounted it all with a battery pack on his bicycle. We used to poke fun at him a bit, try to give pointers and ideas on how to improve and elaborate on it and he'd get pissed off. A couple of us pulled him aside and told him we were proud of him for doing it, and only wanted to help with the project.

That was the neat thing back then, everyone had different projects, but we could all jump in the middle and participate vicariously.

These newbies only find the joy these days after they bring it all home, plug it in and find out they need to come up with an antenna...

Jim, AC6TK

: I always recommend that they build a CW rig from scratch. A couple
: dozen components can be assembled into a QRP transmitter that will
: teach them quite a bit about building and applying some of the theory

Greetings,

Beacon-Prediction Wizard, BPW, is a specialized interface for the communications-analysis-prediction engine provided by VOACAP.

BPW focuses on use of the VOACAP prediction engine with the NCDXF/IARU International High Frequency Radio Beacon Network.

I invite you to be one of the first to look at our newest software: Beacon-Prediction Wizard:

"We think that there is a very serious threat of additional problems now," Ashcroft said, adding: "Frankly, as the United States responds, that threat may escalate."

One small step to take in preparation for any possible future terrorist attack is to be better equipped with regards to communications.

Early warnings and the dissemination of information can be critical. The PA-SitRep [Emergency] Situation Report mailing list is a valuable tool that is free and can be used by anyone with e-mail and or a digital cell phone.

Posts to the list only pertain to major emergency situation throughout the State of Pennsylvania and the list traffic is extremely low volume. Posting protocol mandates a brief summary at the beginning of the message under 100 characters. This protocol caters to the use of digital cell phones and alphanumeric pagers. Users of cell phones and text pagers (as well as those on the list with regular PC e-mail) will receive the emergency traffic posted to the list within seconds. Several subscriber to the PA-SitRep e-mail list contacted me off the list after the Sept 11 attacks and said that the notification to their cell phones was the first news they received of the unfolding tragic events.

For information on how to use your digital cell phone as a text pager, visit the following address:
http://www.pa-sitrep.com/cell.htm

As a subscriber to PA-SitRep, you may post emergency situation reports to the list, but all posts must comply with the posting protocol and messages are limited to emergency situation reports regarding weather emergencies, natural disasters, environmental disasters, civil disturbances, threats and acts of terrorism, major fires, manhunts, and Amateur Radio Emergency Net activations.

For more information on the PA-SitRep mail list please visit the following address:

Steve probably has CSMA/CDs that won't play .mp3s. The following table summarizes the specifications for Ethernet architecture. However, retransmission takes time, and will be ubable to intercept it. Clyde has other factors to consider before making a decision. The point was relatively simple, the employees would arrive at work to find the telephone system not working. The clouds are intended to convey the idea that this is an ever-changing situation. 802.3 has been installed and configured. This way, only a small amount of data can be transmitted, making it relatively easy for Stu to error.
Many, if not all, plan to recover a network. Some kind of exchange could easily infect all the computers is also on the rise.
This is often accompanied each time a new disk is inserted.

I have been a user of TRLOG for yeas and have been waiting for a windows version. It is not going to happen folks. I just acquired WRITELOG and TRLOG is about to leave my system.
I am fully WIN2000 now except for a DUAL BOOT. I am NOT going to do that any more to run a program. There are too may things missing when I cannot multitask. For instance, NO way to use DXTELNET, No way to use Networking to a windows program, really a complex (YES IT IS VERY POWERFUL) configuration file. Using a sound card for voice is a joke. Networking is a joke. Writelog uses you Ethernet connections for FAST networking and easy.
All this works and works well in WriteLog and it has its own S&P and CQ mode that is every bit as good. Why I waited so long I will never know but if you are looking and have not tried Writelog then you should.
I have no financial interest in that program, just a happy user.

Hehe. I end up using NT/98 on the desktop due to apps., but there's no question you've got to be halfway nuts to use a Microsoft server (deliberately made non-compatible and non-standard) when you can get NetBSD/Linux/FreeBSD to do the same job with less overhead and at essentially no cost.

Where I work, they've dropped NT print servers and gone to Linux. Since the switch-over, the system has suddenly become 100% stable -- which it never was before.

P.S.: Guess what Microsoft uses to host their FTP site?

His ISP is most likely ovnet.com, or mountain.net, and he uses simple proxies and/or anonymizers to "mask" his identity. Start reading his

Want to know more about him? Just run a search in http://groups.google.com

He has been trolling with messages similar to this one below, always from an

In my experience, I have not had much trouble with GM/Chevrolet vehicles WRT noise issues. Actually, I have had more trouble with Fords. When driving and listening to HF, I hear a buzzing (ignition noise), I can look up and see a Ford pass by and listen to the noise fade as the Ford gets farther away!
Yes, I am partial to Chevy vehicles, and the lack of noise troubles is one of the reasons. In my Lumina, I get NO noise on SSB and a barely perceptible pop from the ignition on AM (Yes, Richard I DO sometimes run "Ancient Mary"--because it's FUN). The noise is so light, I don't even bother to look for it. Back in days when AM was more prevalent, I had a Ford and I couldn't run HF because of the racket--no matter what I did! I bought a Chevy Impala, and the noise was gone, and I didn't have to do a darned thing! Been driving 'em ever since! LOL!

Hi Kev

So good to hear from you. (on the newsgroup)
I wondered where you were. I haven't heard anything about you since the road trip you took with your brother way back when, August 2000 I think it was. Where was it again....California?
Amazing what a person can learn from such little info....LMAO
I see you've grown into a complete idiot after all these years. Maybe you should actually try getting a life instead of harassing people on a missing kids newsgroup.
Its not nice to do things like this to innocent people in search of their missing kids.
The authorities were pleased to see that you left this email address for them to contact you. Its great what a person can do with so little time on their hands but to catch ass wipes like yourself.

Well, I hope I don't see you again on any newsgroups.

From the Honeywell site:

CODE OF ETHICS AND BUSINESS CONDUCT

Integrity and Compliance Program
Honeywell's Integrity and Compliance program reflects our vision and values. It helps our employees, representatives, contractors, consultants and suppliers worldwide comply with a high standard of business conduct. Honeywell employees are proud of their company's strong reputation for ethical conduct; this program helps protect that reputation.

At the core of the Integrity and Compliance program is Honeywell's CODE OF BUSINESS CONDUCT. All agents, consultants, contractors, representatives, suppliers, and employees of Honeywell are ultimately responsible for conducting themselves in an ethical manner in compliance with applicable laws. Our Code provides guidelines to ensure that we are successful in this endeavor.

Under the leadership of the Integrity and Compliance Council, we pursue a dynamic corporate-wide enforcement effort that engages Business Conduct Leaders in each business unit and each region of the world.

But from smart.net site:

Official Smartnet Access Policy

By establishing an account and/or by using any of the services provided by Smartnet, the account holder, hereinafter referred to as "You", "Your" and "User", agrees to be bound by the terms and conditions of this Policy as outlined below.

1) Basic PPP users are permitted unlimited dialup access. Unlimited dialup access is NOT equivalent to Dedicated Access. Basic PPP users may not stay connected during periods of inactivity. All other users (excluding Dedicated Accounts) are permitted up to 300 hours per month of dial-in access. This time allocation is cumulative over the month. Access in excess of 300 hours in any one month period will be subject to a fee of $1.00 per hour.

2) Smartnet provides dialup access numbers based on general demographic areas, however local access may not be available to all exchanges within a particular region or area. It is your sole responsibility to ensure that the dialup access number used is included in the Local Calling Area for the exchange you are dialing from as determined by your local phone service provider. Smartnet accepts no liability for any charges, long distance or otherwise, that result from calls made to our access numbers.

3) Unless specifically noted in the account description, multiple dialin connections from a single account are strictly forbidden. Users are permitted only ONE simultaneous dial-in and may connect to only one modem/port per session. Violation of this policy, regardless of frequency, will be subject to a fee equal to one month of service for each additional simultaneous connection and may further result in account suspension or termination.

4) Access to smart.net via telnet from other sites is always free (with the purchase of a Personal or Business PPP account). Up to 3 simultaneous telnet logins to smart.net are permitted, and are free of charge. Non-dial-in access to smart.net is not counted towards your 300 hour/month limit.

5) Idle dial-ins and logins for more than 90 minutes will be disconnected without warning.

6) Users may dial into any of our access numbers.

7) UNSOLICITED MASS EMAIL ("SPAMMING") IS NOT PERMITTED. Smartnet users sending _unsolicited_ email to multiple recipients (Smartnet or non-Smartnet addresses) WILL have any and all accounts with Smartnet IMMEDIATELY TERMINATED.

8) Smartnet reserves the right to terminate or suspend your account without notice for any activity deemed unreasonable by Management or System Administration staff. Such activity may include (but is not necessarily limited to):
a. Security violation, defined as unauthorized access of this or any other system using your Smartnet account, whether proven or strongly suspected.
b. Giving your password to someone else.
--->c. Harassment of others in the Internet community by email, newsgroups, IRC, or any other medium using your Smartnet account.<-------
d. "Spamming", defined as unsolicited information or advertisement via newsgroups or email, or propagation of such material, using your Smartnet account.
e. IRC bots, floods, or DCC (sending/receiving of files over IRC) using any Smartnet server. Any user account found to be the cause of the "smart.net" domain being banned from any IRC channel or host will be terminated.
f. Use of unauthorized software from your Smartnet Unix Shell account or web page. If you are unsure if it is allowed, ask. Use of any program designed to run as a server (does not require you to be logged in) is prohibited.
g. Distribution or storage of illegal or pirated software with/from your Smartnet account.

h. Non-payment of user fees, including declined credit cards or returned checks.

9) All accounts and services, regardless of billing cycle or payment method, renew automatically without notice. Unless otherwise noted, Account fees are based on a recurring flat monthly rate and are due in advance of the start of the service period. (e.g., monthly service from October 9 to November 8 is due on or before October 8.) Fees for usage-based services that are not included in the flat rate (such as exceeding bandwidth or disk storage limits) will be billed retroactively. The account holder is responsible for payment of all flat-rate fees, regardless of whether or not the Account was used, and for payment of all usage-based fees, until the account or service is canceled (see section 10).

10) Users may cancel at any time, without penalty, by notifying Smartnet. Notification of intent to cancel should be made no more than 30 days in advance of the service renewal date. Cancellation notifications are only accepted by phone and are validated with an official cancellation number. Monthly Account fees are NOT refundable or prorated. Accounts paid for the year will be refunded based on payments made at the regular monthly rate.

Exception: Any fees paid or charged prior to termination of account due to violation of this policy are NOT refundable.

11) Violation of any user policy will be handled in the following manner:
First Violation of any policy:
User will be warned via email of violation, and required to cease such activity immediately.
Second Violation of any policy (not limited to a repeat of the first violation):
User's account access will be suspended. It is the user's responsibility to contact Smartnet for remedy. User's account will be reactivated at the discretion of Smartnet Management or System Administration staff. User is still responsible for account fees while account is suspended, as account suspension is NOT equivalent to cancellation.
Third Violation of any policy (not limited to repeat of the first two violations):
User's account will be terminated.

Exceptions:
1) Violation of the "NO SPAMMING" rule will result in immediate account termination.
2) Non-payment of account fees by due date will result in immediate suspension of account. User may reactivate account within 10 business days by arranging payment. User is still responsible for fees while account is suspended, as suspension is NOT equivalent to account cancellation.

12) Storage for Personal PPP accounts is limited to 5 MB average per month, and includes your home directory, your anonymous FTP space, and your email file. Excess storage is charged at a rate of $1 per MB per month average, but is not guaranteed. Smartnet reserves the right to put a 5 MB quota on users' accounts that persistently violate the 5 MB limit. If you find that you consistently require more than 5 MB of storage, consider upgrading your account to a Business Account, which includes an additional 10 MB of storage, among other features.

13) A Backup Recovery Fee of $15 fee per 5 MB of files applies to the restoration of files due to loss not caused by a Smartnet hardware/software failure.

14) Smartnet will attempt to provide the highest quality and reliability of service, but service is not guaranteed. Loss of data or service due to hardware, software, or other failure does not give the user the right to compensation, financial or otherwise.

15) All rates and access policies are subject to change at any time. Users will be given 30 days notice of change in user fees. Access policies are subject to change without notice, and take effect upon posting.

AMENDMENTS:
As of January 1st, 1997, Basic PPP Accounts have no hourly limit.
As of April 1, 1997, all accounts, excluding Basic PPP, are permitted up to 300 hours per month of access time.
As of August 26, 1998, section (3) is modified to to limit multiple simultaneous logins to a maximum of three.
As of December 9, 1999, section (9) amended to prohibit refunds for accounts terminated due to Access Policy violations.
As of May 2, 2001, Sections (1) & (3) modified; Section (2) added.
As of July 31, 2001, Sections (9) modified to clarify account renewals. Section (10) modified to clarify cancellation process.

Good Ole Lardass Lloyd at it again! All five foot six and 240 of him must look like a bowling ball. As far as Rich being white trash, that is total bullshit Lloyd. You are just pissed off that Rich could buy and sell you several times over. Considering that Rich fits his name quite well, you shouldnt be calling anyone white trash. If there is anyone who is white trash its you pizza boy.
By the way Lardass, when are you going to get a real job instead of being a pizza boy. Whatever happened to that A++ Certification you were trying to achieve? At least Rich has 30 years of hamming under his belt as a HF operator. What is your great achievement? By the way, its no wonder that no one likes you because you are a loud mouthed fool who has very little real intelligence. So Lloyd when are you going to hit the one million mark in your bank account. I dont know what Rich has but certainly its a hell of a lot more than you and probably always will be because you neither have the intelligence nor desire to do anything useful with your life. I dont know if the pictures of his house are still online but when I seen the pictures the looked quite nice. Something we haven't seen of your buck toothed ass. Tell us Lloyd, what skills do you actually have that might show us an inkling of intelligence?
Rich is much more intelligent and articulate than you will ever be and that is what pisses off jealous little two-bit suckasses like you. By the way loser, Ever considered playing Russian Roulette by yourself with a loaded 45?

Sure won't be by you, LARDASS LLOYD. You cant even pass a HF test or code to save your life. Not to mention the fact that Rich would have a much more powerful signal than a useless twit like you could ever muster. That also explains why he can buy and sell your sorry ass. Of course, that idea is above your head since you are quite ill educated.

Greetings,

The recent widespread DX cluster abuse has been brought about by a like minded individual making us, at LPWS HQ, aware of Internet to DX cluster access.

There are several programs, but we have favoured DX-Telnet, copies of which are available for free download from our club web site at http://www.laughingpoliceman.com
Go to either the DX cluster listings or the free downloads pages.

Please note that to change your victims call sign you need to go to Configuration/Personal Info as the program starts up with the last call used.

Have fun, just use ann/full before your words of wisdom etc. Bulletins can be sent as well as personal messages, for instructions type ? when connected.

Bullshit, shithead.
Joanie the gnc vitamin shill, there's a lot of demand for op-amp knowledge selling those gnc vitamins and protien shakes on commission.

What's the fucking matter, loser, your piss-poor work record prevents you from getting a decent job, fucknuts?

PPOSTFU. Didn't have to cheat, assfuck. Scored above 98% on both times I took the tests, which says a hell of a lot about me than it does of a stupid fuck who couldn't pass the basic no-code technician license exam(i.e. you, noballs.).

Oh, so you ARE too fucking STUPID to pass the tests, then. Besides, you cheated on your finals on that lameass certificate you got from the community college, joanie.

Easiest spank I ever notched, I suppose. I haven't flamed this nitwit in weeks but now he sees me lurking in every shadow. And I've damned sure never socked up on this lightweight. What the hell would anyone need to do that for? Making Roger look bad is as easy as falling off a log. I spend little Wiseman into a foaming, frothing, teeth-gnasher of the highest order.

You're a stereotype of an insecure flamer. Insecure flamer starts repeating his "superiority" and claiming a victory as many times as possible in his every reply. That's one of the oldest and lamest tricks on alt.flame. In your case it's even worse. You try this obnoxious newbie trick before the whole fight has even begun.

This is called a "Napoleon complex" in real life. Small guys are usually those who make the biggest noise of themselves. This same philosophy is very valid on alt.flame as well. And your insecurity is very, very obvious.

Twice-fired FCC employee wanted by Federal Communications Commission for violations of Part 97. George F. Arsics, Jr., ex K1QKJ, AB4ZV, and currently W2ZB, is wanted by the FCC for multiple repeat violations of part 97 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended. As you will recall this is the ex-Powder Springs FCC employee who was caught by his co-workers jamming KV4FZ on 14.313 in a drunken stupor, and promptly fired. Since that time Arsics has been directly involved with the jamming, stalking, and harassment of several amateurs through a group known as the "Goodfellows". Other accomplices of Arsics in this activity have been N4CND, WB2OTK (call revoked), N4XCV (call revoked), KA9BSD, KK9G, and N9PGE. Arsics lost his home at 2571 Bethany Lane in a last minute sale to avoid foreclosure earlier this year. Thus his FCC ULS data is fraudalent. Arsics has done this in the past, once listing the retirement home where his father passed on his 610. This enables him to freely jam other amateurs on HF with no fear of revocation. According to part 97, and we quote,
" ?97.23 Mailing address.
Each license grant must show the grantee's correct name and mailing address. The mailing address must be in an area where the amateur service is regulated by the FCC and where the grantee can receive mail delivery by the United States Postal Service. Revocation of the station license or suspension of the operator license may result when correspondence from the FCC is returned as undeliverable because the grantee failed to provide the correct mailing address."

If you know the actual physical location of the station owned by George Arsics, Jr. used to jam and stalk other hams, please report this information to your local FCC Field Office or contact Riley Hollingsworth, Special Counsel for Amateur Radio Enforcement at rholling@FCC.gov.

Thanks to all that helped.. Here is what I did:
I was unable to get the center out of a SO-239 panel mount connector, so I used part of a crimp connector from a Radio Shack "bulk" modular plastic connector. I pulled the pin out of a PL-259 and replaced it with the crimp. Then I took some 12ga solid wire and fit it in half the crimp and slide it down the PL-259 barrel and crimped the top of the PL-259 over it. When I screw it down the mag mount base, the other half of the crimp fits over the center pin on the base. Haven't road tested it yet, but it worked nicely in my driveway. (Under 2.0:1 across the 2M band)

GLENDALE, WV: The FCC requested July 11, 2000, that Roger L. Wiseman, KC8JBO, retake the General examination elements under the supervision of an ARRL-VEC volunteer examiner team. Wiseman must appear for retesting by September 11, 2000, or his license will be canceled. Applicants appearing for re-examination are granted an Amateur Radio license consistent with the elements passed. The FCC had written Wiseman on March 29, 2000, advising that it had been made aware of "an ongoing personal dispute" between Wiseman and another licensee that included allegations of interference or jamming on 20 meters. FCC Special Counsel for Amateur Radio Enforcement Riley Hollingsworth invited the two licensees to contact him to discuss the matter. Additionally, the FCC had sent Wiseman a Warning Notice last November in response to allegations of deliberate and malicious interference on 20 meters.

"Courier" and "Thunderbolt" do sound like CB amp's but they may well be too old to be illegal. They'd be useable on 10 meters and possibly other bands provided they don't generate too much harmonic power. I have zero knowledge of there particular units but most old tube amps date back to the days before 11m became CB and some are of decent quality. They're worth little $$ but if I had them I'd try them on 10m then other bands after checking harmonics and adding a low-pass filter if needed; especially if I also had an old SSB CB I could convert to 10m.

I hear the same about Harley Davidsons; mostly from folks who've never owned one.

About 20 years ago I "liberated" 2 RF amps from CBrs and made a lot of CW contacts driving them with a kit-built QRP rig. Both amps are as well made as any of the 2-meter bricks I've bought since, and neither made TVI, so I suspect that their rep for harmonic generation & distortion comes from CBrs and Appliance Hams over driving them; altho a good lo-pass filter makes good insurance.

A mod'd CB driving a "linear" followed by a filter may be junk compared to the latest & greatest digital off-the-shelf appliances but just might be more in the spirit of Amateur radio. My 250-watter claims to work on "all amateur bands". It plus a Yaesu FT-817 otta be FB if that were true and who knows? Maybe I'll dig them out, QRP my Kenwood and find out. Isn't that what amateur radio's all about?

Yea right. The FCC caught you red handed no matter what you try to make others believe. You're the laughing stock of the newsgroup and ham radio.

Then just why did the FCC require you to be retested? Must have done something wrong, the FCC doesn't require someone to be retested just for fun. There are the letters to prove the FCC spanked your little behind. I have never been required to retest, I don't go around the bands jamming other hams like you do. Try as you may to convince everyone you did nothing but you're the laughing stock of the newsgroup and ham radio.

3111. New L-Match Design Program

IMPEDANCE MATCHING WITH L-NETWORKS

The simple L&C L-network is capable of matching any pair of complex impedances to each other and, when used in RF power applications, it always has a lower internal loss than any equivalent T or Pi network using the same quality components.

Its disadvantages are that to cover a full range of impedances it is necessary to switch the circuit locations of L & C and/or change the direction of transmission. This means neither component can have a permanent ground connection.

Also, at the lower radio frequencies inconveniently large values of capacitance are sometimes needed. (T and Pi networks are popular because they can be designed to avoid these two disadvantages.)

But as the L-network has only two components and circuit changes can be quickly accomplished using alligator clips, it lends itself to simple homebrewing, wind-your-own coils, etc.

A new program L_TUNER is now available from website below.

For a given terminating impedance R+jX and frequency, and the required network input impedance (which may also be complex), L_TUNER computes component L & C values and offers a choice of network configuration.

Input to the program, R+jX, can be obtained sufficiently accurately with a modern hand-held antenna analyser. The program will be useful designing networks to match coaxial lines to the peculiar impedances found at the base of vertical antennas. Use program SOLNOID2 to design coils.

L-networks are used in other places such as amplifier outputs and interstage couplings. They tend to have wider bandwidths than other types of Z-match circuits.

Download program L_TUNER in a few seconds. One self-contained file of 39 Kilobytes. Simplicity itself to use.

Fuck, even TJ Miller could easily hold his own against this clown. That kinda says it all, innit?

Tanner has been spotted outside some Helsinki kindergarten doing research for new material. Don't hold your breath waiting for the Broadway show.

Truth hurt, Twatty the concieted illegitamate bastard?
Still in denial, Twatty? Maybe if you hadn't grown up (well, you never HAVE grown up, have you?)
in that broken, dysfunctional, abusive "home" maybe your life wouldn't have taken that downturn and stayed there. Or was it because you were bounced from foster home to foster home?

> As awful at flaming as Tanner was, he's still better than you, Roger.

Gilbert Sullivan is still better than you, Twatty. Funnier, too.
Run along back to your "cheese shop " thread, you belong there.

>In your case, it's probably a good idea to keep stealing material from others.

Follow your own advice, hypocrite.

> That way, when I kick your ass bloody you'll have someone -else- to blame.

When are you going to START, Twatty. For all your braggadocio, there shouldn't be anybody fucking left on usenet. Show us all how you're the baddest flamer that ever slid down your crack-whore momma's poxy bow legs. It would seem that you inherited her drug addiction and bipolar disorder, Twatty. Now explain why you haven't run everybody off of a.f..

> And where is the Finnish Mr. Olympia these days?

Don't fucking know, and don't fucking care. He did make you jump through hoops, sort of like how I'm making you do so as you scramble to answer each of my posts.

Tell us all about your so-called friend who's going for the gold...<snicker> which is more Campbell bragging bullshit.

>Your idol is very quiet it seems.

You should learn from him.
Instead of just being thought of as a fool, you open your slobbering mouth and remove all doubt, Twatty.

Here's the goddamned letter, clusterfuck. See if you can get somebody to read it to you, since you will probably take 14 fucking years to surpass that dimwitted daddy's 7 year stint getting his 4 year degree:

From the Rainreport:
-------Begin letter---------------------- July 11, 2000

CERTIFIED MAIL--RETURN RECEIPT REQUESTED

Mr. Roger L. Wiseman

SUBJECT: Amateur Radio license KC8JBO

Dear Mr. Wiseman:

Pursuant to Section 97.519(d)(2) of the Commission's Rules, 47 C.F.R. Section 97.519(d)(2), the Commission has the authority to re-administer any examination element previously administered by Volunteer Examiners (VE's). The Commission may either administer the examination itself, or under the supervision of a Volunteer Examiner Coordinator (VEC) or VE designated by the Commission.

Accordingly, we are requiring you to re-take the General Class Amateur Examination, (Elements 2, 3(A) and 3(B)) under the supervision of an American Radio Relay League Volunteer Examiner Coordinator. This examination must be completed on or before September 11, 2000. The required code speed that you must demonstrate is 5 words per minute.

Please be prepared to verify your current address and to present a photo identification. Pursuant to Commission rules, your license will be cancelled if you do not appear for re-examination. You will be granted an Amateur Radio license consistent with the elements you pass upon re-examination.

Sincerely,

W. Riley Hollingsworth

Special Counsel, Amateur Radio

Enforcement Bureau
------End letter----------

There, dumbfuck. Riley wouldn't even tell me why I was being retested. Why don't you contact him and ask if your'e so fucking interested?
Or you can go ahead and belive whateveer hooey you want to and try and spin.

You don't have the mental horsepower to figure what really went on anyway.

I once asked Tanner if his favorite show tune was "Springtime for Hitler" from _The Producers_. As usual, he didn't have a clue. He's always had atrophy of the brain but I think all those steroids have shriveled up his testicles as well.

That's telling me what for, you regurgitating and redundant dronebot. Your playground name taunts are about as devastating in their subtle, yet scathing force, as your shrill, hysterical accusations about my character. You may as well accuse me of being from Neptune, flunky. The mind-numbingly unoriginal, poorly-written, newbie 'flames' you compose are an embarrassing mix of botched grade school insults coupled with your own unique form of tortured English. You've never, and I mean never, produced anything even halfway amusing or searing. You'll respond to this with same ol', "ran down your mama's crack" same ol'. I've blistered you every time we've had these exchanges, Roger, and you'll still retort with invective that'll roll the eyes of 99% of the schmendricks following this silliness. You suck so very, very, very much.

Test-flunking imbecile. Christ, Wiseman, I've aced every fucking test I've ever taken and you fail a stinking ham test? Just how stupid are you, Rog? Do you have any excuse for being that stump dumb? Besides West Virginia, that is.

3144. Advice on compact HF with auto ant tuner

It has been about 7 years since I was active in amateur radio. Other aspects of my life (college, work, etc) have left little time for my ham radio hobby.

Flipping through a couple of magazines/websites, I am amazed by the new radios. I would like to get back into it and would like to find a compact HF radio with an automatic tuner. I remember using a Yaesu 757 which was great, but had an external (MFJ) tuner, etc, and required tuning anytime you switched bands. I am looking for something simple to operate and configure. I am in an apartment, but am on the top floor, so I could put a small whip style antenna on the roof without a problem. I am not looking to transmit 1500 watts, I just want to make a few contacts. I am looking for something small, but that will allow me to transmit on 10-12-15-17-20-40 meters. If it had 2m or 440, that would be even better. What are the popular models now? What about on the used market?

Thanks for your advice.

The antenna tuners built into the rigs generally have a rather limited range. If you put up something like a trapped vertical or a trapped dipole that presents a fairly close match then the tuner will work okay. They are not good for feeding a simple whip. You might want to take a look at the SGC line of tuners. They are designed to be placed outside and work with an end feed wire or whip antenna to provide a good match on all bands. With any end feed wire or whip you will need a ground (radials or perhaps building steel).

IC-706 Mark whatever for the last latest model. Definite best to get.

A 'whip' will not do all that well, regardless.

But I believe it is the best for the bux out there with what ur looking for.

With all conventional wisdom and known techniques, I have dropped the S9+ ignition noise on 10 meters to S5 and the S9+10 on 20 meters to S8.

I bought a Clear Speech base unit (I already have a custom mounted speaker) and it does a pretty good job of bringing out the S4-8 signals to intelligible listening.

The Clear Speech needs some getting use to but it does a pretty good job on a lot of the noise. No matter how good a product like this is, it can not pull out a signal that is lower than the noise level. You just are not going to work a station that you hear with the ignition of at 5/3 with the ignition on.

The situation is much improved though and using the rig while driving is now possible. Worked S Africa and France this afternoon on 10 while driving.

I still have an appointment with a Chevy dealer who is bring in a factory rep. I will post more when I finish with that episode.

Automatic tuners built into modern transceivers can cope with an SWR as big as 3:1 This is usually stated in transeiver operating manuals.

Or it may be defined in terms of the length of antenna wire. For example, the handbook may say the automatic tuner will work OK provided the antenna end-fed wire length is more than 30 feet on the 80 meter band. This means it will work on all higher frequencies with that or shorter lengths.

The automatic tuners stop working because the internal tuner capacitance is not large enough and the internal tuner inductance is not large enough AT THE LOWEST FREQUENCIES. There's just not enough room inside the box to accommodate them.

But don't worry too much about it. Just provide some external assistance. The operating frequency range can be extended downwards by adding a bottom loading coil to a short antenna. Inductance value is not critical. The antenna need not be made resonant.

If the loading coil is made too big it might prevent the internal tuner from working at higher frequencies.

Matters can also be improved by NOT end-feeding an antenna which is an exact 1/2-wave and so have an extremely high feedpoint impedance presented to the transceiver.

The important thing to note is that you don't need an all-singing, all-dancing, bells and whistles manual tuner if you already have an automatic tuner built in. They are excellent within their not very restrictive limitations. Just a small external fixed coil may be all that's necessary to bring your desired lowest frequency band, usually 160 or 80m, into range of the ATU. There's never any problems with 7 MHz and above.

Built-in automatic tuners will onviously cater for the peak power output of the associated transmitter. This is usually 100-120 watts. They are excellent for rapid, convenient, band changing with random length antennas. I am just a user. I have no commercial connections whatsoever. Never had any.

If you intend to install a vertical whip mounted on the roof or chimney, just use a length of insulated wire (absolutely no coax) to connect it to the transceiver and it will fall into the category of an all-band random wire !

Jonathon, welcome back to the bands !

You're the one here claiming I'm a "badass flamer" (ugh, I get douchechills just -typing- your hillbillyish West Virginia trailer-parkism), not me. Now I'll plead guilty to saying I can kick your puny ass so far up between your ears you'll have to part your hair to move your bowels, but hey, that's not really any great shock to anyone who's scanned a couple of your best eye-rolling efforts. You're such a weak fuck you have little choice but to resort to posting flames written by others. And look at the two clowns you cite..... Palmer and Tanner. Hang your pointed head and drink the grape Kool-Aid, Wiseman. You're an utter failure at this as you're actually getting worse, you little creationist's wet dream, you. Evolution is not your friend.

Reg, are you saying that a random wire antenna will have an SWR under 3:1 on all bands and that you can get a good match to it with the built-in tuner on most transceivers? I would think that you would have to have and adjustable inductance (or capacitance depending on the antenna length) and that you would need to set for each band to get the impedance within range of the tuner. I've not had much luck with random wires on the built-in tuners.

AMATEUR RADIO NEWSLINE(tm) REPORT #1260 - OCT. 5, 2001

Amateur Radio Newsline report number 1260 with a release date of Friday, October 5th, 2001 to follow in 5-4-3-2-1.

The following is a Q-S-T.

A big week for ham radio in space as A-O 40 proves G-P-S works in space and P C Sat goes into orbit. These stories are first on Amateur Radio Newsline report number 1260 coming your way right now.

HAM RADIO IN SPACE: GPS EXPERIMENT COULD REVOLUTIONIZE SPACE TRAVEL

AMSAT reports another success with its AO 40 satellite that holds the promise of changing the way men travel into space. This, with word that that the on board Global Positioning System -- or G-P-S experiment has now undergone successful testing. Roy Neal, K6DUE, has the details:

ABOUT 20 YEARS AGO THE AIR FORCE PUT A RING OF SATELLITES IN ORBIT CALLED THE GLOBAL POSITIONING SYSTEM, “G-P-S”. THEY WERE DESIGNED TO SHOW WHERE IN THE WORLD YOU ARE, WITH PINPOINT ACCURACY. THE AIR FORCE USED THEM TO GUIDE MISSILES AND MILITARY AIRCRAFT.

THE SYSTEM WAS MADE AVAILABLE FOR PUBLIC USE A FEW YEARS LATER AND HAS BECAME A MAINSTAY FOR NAVIGATING AIRLINERS, SHIPS AT SEA, TRUCKS AND CARS ON THE HIGHWAYS AND EVEN HIKERS . NASA WANTED TO KNOW IF GPS ALSO COULD BE USED TO PROVIDE POSITIONAL DATA OUTSIDE ITS RING OF SATELLITES. THE SPACE AGENCY TURNED TO AMATEUR RADIO’S AMSAT CORPORATION TO HELP WITH AN EXPERIMENT.

NASA PROVIDED TWO G-P-S RECEIVERS WHICH WERE INSTALLED ON THE A0-40 SATELLITE. THE “A” RECEIVER TO TUNE IN AT APOGEE, THE HIGHEST POINT IN ORBIT., THE “B” RECEIVER WOULD LISTEN AT PERIGEE, THE LOW POINT.

JIM WHITE, WD0E, THE AMSAT COORDINATOR AND CHIEF OPERATOR, HAS JUST MADE HIS FIRST REPORT ON THE ACTIVITY. HE SAID ”WE RECEIVED A SIGNAL FROM ABOUT 52 THOUSAND KILOMETERS OUT WITH GOOD SIGNAL LEVELS. FURTHER DATE IS BEING GATHERED AND THOSE DOWNLOADED SO FAR ARE BEING ANALYZED.”

THEY WERE DOWNLINKED THROUGH THE A0-40 S-BAND TRANSMITTER. AMSAT VICE PRESIDENT FRANK BAUER, KA3HDO, WHO WAS INSTRUMENTAL IN SETTING UP THE EXPERIMENT, SAID IT WILL REVOLUTIONIZE THE WAY GPS IS USED IN SPACE. BAUER SAID MANY FUTURE HIGH EARTH ORBITING SATELLITES WILL BE ABLE TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF GPS FOR AUTONOMOUS NAVIGATION AND STATIONKEEPING

--

The bottom line. It now looks as if a ham radio satellite may help change the way men and machines travel to and from space. (AMSAT, K6DUE)

HAM RADIO IN SPACE: KODIAK STAR ORBITS PCSAT

The long awaited Kodiak Star launch, carrying the P C SAT ham radio satellite into orbit is a success. According to the AMSAT News Service, the launch took place from Kodiak Alaska at 02:40 UTC on Sunday morning September 30th.

Initial Information indicates that all satellites were successfully deployed, and that the amateur radio satellites have been heard by hams in many countries. One of the first reports came from Derek Studholme ZL1AKJ of AMSAT-New Zealand. Derek said that stations down-under heard good telemetry signals from P C Sat's first two passes over New Zealand

The launch of the Kodiak Star had been delayed several times due to weather conditions and Solar Flares. On board the launch vehicle were the P C Sat, Sapphire and Starshine satellites. P C Sat is a Naval Academy Amateur Radio satellite. The Sapphire satellite also has Naval Academy involvement in a joint venture with Washington University. Starshine was the primary NASA payload. ATTACK ON AMERICA: TWO MORE HAMS MISSING AT WTC

Amateur radio operations have now wound down but there is more sad news from what's become known as 'Ground Zero' in New York City. It now appears that two more hams may have lost their lives in the terrorist attack on the World Trade Center.

The ARRL Letter says that Rod Coppola, KA2KET, was the transmitter engineer on duty for Public Broadcasting station WNET, channel 13 at the time the attack occurred. Coppola is 46 and lives in New York City.

Also missing is Winston Grant, KA2DRF. Grant is a computer technician with Empire Blue Cross - Blue Shield. He is 59 and lives in West Hempstead, New York. Neither man has been seen since the twin towers collapsed after being hit by hijacked jetliners on September 11th. (ARRL)

ATTACK ON AMERICA: FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE FOR MISSING ENGINEERS FAMILIES

In a related development, the Portland Chapter of the Society of Broadcast Engineers and the ARRL both report that a fund has been established to assist the families of broadcast engineers still missing at the collapsed World Trade Center. Checks can be sent to the Ennes Educational Foundation Trust % The Society of Broadcast Engineers Inc, 9247 N Meridian St., Suite 305, Indianapolis, Indiana. The Zipcode is 46260. Please mark your envelope to the attention of the “Broadcast Engineer Relief Fund.” (ARRL, Portland SBE)

AMERICA UNDER ATTACK: INDIANA HAMS SET UP COMMS AT GROUND ZERO

Ham radio operators from Indiana were among those who made the trek to New York City to aid in rescue efforts after the September 11th terrorist attack. Their job was communications. Amateur News Weekly’s Jack Parker, W8ISH, has more:

Thirty-six hours after the first airplane crashed into the World Trade Center Indiana's Task Force One was standing at the ground zero. Among the 62 members of this elite Search and Rescue team were two Indianapolis amateur radio operators.

Veteran firefighter Jim Curseaden, KB9ZFF and Ed Elrod, W9PTO made the 14 hour road trip to help with disaster efforts. Both men make up the communications arm of this search and rescue team.

The moment they arrived each man began setting up a UHF communications link from the ground zero to their staging point several miles away at the Javis convention center. According to Jim Curseaden, getting UHF signals through the concrete canyon of New York City was a major challenge.

Ed Elrod said they first installed a repeater on a nearby building and directed a Yagi antenna at the mountain of rubble. The Javis convention center posed another radio obstacle. Hand held radios could not reach the repeater.

To fix this problem, Elrod wired a up a remote base on the roof of the convention center. This new link made it possible to communicate with the Indiana search and rescue personnel above and below the world trade center ruins. Ed Elrods most inspirational moment came during his second trip out of the devastation.

All week hundreds of people had been lining the streets, cheering and showing signs of support. When heavy rains began dousing New York the crowds disappeared...He said the contrast was amazing. The streets were nearly empty; except for one lonely figure standing in the rain. It was an elderly woman, holding a sign that read: “Thank You.”

Reporting from Indianapolis, this is Jack Parker, W8ISH

The hams from Indianapolis were not the only ones who traveled to New York City to help in relief efforts. We plan to profile others in future Amateur Radio Newsline reports. (ARN, W8ISH)

ATTACK ON AMERICA: DOD WILL NOT GIVE UP ESSENTIAL SPECTRUM

In the wake of the September 11th terrorist attacks on New York City and the Pentagon, the Defense Department has renewed support for its view that it shouldn't give up its spectrum to make room for consumer wireless products. Congressional auditors say that the proposed changes now could pose a further threat to national security. Amateur Radio Newsline's Norm Seeley, KI7UP, has more Supporters of the mobile communications industry still say that transfer of some current military spectrum to the private sector is essential to fill the high demand for such services as the next generation of mobile phones and wireless Internet access. But Congresses' General Accounting Office says that if the Defense Department makes room for new wireless consumer products before more research is conducted, it could endanger the nation because of potential interference with Pentagon operations.

And it goes even further. Defense Department officials say that besides creating interference, moving all defense systems out of the current spectrum would take until 2017. That, says the DoD, would cost billions of dollars to orbit new satellites and otherwise accommodate military needs.

In the meantime, the Federal Communications Commission announced on September 24th that it will expand the possible uses of the 2500 to 2690 MHz band. That spectrum is currently used for fixed wireless services. New rues may eventually include a mobile component so that the spectrum can be used for 3 G services such as high-speed Internet access or music and video downloads.

The FCC says that it had considered reallocating the 2500 to 2690 band as a primary allocation to new 3 G wireless service. Because of the outcry against taking the spectrum from schools and other incumbent users it instead voted to create a possible shared allocation instead.

The FCC says that the flexible allocation would allow some portable data applications to be offered under existing service rules and could provide flexibility for offering other new advanced fixed and mobile services in the future. But it added that it would have to explore service rules that would apply to allow mobile operations in the band in a separate future rule-making proceeding.

For the Amateur Radio Newsline, I'm Norm Seeley, KI7UP.

A September 2002 deadline by Congress for an auction of new spectrum licenses for wireless services might be delayed because of the Pentagon's resistance to any allocation change. (Published news reports, FCC actions)

AMERICA UNDER ATTACK: HAM RADIO TRACKS THE RUN FOR AMERICA

They did it to show support to the firefighters, law enforcement agents and all Americans involved in the effort to rescue the victims of the recent act of terrorism. This, as Navy Ensigns Daniel Campos and Christine Fix, coordinated a relay run to carry our national flag from Virginia to New York City.

The goal was to carry the Stars and Stripes from the Pentagon to the World Trade Center. The run began on Friday September 28th and continued overnight until they arrived about 1800 UTC Saturday. Their route was tracked using the Global Positioning System capability of the United States Naval Academy’s Ham Radio club. Computer generated maps were able to show live the progress of the runners along the way. (VHF Reflector)

ATTACK ON AMERICA: MOROCCO CQWW CONTEST STATION CANCELS

The September 11th terrorist attack is now having an effect in the world of ham radio contesting. This, as Al Crespo, NH7A, tells the Ohio Penn DX news that his CN2AC CQ World Wide SSB Contest operation from Morocco has been canceled. Al says that he will instead operate from Maui using his NH7A callsign. (OPDX)

HAM RADIO HELPING HAND: IHS NEEDS OPERATORS FOR HONDURAS

International Health Services says that it needs ham radio operators to accompany medical and dental teams to villages in Honduras. According to an Internet posting by John Kirckof, KB0UUP, most of these villages I-H-S visits have no electricity or phones. Kickof says that IHS is often are the only medical care these local people will ever see:

In-Q: Honduras is the...
Out-Q:...each mission in February.

Kirckof, who is the Communications Director for I-H-S says the group will provide High Frequency gear for any operator who does not have his or her own portable rig. Both men an women are welcome to apply. Sign-up is now until about mid October. For some basic information, visit www.ihsofmn.org or contact John by e-mail to jmkkek@runestone.net. SURVEY: CELL PHONE CURBS FAVORED WHILE DRIVING

Three out of four adults in the United States favor laws to curb the use of cellular telephones while driving. This, according to a survey released by a highway safety group. And its a survey that has some ham radio operators concerned as well. Amateur Radio Newsline's Don Wilbanks, KC5MFA filed this report:

The poll of 1,001 adults was carried out July 1st to the 19th by the Louis Harris organization for Advocates for Highway and Auto Safety. This is a coalition of consumer, health, safety and insurance groups who say that they are working to make U.S. roads safer. The results are almost startling.

Though nearly two out of three people surveyed report owning a cellular phone, the poll found a lopsided 76 percent backed restricting their use by drivers in motion except in emergencies. In fact, the poll found that mobile cellular phone use in vehicles topped the list of concerns that people wanted addressed. Cell phone use was closely followed by drunk driving and improving safety at intersections.

This poll and others like it are of concern to radio amateurs and operators of other mobile two-way radio gear. Currently, no federal law bars the use of cell phones while driving but several states prohibit phones being held by hand while driving except in emergencies. Two-way radio users fear that any across the board federal ban on using a cellular phone while driving might also be applied to other radio services as well.

Meantime, another report from the National Conference of State Legislatures says that laws suggesting bans on drivers using hand-held cell phones have now been proposed in 40 states. As previously reported, a measure in New York is recently won approval and at least a dozen municipalities have also established mobile cellular telephone bans.

For the Amateur Radio Newsline. I'm Don Wilbanks, KC5MFA, reporting from New Orleans.

The survey also says that all of these enacted and proposed laws appear to have widespread public support. (From media releases and published news reports)

SERVICES TO HAM RADIO: LOGBOOK TO THE WORLD UPDATE

Project Manager Wayne Mills, N7NG, says that access to the ARRL's proposed Logbook to the World will be for everyone. Bill Pasternak, WA6ITF, reports:

In a note to Pete Smith, N4ZR, and posted to the VHF reflector, Wayne Mills says that the only charge will be for usage. Mills explains that there will be a charge when utilizing a QSO record for a specific award such as the DXCC, Islands On The Air, Worked All Zones and the like.

Mills says this means that users will only pay for what he calls usable "QSL's. You will not have to pay for attempts to get a QSL as you currently do when you send them via mail -- whether direct or via a bureau. Mills believes should result in a dramatic saving as compared to tradition methods of obtaining QSLs.

Mills also notes that five years is about as far back as Logbook of the World will probably ever go. Initially says Mills, it won't go back even that far. This he says will be an attempt to manage the initial data in-rush.

For the Amateur Radio Newsline, I'm Bill Pasternak, WA6ITF.

In addition to his work on Logbook to the World, Wayne Mills, N7NG, is the Membership Services Manager for the American Radio Relay League. (VHF Reflector)

INTERNATIONAL - GUATEMALA: A BIG UHF WIN FOR HAM RADIO

A big win for ham radio in Guatemala. The Club de Radioaficionados de Guatemala says that nations spectrum regulators are returning the 430 to 440 MHz band to Amateur Radio use. Amateur Radio Newsline's Bill Burnett, KT4SB, reports from Miami.

It was five years ago, back in 1996, when the Guatemalan government suddenly banned hams from access that spectrum. Guatemala then auctioned those frequencies to commercial operations.

But reports out of Guatemala soon said that the reallocation was not working they way the government had envisioned. No reasons were given. Now comes word through AMSAT that these new users will be moved elsewhere and the 430 to 440 MHz band will be returned to its former use in Amateur Radio operations.

And in the hope of preventing this kind of an arbitrary reallocation from ever taking place again, the Guatemalan national Amateur Radio society says that it will ask the International Telecommunications Union to add a footnote to its table of allocations at the World Radiocommunication Conference 2003. One that will give the Amateur Radio service primary status from 430 to 440 MHz in that country.

From Miami, I'm Bill Burnett, KT4SB, reporting for the Amateur Radio Newsline.

The Club de Radioaficionados de Guatemala had petitioned the Guatemalan government to reverse its decision removing ham radio operations from the 70 centimeter band. (ARRL, AMSAT, Q-News, CRG, others)

INTERNATIONAL: BIG VK SITE FEES WIN

Hams down-under in V-K land are also celebrating after surviving a threat. This, to their use of several key repeater sites. Q-News Graham Kemp, VK4BB, has the details from Melbourne Australia:

--

Rob VK2MT reports on APC News that local clubs were faced with annual site bills of up to $3000. A lot of "e" and snail-mail correspondence was generated plus a couple of visits to Members of Parliament, both at the State & Federal level. What became obvious after about a month, was that the "softly-softly" approach -- while still holding a big stick -- was perhaps the way to go.

Well, just over 3 months later and the dust has settled. Illawarra have been officially informed that there will be a maximum figure of $300.00 attached to each existing Amateur Club that has equipment at a TransGrid site. Also, they won't be charged per antenna -- as was going to be the case, all existing and documented by TransGrid antennas will be part of the deal.

For Q-News Australia, Im Graham Kemp, VKBB, reporting for the Amateur Radio Newsline.

Clubs will have to satisfy several provisos, such as insurance, priority of commercial users and the like. Overall though it is a satisfactory outcome for amateurs and clubs, who could have faced fees ten times as much. (Q-News)

INTERNATIONAL - JAPAN: WRTC-2002 AT HAM FAIR 2001

According to a recent WRTC press release, Yaesu will be the principle radio equipment supplier for WRTC 2002. This as WRTC representatives Martti Lane, OH2BH and Dennis Motschenbacher, K7BV sign a major sponsoring agreement with Jun Hasegawa, president of Vertex Standard Co.Ltd. Vertex Standard manufactures the Yaesu line of ham radio gear.

Lane and Motschenbacher signed the agreement while in Japan to represent WRTC 2002 at the recent "Ham Fair" in Yokohama. While at Ham Fair they invited Tack Kumagai, JE1CKA to act as the WRTC 2002 representative in Japan. Kumagai has accepted the post. (WRTC-2002 Press Release)

DX

In DX, yet another successful super low frequency report across the Pacific. Jeramy Boot, G4NJH, has more:

Low frequency signals have crossed the Pacific for the second time. During the Autumn equinox on the 21st of September, a number of New Zealand and Australian stations sent extremely slow Morse on their 165 to 190kHz LF band. Part of the signal from ZL6QH was received by VE7SL in south-west Canada just before his dawn, fading out some three minutes after sunrise. The path length is estimated to be 11,709 kilometres.

Radiated power was estimated to be 5 watts and the antenna was a long wire at the Quartz Hill club station, which is run by the Wellington Amateur Radio Club. Reception of a complete callsign is the next challenge. The short duration of the opening means that a faster mode must be used, but this is likely to worsen an already marginal signal to noise ratio. Permission is also being sought for ZL6QH to operate in the 136kHz band

Because of the extremely slow speed of the contact there is no audio to share with you. In fact, reception requires a computer and a special decoding program. Our thanks to Bob Vernall, ZL2CA, for much of the information on this historic radio event. (ZL2CA, RSGB)

THE FINAL ITEM: BANDPLANS ARE IMPORTANT TO THE FCC - PART 2

And finally this week, we take another look at the FCC's position on voluntary bandplans in the Amateur Radio service. According to the Special Counsel for Amateur Radio Riley Hollingsworth there are two kinds of problems the FCC sees. The first is the operator who simply does not know that a specific bandplan exists:

--

"Now, in the first case, not knowing about the bandplan. Thats more understandable than you might think at first. Unless an oprator really keeps up with Amateur publications including League publications, they wont know about the bandplans."

"Now, a lot of operators have a list of frequencies on which they are authorized to operate and they keep it right at the operating desk. I'd recommend having a second sheet with that frequency list that describes the bandplan for each band. In some ways the bandplans are more complex than the frequency list, but in fact they don't really inconvenience anyone and they really do enhance Amateur Radio and make it a lot more interesting -- and make it possible to do a lot more experimenting."

But what about that small but vocal group of hams who simply refuse to abide by bandplans by claiming its their right not to. For these people, Hollingsworth has some words as well:

--

"That attitude is very destructive, and they just can't stand it that there just might be an area where they just should not go because of a bandplan."

"Now, they do not stop to think that QRP or PSK-31 could not exist without bandplans. The fact that they have about 3,850 other desecrate frequencies, and don't have to bother the folks in the bandplan set-aside segments -- for example on 160 meters in the CW bandplan recommended segment -- that never occurs to them."

"And of coarse if they were adhering to a bandplan and someone bothered them, they would be the first to knock on the FCC's door."

As Hollingsworth stated last week, these are hams who are totally focused on rights and could care less about responsibilities. They do not care about the damage that they do to Amateur Radio and do not have a clue as to how much pressure is on our frequencies from entities that would like to see them taken away. (RAIN)

A nice radio that isn't one of the tiny "subcompact" rigs but has a small footprint, a good tuner, and nice recvr. is the Icom 737, these are a pretty good value for HF only with built in tuner.

Dear Gil,
I agree with most of what you say but for completeness of info I must say that I've heard from some of my DXTelnet users that they managed to link DXTelnet to TRLOG using a SINGLE serial port link, on same PC.
Of course the DXTelnet<>Writelog software link is much more affordable...

I am not saying all antenna wires will have an SWR under 3:1 on all bands. But I will admit there's an element of luck in finding one that is.

Suppose we have an end fed wire, fed against a ground of some sort. A poor ground is best. If the problem occurs it will occur nearly always on the lowest bands because the antenna wire is not long enough. Its capacitative reactance is too high so load it with a coil big enough to bring the reactance down to something the automatic tuner can cope with. This does not always work because the input resistance may still be too low. Remove the coil for higher frequencies.

At higher frequencies cut the antenna length such that it is not an end fed half-wave on any band.

Avoid using a coax line between the end of a random wire and the transceiver or the impedance presented to the tuner will look nothing like any real antenna of any length. On the lower freqs it acts like a lump of capacitance. If you MUST use coax the unwanted capacitance can be tuned out with a coil shunted across it. This will also transform a low resistance antenna to a higher value within range of the tuner.

Try connecting L and C in shunt with the antenna as well as in series.

As you say a variable component is better than a fixed one. So a boxfull of home brew coils of various values is handy.

I suppose sooner or later the awkward case will arise - one external component will not do the job and two components constitute a tuner. I must have been lucky. I've had 3 auto-ATUs in my time with a variety of random length wires. Don't recollect having any trouble except on 160 and 80m. The 80m problems have been cured by changing antenna length without adversely affecting any other bands.

On 160m a shortish antenna, say less than 70 feet, with a good ground will have an input impedance which looks like a capacitor in series with a low value resistance. But by connecting a coil in parallel with the antenna it can be made to look like a much higher resistance, whereas a series coil is of no use. But to exactly resonate the short antenna with the shunt coil may overdo it.

Also on 160m, a wire longer than about 1/3-wave will have a high inductive reactance with a fairly high resistance in series. A series capacitor will still leave the high resistance. If the auto tuner can't cope then, again, a shunt coil may perform the trick.

Try to visualise what the auto tuner is being presented with and then make life easier for it.

On 10m there may be problems due to stray capacitance and inductance which are impossible to analyse. In those circumstances just do something drastic like cutting 1 or 2 feet off the antenna and hope for the best. If that doesn't work add 3 feet back on. Changing the length of the ground connection is another ploy you can try at the higher frequencies. Keep trying.

Roger is busy. He glanced in his mommie's mirror, saw all those pustules on his misshapen face and spent the day popping them against the mirror. He refers to this process as "preening."
Mommie Marie cleaned the smegma from the glass while Roger whined that his excessive pimple formations were hereditary.
Big Marie posited that this quirk came not from her side of the family, but rather from Roger's father's side. Trouble is that Big Marie was at a loss as to telling Roger who his biological father was. "That", she said,"is anybody's guess."
Roger understands this dilemma. He has two mulatto children by a previous marriage and he has yet to determine who the real father is or was. His ex-wife is not talking and Roger suspects that there may be a man with an excessive amount of melanin in his familial wood pile. One of the kids looks alarmingly like O.J. Simpson and is pretty good at carving the Thanksgiving Turkey during family gatherings.
Roger is now busy trying to obtain DNA records but his finances are somewhat limited and it may take a decade or two before he discovers who was the real father of his little waifs.
Meanwhile, Roger is kept busy popping those pustules...popping those pustules....and hoping against hope that he will someday look "normal".

3198. How much current can alternator and cigarette outlet handle?

We have a '93 Corolla Dx Wagon and a 2 meter ham radio in the car. It runs 40 watts out in high power mode (which means maybe 80 watts in?) and may have been responsible for taking out an alternator a few years ago, when we may have been using it on high power at night, with all the lights on too, and everything. We've been keeping it to 7 watts low power ever since.

How much current can the alternator in ths car usually put out, does anyone know? And can you put in a larger alternator in this car, not too expensively?

My other question is about the cigarette lighter outlet. We're thinking of running a 100 watt 120 VAC motor for an air cleaner in the back seat, and putting in an inverter to run it. Will that pop the alternator though, if used at night with all the lights on too? (assuming worst case with the brake lights and turn signal all on, as well?)

How many amps are cigarette lighter outlets rated for, for a 100% duty cycle, and can the alternator take that with all the lights on?

Twice-fired FCC employee wanted by Federal Communications Commission for violations of Part 97. George F. As you will recall this is the ex-Powder Springs FCC employee who was caught by his co-workers jamming KV4FZ on 14.313 in a drunken stupor, and promptly fired. Since that time Arsics has been directly involved with the jamming, stalking, and harassment of several amateurs through a group known as the "Goodfellows". Other accomplices of Arsics in this activity have been N4CND, WB2OTK (call revoked), N4XCV (call revoked), KA9BSD, KK9G, and N9PGE. Arsics lost his home at 2571 Bethany Lane in a last minute sale to avoid foreclosure earlier this year. Thus his FCC ULS data is fraudalent. Arsics has done this in the past, once listing the retirement home where his father passed on his 610. This enables him to freely jam other amateurs on HF with no fear of revocation.
According to part 97, and we quote,
" 97.23 Mailing address.
Each license grant must show the grantee's correct name and mailing address. The mailing address must be in an area where the amateur service is regulated by the FCC and where the grantee can receive mail delivery by the United States Postal Service. Revocation of the station license or suspension of the operator license may result when correspondence from the FCC is returned as undeliverable because the grantee failed to provide the correct mailing address."

Both questions should be in the owner's manual. I doubt that you took out an alternator by running it with lites on, etc. Given the price of Japanese electrics you don't want to think about upgrading a 93.

See how the lighter is fused. On my Intrepid, the lighter shares a 15 amp fuse with the horn so something on the order of 175 watts is max. If it is not in the fuse block, odds are that it is a 15 or 20 amp ceramic built on the lighter itself. Personally, given that the inverter is pulling about 12 amps continuous, I would not even think about doing it from the lighter because the connection is not good enough and you would simply heat up the area of the lighter until something melted.

Run the inverter directly from the battery terminals (fuse the positive side and use good connectors). For the radio, use your own judgement but 6-7 amps on transmit should not disturb the alternator, one high beam is that much and the two together don't come up to the heater blower.

Check your radio. Does it has such a low efficiency? Would it be using class C or E instead of B?
The alternator should be putting out around 30 amp at idle. You shouldn't have a problem with using your radio. The only thing you should worry about is a dead battery. If the alternator doesn't put out enough amp, the battery discharges. You then can't start the car.

However, did you use an EMI filter in your power line? Could the radio been feeding power back into the regulator, killing it?

As for the converter, check the spec. The rated power are for incandescent light and other power usage. It could barely run any inductive load, like in a motor.

No comments on the lighter socket.

Hi there everybody. Well, I've been taking a course to get my ham radio licence and am about to pass the exam in a couple of weeks (I hope!). I don't have much cash (starving student), so I'm starting off small. I was able to buy a 2-meter radio from an acquaintance for a good price, but it's a mobile unit. I want to use it in my apartment. I have a couple of questions and I'm hoping you guys can help me answer them...

I need an antenna. The radio is a Radio Shack HTX-242. The book doesn't really say much about the best antenna to use. What can I buy or make fairly inexpensively? Does it need to be very long? Can it basically be a wire hung out the window? I live on the seventh floor of an apartment building in a fairly quiet city here in Ontario. If I put the antenna out the window, will this be ok to catch the local repeaters? I'm just curious because there's a couple of other apartment buildings around me that are a bit taller and I'm wondering if all the concrete will impede my ability to receive signals.

Anyway, sorry these are kind of basic questions but I'm looking forward to any replies. Thanks in advance!

Depending on how far you are from the local machine will determine the 'best' antenna. Since your so high up I would suggest trying a simple ground plane on the balcony. Or, if you have a metal rail on the balcony you could try a 'mobile mag mount' type of antenna.

A hunk of wire is probably not a good choice. Actually tho, it may work just hanging a 1/2 wave vertical dipole and tape it to you wall.

Tell ya what, drop me an e-mail and we can go over so specifics.

I don't know that specific alt. Try calling a dealer.
However... Most normal alts will put out at least 40-50 amps at a alt rotor speed of about 6000 rpm.
At idle, they put out little and the car may run off the battery, depending on what is turned on.
The small load that a xmtr uses should not harm the alt.
A headlight bulb typically is around 90-110 watts.

Check the fuse on the cigarette lighter circuit.
It's wiring is probably 14-16 gauge and should be able to handle 15 amps at 12v with a 1v drop in 10 feet... without getting too hot.

Not possible. Take a look at your radio's manual to find out how much power it uses on transmit (probably 10 amps). An alternator puts out 50 - 100 amps, depending on a lot of things. Your alternator quit due to other reasons. I used to run an Icom 706 in my 2000 Windstar and it draws 20 amps since it's a 100 watt HF radio. But I wired it directly to the battery.

look in the owner's manual to see what the fuse rating is for the cig. lighter. If it's 15 amps or more, you're probably okay. 10 amps or less and you're looking for trouble - wire the radio directly to the battery.

Hello,

I'd appreciate some recomendations for circuits of simple digital displays. Ideally I'd like to build it from scratch (perhaps purchase the PCB and programed PIC chip) but failing that I'll consider a kit too. I have some fairly specific requirements though to fit my rig.

1. Must be LCD in order to save power
2. Low supply current
3. The smaller the PCB the better

The only kit I'm aware of that fits my needs is by AADE in the US and this takes I believe about 15 mA on a pretty small board, but as I said I'd actually prefer to build (almost) from scrath. I've looked through all books and mags and come up with very little. Any Ideas for Circuits or kits?

Hi all... have a stumper for myself and hopefully a no-brainer for someone out there. Using an FT-920 with a G5RV antenna about 25 ft. up, hillside backing it. Radio will not tune this antenna for anything.... tunes on 10m with full output but other bands are sketchy. No tune on 80 at all. Radio loses power and display dims screaming swr or rf back into the radio.. I've tried the choke turns in the coax, etc, etc. I know the radio is ok as it tunes into a DL fine. So what to do??? Ideas welcome and thanks!

Hello,

This E-mail message is automatically sent to every new poster or cross-poster (as of September 21, 1996) to rec.radio.amateur.misc (and its associated mailing list, Info-Hams). It should be sent once, and only once, to each unique E-mail address. As the subject says, this is a welcome message. The Internet amateur radio community welcomes you to the newsgroups, including rec.radio.amateur.misc, and welcomes your input, opinions, and constructive participation. To help make you feel welcome, experienced participants like myself have chosen to systematically inform you, as a new poster, about useful information resources and user tips to help you get the most out of these newsgroups. I hope that you will consider this message in that spirit.

Please note that this is a one-time mailing, not a mailing list, and the presence of your E-mail address in my database prevents you from getting the message again the next time you post. Because of this, a request to "take me off of your mailing list" would not only not make sense, removing your address from my database would actually have the opposite of the desired effect (where you would be considered a first-time poster the next time you posted, and get the message again).

3. The rec.radio.swap FAQ: A Guide to Buying and Selling on Usenet, also originally written by Jay Maynard, K5ZC, is now also maintained by Jeffrey Herman, KH6O. It contains a number of good pointers for reading and posting articles concerning the buying and selling of radio and radio-related equipment on the USENET newsgroup rec.radio.swap (which, with the sole exception of rec.radio.amateur.boatanchors for vintage equipment, is the only appropriate forum for such articles). It may be accessed from:

(They also have information about amateur radio organizations in other countries.)

5. The Amateur Radio Elmers Resource Directory is an excellent supplement to the amateur radio-related newsgroups and the ARRL home page. It's a directory of "Elmers" (mentors, experts, and gurus) for amateur radio who can answer questions via Internet E-mail and via the various resources (such as special-topic FAQ Lists and WWW pages) that they maintain. It may be accessed from:

http://www.elmers.org/

Please direct any submissions, feedback, or administrivia regarding the Amateur Radio Elmers Resource Directory to elmers-request@elmers.org.

6. Read the newsgroup first to see if your question has already been answered. You may also view, and search for keywords in, older news articles (going back to March of 1995) at the Google (formerly DejaNews) archive:

http://groups.google.com/

Many topics have been discussed before, often in great depth, but the articles have expired from your local news server. Services like Google allow Usenet a much longer "institutional memory" that can greatly benefit both new and experienced users.

7. If you do post to the newsgroup, give as many details as possible. After you post, read the newsgroup for a week or two to see all replies to your posting. If you wish, ask for responses by E-mail and offer to post a summary if others are interested in the answer to your question. Note that it is (almost without exception) inappropriate to post your article to all (or even a significant subset of) rec.radio.amateur.* newsgroups. Please pick only the most relevant newsgroups (usually no more than 2 or 3), and post your article as a simultaneous cross-post (check your newsreader documentation) so that only one article is propagated, and the article is only shown once in a newsreader.

8. Remember, USENET newsgroups are based on the idea of mutual aid. USENET only works if we put as much into it as we get out of it. Good luck with your experiences with amateur radio and the amateur-radio-related USENET newsgroups.

Perhaps the hillside is reflecting too much RF back into the aeriel.
Causing too much being fed back to the radio. The tuner then tries to tune it and it is out of range.

Try moving the antenna away from the hill reflector.

Randy,
There's a good article in Oct. 2001 QST on page 66 about the FT-920 ant tuner.. It might help you with the problem.
I personally have never used the G5RV ant. I am using an 80 mtr dipole with ladder line through a tuner since I usually use an amplifier which has a 50 input and leave the FT-920 antenna tuner turned off.
Drop by an see my set up at:

The Courier and Thunderbolt amplifiers were made by E.F.Johnson before 11 meters was given to CB. I had a Courier for a while.

They are tube amplifiers intended for Class C (I think, maybe Class B) operation. As I recall, the Courier could run a few hundred Watts input; the Thunderbolt somewhat more, both well within legal limits. They covered 10 through 80 meters.

Today their best use would be to raise the output of a small CW rig to a serious level.

I believe they date to around 1960.

While the Thunderbolt could be confused with the Johnson Thunderbolt, I doubt this one is the Johnson one. YOu did not give enough details for it. If is the Johnson one, then look here.

http://bama.sbc.edu/

Johnson also made a Courier modle but it is not a moble unit.

The Courier Mobile sounds like the one made for the business band around 30 mhz and was used by many CB operators. Courier was a big name in the comercial (well not really that big) and a bigger name in the CB market in the mid 1960s.
Should putout about 50 to 60 watts when driven by about 4 watts. Think it has a black front with a light that comes on when it is transmitting but not sure.

Countries available: 3A, 3B8, 3D2, 3D2/c, 3DA, 3V, 3W, 3X, 4J, 4L, 4S, 4U1I, 4W, 4X, 5A, 5B, 5H, 5N, 5R, 5U, 5Z, 6W, 6Y, 7X, 8P, 8R, 9A, 9G, 9H, 9J, 9K, 9L, 9M2, 9M6, 9N, 9Q, 9V, 9Y, A2, A4, A6, A7, A9, AP, BV, BY, C3, C6, C9, CE, CE0Z, CE9, CM, CN, CP, CT, CT3, CU, CX, D2, D4, DL, DU, EA, EA6, EA8, EA9, EI, EK, EL, EP, ER, ES, ET, EU, EX, EY, EZ, F, FG, FJ, FK, FM, FO, FP, FR, FW, FY, G, GD, GI, GJ, GM, GU, GW, HA, HB, HB0, HC, HC8, HI, HK, HK0/a, HL, HP, HR, HS, HV, HZ, I, IS, J2, J6, JA, JD/o, JT, JW, JY, K, KH0, KH2, KH6, KH9, KL, KP2, KP4, LA, LU, LX, LY, LZ, OA, OD, OE, OH, OH0, OK, OM, ON, OX, OY, OZ, P2, P4, PA, PJ2, PJ7, PY, PZ, S2, S5, SM, SP, SU, SV, SV5, SV9, T2, T30, T32, T7, T9, TA, TF, TG, TI, TK, TL, TR, TU, TZ, UA, UA2, UA9, UK, UN, UR, V3, V4, V5, V7, V8, VE, VK, VK9N, VP2E, VP2V, VP5, VP6, VP8, VQ9, VR, VU, XE, XU, XW, XX9, YB, YI, YK, YL, YN, YO, YU, YV, Z2, Z3, ZA, ZB, ZC4, ZD7, ZD8, ZD9, ZF, ZK1/s, ZL, ZP, ZS

* PLEASE NOTE: The report "could" contain "Pirate/SLIM" operations. As always, you never know - "Work First Worry Later" (WFWL).

3D2, CONWAY REEF. The DXpedition team is now active as 3D2CI (CW) and 3D2CY (SSB and other modes). The team had a slight delay due to some luggage that was lost on the way to Fiji. The operators there are: YT1AD/Hrane, YU1AU/Micky, YU1DX/Fex, YU7AV/Vojo, YZ7AA/Steve, YU1NR/Ratko, N6TQR/Doug, K6NDV/Will, RZ3AA/Vlado and Z31FU/ZS6MG/Vlado. Activity is expected to last until October 11th. For the latest press release, go to VE3EXY's

Web site at: http://www.magma.ca/~ve3exy/index.html

8R, GUYANA. Esmond, 8R1AK, has been using the special callsign 8R1USA on 20/17/15/10 meters. Look for him around 28530, 21260, 18127 and 14247 kHz anywhere between 1900-0500z. QSL via 8R1AK.

8Z, SAUDI ARABIA. A station signing 8Z0A has been active over the past week on 20/15/10 meters. Not much is knwon about this activity other than the operator stated his name was Abdullah and to QSL via HZ1TA. We recommand to "Work First Worry Later" (WFWL).

9G1 GHANA. Arliss/W7XU, Richard/K5AND and Ed/W0SD will be operating from Elmina, Ghana, between October 27th through November 4th. Six meters will be the main emphasis, but there will also be activity on 80-10 meters, especially RTTY and PSK on the usual DX frequencies for RTTY. QSL via N0QJM.

A2, BOTSWANA. Toshi, JA1ELY, informed OPDX that he just came back from from Botswana last week but mentioned that 79 year old DXpeditioner Mako, JA1OEM, is still active and operating from Gabrone as A25/JA1OEM. He will continue to be active until October 17th. Toshi requests to "Please be patient with Mako's slow CW operation". Mako has been heard on CW on 40 meters between 2100-0200z, 30 meters after 0300z and 15 meters after 1930z.

C98, MOZAMBIQUE. Babs/DL7AFS (YL), Lot/DJ7ZG, Karl/DL2FAG and Simone/ DL8GCS/IV3NVN, will continue to be active as C98DC from Inhaca Island (AF-066), Mozambique until October 13th. The team of operators over the past week have been very active on 40/30/20/17/15/12 meters CW/SSB/RTTY, but keep an eye on the other bands that were not mentioned and some PSK31 activity. They will have online logs available after their DXpedition on their Web page at: http://www.qsl.net/dl7afs/index.html
QSL C98/DJ7ZG via DL7AFS (bureau) or direct to: Babs Linge, Eichwaldstr. 86, 34123 Kassel, Germany.

CN, MOROCCO. Look for Jacques, F6BEE, to be active from here for the CQWWDX CW Contest using the callsign CN2JS. Jacques will enter the contest as a Single Op/All Bands category, from the ARRAM ARC in Rabat. If he can bring an amplifier, he will operate High power. Jacques will arrive in Morocco on November 21st, but he thinks he will not be too active before the contest except to tune up the station (CW and some SSB). He will leave Morocco on Tuesday, November 27th. Jacques will also try to bring a R7000 (but his luggage is already very heavy); so possibly look for him on the WARC bands before the contest. QSL via F6BEE.

DXCC NEWS.....
Bill Moore, NC1L, DXCC Manager, announced this past week that the "DXCC has approved ZK1NDK (North Cook Islands) for DXCC credit. It was on the bad list for lack of documentation for a while. The documentation has been reviewed, and it is OK. People can now receive DXCC credit. Anyone who has submitted it and had it rejected, can contact us and we'll be able to update their record without having to submit the card again. If not, it can be sent in the next submission."

John, N4MM, informed the users of the NJDXA's DX Reflector that three TT8 Chad operations are NOT good for DXCC. The reason given by the DXCC Desk is that NO documentation has been received at ARRL. Both TT8DX and TT8JE, which have been on recently, are not being accepted for DXCC. F5OGL is the QSL Manager for TT8DX, and John suggests that someone should get the word to these stations and tell them that their QSLs are no good for DXCC unless proper documentation is received at ARRL HQ DXCC Desk. John also mentioned that Bill Moore, NC1L, told him that there are many others from TT8 which are not being accepted due to the same problem.

FM, MARTINIQUE. Look for Jean Marc to be active from here as FM5/F5SGI, from February 19th to March 1st, 2002. He will be active on the HF bands, mostly on CW. He will operate from FM5CW's and FM5FA's stations. QSL via REF bureau or direct CBA.

FO/A, AUSTRAL ISLANDS. Eli, HA9RE, will be on Rurutu Island (OC-050), in the Austral group from October 17th through November 5th, and be active as FO0ARE/A. He will also be in the CQWW DX SSB Contest. He has two radios with him (100 watts output each) and several kinds of antennas to cover all 9 HF bands: 160/80/40 meters with wires, on the WARC bands and 20/15/10 meters with multi-band verticals and 2 HB9CV beams for 20 and 15 meters. QSL direct only with 2 USD to the QSL Manager HA8IB: Karoly Szabo, Fuzesgyarmat, Aradi U. 42, 5525 HUNGARY.

H4, SALOMOM ISLANDS. Look for Luca/IZ6DSQ and Ant/IZ8CCW to be active from here now through October 23rd. Callsigns are unknown as of going to press, but they expect to receive the callsign(s) upon their arrival. Their plan is to activate several islands. Islands mentioned as this was being written are: New Georgia (OC-149) on October 8-15th and Piegon Island (OC-065) in the Reef Island group on October 17-23rd.

HB0, LIECHTENSTEIN. Laci/HA0HW, Tomi/HA4DX and Geza/HA4XG will be here again during their annual autumn trip as in past years. The operation will take place from Schoenblick, Triesenberg (ASL: 1100m), between October 17-25th. Three stations are expected to be active on the HF bands on CW/SSB, maybe on RTTY, with yagis and vertical antennas by DunaX (http://www.pannondxc.hu/dunax). QSL the following callsigns, HB0/HA0HW/p, HB0/HA4DX/p and HB0/HA4XG/p via their home callsigns. Cards will be answered the same way as the operators received them. Direct cards will be answered direct, while bureau cards via bureau.

IOTA NEWS.....
AF-018. Mauro, IH9/IN3QBR, and Walter, IH9/IN3XUG, will be active from Pantelleria Island, Zone 33, from October 22-26th. Their activity will be on all bands, including the WARC Bands and perhaps 6 meters. Operations will be mostly on CW and RTTY. They will also enter in the CQWW SSB Contest with the IH9P team. Also, look for IR3Z to be operated by Fabrizio, IN3ZNR, during the CQWW SSB Contest. QSL information for all callsigns (excluding IH9P) must be sent direct or bureau to IN3XUG.

EU-012. Chris/GM3WOJ and Keith/GM4YXI are returning to Shetland between October 24-29th for the CQWW SSB contest. They will be active during the contest using the unique callsign GZ7V.
The GZ prefix is only permitted by special arrangement and so far, this is the only GZ callsign issued. GZ is the unique prefix for Shetland. This counts as GM for DXCC purposes but is a seperate multiplier in CQWW contests, as GM/Shetland is a seperate WAE country. They were active last year also, but many were unaware that GZ counted as Shetland and therefore as a seperate multiplier. They will be entering as a Multi/Multi category and will be active using high power.
They will arrive on Shetland on Wednesday, October 24th, and after setting up antennas, they hope to be active on 10/18/24 MHz before the contest to give out EU-012 to IOTA hunters using their home calls/P. QSL all Shetland QSOs via ZS5BBO. See their website at: hhtp://www.GM7V.com

OC-154. Dan, VK8AN/6, will be back on Troughton Island beginning October 10th through October 20th (or possibly the 24th).
He will pull his tower down before he leaves the island, ahead of the cyclone season. He won't be putting the island on air again until the season finishes, probably about April next year. QSL is still via VK4AAR direct (address below):
Alan Roocroft, POB 421, Gatton 4343, Australia.

SA-018. Marco, CE6TBN, wil be going to Chiloe Island and will be on the air as CE6TBN/7 from October 11-31st. He will take part in the CQWW DX Contest as CE6TBN/7 as an All Band/Hi-power entry. QSL via CE6TBN: Box 1234, Temuco, Chile.

IR7, ITALY. Alfredo, IK7JWX, informs OPDX that the following special callsign will be used during all the weekends in December 2001: IR7GM.
The reason was not given for the use of the special callsign, however, a special QSL will be available via IK7JWX, bureau or direct.

J4, GREECE. A group of Greek hams will be active as J41NIK during the 2001
JOTA event (October 20-21st) from Piraeus. Look for the 2nd Aero Scouts Group to be active on the HF bands (80-10 meters), including PSK31 during the evening hours of Saturday. QSL via SV1HR (direct or bureau).

J7, DOMINICA. Five members of the Flordia DXPedtion Group (FDXPG), Bill/W4WX (J75WX), William/N2WB (J79WB), Bob/KR4DA (J79DA), Larry/W1LR (J79LR) and Clarence/W9AAZ (J79AA), will be active from Dominica from October 23-30th. They will do a Multi-Single entry in the CQ WW SSB DX Contest. They have been assigned J75J for the contest. Look for them on all bands, including 6 meters, on CW, SSB, PSK-31, RTTY, HELL, and MMTTY before and after the contest. QSL J75J to KR4DA, J79WB direct to N2OO, and the others via the bureau or direct to home callsigns. Check out the team's Web page at: http://www.geocities.com/j79wb/index.html

KH6 CONVENTION. Propagation guru Lee, KH6BZF, wants to remind everyone that 4TH annual Hawai'i State Amateur Radio Convention will be held Saturday, October 13th, at Rainbow Park, Pearl Harbor, HI. For more details go to the Web page at:
http://www.pilikia.net/karc/hamfest/index.html

MM0, SCOTLAND. Leo, W3LEO, will once again be active from Portpatrick in the southwest part of Scotland from about October 14th through November 17th. However, Leo states that this is once again a vacation and not a "DXpedition" and "time on the air will depend on the antennas, propagation, and on when the nearby pubs are open..." His callsign will be MM0LEO and he plans to be active in the CQWW DX SSB Contest. He will use an Icom 706 (100 watts]), a R-5 vertical (10/12/15/17/20 meters), and a 40-meter dipole (in a delta configuration). QSL via his CBA (with SASE) or via the bureau to W3LEO. A new full color QSL card with a view of Portpatrick is now being printed. For some interesting photos and details of where Leo is staying, go to the Web pages below:
Moir Cottage (MM0LEO's QTH): http://www.moir-cottage.co.uk/
Harbour House (the nearby pub): http://www.harbourhouse.co.uk/

QSL INFO AND NEWS.....
Frank, EA5RD, informs OPDX that he is the QSL Manager for the following callsigns: CW5AM, CX4AT, CX5BE, WP4Q, LU3VAL and LV2V.

Steve, IK4WMH, informs OPDX that from now on he will be the QSL Manager for the IQ4T contest station. He reports that he has all the logs. Steve has received a big stack of cards via the bureau during the last few years and has been supplied with blank QSL cards. He will now start answering all the bureau cards. QSL cards for IQ4T are via IK4WMH, either direct (Stefano Turci, Cerchia S. Egidio 4460, 47023 Cesena, Italy) or via the bureau. Bureau requests via E-mail are welcome, send a message with the details of the QSOs, and the cards will be sent via the bureau as soon as possible. His E-mail address is: topdxer@tin.it

NEED A QSL MANAGER? Petr, OK1DOT, is looking/volunteering to become a QSL Manager for a rare station or DXpedition. He can be contacted via E-mail at: gustab.petr@azd.cz

The station TG0IARU, which was active between September 30th and October 6th, was a special event station to celebrate the XIV Conference of IARU Region II in Guatemala City, Guatemala. QSL via the CRAG (Guatemala Radio Club), P.O. BOX 115, Guatemala City 01001, Guatemala.

Andy, DJ7IK, announced that if you are interested in reading the TS7N story about the "Kerkennah 2000" DXpedition look at the following Web page: http://www.qsl.net/ts7n

Cezar, VE3LYC, indicates that he cannot act as QSL Manager for Jack's last summer/fall IOTA NA-173 operation from the Nunavut (Hudson Bay - QC Coast) South Group as VY0/W2NTJ until he sends the logs.

Just a note of interest/correction, Maylon Harvey, WA2UUK, informed OPDX that he operated XP1AB while on Temporary Duty (TDY) with the Air Force at Sondrestrom AFB, Greenland, from July 20-29th, 1977. So as you can see the callsign has been used since the 1960's. Maylon also knows of one other operation by WA7ZLC who made 229 QSOs in August 1977 and gave WA3HUP as his QSL Manager. He also thinks there were some other small operations. XP1AB was the Air Force MARS callsign for Sondrestrom at that time. Maylon states he made 1,080 contacts and still has the logs and a few blank cards. In the years since then, he has received QSL requests and has sent cards to about 40% of those contacts. Anyone still wanting one, can send a SASE to WA2UUK (QRZ, CBA okay), and he will get a card out right away.

Mike, ZP5YW, reports that due to a recent mail rate increase in Paraguay, effective as October 1st, 1 IRC or 1 USD sent to ZP stations as return postage is no longer enough to cover the air mail cost of a letter. The new mail rates require 2 USDs to cover the mail rates to everywhere in the world except for neighboring Argentina (LU) and Brasil (PY), which is a little under 1 USD. Mike states IRCs are useless in Paraguay, as they cannot be redeemed, but they do use them for QSLs that they send to others countries, so they may still be usable.

T2, TUVALU. "Team Tuvalu" consisting of Ono/JH7OHF/AH6G (a member of K5K), Ted JJ1LIB/N1GO (a member of 5T5U/S07U), Hiko/JN1HOW/AH6PW (a member of 5T5U/S07U) and Mano/JQ1KNH/W6KNH are pleased to announce the following "big DXpedition for the world DX lovers". "Team Tuvalu" expects to make huge amount of contacts from T2-land (OC-015), especially on 160m for Europe and the East Coast of USA, and on 6m for Europe by long-pass opening. Operations will take place between November 1-8th, using the callsigns T20T or T22T (on HF) and T20SIX (on 6m). Activity will be on 160-6 meters SSB/CW/RTTY. They plan to have three stations on 24 hours a day.
Equipment: IC-756PRO+AMP, two TS-570G+AMP, FT-920+AMP, IC-706MK2(for 6m beacon, 50105/QSX 50130)
Antennas: a 4 element triband Yagi for 20m/15m/10m, a 4 element duoband Yagi for 17m/12m, 4 element and 7 element Yagis for 6m and 160-30m verticals/dipoles.
QSL information: HF via JN1HOW, 6m via JH7OHF, both direct only.
JN1HOW - Toshihiko Niwa, 1081-8 Sakae, Kitakawabe, 349-1213 JAPAN
JH7OHF - Katsushi Ono, 15-10 Gamokotobuki, Koshigaya, 343-0836 JAPAN

TG, GUATEMALA. Arno/DL1CW, Andy/DL3GA and Thomas/DB2TR (who is based in TG) will be active now through October 15th as TG/homecall. They will focus on the upper bands CW with an occasional operation on RTTY and SSB. Their equipment consists of Icom IC-706s, Ameritron ALS-600 (600w), Titanex LP5, Cushcraft R-7000 and wire antennas. They will try to be active during the premium times for Europe, North America and Japan, mosquitoes permitting ;-). QSL TG/DB2TR via DL1SBF, others via their home callsigns (bureau preferred).

USI NEWS. Tom/N1HCI, Murph/WA1VKO, Waine/KE1KX and Mark/K1RMC will be active from Bear Island (NH-NEW), New Hampshire, October 13th at 1400z. They will be operating on 7260 kHz LSB and 14260 kHz USB. CW operations are possible however times/frequencies are TBA.

V6, MICRONESIA. Masayoshi, JE1LES, will be active from October 22-28th as V63HJ. Activity will be on 20-6 meters with operations on CW/SSB/RTTY/ PSK31/SSTV. QSL via JE1LES.

WAG CONTEST. Wolf, DL5FU, wants to remind the DX community that the Worked All Germany Contest (WAG) is from 1500z, October 20th, through 1459z, October 21st. Activity will be on 80, 40, 20, 15, and 10 meter bands, CW or SSB or mixed, max. 18 hours of operating time for single operators are allowed. For foreign stations working German stations, the exchange is sending your report and a serial number. German stations will send report and their "DOK" (Distrikt-Orts-Kenner = District Location Nominator), e.g. K18. Multiplier is number of Districts (letter "K" in the example) per band (max. 26 per band). Contest rules can be found in detail at: http://www.darc.de/referate/dx/fedcg.htm

Z3, MACEDONIA. Vlado, Z35M, informs OPDX that he is running his own personal "QSO MARATHON" during the calendar year 2001 (January 1st-December 31st) from his home QTH and under his personal call Z35M. He states, as of October 2nd, he has made 26,420 QSOs on all HF bands. He hopes to reach 30,000 QSOs in about a month. His all-time QSO total is 136,920 since August 1987 (under his other callsign: YU5KV,4N5KV,Z32KV,Z350KV and Z35M). Vlado can usually be found on 20 meters CW (around 14026 kHz) between 2245 and 0400z. Also, check 10 meters CW/SSB between 1000 and 1500z.

ZD7, ST. HELENA ISLAND. Barry, ZD7MY, made a rare appearance a week ago on Sunday, September 30th, on 20 meters (14215 kHz around 0620z). Hopefully, this is a good sign that Barry will be active again. QSL via CBA.

ZD9, GOUGH ISLAND. Chris, ex-ZS8IR, is now active as ZD9IR and will be active for the next year. He is expected to be active on 160-10 meters CW/SSB/RTTY. Currently, reports indicate that he is only using a wire antenna, but he plans to put up a beam for 20/15/10 meters and better arrays for the lower bands. His activity over the past week were on 30/17/15/10 meters. QSL via ZS6EZ.

ZK1, SOUTH COOK ISLANDS (Also North Cook Info). Victor, ZK1CG, has informed OPDX earlier in the week that the Telecom of the Cook Islands have issued him a special callsign to use to show support for the "People of the United States" in these trying times. The callsign to be used is "ZK1USA". Victor will get special QSLs cards made up for this special callsign. He was spotted last week on 20 meters around 14245 kHz around 1415z and on a net on 14183 kHz around 0600z. QSL via ZK1CG: Victor Rivera, PO Box 618, Rarotonga Cook Islands, Via New Zealand.
Later in the week, Victor sent your editor another message containing more details of his special activity and the upcoming Manihiki, North Cook Island operation. Victor states he just started this past week using the ZK1USA callsign. However, since all of his antennas are set up on North Cook, he is only using a G5RV from Rarotonga until October 18th, when he flies up to Manihiki with Roger, W7VV (ZK1VVV). He mentioned that the callsign ZK1USA has caused a little stir especially on the ANZA Net. Victor states, "hams from the USA and around the world are sending E-mails thanking me for the thought and best wishes from the Cook Islands. The people of the Cook Islands have a very special feeling for the people of the United States and they have expressed their thoughts and concern for the people lost in the tragic event that has effected everyone in one way or another. Most Americans do not know about the Cook Islands but a lot of them were stationed on two of the Islands during the Pacific war in the 40's on bases in the South Cooks and North Cooks. Being an American here in the Cooks for almost 25 years, I still feel a strong sense of being American and this will never change. Just happy that we can show in a small way our support and the Cook Island people are thinking of the people in America and Around the World in these trying times. When we return from the trip to Manihiki we will get a special QSL made up for this callsign to send out." He adds that for the CQWW SSB Contest they will use ZK1CG callsign as planned by the Tuatai Group: ZK1MA (Also ZK1CY), Roger/ZK1VVV (W7VV), Bob/ZK1ASQ (W7TSQ), John/ZK1APM (AA7PM), and Ralph/ ZK1AKX (VE7XF). The members will use their own callsigns before and after the Contest, and Victor will use the ZK1USA callsign before and after the contest. Victor wants to personally thank all the people who have sent donations to help them with this expedition to Manihiki.

Hello,

I'm not sure if this is the right group or not but I'll give it a shot.

On my VHF receiver (tunes from 130-180Mhz), I have it centered around 135-145Mhz -/+ 5Mhz. I keep coming across this station that appears to be broadcasting SOME kind of data, and unfortunately, I can't make it out. I can't tell the exact frequency because the radio is manually tuned. I've recorded this suspicious audio and put it on my server.

http://24.14.231.164/whatis.mp3

Any insight as to what this could be and maybe what I could do with it would be much appreciated!

You should be able to request a duplicate from the FCC. Check with your local ARRL VEC's and they should have the form needed or you may goto to the FCC or ARRL site and get additional info on both the replacment copy of your lic and getting/upgrading to General.

Actually, the first thing you should do is RENEW. Since you misplaced your printed license, I suggest that you renew on-line since that won't require a copy of your license in the submission. You are currently in the GRACE PERIOD since your license expired in June of this year. [You won't need a replacement to your license except for station recordkeeping.]

The requirements to upgrade to general class are similar to the requirements that existed when you were licensed in 1992: A written test and a code test. The only difference is that the code speed needed is 5 wpm, not 13.

Upgrading and renewing are two separate actions. If you do take the tests and successfully upgrade, if you don't renew, you'll get a general class license that expired the same day it was issued. Such has happened before (and I saw it - since this did happen to someone whom my testing group processed - his extra class license was mailed to him having already expired). Therefore, my advice is to renew now and worry about the tests later.

About 1925. The original amateur mobile station, 6GD-6BKA, had equipment that for the first time used the same circuit and components for both transmitting and receiving giving rise to the word "transceiver." Apparently in later years the regs were quite restrictive. Finally, around 1950, the FCC relaxed the mobile regulations; interest in mobile operation took off after that.

I wouldn't blame the radio for taking out the alternator directly, but if you normally load it up, that could cause it run a lot hotter and end up with a shorter life. (note the COULD... it could run forever anyway, or fail due to some other component.)

say 100 amp alt.
Normal load=40 A.
Say when you run it with lights and radio and it's about 75A.
That extra load over a _while_ will wear it out quicker. (how much quicker? It depends. Was it going to last 50,000 miles, 100,000 miles or???)

Archive-name: radio/personal-brief-introduction

In an effort help ensure a poster's article reaches the appropriate audience, below is a list of the rec.radio newsgroups. In most cases, a group's name will explain its purpose. Cross-posting should rarely be necessary.

rec.radio.broadcasting (devoted to the broadcast industry; moderated) rec.radio.cb rec.radio.info (periodic informational bulletins; moderated) rec.radio.scanner rec.radio.shortwave rec.radio.swap (for buying, selling, and trading; not a discussion group)

rec.radio.amateur.antenna rec.radio.amateur.boatanchors (tube-type communications equipment) rec.radio.amateur.digital.misc (packet, pactor and other digital modes) rec.radio.amateur.dx (long-distance amateur communications) rec.radio.amateur.equipment (questions, comments regarding commercially-built amateur gear; not for buying/selling) rec.radio.amateur.homebrew (devoted to home-building ham gear) rec.radio.amateur.policy (issues include code, restructuring, local restrictions in conflict with FCC R&R) rec.radio.amateur.space (satellites, meteor scatter, EME) rec.radio.amateur.misc (any amateur topic not covered in the above groups)

(At least two other English language radio hierarchies exist, prefaced with "uk" (United Kingdom), and "aus" (Australia), in place of "rec.")

Again, cross-posting should rarely be necessary. Many times, a long-running thread results from a single cross-posted article, and its content drifts further and further away from being "on-topic" in the various NGs which receive each and every followup.

For more detailed information, see "Guide to the Rec.radio Newsgroups" posted on the 15th of each month.

FREE e-mail list catering to SMS text message capable cell phone users in Pennsylvania and FREE Emergency Net Activation call up service for Amateur Radio operators:

http://www.pa-sitrep.com/pasitrep.htm

One small step to take in preparation for any possible future terrorist attack is to be better equipped with regards to communications.

Early warnings and the dissemination of information can be critical. The PA-SitRep [Emergency] Situation Report mailing list is a valuable tool that is free and can be used by anyone with e-mail and or a digital cell phone.

Posts to the list only pertain to major emergency situation throughout the State of Pennsylvania and the list traffic is extremely low volume. Posting protocol mandates a brief summary at the beginning of the message under 100 characters. This protocol caters to the use of digital cell phones and alphanumeric pagers. Users of cell phones and text pagers (as well as those on the list with regular PC e-mail) will receive the emergency traffic posted to the list within seconds. Several subscriber to the PA-SitRep e-mail list contacted me off the list after the Sept 11 attacks and said that the notification to their cell phones was the first news they received of the unfolding tragic events.

For information on how to use your digital cell phone as a text pager, visit the following address:

http://www.pa-sitrep.com/cell.htm

As a subscriber to PA-SitRep, you may post emergency situation reports to the list, but all posts must comply with the posting protocol and messages are limited to emergency situation reports regarding weather emergencies, natural disasters, environmental disasters, civil disturbances, threats and acts of terrorism, major fires, manhunts, and Amateur Radio Emergency Net activations.

For more information on the PA-SitRep mail list please visit the following address:

Looks like the guy advertising the "Sylvania Tubes" for auction on E-Bay set his From: line to the address of a mail2news gateway, resulting in the automated welcome message being posted back to the newsgroup. I'll take responsibility for that, and make changes to the script to guard against it happening again, even though it wasn't my fault.

The message is intended to be mailed to first-time posters only, it wasn't intended to be posted.

Which newsreaders are you thinking of? GNUS and rn will commendably show news.announce.newusers to first-time users, but no newsreader I'm aware of will automatically present the contents of "WELCOME to rec.radio.amateur.misc" (or any newsgroup-specific FAQ file, for that matter) to a new user.

As for taking polls, my polls over the years show overwhelming support, both from new and experienced users, for making this summary information available to new users.

In your previous message, you said:

>Gee, Paul. Ever think of being a bit more brief? You posted a few >chapters and nobody is reading them. Be more concise and try to limit >your preaching to a paragraph or two. Give an opinion, but for God's >sake, DON'T write a virtual book! Nobody really cares.

I take issue with your characterization of the welcome message as "a few chapters." Printed out, the welcome message is barely two pages (one if you use a smaller font). I would very strongly question the maturity, reading comprehension, or even attention span of anyone who couldn't bother to read a page or two of condensed information. Such a person would probably not be a positive contributor to this forum, anyway.

This is likely Packet Radio.

(I must confess that I am not setup to listen to your MP3 file)

2 meter ham band is 144-148 MHz, lots of packet around 145.

Or it cound be a packet subset called APRS.

You can push this into your sound card and get software to decode it.

3273. ADI -147 Programming

I have an ADI-147 2-meter rig. Works well but I want to be able to program aircraft frequencies into memory. The 147 treats the aircraft band as a completely new entity. Changes the mode to AM and locks out TX but you can't program any frequencies into memory. Only way to monitor more than one frequency is to set the scan frequency upper and lower limits and scan everything in between. Hope someone can help. Thanks... Scott VE1AFN ..>

You cannot renew your license until 90 days before the expiration date. You will have to register at the ULS website at http://www.fcc.gov/wtb/uls and request a duplicate license. It is rather easy.

right down to the recruiter office and enlisted yet? To hear you tell it, you're just soo badd!!! <guffaw> You're the Don Knotts of the newsgroup, Joanie. You lack the fucking balls to post under your real name, and you utterly lack the talent to even be on par to Gilbert Sullivan's flames. You have that cocksuckler's lisp, there Joanie? Is mommy back in town this week doing local tricks? Ahh, still sniveling out that old, old moldy, "oh, you're plagiarizing" newbie trick...as if usenet is the bastion of credibility and one needs to strictly adhere to academic rules. Get a fucking clue, Joanie.
All your pussy whining is one big PKB, hypocrite.

RE: perronformayor.com

Sir,

You are maligning a private citizen who has considerably more rights to privacy than he had as a public official. Furthermore, email is automatically copyrighted under U.S. law, and publication without permission is actionable in court. That having been said, you are now on notice not to put any portion of this on your web pages or to modify its contents. The PGP signature assures that alterations can be detected and legally proven if necessary.

It was a mistake to publish material about a private citizen, and I can only assume that you are rather ignorant of the law. Certainly, the comments on your web pages support that assumption. Should Mr. Perron decide to take action on the matter (and I am urging him to do so), one of the first things which will be done by his council will be to contact both you and Micro Village by certified mail and ask each of you to remove the offending material.

I fully expect you to do nothing, but I don't expect Micro Village to be quite as ignorant of the law as are you. Hopefully, the pages will be taken down and your account will be curtailed or even canceled.

I am also recommending to Mr. Perron that he dispute the assignment of the perronformayor.com domain name and ask ICANN to reassign the domain to him. We will enter an official dispute within a few days if Mr. Perron agrees.

In the meantime, be very careful about what you publish. It is harmful material and therefore actionable, in my opinion.

Very truly yours,

P. David Cromley,
Political Consultant

I have no idea what this dispute is, nor do I care, but I have to laugh when I see material like this. I'm guessing that P. David Cromley may indeed be a political consultant, but his legal opinions are probably valueless since even a first year law student knows the difference between "council" and "counsel."

If what you say is fact then that means he was convicted of a felony. Is this the same guy whose photo appeared here a few days ago? The one of him holding a gun? If these are both the same guy then what we all saw was a felon in posession of a gun. That is a crime in most states. Maybe the local law enforcement authorities in his area should see that photo.

Having read both messages, I too am curious but do not really care what this is about. One must be immediately suspicious of any person that would post a supposedly legal message in a news group.
As we in Texas would be inclined to say, it sounds like a bunch of bull-hockey. Things just do NOT work that way. Good catch on the council versus counsel.
Note, too, if you will that Mr. Cromley stated "in my opinion". Even a fledgling Paralegal learns that using this wordage protects the individual from possible legal repurcussions because it is an opinion and not a statement of fact.

Greetings.. I'm looking for advice on the choice of a HT. Let me give you some details:
This is by no means a first HT for me. I've been using 2 way radios starting with commercial use from both sides of the mike (dispatching and end user). I typically program my own gear when I had commercial equipment. Size DOESN'T matter. I'd rather have a more sturdy radio that's 2 1/2 feet tall than one that you can throw in your shirt pocket. My favorite radios were the Saber, Bendix King LPU/EPU, Icom U16, etc. Now the specs I'm looking for are:
Dual Band.
Extended recieve (at least to 155 or so, and 485 or so) 800 mhz rx (867.xxx and 856.xxx) extended tx on VHF (at least CALCORD 156.075).

I think my only option may be the Yaesu FT-50, which doesn't meet the size criteria, but in all other respects it's a hands down winner. Can anyone confirm if it will recieve 856? Would anyone be interested in a trade for a VX5?

Any other radios out there that meet the other criteria?

Any help appreciated.

My e-mail is evan at espphotography period com.

Hi there. I'm using a mobile rig as a base station. I need to convert AC to 13.8VDC. My question is, would it be ok to use a 12V power supply? The specs in the radio's manual say supply voltage to be 12V(+/-15%) so I'm assuming this is ok but I want to make sure before I go out and buy one. Also, anything else to look out for, or can I just get a fairly inexpensive one (as long as it runs at the correct amps)?

Thanks in advance!

The so-called 12v supply is really the same as the 13.8v. To make a good base station, the main thing to be sure of, besides having enough amperage, is that you get a "regulated" supply, and it is a good idea to have it fused.
THe proper choice will depend on the rig. Just what rig do you have?

A 12 vdc supply will run the mobile rig fine as long as it has sufficient amperage and is well filtered. If you are going out to purchase one, take a look at the Astron line. These are great supplies, very reliable, clean output, and well regulated. They are actually around 13.8 vdc out of the box, but can be user adjusted between about 10-15 vdc.

If you are going to run a typical 100 watt rig I would suggest at least a 35 amp unit. It's always better to get a larger supply than you anticipate needing now (personally I always buy the biggest one I can) to provide for powering accessories and additional rigs you may acquire at a later date.

You might want to check out this link for info on the different Astron models, as well as the best prices I have found (I have 3 RS-70M models myself):

It took me about 15 years of scrounging through flea markets before I eventually found an "inexpensive" one (20A, Cdn$35). I had to use car batteries and chargers for many years since nobody would let their power supplies (12~13.8V, 10+A) go for less than about Cdn$100.

Good luck.

Said with no proof whatsoever to show that gays are ostracized by society. If proof is not needed, it would be just as legitimate to say that many "gay adolescents" commit suicide because they were molested by an adult and cannot live with the shame and embarrassment.

> (snip) Gay people are not gay because

Not supported by reliable evidence (evidence offered by anyone other than a gay rights advocate). As I understand it, some gays have slight variations in "brain chemistry," but most don't. Likewise, many non-gays have the same slight variations in "brain chemistry," with no interest in the same sex.

I built the kit from AADE and it works just fine for me. My application was peculiar as it was being used in a tube radio with a 458kHz IF. I highly recommend it.

Support from Neil was great -- I thought I nearly wore him out with my questions and he still came through. Great guy.

I have a VHDL FPGA model for same, driving LED displays, forming a counter, or a receiver frequency display. It is a proven design, but never been synthesized. I bought the AADE board because I wanted to get on with it.
Someday I will synthesize my design.

Drop me a line if you want a picture....

In a curious move, the USA Military has been dropping Baygen windup radios onto many parts of Afganistan along with food and other humanitarian aide to the Afgan civilian population.

The radios are pre-tuned to US Military Broadcast stations set up across the border in Pakistan. The station is broadcasting anti-Taliban programming.

This activity cou;ld possibly be coordinated by the US Army Civil Affairs and Psychological Operations Command; 4th Psychological Operations Group (Airborne) out of Ft Bragg.

Some links found on a google.com search about this very interesting Unit, and their mission of radio / electronic broadcasting of uncensored news to civil populaces under hostile control appear below... (great reading !!)

3307. Help: Vibroplex clean up

Just acquired a 1929 Vibroplex Lightning with Japanned base in fairly dirty condition. Some chips to the base, some of the gold trim remains but not much. The red bug is still red.
What is the best way to clean these things up without removing anymore gold trim or red from the bug???
I'll probably take all the metal parts off and use a small buffing wheel and polishing compund on the parts that should be shiny. Some pitting but I can't tell how much through the crud...

I'd eventually like to trade this for a more modern Vibroplex bug if anyone is interested. Presumably, my '29 is worth more than a modern bug, so I'd be looking for a near mint "modern" unit. Main wants are red paddles and gray base ("original" model?) Trades in or around the Detroit area preferred.

Yes, one frequency locked radios to only receive the propaganda station broadcast by the US government. Afterwards, these radios will be worthless garbage that our tax dollars paid for.

later in the article...

But unlike those dropped by the Americans, these will not be locked on to a single frequency and so will be able to pick up broadcasts from independent media.

Now that makes sense. Let them hear OTHER sides too and let them make up their OWN minds, rather than shove our propaganda brainwashing broadcasting down their throats.

Except that the VoA (Voice of America) in Pashto is losing out to the BBC in terms of believability.
See:
Linkname: Radio Netherlands Media Network: Media Newsdesk
URL: http://www.rnw.nl/realradio/html/medianews.html 9 October 2001: A difference of emphasis has emerged in the way the international broadcasting services of the two main allies in the War on Terrorism - the US and Britain - are handling coverage of the strikes on Afghanistan. The Voice of America (VOA) expanded its broadcasts in Afghanistan's two main languages on Monday, for the second time since the 11 September terrorist attacks. VOA now broadcasts in Pashtu and Dari for two-and-a-half hours a day each. The expanded broadcasts allow VOA to include messages aimed at convincing the Afghan people that the military operation now underway is not aimed at them, but rather Osama bin Laden. They will also draw attention to humanitarian food drops that are being conducted concurrently with the airstrikes, and send the message that the Taliban are not a proper government, according to a VOA official....

In contrast, the BBC World Service has also extended its Pashto broadcasts, but is using some of the airtime to air the Taliban point of view. The Times reports that shortly after the first air strikes on Sunday night, the Taliban4s chief spokesman in Kandahar, Abdul Hai Mutmaeen contacted the BBC Pashto service to give a defiant response.

The interview was broadcast live to Afghan listeners, along with translations and analysis of US and British government press conferences. Highlights of a recorded address by Osama bin Laden were also broadcast.

See the link for the full story and links to the English-speaking with forked tongues spokeswoman interview.

Hey.....It's Fwankie's gay lover and live in biotch! Where ya been hiding, Chickenshit Chason?
You haven't been posting, SPANKARD? Been almost a week! You been getting in

Been whining and sniveling to all the online directory services that "Fwankie doesn't want it known that I live with him?"
Been nursing your wide, obese red ass from the recent spankings? Bet you didn't go right down to a recruiter and enlist in the service, you useless coward. Noooo, you'd rather try and make friends with the Taliban, that's more your way, isn't it, chickenshit coward? You Jane Fonda supporter, you...

And you wouldn't even have to tell them that you'd rather suck dicks than kill the enemy.
Maybe you could get into the covert actions unit, using your skills as a master of disquise under your oversized glasses and feather boas, you could be the leader of the "Gay Team."

More words of wisdom (NOT!) from another @home.net twit. If they buy their own radios, they can listen to whoever they want. If the U.S. is buying them (with my tax dollars!), then they can jolly well listen to the U.S. broadcasts.

Yeah, just like all the bombs we drop are worthless after they have exploded.... if they accomplish their mission, it's money well spent... and just so you know, their mission is not to create a new sworm of radio fans.

Why exactly would we want to do anything to help the enemy? And if this is just anti-propaganda on your part... what exactly would you call what the other side is broadcasting? If your answer is propaganda, which it should be... reread my first question.

The new Kenwood Tribander (TH-F6A) may do what you want, it includes an all band all mode receiver that covers .1 to 1300 mhz (although I'd bet the Cellular Freqs are blocked). Here's the URL: (Make sure it's all on one line)

http://www.kenwood.net/products/index.cfm?AMA=open&ama_mob=open&radio=TH-F6A&selection=Amateur&ID=193

Not sure about the extended TX, but check the website for more info.

This is a WAR, idiot. We, as the invaders, want the people to turn against the Taliban. Psyops is an extremely important part of this.
Most Afghans are illiterate; leaflets would have no effect. Afghanistan is cut off from the outside world; batteries are nearly nonexistent. So a wind up radio as a means of broadcasting propaganda to the Afghan people is a great idea.

Look. In a war, there is no attempt to be fair. We want to win, and we do this by the best means possible.

You obviously don't understand the purpose of propaganda. It's to influence, not to create super-objective world citizens.

I'd be upset if my tax dollars went for general-coverage receivers that gave the Taleban more listeners. It would be analogous to saving $10 on tires, but on tires that are far more likely to blow out and flip you over. Some bargain. :)

Oh I understand that, but YOU don't understand how stupid it sounds to have to use Propaganda to tell these people how bad the Taliban are. If they are so bad, I'm sure they would know, right? Perhaps letting them become super-objective world citizens would be a better idea so that they don't turn out like war hungry americans.

> I'd be upset if my tax dollars went for general-coverage receivers that gave > the Taleban more listeners.

Aha, why are you afraid of people listening to their side of the story? Censoring is usually because you don't want anyone to hear the truth.

You should be outraged that you have to pay tax for ANY radios that go to other countries. Before 1913 there was NO FEDERAL INCOME TAX in the USA. We did fine without it then, and can do fine without it now. If the government followed the constitution, tariffs and excise taxes would be more than enough to fund the federal government.

I have an old Clipperton-L. The problem is I do not have a high power RF wattmeter. I would like to know how to properly tune the thing up. I am afraid I am from much too new an era to know all the proper handling of tubes. The only meter it has is plate current and voltage selectable. The amp has 4 572B's. I am also wondering what the approximate power these should be capable of.

Thanks,

It always amazes me how convinced Americans are of their own ability to objectively hear all sides of a conflict, but are always so certain that others elsewhere in the world cannot. Those same Americans are equally convinced that we do indeed hear all sides in a conflict - that the government does not apply that same concept to us, with equal censorship of our news. Of course, they have no room for doubt during this conflict - news networks are widely reporting today that the White House has asked them to censor statements made by the Taliban.
Seems the government has moved us into the same category as others around the world - like them, we cannot handle a free press.

I actually prefer batteries. The voltage will run a tad less than a power supply, but no lack of current. I use a 12 amp auto charger that stays on all the time. It can keep up with anything I do. I like being on the air when the lights go out which seems to happen about 4 times a year when a squirrel or whatever runs afoul of a power line or a storm hits. I have a 117 converter to run stuff when it happens. Also I can run portable no problem. We are due a nasty storm tomorrow night. It may be useful. The whole neigborhood will go black, but I'll still be lit up by the display on my 706 still going. :) It makes a good night light so I don't trip over something. :(I then plug in the converter and on comes the lights/tv etc. I use the same camping/portable etc. I have to have all my gadjits and blinky things.
I could be out on the bonneville salt flats in the middle of nowhere and be spotted miles away by my TV and VCR etc going at my campsite.

I tried to head down that road. I ended up with five or six 'car battery' sized gell cell packs, plus a regular car battery, all in parallel. Then there was a lightning strom that distracted me - I had to put out the small fire in the living room wall outlet (a slight exageration). A few days later I smelled the batteries - they were all charged up to about 18 volts and fried. It was very sad.

I guess there is a moral to the story: Don't put all your batteries in one charger. Or ensure that there is adequate lightning protection. Some automobiles actually have "Overvoltage Protection Relays" in their circuits.

Now that true 'Deep Cycle' batteries are only about Cdn$90 at Costco, I'll try again later.

Since the US government has censored the press here, we now don't have a choice over which to believe - the government is making the choice for us by not letting us even hear the opposing side. And, no, I will never have a blanket belief in everything the US government says (since governments so often lie, only a darn fool would).

Mark:

You sound like you might have made a study of this inverter market place.

What do you recommend as a converter/inverter for running 110 VAC equipment off car batteries? i.e. brand names, manufacturers, etc... I've never seen any "comparison" or product reviews on such inverters. Any ideas? I'd like to get something that can power a 100W HF transceiver/laptop computer combo from the cigarette lighter accessory socket on the dash of my Ford Expedition SUV.

Don't get your knickers in a knot, Dwight. The idea is to keep the terrorists from using our own media as their message forwarding mechanism, and the several news outlets I've watched regularly seem to agree that is a wise move, considering that we supplied the cruise missiles used by them on Sept 11. All they need was the pilots.....

Hi All,

I've been on batteries for nigh on 10 years. As Mark already points out, the advantages are many. I use sealed lead-acid 1.5V cells strapped into the standard 12V configuration (allows me to service a dead cell rather than abandon the complete battery).

I also use a bench supply from Acopian (or I could have as easily used my Ameritron) set at a float voltage (13.8V) rather than at a charge voltage(14.6V) which makes a considerable difference in the longevity as you are now aware. Do not use automotive battery chargers. The duty cycle required to keep your batteries in top shape could be satisfied with a small brick (engineerese for a small open frame supply of about 20W capacity). They tolerate faults much more than simple chargers and hold a fixed and regulated voltage. I never quick charge my batteries either.

I have two of these batteries in parallel and due to cell management, I have never had any problems. If you use the standard car or boat (recreation deep discharge) batteries, you should also invest in an isolator to keep one battery from discharging/charging the other. You can make your own isolator from hi current diodes (the type with mounting studs and at least 30A rating).

I fuse with a device technically known as a Posistor. At Radio Shack or the automotive parts stores, these are also known as resettable fuses. I am not speaking of magnetic trip devices with that little red stub for reset. The Posistor is like the Stabistor or MOV. The Posistor is a bulk semiconductive device that under standard load presents very little resistance. However it exhibits a very steep increase in resistance (many orders of magnitude) when current climbs above a threshold, or the device is exposed to elevated temperatures. This last characteristic guarantees that it can look into a dead short and hold itself open. Again, I use 30A components for 100W applications. For connectors I use what are called Fork Lift connectors, but I am sure they go by other names as I have seen their smaller cousins for sale at Ham venues. They are quick mating and have very broad contact faces that lock positively. They are my standard DC connector and these and the resettable fuses are components of my automotive ham circuits too.

My buddy practices few of these methods with his battery (his third "deep discharge" in the same time) and is constantly boiling his electrolyte and his bench shows all the signs of corrosion. He once suffered a short in his automotive system that only cleared when the battery posts melted onto the garage floor. What can I say, eh?

Hi Peter,

Review the reviews of UPS's in the computer rags. They (Uninterruptable Power Supplies) have been in the home market for more than a decade now. I've seen discussion of wave shape and other such considerations that would suggest these were not advertiser puff reviews. Low end models usually guarantee holding your system up 15 minutes. You can always spend more money for more time (or simply bootstrap a cheap model with a big honkin' battery).

Very sad.

Flooded batteries are a lot more forgiving than gell cells, EXCEPT for needing water. As long as you keep their plates covered with water and don't store them discharged, they'll handle a lot.

You might want to check the price on 6volt golf car batteries. Two of those in series are significantly more sturdy than the typical "marine/RV deep cycle" battery.

PA Hams,

Please consider using my PA emergency traffic e-mail list (PA-SitRep) for Emergency Amateur Radio Net activations in PA.

THE LIST AND WEB SITE IS 100% NON-COMMERCIAL.

Anyone carrying a digital cell phone can get an instant notification from the list. This could be especially useful for the call up of an amateur radio emergency net. The list is not meant to be a primary means of calling up hams, but it certainly is a great way to reach many people instantaneously.

After the September 11th terrorist attacks, I was contacted by several list subscribers off the list who thanked me for the service. A couple of the list subscribers said they were away from their radios and TV and the text message to their cell phone was the first word they received of the terrorist attacks.

Please take a minute or two to check my site out and let me know what you think.

Anyone with an e-mail address (computer or cell phone addresses) willing to abide by the posting protocol is welcome to join.

Here's the web address for the PA-SitRep e-mail list:
http://www.pa-sitrep.com/pasitrep.htm

And here's an information page on how to use a Digital Cell Phone for text messaging:
http://www.pa-sitrep.com/cell.htm

So far the list consists of 230 subscribers, many of which are PA hams.

Please drop me a line if you have any questions. My e-mail address is

Some people should constantly check their pulse to see if they are dead yet!
I can't beleive that there are people complaining about the US government spending money on radios. I think it's a great idea. The Afgans have been media silenced for years. An uneducated society knows only what they are told. This is a smart and strategic method of getting other unsurpressed information to the Afganie people and to educate them as to what the rest of the world thinks and is doing!

If they were dropping shit instead of radios, there would be those who would complain that the others are getting their undigested fibre out of it.
It takes all kinds!!! Don't be an idiot!!!!!!

Oh, another one who thinks there is a difference between a Republican and a Democrat. It doesn't matter if we have a BUSH or a CLINTON in control, same shit! BOTH are war hungry and drop bombs on other countries, BOTH raise our taxes, BOTH continue to sign new laws taking away yet more of our freedoms.

Last election, there were 48 other political parties, at least 6 or 7 of which were on the ballots. Yet for some bizarre reason, people keep voting for the same Republicats that continue to screw us over.

Pick one of the others for a change, you have nothing to lose! If one of them screws up, pick another one! But DON'T pick a party that we already know is corrupt and screwed us over time and time again!

You fell for that excuse, huh. They can use their shortwave radios to hear messages from countries that don't censor that side of the news. This is just because the American government doesn't want it's citizens to hear both sides and find out which one has better points and makes more sense. All we see is Bush and Clinton on TV, never Saddam or Osama. The same is true over there, all they see is Saddam and Osama, not Bush or Clinton. Get it?

Of course! The media of any country is controlled by the government! If they refuse, then no license renual or deal to buy more stations from the FCC.

I don't think it was a secret. What took you so long to figure it out. For someone on a SW newsgroup, it doesn't seem like you listen to the news as reported by other countries to get a full objective as to how things really are, rather than just the one sided view of the biggest terrorist country in the world.

And as your statements show, so have Americans.

Wow, you knew that, but believe you live in the greatest country in the world, right? Our health care is the best in the world too, right? How do you know that, because you have experienced the others, or because that is what the US media keeps telling you over and over again?

No, ONLY to what the American broadcasts have to say. That is why the radios are tuned to one frequency as to censor the broadcasts so they CAN'T hear what the rest of the world thinks.

Peter K1PO asked Mark about inverters:

Costco/PriceClub sells an inverter for Cdn$60 (should be ~US$40). Superex "300W" - I think I recall that it was claimed as being "600W peak" (but I won't swear to that). Perhaps someone can confirm/deny. It is 7"x4"x2" roughly. It has a fan. I got one for light duty use. (Once the 4" LCD TVs get a bit cheaper, I will put a VCR & TV into a portable kit so that the munchkin can watch his Disney movies all day while we drive on long trips.)

The suggestion of using a PC UPS reminds me of a story (uh oh...).

Many years ago, at the start of the car stereo wars, my buddy got tired of the silly baseball hat wearing lunatics driving $400 cars with $800 stereos. So one fine Saturday morning, he installs his entire home stereo (less turntable) into the back of his VW van. 400 (real) watts RMS, a couple of Radio Shack 'Mach 1' speakers (with 15" woofers) and a 2nd pair of speakers almost as big as the first. The whole mess was powered by a borrowed computer UPS. That day (well - for about 10 minutes anyway), he was king of the lunatics.

Hello!

Sorry for my bad english. I am a german ham (DO4OA) and i search technical information and a circuit diagram for this radio:

It's a Handradio from Ericsson GE. On the frontside stand "M-PA System".
On top it has 2 knops. One for Volume and one with 16 Steps like a channel switch. The Antenna is a rubber stick. It has an LC-Display an a 10 Number Keypad.

On the identification plate i can read this:

Ericsson GE
COMB: PAJCPX
FCC ID: AXATR-102-C5

Can everybody give me some information, please?

Thanks

I disagree that Clinton and Bush are the same, or would react the same.

I also strongly disagree in your statement about being "war hungry".

In case you didn't notice....we were attacked. On our own soil. The target chosen was non-military, consisting of civilians from all over the world.

This can not go un-punished. If you think otherwise then I call you a traitor, and have no right to claim US citizenship.

Relax, Walter. It was a joke. Didn't you seen the joking "wink" face at the end? And I'm not taking sides - if there was a Democrat in the White House, I would have said Republicans instead. But, since it is a Republican in the White House, it would have been absurd to use

I really don't care what the "idea" is. The only thing I'm concerned about is that my government is openly controlling my access to information. And, as a free citizen in a supposedly free country, I consider that a very frightening thought (something I thought only "those" other countries were supposed to do).

Yes, Dick, I've seen this country involved in nine of them (wars) in my lifetime (not counting the "cold" war). And, to be perfectly honest, I'm getting darn tired of it.

Actually I haven't really. I'm using an old heathkit model that is about as old as dirt. It's only about 175w cont. and maybe 240w peak.
You can get ones much bigger than that. I see them sold at many places. Radio shack, wal mart, etc, etc. You would need a big one to run all that stuff in a car. I'd use a 12v rig on it's own in that case. Also you would likely have trouble using a lighter socket unless it's one of these heavy duty hi current versions. I always prefer to run wire to the battery. I also am going to do much the same if I ever find a laptop. I want to rig it up like a cop car with the laptop up on a pedestal, and the 706 faceplate on it's own pedestal next to it.
if I ever get that rigged up, I want to add a GPS to it which would be run through the puter for a better display and maps. In general I don't really like running HF rigs of inverters. I've tried it with a TS 520 and it works, but the plate voltage can drop a good amount under load, and the performance wasn't as good as when plugged into a normal 117v socket. I don't know what kind of rig you have in mind. I much prefer a 12v radio in the car. MK

Maybe so, but I've never had any trouble with regular chargers. I used a small 3 amp trickle charger for years and it will do the job. But I now use a 12 amp automatic charger with it usually on low which is about 2-4 amps. I like having the higher capacity charger when I run CW, etc. I can hammer full power, and usually get back up to full charge while I'm on receive,even on low. It can jump a car at 75 amps. Even 12 amps is a fairly slow charge for a car battery compared to the rates it charges at in a car. I used to sometimes forget and kind of overcharge with the trickle charger. I never have to worry about that now. I use normal deep cycles and car batteries both. I only need one for a 100w rig here at home with the charger. Prefer the deep cycle for radio use if I'm not on a continuous charge. "Out in the boonies" I use anderson connectors on everything. They are about like the ones you mention. I like having multi batteries out in the sticks, but only use one at a time with the 706 alone. If I get a solid state amp for it I'll need to use two. "500w range". I used to run a 730, and it was always on batteries also. But it pooped, and I replaced it with the 706. I'd still like to find the part to fix the 730. It's still good except for one lousy part on the display board. I'll find one some day in a junker 730... MK

You disagreeing doesn't change the fact that they are true.

Example: "I disagree that George W. Bush is President." See? Makes no sense.

> In case you didn't notice....we were attacked. On our own soil.

In case YOU didn't notice, we attacked them first, on their own soil. They retaliated the best and only way they could considering their far inferior military and technology. What did they do to us before we started dropping bombs on Iraq, denied them any food or medicine for over a decade, and won't allow them to fly planes over THEIR OWN COUNTRY AND AIRSPACE? They are tired of the big bully picking on small weak countries and got together and tried to teach the bully a lesson. Too bad you can't see that and instead see this as an attack on us for no reason at all.

> The target > chosen was non-military, consisting of civilians from all over the world.

They got the Pentagon and were trying for the White House. Again they don't have the military and equipment we do, so they did the best and only thing they could do with their resources. And don't forget the Schools and Hospitals we bombed in Iraq, those were not military, and WE don't have any excuse because we have better technology, weapons and military.

> This can not go un-punished.

It was a punishment for what WE did! Now we would have been even, but now we are attacking them AGAIN, so now we can expect more retaliation.

> If you think otherwise then I call you a

Call me what you will, you can't even see what is going on here. You seem to think they just did this to us for no reason at all. Why did they pick the USA? Why not China? Could it be because China did not bomb the hell out of them like the USA did?

Tell ya what, Dwight - You've never seen anything like this one!!! If you still don't believe it, just stay tuned.

Gee. What a patriot. Tired of resisting the enemies of our freedoms while insisting on receiving the most detailed, even trivial benefits deriving therefrom. And I understand you made a career of working for the military.
What a surprise.

Does this sound like a guy too unmotivated to learn even 5wpm coce?

Okay Wiseman and company. Enough is enough.

You've attracted the alt.flame trash to RRAM, and together you have all made the group practically unusable for its original purpose.

It's time to fight back.

Starting with the appearance of this post, several of us are going to be canceling all posts by you and your butt-buddies which appear in RRAM. You post it; we'll cancel it.

Just like the terrorists you are, we're coming after you. We're going to be using higher level cancels that ARE honored by most news servers.

I don't care how long it takes, either. You post it; we'll cancel it. The process will soon be automated, too.

Watch both spam hippo and control.cancel for your name. It'll be there, guaranteed.

Now fuck off, shitheads.

That's your opinion, Dan is entitled to his.

Actually he does, that is simply Dan's opinion to which he is fully entitled...just as you are to believe otherwise.
In the end, the question of citizenship can only be resolved through due process.

>And if you think otherwise, then
>I could just as easily call you a traitor to the ideals of this country.

Yes you can.

In the end, I can respect everyone's right to express whatever opinion they want...however, that does not require me (or anyone else) to respect that opinion...and, the concept of free speech fully allows me (and anyone else) to offer opinions as to just what someone else's beliefs/opinions constitute... from support for American to treason.

Theatre nukes you can blow a bunch of tanks to smithereens and have your own troops on the other side of a hill not even feel the breeze.
Although nukes are not an option politically or militarily in real life, they are fun for us armchair generals (or more appropriately armchair

Mark et al:

Yeah thanks, now that you have mentioned it, and I have given it some thought...

I do have a "500" APC UPS in the house for my desktop computer, but it's not really a solution for wilderness camping out of an SUV. It too has gotta be recharged.

I believe that instead of an inverter... what I really need to do is...

I need to buy myself one of those new mobile 12VDC HF rigs. Say like the IC706 or FT-100. That's a great idea, I'll ask "Mary" if I can get an early Christmas present, heh, heh...

But... when SUV travelling... what about the laptop which I use for PSK-31, and other digital modes at home, etc...? I run my Sony VAIO laptop in that application most of the time. The laptop runs off it's own internal battery(s) for a few hours, and that's OK when at home since I can recharge from the home AC outlets, but then... what's the best way to recharge the laptop's batteries if one is not near an AC outlet, i.e. when travelling or wilderness camping by car?

I guess a small inverter plugged into the cigarette lighter adaptor coupled with the laptop's 110 VAC portable charger is one way to go. Sony apparently does not have a "direct to 12VDC adaptor" for it's laptops. I wonder if the laptop accessory manufacturers make such devices.

The Russians have their own Islamic problems, and would welcome reducing the problem.

As for fallout. Time it on a good wind day.

Look Dwight, this is a war between East and West. If you think otherwise then Id suggest you get a fallout shelter. Because the next nuke strike will be coming from the East. And it won't be Russian.

Hi Rob -- good luck with the test. You may want to read all about repeaters and useage at URL:
http://www.ipass.net/~teara/kq2.html

SWR meters are useful when connecting an exteral antenna to your HT. See URL:
http://www.firestik.com/Tech_Docs/Setting_SWR.htm

BTW many new hams start with an HT, but later realize they should have bought a mobile rig, if that is the primary useage.

AMATEUR RADIO NEWSLINE(tm) REPORT #1261 - OCT. 12, 2001

Amateur Radio Newsline report number 1261 with a release date of Friday, October 12th, 2001 to follow in 5-4-3-2-1.

The following is a Q-S-T. The FCC says “yes” to S-D-R. This story is first on Amateur Radio Newsline report number 1261 coming your way right now.

(Billboard Cart Here)

EMERGING TECHNOLOGY: FCC APPROVES SDR

The FCC has taken the first steps in making Software Defined Radio or S-D-R a household word. This, as the regulatory agency adopts rules changes to authorize and begin deployment for a new generation of two way radio gear. Amateur Radio Newsline’s Bruce Tennant, K6PZW has more:

The Action took place on Friday September 14th at an open meeting in Washington D-C but the announcement was all but lost in the events occurring in New York City and the Pentagon only three days earlier. But what’s important is that this First Report and Order removes many barriers to entry of Software Defined Radio enabled products to the marketplace. And the new rules do allow manufacturers and operators of such devices to reconfigure them after they have been deployed in the field -- including -- possibly -- ham radio gear. This, says the FCC. will speed up the introduction of advanced technology and new services.

The new rules say that software modifications to an S-D-R can be made through what the FCC calls permissive change. The FCC describes this as a totally new form of filing process where the FCC identification number will not have to be changed nor will the equipment have to be relabeled each time its purpose is revised. In fact, the FCC says that it will permit use of an optional electronic label for S-D-R gear in which the FCC identification number could be displayed using a liquid crystal or similar screen. This will allow another party to obtain an equipment approval in its name and take over responsibility for compliance with operating rules that were the domain of the previous licensee.

The Commission has also adopted requirements saying that the license grant holder must take adequate steps to prevent the unauthorized software modification to S-D-R gear. But so far it has not set up any specific security requirements.

AMERICA UNDER ATTACK: SATERN SAYS HAM HELP STILL NEEDED IN NYC

The last federal rescue crew left the World Trade Center disaster scene on Saturday, October 6th leaving New York officials to continue the nearly month-old effort to locate nearly 5,000 bodies buried in the rubble. The Urban Search and Rescue Task Force was the last of 20 Federal Emergency Management Agency teams sent in after the September 11 terrorist attacks that collapsed the twin towers, but their departure does not mean work is winding down. In fact, one volunteer agency says that ham radio operators will still be needed there for some time. Amateur Radio Newsline’s Henry Feinberg reports from near the scene.

Its the Salvation Army that needs radio operators to support the organization's World Trade Center relief operation in New York City. And even though it has cut one shift of radio operators the relief agency says that it still needs fresh Amateur Radio ham operators on a daily basis until further notice.

In a statement to the ARRL Letter, Jeff Schneller, N2HPO who is coordinating the Salvation Army Team Emergency Response or SATERN Network says that he is still short of people. Schneller says that the midnight to 8 AM shift has been suspended but they still needs six Amateur Radio operators per shift -- a total of 12 per day -- for the indefinite future.

SATERN needs these operators with their own base station radio gear at the Kennedy Airport warehouse set up from about 8 AM until about 9 PM -- possibly broken into shifts. SATERN also needs operators to ride with trucks to provide communication. If you can help, please visit http://www.satern.org for the latest information.

For the Amateur Radio Newsline, I’m Henry Feinberg, K2SSQ, 15 miles from ‘ground zero’ in West Orange New Jersey.

The Salvation Army said it's sending additional personnel from the Midwest to New York City to assist those who have been on duty since September 11th. In the area of ham radio, so far some 40 Amateur Radio operators have turned out to help support the Salvation Army relief effort with some coming from as far away as Missouri, North Carolina, Georgia and Florida. AMERICA UNDER ATTACK: TERRORISM ATTACK CUES EAS DEBATE

When should the nations Emergency Alert System or E-A-S be activated? According to the trade publication Radio World, experts are debating that question because the E-A-S was not used following the September 11th terrorist attacks on New York's World Trade Center and the Pentagon.

Richard Rudman, W6TIA, is the chairman of the Emergency Alert System National Advisory Committee. He also chairs the Los Angeles County local E-A-S group. Rudman says that since the incidents that the national committee has recommended to the FCC that changes be made if a similar attack takes place again.

Richard Rudman W6TIA: "The Emergency Alert System -- at the local level -- ties into local emergency management. What I am suggesting is that we have to look at the elements of the critical infrastructure that might possibly have warnings based on the current threat and make sure that they are tired into local emergency management properly so that a decision can be made to issue an E-A-S warning if it is appropriate."

--

The question of whether an E-A-S civil warning should have been triggered has stirred strong debate among those subscribed to an on-line discussion remailer. Rudman says that the job of the E-A-S is to alert the public before an actual event occurs, rather than after the fact. He says that with the immediate live media coverage of the strikes on the two locations that the need for an E-A-S warning was lessened.

Richard Rudman W6TIA: "First of all, there wasn't enough information to give a clear warning of what was going on. You might as well have just put out an E-A-S message with one word -- 'panic.'"

"At the time that you get a warning you really have to have other information. I often say that our job -- quite often -- is to take people from the fear of the unknown to fear of the known. If you don't do that right, all you are doing is confusing people and possibly instilling panic."

Not everyone agrees. Radio World reports some speculation that there was enough time between the two plane crashes in New York that issuing an E-A-S alert might have saved additional lives.

The E-A-S was developed in 1994 to replace the then aging Emergency Broadcast System as a tool for the President of the United States and others to warn the public about emergency situations. But President George W. Bush chose instead to go directly to the mass media and did not issue an Emergency Alert Notification on the day of the terrorist attacks. As a result, E-A-S played no role in alerting the public to the emergency situations. (Radio World)

AMERICA UNDER ATTACK: REPEAL THE ECPA SO AMATEURS CAN MONITOR FOR TERRORISTS

A Michigan ham says its time for congress to repeal the Electronic Communications Privacy Act and lest SWL's monitor the cellular frequencies foe terrorist activities. Lloyd Ellsworth, NE8I, is circulating a letter to congress on the VHF Reflector that says the events of September 11th warrant giving the public the ability to again monitor cellular communications and report possible threats to the nations security onto authorities.

Lloyd Ellsworth NE8I: "If you have an area [of spectrum] -- for example 800 to 900 MHz -- where cellphones operate -- a terrorist could also conveniently operate there and not easily be caught. You would have someone specialized who had that [monitoring] equipment to receive him."

--

As Ellsworth's letter notes, the Electronic Communications Privacy Act forbids Americans from using a radio scanner receiver other device from eavesdropping cell phone and certain other radio communications. It also forbids the importation or sale in the country of equipment capable of interception of these signals. But says Ellsworth, these are tools and skills which any knowledgeable terrorist can easily use against America and Americans. And we all know that terrorists don't play by the rules.

Lloyd Ellsworth NE8I: "What I am concerned with is if a terrorist is able to freely operate and stands a very small chance of being caught while conducting some communications in that band -- they will."
--

Ellsworth says that repealing the E-C-P-A will even the playing field by giving law abiding Americans a way to listen for suspicious cellular phone calls or other radio signals that can be reported directly to an appropriate agency. Ellsworth notes that this would allow the average citizen, including police and law enforcement to directly to contribute fighting terrorism. Ellsworth adds that this would also put any terrorist on notice that any radio communications he or she may use is likely to be detected, intercepted and used against them. (ARNewsline(tm))

ENFORCEMENT: WARNING TO FISHERMEN GETS THEM OFF TWO METERS

It appears as if a warning letter was enough to get at least four ham fishing enthusiasts off of the two meter band. This, according to FCC Special Counsel Riley Hollingsworth who says that he has spoken with some of them and those operators are gone:

Riley Hollingsworth: “We had warned eight commercial fisherman in Alaska about operating on two meters without a license on the fishing vessel Evack and the fishing vessel Phoenix. Now four of these fishermen have called us or been in touch with us and apparently in addition to Marine equipment they were using amateur 2 meter handie-talkies. They have assured us that they have stopped using the [Amateur] equipment and our independent information indicates that too.”.
--

Hollingsworth says that his office is still waiting to hear from the other remaining radio users. (FCC, RAIN)

ENFORCEMENT: DON’T USE HAM GEAR WHILE HUNTING IF YOU ARE NOT A HAM

Fishing vessels are not the only unlicensed users showing up on the ham bands. In many areas it hunting season, and some of those on the prowl using amateur radio are not hams. The FCC’s Hollingsworth says that the agency has now warned four hunters in West Virginia about using unlicensed amateur gear while out hunting. (FCC, RAIN)

ENFORCEMENT: VK JAMMER FINED $3000 (AU)

The United States is not the only place bringing radio regulatory violators to justice. Q- News reports that the Australian Communications Authority has successfully prosecuted a man who cost a courier company an estimated $80,000 when he interfered with its two-way radio system.

In an all to familiar scenario here in the United States, the man who is an ex-employee of the company, played music over the two-way channel when the company was trying to pass on information to its drivers. Prosecution came after a long investigation by the Australian Communications Authority which direction finding equipment to track down the offender. He was fined $3000 after pleading guilty in Sydney's Downing Center Local Court to three charges of operating a radio transmitter without a license.

The Australian Communications Authority New South Wales Compliance Team Manager is Tony George. He says that the A-C-A works hard to detect unauthorized operation of radio transmitters. George added that the agency will act quickly to prosecute offenders. (Q-News, ACA)

RESCUE RADIO: HAMS CALLED OUT AFTER TEXAS BRIDGE COLLAPSE

Ham radio was called out after disaster struck in South Texas early on the morning of September 15th. This, after a 240-foot section of the Queen Isabella Causeway between South Padre Island and Port Isabel, Texas, collapsed after barges slammed into the bridge supports.

The mishap sent several vehicles plummeting into the water 80 feet below and claimed 11 lives. The Texas Department of Public Safety contacted John Teer, AK5Z, to request Amateur Radio assistance with communications, because all phone lines between South Padre Island and the mainland had been severed.

The ARRL Letter reports that Teer was able to get volunteers to place at the both the South Padre Island and the Port Isabell Emergency Operations Centers. The Department of Public Safety provided boat transportation to the Island for one operator. The hams then provided 2-meter communication for government and Red Cross officials on for two days until landline telephone and cellular service could be restored. Volunteering their services along with Teer were Pat Patterson, N5SLI, Virginia Scarth, KC5SAM, Ed Scarth, W8AHU, and Gregg Sargent, KAZ0ARS. (ARRL)

EMERGENCY COMMS: CELL PHONE LOCATOR DELAYED TO DEC 2005

People waiting for the cellular telephone industry to institute automatic emergency locating technology will have to wait some more. This, after the FCC gives some of the nation's largest mobile phone carriers more time to develop technology that allows emergency personnel to quickly locate callers who dial 911 from wireless phones.

ATT Wireleess, Cingular, Nextel, Sprint and Verizon had sought implementation schedule delays based on problems in obtaining the needed equipment from suppliers. The Federal Communications Commission mandated back in 1996 that all cellular phone companies have some location equipment in place and operational by 2002. Its now been pushed back to December 31st 2005. A similar delay was granted to VoiceStream last year. (Published news reports)

RADIO RULES: ANOTHER MASS CORES CONVERSION COMING

The ARRL Letter says that before the switchover to the new and mandatory Commission Registration System on December 3rd, the FCC plans to do a mass conversion from its current Universal Licensing System database.

The FCC established the Commission Registration System or CORES last year and has been in the process of implementing it. Once it becomes mandatory, everyone doing business with the FCC -- licensed or not -- must obtain and use a 10-digit F-C-C Registration Number -- or F-R-N.

The FCC calls the move is a first step toward streamlining fee collection and tracking. Many amateurs registered with the current Universal Licensing System were assigned an F-R-N by CORES in a mass conversion last year. Those who got one were notified by mail. (ARRL, FCC)

CONVENTIONS: DARA SAYS PLAN EARLY FOR HAMVENTION 2001

The Dayton Amateur Radio Association says that you should plan now to attend the 51st annual Dayton Hamvention. We have this report on the very special reasons why.

Dayton Hamvention 2002 is slated for next May 17 to the 19th. And in keeping with President Bush’s call for America to return to business as usual, the planners of the world's largest amateur radio gathering and trade show have sent out an early flyer. A flyer that tells everyone that the show will go on and that it will be bigger and better than ever before.

How do you make the best even better? How about the Hamvention’s new “All You Can Ride Option” advance purchase package. For a $3 additional fee over the price of a normal $17 advance purchase ticket price, show attendees can ride to and from the HARA Arena an unlimited number of times. If you wait till you get to Dayton it will cost you $22 not including bus service. Buying last minute bus rides will cost another $2 a day or $5 for the weekend. So the $3 in advance is quite a deal.

But that’s not all. If you post mark your ticket order before November 10th, you will also receive a limited edition Hamvention 2002 souvenir program. These normally sell an additional $5 at the door. And early reservations also get entered into the new Hamvention Gift Certificate Contest. Here, two ticket holders will be randomly picked to receive a $250 gift certificate redeemable for cash at Hamvention 2002.

For more information write to the Dayton Hamvention, Post Office Box 964, Dayton Ohio 45401. Or you can visit the Hamvention website at www.hamvention.org.

ARNEWSLINE(tm) SUPPORT FUND UPDATE: ARNEWSLINE(tm) IS NOW A 501(C)(3) NOT FOR PROFIT CORPORATION

Ladies and gentlemen, with a long awaited announcement, here is Amateur Radio Newsline Support Fund Administrator, Andy Jarema, N6TCQ:

Just about a month ago I recorded an announcement similar to this. It was to be aired on newscast number 1257 which went to air on September 14th. After the events of September 11th, I felt it was best to delay a few weeks. As this is good news, I really do not want to hold off any longer.

Over the past two years we have all been working to bring Amateur Radio Newsline out from its old Westlink Radio Network identity and into its own individuality. This meant several things including a subtle name change, branding of our new name and revamping our website. It also meant becoming a self sustaining not for profit corporation. I am delighted to report that last goal has now been achieved.

Earlier this year, Amateur Radio Newsline Inc. was granted status as a California non-profit corporation. Then, in late August the I-R-S granted our petition and the Amateur Radio Newsline, Inc. became a Federal 501 (c)(3) tax exempt not for profit corporation. Yes, that’s right, as of August 20th, Newsline, as the programming arm of the old Westlink Radio Network is officially gone and the Amateur Radio Newsline as an entity unto itself came into being.

All of this was made possible by a generous donation from a Newsline supporter and benefactor who we are not at liberty to name. But it was that person to whom we at the Amateur Radio Newsline owe a deep debt of gratitude. So we pause a moment and say thank you. Thank your for helping make a dream of almost a quarter of a century become a reality.

We also want to thank the wonderful folks at the Holmsburg Amateur Radio Club in Pennsylvania under whose not-for-profit charter we have operated since incorporating as the Westlink Amateur Radio Network in the 1980’s. They are the people who said to us -- here is a place to start. They have been an ardent supporter of what we do almost since we began our newscasts in the 1970’s. We will always consider them as being an important part of the Amateur Radio Newsline family.

Our final note this week. Just a reminder that the address for the Amateur Radio Newsline Support Fund still is PO Box 660937, Arcadia, CA 91066. If you missed it, don’t worry. It will be given again at the end of this week's newscast. For the Amateur Radio Newsline Support Fund report, I’m Andy Jarema, N6TCQ.

On behalf of everyone involved in the Amateur Radio Newsline, a big thank you to Andy and to our secret contributor for making it all happen. (ARNewsline(tm) Support Fund)

T-HUNTING: THE OWLS ARE BACK

Its fall and that means its migration time for numerous species. That includes that ever elusive Burrowing Owls. Here’s Joe Moell, K0OV, with the latest.

The fall 2001 migration period for Burrowing owls is beginning right now. Once again, Amateur Radio operators and VHF monitoring enthusiasts are being asked to help researchers study the patterns of this diminishing species. In addition to owls from the plains of Saskatchewan and Alberta, which hams have listened for since 1998, we're now being asked to monitor for 30 owls that were tagged near Moses Lake in eastern Washington state. Vicki Garcia of the University of Arizona wants our help, because it is uncertain if these birds spend the winter in California, or Baja California, or they go eastward to Nevada, Arizona, New Mexico or even to Texas.

The Canadian owl tags are in the 172 MHz range, while the Washington owl tags are near 150 MHz. If you live in a central state from North Dakota to Texas, or in any state to the west of that line, and you have sensitive monitoring equipment for these frequencies, your help is needed. For all the frequencies and monitoring information, go to my Web site, www.homingin.com. HomingIn is one word.

If you aren't on the Web, send e-mail to owls@homingin.com or postal mail to my callbook address. Again, that website is www.homingin.com

Thanks in advance for your help. From southern California, this is Joe Moell K-zero-Oscar-Victor for Amateur Radio Newsline

If you missed any of that, simply take your web browser to www.homingin.com. (K0OV)

DX

In D-X, word that the same crew that aired 5U2K, 5U3T and 5U5A in March of 2001 will go back to Niger in January and February of 2002. This for a 2 week DXpedition with a larger crew that will include 3 to 4 new operators from Italy and the United States. At least 3 stations will be put on air with special attention paid to 80 and 160 meters. Overall operations will take place on 160 through 10 meters on CW, SSB, RTTY, PSK 31. Another station on 6 meters will operate CW and SSB. Callsigns will be announced at a later date.

Also, the electronic logbook is now on-line for the August 3rd tro the 5th K3L and National Lighthouse Weekend operation from Annapolis, Maryland. Stations who worked the AM Expedition to Thomas Point Lighthouse in the Chesapeake Bay can now check whether they made it to the official logbook. A photographic QSL certificate will soon be available. The QSL manager and other details are now posted at www.amfone.net/K3L. (Various DX sources)

THAT FINAL ITEM: HAM RADIO VS. A RUNAWAY BLIMP

And finally this week, what do you do if a blimp gets away? The answer. Call out ham radio. Amateur Radio Newsline's David Black, KB4KCH has the high flying details.

For members of the North Central Missouri Skywarn team…weather spotting means being on the lookout for hail, wall clouds and other severe weather…but the night of September 7th brought a situation they won’t forget anytime soon. Severe thunderstorms were moving through the Kansas City area that evening, keeping amateur radio Skywarn groups busy, assisting the National Weather Service. In the town of Trenton, Glenn Briggs, KB0RPJ, was serving as Net Control for his spotters when heard a request he didn’t believe at first.

IN We were discussing the squall line OUT find it for them.
--

The blimp belonged to MetLife and had been parked at Kansas City’s Airport. It was scheduled for aerial photography during the following day’s Kansas City Chief’s football game. But mother nature had other plans for this airship as Briggs found out.

--
IN The t’ storms went thru and as it was moored at the downtown airport
OUT flying thru the air
--

For Briggs and his fellow hams, spotting suddenly brought forth a new challenge.

--
IN it was kind of interesting to try to look at the ..
OUT hit by a blimp

The blimp was in the air, flying out of control, for at least 45 minutes. The next task was to find it. Briggs says hams started a blimp watch.

--
IN We had begun sending hams out to try to track a NE trajectory OUT land on a truck

A team of amateur radio spotters went to the scene and confirmed that blimp had been found. The crash site was a farm in the community of Chillicothe--that’s about 85 miles northeast of the Kansas City airport. The blimp fell to earth after its self deflation system activated. No one was injured. Members of the Skywarn team assisted with notifying the FAA and other officials in Kansas City. For Glenn Briggs and his fellow North Central Missouri Skywarn team members, September 7th is a night to remember.

IN I would say it’s the most unusual OUT our spotters will remember for years to come
--

Future weather spotting nets will undoubtedly include the usual…hail, high winds, maybe even tornadoes. But at least one Skywarn team has the additional experience of blimp spotting.

From Birmingham, Alabama, I’m David Black, KB4KCH, reporting for the Amateur Radio Newsline(tm).

Sheesh, you antigovernment guys are just as indoctrinated by your "free" media outlets as the rest of the American public is by their corporate controlled ones. All you guys do is listen to your extremely biased "free news" outlets (just biased to the right instead of the left like the corporate media) and soon you're sounding just like WWFV where the rant and the noise from the poor transmitter and the background hiss are all one and the same and indistinguishible from each other. Come down from your ideological ivory tower and use your brain (unless it's been atrophied) and listen to all different viewpoints on SW and make your own conclusions. I know it's an absolutely shocking, subversive thing to do, but it tends to make one more well rounded.

You've never fought in a war, or talked to people in the military, I see. War is absolute. One guy wins, the other guy loses. Preferably, you want to be the winning guy. So you do whatever it takes. Turning the other guy's people against him is simply part of the strategy. Or would you rather have Osama bin Laden be Grand Caliph of Everything Everywhere, and be forced to bow towards Mecca five times a day, and be forced to wear long robes on a boiling summer day, and have to grow your beard to the specified length? Oh yeah, and you can add in slow starvation too.

Yep. I like to get my news from Deutsche Welle. The Swiss aren't on SW anymore, and the Netherlanders don't broadcast much to NA, so I tried the Germans, and they're better than the British who are American puppets. Got it? :)

Also, I've been trying to get Kol Israel's international oriented news show in-they only broadcast it during the day, and at night do bulletins from domestic Israel Radio. Also I'd like to hear what Iran and Pakistan have to say, but I can't seem to get them in English. Although I do like the Islamic chanting from Saudi Arabia

oops, Walter's head exploded. Big loss, not.

I doubt the Russians will wait long enough to find out what type of nukes we're using. Would we if Russian nukes started landing in Mexico?

Ever heard of libel or slander, Bill? No person in this country has a "right" to defame another person's character. And, when you start calling someone a traitor, you had better have serious proof to back it up because that is a darn serious accusation. People called that have been killed in this country (and that fact alone makes it far more than just Dan's opinion).

That's right, Dick. I enlisted in the Army in 1970, during the Vietnam War. And I've worked on and off for the military ever since. But that still doesn't change the fact that I'm tired of war. I've lived through too many of them. I've read about too many people dying. I've seen the pictures of too many people suffering. And I've seen way too much destruction. But I don't understand those feelings that would affect my status as a patriot. Does one have to like war to be a patriot? Is there no room for anything else?

Actually, I was just being intentionally fatuous, Kurt. The way he wrote it made it sound like he was talking solely about strikes on the US (which was probably not his intent).

Actually, SWR meters are covered in the exam questions, in the section about antennas if I remember correctly. The questions explain basically what an SWR meter is and even a little bit about how to use it (the rest will be covered in the SWR meter's owner's manual).

But, to answer your questions quickly - yes, you will eventually need one and an SWR meter is used to adjust an antenna for proper performance on the frequencies it was designed for.

Almost any large computer store has cigarette lighter adapters for laptops. Radio Shack has one (some?). Compuserve, Best Buy, and Circuit City might have them. Be sure to get the wattage right. I run my entire ham rig, including the SCS modem and laptop from a 12vdc deep-discharge battery charged by my Astron.

An AC power failure doesn't even cause a hiccup.

Hello,
i'am surching for the schematic of the 5 tone module for the grundig KG105 also named KYODO.
The 5 tone print is named TCS5. It contains an micro 68705 with software in it to make the tone code.

I have been studing the contense of the eprom (27C64) in which the tone code is placed.
if i use channel 1 the info in the eprom is as follows;
09 00 09 00 07 09 00 09 2F 1F 09 00 02 01 04 00
^recieve ^ ^transmit ^ ----------?
The receiving code =90907 and the first 3 for transmit are constant 909 the last 2 digits can be selectred from the buttons on the transmitter (00-99) so the calling can be 90900 to 90999.

I can not find what the last part means.
Can somebody help me with the schematic and meaning of all the bits to program.
I found out that if you have 16 channels you must program every channel on which you want the 5 tone code to be active.

Reply here please or by e-mail to

How do you keep the Astron (I know what an Astron powersupply is) from overcharging the deep-cycle battery? Timer? If timer, then how do you know if the battery is back up to full charge when the timer kicks off? Hmmmm, the proper charge controller from a photovoltaic (PV) panel could be the answer.

13.8vdc will NOT overcharge a 12v battery. (13.8vdc will not even fully charge a 12v battery.) That's the beauty of paralleling a battery with a 13.8vdc supply. That's why power supplies are preferable to chargers for such an application.

I have used a couple of small Statpower inverters, see:

http://www.statpower.com/home.htm

These are sold a lot a RV/Camper supply stores,ie, Camper World.

If you are interested, a hot tip. Don't buy at Camper World, check out:

http://www.store4power.com and look at their "Factory Outlet." They have "remanufactured" close out specials that are often 1/2 price. Right now they have their "True Charge" line available. These are microprocessor-controlled three step chargers.

Now, a war story (ongoing). I have a 25' fifth-wheel travel trailer that has a build-in 30A switch-mode charger. This was made by Todd Engineering, now out of business. It is a dual-voltage charger that uses a manual switch to go from "charge" to "float". In the summer of last year, we traveled for three months (our first post-retirement trip) and I took along my TS-870 so as to keep skeds with friends back home.

Often, while connected to shore power (charging) I was plagued by strong noise on various frequencies. I learned that if I flipped the charge voltage switch, the change in voltage would cause the noise to change frequency and stop QRNing me.

Here at home, we are located outside of Tucson and our "local" TV stations, while at 8800' ASL are non-line-of-sight. I discovered that while charging the trailer batteries, I have severe noise on CH 4 TV.

I presently have this charger on the workbench trying to surpress the rfi. So far I have had very little success. I won't go into the details here, as that could be another thread, but rfi from switch-mode chargers/inverters should be a consideration in your selection.

I am considering a completely analog charger if I can figure out where to physically located it. For the homebrewer, TI (formerly Unitrode) makes a specialized IC (UC-3906) that implements dual-stage charging (analog) for lead-acid batteries. See:

http://focus.ti.com/docs/prod/productfolder.jhtml?genericPartNumber=UC3906&pfsection=app_note

Wes N7WS

ps. For last Field Day, I used my Astron supply in parallel with a deep-cycle battery and powered the Astron with a very old gas-power generator(alternator). When the generator ran out of gas (often) I was still on the air.

Many moons ago when packet was young we put a digipeater, Xerox 820 board with Karns software, on a mountain top. We used auto battery power with a "on demand" charger designed by another ham. As memory serves me he designed a pulse charger. It monitored voltage/current and adjusted the PWM to supply more or less charge. It ran great for a number of years.
The only problem was we were "guests" at a voice repeater site and every so often the owner would unplug our line power to plug in a piece of test equipment and not plug it back in. After several days we would hear the signal "motorboating", a sure sign of low voltage. And since it was usually winter when he did it and there was snow up there, and I had the only 4x4, guess who got to blow an afternoon driving up to simply plug in the AC line cord.

Hey thanks for all that great inverter information. I'll make good use of it.

Re: My Sony VAIO laptop. It uses Lithium Ion batteries, I don't know what the charging voltage should be for these. The "charger" that comes with it takes 110 - 240 VAC on the "mains" side, and produces 19.5VDC on the laptop/DC side. I don't know much about Li Ion battery technology. I am wondering if it's possible to charge the laptop's Li Ion batteries directly from the car battery without resorting to an inverter to go from 12VDC up to 110VAC and back down to 19.5VDC.

Peter, did you see my posting regarding any large computer house like Compuserve carrying DC/DC converters so you can run your laptop off of 12vdc? I have a 30w unit from Radio Shack that powers my small laptop. Compuserve has 75w units.

* PLEASE NOTE: The report "could" contain "Pirate/SLIM" operations. As always, you never know - "Work First Worry Later" (WFWL).

4W, EAST TIMOR. Carlos, CU3FT, has arrived in East-Timor and is expected to sign 4W/CU3FT. His activity is due to start as soon as possible. No QSNs have been reported as of writing this. Look for him to be active on all bands especially the WARC bands and 6 meters. QSL via CT1EEB. Meanwhile, Thor, 4W6MM, continues to be active (usually seems to be on the weekends) usually after 0630z on 20/15 meters CW with some SSB activity.

6M BEACON BACK ON THE AIR! After several years off the air, PT7BCN came back to life again on the 6 meters band, frequency 50.078 MHz. The transmission is experimental, and listener's reports are welcome and can be sent to Luc, PT7WA, at: pt7wa@matrix.com.br
The beacon is located in the State of Cearah (PT7) on the North East side of Brazil. The 6 meters propagation to this part of Brazil can be diferent considering the usual paths to the South or even to the North part of the country.

9K, KUWAIT. Hamad, 9K2HN, states to look for him to sign 9K9X in the CQWW SSB Contest as a Single Op/All Band entry. QSL is "OK" via the Bureau.

A5, BHUTAN. Dave Anderson, KW4DA, will be active as A52DA from October 23rd through November 1st, 2001, from the Bhutan Ham Centre. Dave is part of the team going to Bhutan for the CQWW SSB Contest October 27th and 28th, operating as A50A. Prior to and following the contest he will be active on all bands and the following modes: CW, RTTY, PSK, SSB and SSTV. Other modes are possible if requested. There will be no set schedule, but E-mail will be monitored if a special mode or band is requested. Every attempt will be made to accommodate requests with time and equipment pending. The E-mail address for arranging special modes and schedules is: A52DA@Hotmail.com
The E-mail will be monitored as often as possible. QSL information for A52DA is to: Dave Anderson, KW4DA, 712 Baneberry Court, Asheville, NC 28803 USA (USA - SASE with Postage and DX - SASE with Postage). See the following Web page for information on visiting Bhutan at: http://www.qsl.net/a51aa

C6, BAHAMAS. Five members of the Magnolia DX Association will be active during the CQWW SSB Contest from Treasure Cay, Abaco Island (IOTA NA-080), using the callsign C6AKO. The group consists of Ernie/W5OXA, Randy/W5UE, Alan/N5PA, Stan/K5NY and Bernie/KK5EW. They will be there from October 22-29th. Most operators plan to be active the week prior to the contest using homecall/C6A on all bands on SSB, CW and perhaps RTTY. QSLs for the contest callsign (C6AKO) is via W5OXA. QSLs for pre-contest activity are via individual operator's home callsign. Updated information can be found on their Web page at: http://mdxa.org/c6a-2001.html

DXCC NEWS (Update!). Bill Moore, NC1L, DXCC Manager, reports "With the help of recent inquiries on the InterNet, DXCC has received, and accepted, documentation for TT8DX (Chad). Anyone who has submitted it and had it rejected should contact DXCC and we'll be able to update their record without having to submit the card again. If not, it can be sent in the next submission." It has also been reported that TT8JE is now good for DXCC.

EP, IRAN. EP3PTT was active over the past weekend on 15 meters SSB/RTTY. Watch around 21255 and 21080 kHz between 1230-1630z.

FO, MARQUESAS (Update). Janusz, SP9FIH, informed OPDX that his FO/SP9FIH operation will probably be on the air (depends on flight schedule) from October 24th through November 10th. Activity will be SSB only on 80-6 meters on the usual DX frequencies or 14180, 21280 and 28480 kHz. QSL via SP9FIH: Janusz Wegrzyn, Box 480, 44-100 Gliwice, Poland.

FP, ST. PIERRE & MIQUELON. Stan/AC8W and Henry/K8DD will operate from here October 25-31st.They will use wire antennas and two 100w transceivers. Look for FP/AC8W and FP/K8DD as single band entries in the CQ World Wide DX SSB Contest. QSL via home call.

HP, PANAMA. Elio, HP1BYS, will be active in the CQWW SSB Contest as a Single Op/Single Band (20 meters) entry. QSL via HP1BYS.

HV, VATICAN. Station HV5PUL will be active from the Pontifical Lateran University (Vatican City State) on November 6th during "Dies Accademicus", the opening day of the academic year 2001-2002. Operations will be on the HF bands, and 6 and 2 meters from 0800-1700z. Other operations are scheduled for October 20th during the station's setup and after November 6th, however, calendar activities have to be defined. QSL HV5PUL to Luca, IW0DJB. For further updates and info, check the Web page at: http://www.pul.it

IOTA NEWS.....
AS-056. LAST CHANCE! Masa, JA6GXK, will leave Danjo Archipelago next spring for his work, however, he will be active continuously from Danjo Archipelago, as follows: November 6-15th, November 27the through December 6th and December 27th through January 7th, 2002. This is not a DXpedition, but he will be active in his spare time. QSL via the Bureau (JARL) or direct to the JA6GXK.

NA-NEW. OPDX has been informed that the members of the XE1RCS contest team will activate, for the first time, Isla de Lobos on Mexico's Veracruz State North Group, from Thursday, November 1st to Sunday, November 4th. This new IOTA operation will be active on SSB and CW with 4 stations: 2 on HF (80-10 meters including the WARC bands), one on 50 MHz and one on FM satellites. The special callsign and QSL info will be announced shortly.

JOTA INFO AVAILABLE. Malcolm, G4CXT, reports that location details, QSL information, operating schedules are available for all the UK stations taking part in the International Scout Jamboree on the Air (JOTA), October 20-21st, 2001, at the following Web site:
http://www.radio-scouting.org.uk/jota44.htm
This web site also contains activity information for the event and other Radio Scouting news from the UK and overseas.

LIGHTHOUSE ACTIVITY. The University of Florida Radio Club is planning a Lighthouse Operation for the weekend of October 20-21st. They plan to activate the Cedar Key Island Lighthouse on the west coast of Florida. It will be a first time ever operation from that lighthouse and is part of IOTA NA-76. They have permission to operate from approximately 10 AM Local Time (1400z) Saturday morning until 5 PM Local Time (2100z) Sunday night, the 21st. The lighthouse is only accessable by rowboat. The callsigns used will be W4DFU, The Gator Club, and WA4ET, David Price's callsign.

David is putting the effort together. The primary bands will be 10, 15, and 20 meters. Some operation may take place on 40 meters and 18 Mhz. It will be mostly SSB with some CW planned. QSL to W4DFU or WA4ET.

QSL INFO AND NEWS.....
QSL 3D2CY via Z32AU: Dragan Kostevski, P.O. Box 35, 6000 Ohrid, MACEDONIA. QSL cards for 3D2CI go via YT1AD.

STOP PLEASE! Well-known QSL Manager Joe Arcure, W3HNK, offered to help to obtain JT1CO cards. He must now withdraw his offer. Joe states, "Someone deemed it necessary to tell the world I was his QSL Manager and my mail load is out of hand. I am NOT nor do I plan to be his QSL Manager. Please ...no more cards...."

Charly, K4VUD, has informed the DX community to be careful in sending for his HS0ZCW cards. Some individuals are sending them to Thailand instead of the U.S. The address on "QRZ.COM" has Thailand listed on the last line of the address, but it is actually an U.S. address. The correct address is: Charly Harpole, 3100 HWY, 426 North, Geneva, FL 32732-9761 USA.

NEW ADDRESS FOR PA3AXU as of November 1st: G. Dijkers, NAPO 550, 3509VP Utrecht, The Netherlands.

Gennady, UX5UO, informs OPDX that QSLs for EN10U, EO10B, EO10N and EO10W, active on the air in celebration for the 10th Anniversary of the Independence of Ukraine, are now printed and available via UX5UO. QSL via the bureau or direct to: Gennady Treus, P. Box 925, Kiev-100, 02100, Ukraine. Meanwhile, QSL cards for EO10C, EO10K and EO10M are still being developed/printed.

SV9, CRETE. Ben, DL6FBL, will visit the QTH of Michael, SV9CVY, and be active during the CQWW DX SSB Contest, October 27-28, as a Single/Op/ All Band entry. Before the contest he will operate as SV9/DL6FBL for three days. More information on "Propagation and Operating Tips" to work Crete may be found on the following Web site at: http://www.dl6fbl.de/sv9cvy

T8, PALAU. Lee, HL1IWD, informs OPDX that he is scheduled to visit Palau during this month for a medical mission between October 20-24th. His callsign will be T88YB and he will mainly concentrated on 20 meters CW. All of the contacts will be confirmed automatically through the bureau.

TI, COSTA RICA. Dick, W5AA, will be active as W5AA/TI8 for the next 6 weeks starting October 18th. He hopes to finish 5BDXCC from here. He will be active mostly on 80 meters (ed. states he needs only 50 more countries on 80m) and will be active in the CQWW SSB Contest.

V4, St. KITTS & NEVIS ISLANDS. Sam, G4OHX, is expected to be active from here now through October 24th, as V47OHX. Sam will operate on 20 meters CW looking for FISTS and RSARS members to communicate their membership numbers. He has been heard on 14007 kHz around 2100z, 14017 kHz around 0030z and 14055 kHz around 1000z. QSL via his home callsign.

V6, DUCIE ISLAND (The Next New DXCC Entity!). "The Daily DX" reported early last week that the "Pitcairn Island Amateur Radio Association" (PIARA) has announced that all planning is now complete for their operation from Ducie Island and expects to be admitted into the IARU society on November 16th. If PIARA does become a member of the IARU, Pitcairn Island will become a "Political Entity" under DXCC Rules, "Section II. DXCC LIST CRITERIA" under "Criteria: 1.c)". Ducie Island will qualify as a new DXCC entity under the same section, but under "Criteria: 2.Geographic Separation Entity, Part b) Island Area (Separation by Water)". To celebrate the event, the group will be operational using a VP6 callsign to be announced at the beginning of the operation at 0000z on November 16th (depending upon any transportation problems that may arise). The group intends to provide contacts with as many different amateur radio operators as possible during their stay on the island. Operators will be Tom/VP6TC, Dave/VP6DB, Kan/VP6BK/JA1BK, Hitoshi/JF1IST, Tamama/JA1SLS, Mike/K9AJ, Vince/K5VT and Philippe/FO3BM. The pilot station is Dr. Bill Avery, K6GNX. QSL Manager is Garth Hamilton, VE3HO (cards can be sent via the bureau or direct with a SASE). Their suggested main band plan is as follows:
15 meters - Look for them to be active on 21020 kHz (CW) and 21295 kHz (SSB) 24 hours each day. This is to allow individuals more time to find and work the group depending on their propagation in their area.

20/10 meters - These two bands are expected to be their main SSB frequencies. Watch 28495 kHz and 14195 kHz. Also, watch 14020 kHz to be their main CW frequency other than 15 meters.
There will be some activity on the other bands (160-6 meters), as well as RTTY in addition to SSB and CW operations. However, it is expected that low band and WARC operations are more likely to take place in the last days of the operation. The reason for this is so they can concentrate on their main goal to allow as many stations as possible to work this rare IOTA and probable new DXCC entity. The group requests to please do not dupe your contacts, however, there will not be any blacklisting for duping a contact. A log search will be available on the Web at: http://www.big.or.jp/~ham/dx.html

WEB SITE CHANGE. Don, W9DC, informed OPDX that he has modified his Web page (which contains Island and Lighthouse Data) and has changed his E-mail addresses as follows:
Web Site - http://www.w9dc.com/
E-mail for Island data goes now to - IOTA@w9dc.com
E-mail for World Lighthouse Award data - WLH@w9dc.com
Would you be so kind as to update your records.

And here, dear readers and fans, is where the non-entity and author of no famous flames, Mr. "7th Fury" crawls from the sewers and bowels of net.obscurity in the vain hope of attaching himself to my rising star in the world of flame groups, of which I currently rule around twelve, because no-names like this snip-n-drooler here will always show their true colors when confronted with the genius of the Flame Giant, the most famous and quoted writer in the history of the internet and the plaintiff in the precedent-setting Palmer vs. Google where I intend on making Google and rest of you all pay dearly for my archive, which I'm currently in negotiations with several Important People who wish to purchase my every musing, but this should come as no surprise to my fans who support me, and who I've pledged never to reveal, but you know who you are so please excuse this outbreak from your beloved writer and Flame Giant as I promise return to my usual prose which I know you're all hungry for, just as soon as I dispatch this roach with the Spankiest Spank Ever Spanked.

Anyone have RSS for Spectra/MTX?

3483. TS50 TX modification...How could I return to default frequencies?

Hello all. I have a TS50(not TS50S) of second hand. It has full TX from 0-30 MHz, and I would like to become TX to their original values. I have surfed over the net and found some modifications, but they are all for open to full TX...How could I close the full TX and restrict it only to permitted frequencies?.
I have found on the PC board of my TS50 diodes D1,D2,D3,D4,D5. Diodes d1,d3,d4,d5 are cut on 1 of the 2 extreme(but the diode is there), but on d2 there are nothing.
What should I do? Should I solder diodes d1,d3,d4,d5 again? (and leave diodes D2 empty (as now)...I think yes but...
And also I think I should reset the CPU...

Any idea....

Best regards from Tito

FS: Mint Icom IC-746 HF 6 & 2 Meter Radio.
This unit is just over a year old and in clean and perfect condition, like new, no scratches dings or rubs etc. This unit has never failed or been serviced. It has been in a clean, non-smoking environment and ran conservatively. The original box, manual, mic, accys and unsigned warranty card are included. If you like mint gear you will not be disappointed. Price $950 shipped CONUS. Ph: (509) 710-8759 Oh, reason for selling: New IC-756ProII took its place : -)

It's a Briticism that went to USA, we stopped using it, they brought it back.

Talking of the USA, now that Britain is refusing to hand over the suspected lieutenants of Bin Laden because the USA is a backward 3rd World country that executes its own citizens, can we expect moral consistency from Dubya, and for the USA to start bombing London?

Or does the usual moral hypocrisy apply in this campaign?

Ouch. Seems like wiring in another outlet or plugging in a

Replaced the battery but still no-go. I need a schematic in order to trace the power circuit. Radio Shack has the service manuals for sale but it would cost over $60 after everyone took their hands out of my pocket. Seen used rigs for $100 so I'm a bit undecided. The classic 2 meter problem with the 741.

Kenwood did NOT add heat grease to the 2 meter amplifier chip.
It over heats and usually craks the ceramic substrate internally.
Fortunately, I was able to solder bridge the cracks and get my 2 Meter section going.
Add the heat grease between the PA chip and the heat sink!

Hell, if we had any consistency we'd bomb the Federal Court House in Boston first. Where else could an IRA man be a 'freedom fighter'???

It seemed to be a big surprise in Foggy Bottom (home of the State Department) that there was any connection between the IRA and FARC in Columbia.

I seriously doubt calling it an opinion is going to end the possibility of libel or slander. Just about everything you say is an opinion, including defamation. While I'm not a lawyer, as far as I know, the only real defense in a libel or slander case is the truth - if it is true that "X" is a traitor, you're covered.

I'm not a lawyer,\

You certainly are not, that is clear. Libel or slander must be presented as being fact, not opinion. Opinions do not bear the force of fact.

as far as I > know, the only real defense in a libel or slander case is the truth - > if it is true that "X" is a traitor, you're covered.

And if, in his opinion, Mr X's behavior is traitorous, that is his opinion and the U S Constitution you were shedding so many alligator tears over a few posts ago, totally supports his right to speak his mind. Mr X is just as free to refute it with fact, if he can. Libel or slander it's NOT.

Not true, Dick. If you make a specific defamatory accusation against a specific person, it is your responsibility to back it up with fact (not the person defamed). If you cannot do so, it is defamation and defamation is the very definition of legal slander or libel.

And another thing, as the issues seems to be to attack whoever is at the top of the tree, wasn't it the USA who funded, trained and then armed Bin Laden in the first place?

Surely that means that Britain, as the USA's ally in all this must immediately start bombing the Pentagon?

Or does the usual moral hypocrisy apply in this campaign for "justice"?

couldn't pass it the first time on your own, if you cheated, or if you had the fucking answer keys right in front of your weasel-featured face.

Yeah, and it says a lot more about me than it does for a lazy bastard who's satisfied with a job with no future that stays there like a sheep for 17 years.

I am getting ready to take my test and need a ham radio. I am going to be in the VHF/UHF range. I'm looking for any type of rig,mobile, or HT.Please be specific on what units cover as I am far from knowing what alot of them do.I have a Radio Shack Pro-76 LN,200ch, handheld, covers up to 512mhz, with box and power adapter,only 4 months old! paid $105. Also a Uniden BC855XLT covers up to 956mhz, 100 ch. unblocked desktop works great! Still using both of these but have to get rid of some toys for my new found passion! Will trade both if the deal is right! Make me an offer!
Thanks and 73

This is the same "Stevie Boy" who got his sorry ass kicked off of 3.950 for being too much of a "loose cannon" (imagine that !)

He also used to check into the Eastern Regional Patriots Militia net that used to meet on Mon, Tue, Thur nights on 3.860 LSB at 8:00 PM Eastern time, until he surrendered his ham licence (aa8dp) to Reily Hollingsworth.....because he believed the FCC was an "..agent of the (zionist) occupational UN government".

Someone said he also had a webpage that stated this kooky claims of his, but we can't find it. Oh well no loss.

Looks like we have here yet another real genuine radio militia gun-nut screwball eh folks?

Hopefully the Kentucky State police will put this fruitcake into a pine box six-feet underground very soon!

3538. Dear Abby. Help Me With Roger....

From: RKBA <Shooter@anon.anon>

Dear Abby:
My new boyfriend, Roger Wiseman, has some kind of tic. I often see him twitch and his eyes deviate to the top and side and oftimes cross. On occasion he will suddenly and without reason utter or scream obscenities. His tongue lolls from one side of his mouth to the other and spittle runs freely down his chin. He wants us to have a family, but I am worried. Do you think he should father children?

Dear Reader:
This is a medical problem and a social/ethical problem. Roger's symptoms suggest that he could be suffering from a seizure disorder, a genetic neuroligical disease, or....as strange as it seems....a brain disorder. Roger is likely suffering from Tourette's syndrome. This poorly understood mental affliction is marked by tics and inappropriate vocalizations (swearing) that are quite coarse. The syndrome is treatable.
I encourage Roger to seek consultation with a neurologist and undergo examination and testing. A specialist can recommend appropriate therapy. The syndrome is treatable in most cases.
Your boyfriend should not father any children until it is determined if this is an inherited disease. The negative results for any children can be unsurmountable. You would do yourself a great favor by practicing contraception until his disease can be diagnosed and treated.

Why? If you're in any metropolitan area, scanners are great tools.
You can be chatting away on one repeater, and keep track of activity on several others. I tend to use my HT for that, since it can monitor multiple frequencies easily, but I still keep a PRO-76 around for listening, and so the YL can monitor from home when I'm out. (Her HT's kinda limited, and I always take mine with me)

Where do you live? Are you in or near a major city? We can check for your local area repeaters, and that way you'll know what to look for in a radio. If your area has a lot of 440 activity, then a dual-band radio would be well worth your money. If everything's on 2m, then you may want to keep it cheaper initially.

Post your approximate location, and I'll get you some repeater frequencies that you can monitor with your scanner to find out where the activity is at.

Hello, I have an HTX-100 10 Meter radio that I would like to use on PSK31. I also have a Toshiba laptop computer which uses a PC card sound card. The sound card uses a phono jack for the input and headphone jacks. Can anyone give me any information or provide me with a good schematic for building an interface to connect the HTX-100 into the computer's soundcard? Keep in mind that I am relatively new at this, and not really all that familiar with building interfaces. I do know that there are basically only 4 wires that connect the microphone to the 8 pin connector on the HTX-100, so it shouldn't be too difficult I would think. Can someone please e-mail me if they have built an interface for an HTX-100 and let me know what I need to do to build one? I would like to know basically what wires I connect to where, and how I need to hook everything up, etc. Please, be as specific as possible if you can. I do know that the HTX-100 is wired up much like many of the 8-pin Kenwood rigs, such as the TS-50 as far as the microphone wiring goes, so I would guess any interface that works with the Kenwood gear would also work with the HTX-100. Any help anyone could provide for me would be greatly appreciated. Thanks for the help!

Yeah Yeah...we know all you nutcases out threre are sad and upset that Unbalanced Paytriot Radio on 6.900 is gone. Here's an alternative.
Check out James Lloyd (no..not the ham radio "lloyd" we all love---this is another one..) on WWCR from 9 to 11 PM eastern time weeknights on 9.330 WBCQ.
This is the same James Lloyd from Oregon who used to broadcast in the daytime from his chicken coop with all your favorite latest conspiracies about chemtrails, UFO's, fluroide in the water, crop circles, the "Church Lady" from SNL and more kooky stuff than you can shake a digital Sangean radio at. Check it out shortwave and ham radio loons!
you'll freakin love this guy - he does his show live too!
Just like the Sommerset Psycho used to..... Oy vat schmucks there be everywhere on shortwave!!

3545. It is NOT the militia!!!

A few left-wing radicals are trying to pin the recent anthrax outbreaks on the militia or extreme religious cults. After covering these groups for many years as a reporter, I can assure you it is NOT them. They are too poor and too amateurish to ever come up with the high grades of anthrax that are now being reported. This has to come from a wealthy source and a source with technical resoruces...maybe an oil producing nation...maybe Iraq. The militia?? Too bubba to come up with this stuff. So if you see one of these Berkley professors on TV trying to spin your hatred against the beer-drinking hillbillies of the militia...forget it. BUT...if you hear the U.S. government trying to spin the blame ON the militia, I FOR SURE will know that this WTC/anthrax horror was a creation of our own government and this whole scenario is one, big massive conspiracy.

PS: If what you say is true (which NOTHING you say ever is) then it would be an open and closed case, and action would have already been taken.

My assessment would be that since NOBODY likes you, that any tracing of "prank" phone calls would lead to just about every circuit

You are an asshole, and it is just the World letting you know.

Hope you are having fun!

I'm in Newark, Ohio and I have a bunch of the repeaters here. I guess I neglected to say that I have 4 scanners. So if I get rid of 1 or 2 it wont really kill me. I have been into scanning for about 6 years now. and Ham just peaked my interest for a long time til I decided to do something about it.Thanks for the advice!

The original Kook was a radical Jewish rabbi who expected the Messiah to come at anytime and wanted his followers to blow up the Dome of the Rock so the Third Temple could be built for said Messiah. How ironic...

Subject: Interesting Observations

After the 1993 World Trade Center bombing, which killed six and injured 1,000, President Clinton promised that those responsible would be hunted down and punished.

After the 1995 bombing in Saudi Arabia, which killed five U.S. military personnel, Clinton promised that those responsible would be hunted down and punished.

After the 1996 Khobar Towers bombing in Saudi Arabia, which killed 19 and injured 200 U.S. military personnel, Clinton promised that those responsible would be hunted down and punished.

After the 1998 bombing of U.S. embassies in Africa, which killed 224 and injured 5,000, Clinton promised that those responsible would be hunted down and punished.

After the 2000 bombing of the USS Cole, which killed 17 and injured 39 U.S. sailors, Clinton promised that those responsible would be hunted down and punished.

Maybe if Clinton had kept his promise, an estimated 7,000 people would be Alive today.

An interesting question:

This question was raised on a Philly radio call-in show. Without casting stones, it is a legitimate question.

There are two men, both extremely wealthy. One develops relatively cheap software and gives hundreds of millions of dollars to charity. The other sponsors terrorism.

That being the case, why is it that the US government has spent more money chasing down Bill Gates over the past ten years than Osama bin Laden?

It is a strange turn of events. Hillary gets $8 Million for her forthcoming "memoirs". Bill gets about $12 Million for his "memoirs".

This from two people who have spent the past 8 years being unable to Recall Anything about past events!

Incredible!!

Well, if you hear dead nothing ever on the 440 machines and don't really intend to try your hand at working satellites anytime soon, then you may want to go with something in a 2m-only rig. The HTX-202 seems to be the standard for this, even though Rat Shack no longer carries it. Expect prices to start around $60 for the radio itself with one battery pack, and go up from there depending on included accessories.

If you want 440 capability, then go for a dual or triband rig. For a mobile rig, everybody seems to like the Kenwood TM-G707. I have one, and it's a darn good rig for general use, without the expensive bells and whistles, but with great performance. I don't have much in the way of opinions on dual band HT's since I picked up a great deal on a Kenwood TH-D7A and haven't really paid much attention to the others.
The D7A tends to cost more than most beginners want to pay, since it has the built in TNC and some other functionality a lot of us may never use. (There's about five or six features I still haven't used...yet)

I don't see any 6m repeaters very close to Newark, but that doesn't mean there won't be any FM simplex activity there. If you see a good deal on a tribander that includes 6m, it could be worthwhile.

For 2m, looks like your closest will be the 145.37 and 146.88MHz, with possibly 146.835MHz as well. 223.94MHz may show a little activity, but the only way I know of to get a very good deal on a 220 rig is to get it as a 2m+220+440 triband. In the 440 band, you should be able to hear something on 442.05, 444.50, 444.65, and 443.925. Of course, you know more about your area than I do, and you probably already have an idea of the terrain effects on these bands near you, so try to get a current copy of the ARRL repeater directory, and see what other cities you can pick up, then decide who you want to talk back to :)

Lets see now....you claim that the attack on the WTC was in retailiation for what the USA did to THEM?
Ok, lets pursue that a bit. I see you are refering to the situation in Iraq, and don't forget we have troops (infidels) in sacred Saudi sands. Sure there may be a point here....but...Saudi Arabia wanted us there, and apparantly still do. So why didn't they get attacked?

As for IRAQ and the NO Fly Zone....that was part of the agreement to end the Gulf War conflict. Agreed to by Sadam, etc. So now he don't like it....well then he should let the coolition inspect for those nasty things he is making...also something he agreed to.

So, let us now... continue back in time.....what did we do to them that made them kill that old man in the wheel chair, and throw him overboard? That is my furthest back recollection. So if we did indeed 'start this' then take me ALL the way back to the FIRST attack on Americans by those bastards, and show me we asked for it.

Golly! "an ongoing personal dispute between Wiseman and another..."?

How could that be?!?!?!?!? Everyone who knows him claims he was a very quiet boy "who is oddly fond of lard".

GLENDALE, WV: The FCC requested July 11, 2000, that Roger L. Wiseman, KC8JBO, retake the General examination elements under the supervision of an ARRL-VEC volunteer examiner team. Wiseman must appear for retesting by September 11, 2000, or his license will be canceled. Applicants appearing for re-examination are granted an Amateur Radio license consistent with the elements passed. The FCC had written Wiseman on March 29, 2000, advising that it had been made aware of "an ongoing personal dispute" between Wiseman and another licensee that included allegations of interference or jamming on 20 meters. FCC Special Counsel for Amateur Radio Enforcement Riley Hollingsworth invited the two licensees to contact him to discuss the matter. Additionally, the FCC had sent Wiseman a Warning Notice last November in response to allegations of deliberate and malicious interference on 20 meters.

The coalition should have never have pull out of the inspections in Iraq. When Sadam threw them out he should have been forced to let the inspections continue or face the consequences of the bombing of Bagdad. We may very well suffer greatly because of this, I think there is no doubt that he now has biological weapons and is supplying them to the terrorists. We may well have to wipe Iraq off the map before all this is over. Bush Sr. should have take care of him the first time.

Howdy all.. Looking for some input. I think I've finalized my choice of HT between the above 3 radios.

My needs are:
800 RX (867.XXX and 856.xxx) extended UHF RX (485.XXX) RX Sensativity.
Extended TX a plus (151.625 for CALCORD)

So so far, the G71 and W32 have dual recieve, however the G71 won't alow seperate volume controls like the W32, which is no biggie.
However will any recieve up past 469? What mods are available?
222 is not a big issue.

Any help appreciated.

Thanks.

INTERNATIONAL: IARU MEETS - MORSE ON ITS WAY OUT

The International Amateur Radio Union meets to discuss the future of our worldwide hobby service including the Morse code. Jeramy Boot, G4NJH, reports from Nottingham in the U-K:

The Administrative Council of the International Amateur Radio Union met between the 6th and 8th of October in Guatemala City. The principal business was to continue preparations for WRC-2003, which has several items of importance to the amateur services on its agenda.

Items discussed he harmonization of amateur and broadcasting allocations near 7 MHz; adequacy of HF broadcasting allocations below 10 MHz; possible revision of Article S25 of the international Radio Regulations; changes to terms and definitions in Article S1 as a result of amendments to Article S25; review of provisions concerning the formation of amateur callsigns in Article S19; additional allocations for 'Little LEO' satellites; study of a possible allocation to the earth exploration-satellite service for synthetic aperture radar near 435 MHz; and possible identification of globally harmonized frequency bands for use by agencies and organizations dealing with public protection and disaster relief. The IARU objectives with regard to these agenda items were affirmed.

The IARU Council adopted a resolution urging member societies to seek, as an interim measure, Morse code testing speeds not exceeding five words per minute. The IARU Council, setting aside previous decisions, resolved that IARU policy is to support the removal of Morse code testing as an ITU requirement for an amateur license to operate on frequencies below 30 MHz.

Jeramy Boot, G4NJH.

The next scheduled meeting of the IARU Council will be in September of 2002, immediately prior to the Region 1 Conference in San Marino. (RSGB)

CW: HAMS REACT TO IARU DECISION ON MORSE

The IARU policy decision to support the removal of Morse code testing as an international requirement for an amateur license to operate on frequencies below 30 MHz is again sparking a hot debate. This, between those who favor retaining mandatory Morse testing and others who want to see an end to CW as a requirement to operate the high frequency bands. There is really nothing new in the arguments on either side. Amateur Radio Newsline’s David Black, KB4KCH, has more:

Morse code. Most hams love it or hate it.

CW, as it's also known, was developed for land based telegraphy in the early 1800's by Samuel F.B. Morse. Morse code and ham radio have gone hand in hand ever since. But now, CW as a requirement for a ham license may be going away.

The International Amateur Radio Union Administrative Council has taken the first steps. Less than two weeks ago, the group voted to set aside any previous decisions and support removing Morse code testing as an ITU requirement for hams to operate on frequencies below 30 MHz. In effect, that move seems to suggest there's little chance that the IARU will support keeping Morse testing as a requirement for getting a ham radio license.

Long time CW operator Jerry Womble, WA4QIN, of Steele, Alabama, says losing code as a license requirement would not be good for the amateur radio service.

Jerry Womble, WA4QIN: “If you remove code from the process of getting' a ham license I think you dilute the talents in the community, and I think it means a little less to the person who actually gets the license that he did not go through a process that most of us have gone through to obtain our license”
--

But that view is not universal.

--
Jim Baker, N4RVH: “It wouldn't bother me if they did remove it”
--

Birmingham resident Jim Baker, N4RVH, says ham radio would continue just fine without Morse code as a license requirement.

--
Jim Baker, N4RVH: “Radio is gonna to continue and its gonna progress beyond that. With what the technology is getting into now it is going to far surpass what the code started out to do and that's to communicate.”

--

These people are the middle grounders. They welcome an open exchange of viewpoints but they also know that they must accept the judgment of the service's political leaders and the world body of telecommunications regulators.

One side or the other will lose, but both sides will eventually have to live with whatever the final ITU decision on Morse code testing turns out to be.

From Birmingham Alabama, I'm David Black, KB4KCH, reporting for the Amateur Radio Newsline.

The bottom line. Regardless what’s decided at the next World Radiocommunications conference, not everyone in ham radio is going to be happy. (ARNewsline™)

CHANCE FOR A RARE CONTACT: GHANA COMING TO 6 METERS

Its considered one of the rarest of the rare countries on VHF, but now Ghana is coming to 6 meters. This with word that a group of DXers will be operating from the city of Elmina from Friday, October 26th through 1700 UTC on Sunday, November 4th.

Arliss Thompson, W7XU, Richard Hanson, K5A-D and Ed Gray, W0SD are the expedition leaders. Thompson says that the group plans on using the call sign 9G5SIX. And while they will have the capability of operation on 160 through 10 meters they will concentrate mainly on operating the 50 MHz band both C-W and SSB.

As to gear, Thompson says that the station dedicated to 6 meter operation includes a pair of Yaesu FT-100D transceivers, a 3CX800 amplifier and a 7 element yagi on a 27 foot boom. A Icom IC-706 transceiver and loop antenna will be dedicated to monitoring 28.885 MHz on 10 meters. This is the internationally recognized frequency used by 50 MHz operators to plan 6 meter D-X contacts.

And to let everyone know if the signal from Ghana is on the air, Thompson says that they will establish a beacon on 50.106 MHz. If you hear it, there is a better than even chance you can tune up the band and make contact directly with the D-X pedition itself.

As to the High Frequency bands, Thompson says they will use a Yaesu FT-746 with Acom kilowatt amplifier feeding wire, vertical and loop antennas for 160 through 10 meters. That station will be primarily manned by W0SD. QSL information will be released at a later date.

We will have more D-X related information at the end of this weeks Amateur Radio Newsline report. (VHF Reflector)

AMERICA FIGHTS BACK: A NEW EAS STRUCTURE

As reported last week, the Emergency Alert System or EAS was not activated before or during the terrorist attacks on the World Trade Center and the Pentagon. Instead, President Bush chose to use the commercial media as a way of informing the public. And shortly after the attacks the FCC suspended the need for regular tests of the EAS system for a short period of time, presumably so as not to cause panic in the general public that another attack was taking place.

Does this mean that the EAS need restructuring or modification? Richard Rudman, W6TIA, is the chairman of the Emergency Alert System National Advisory Committee. He says that its time to look at future technology and how it can be incorporated into the E-A-S system to better serve the American public.

Richard Rudman W6TIA: "Where I really hope we can take this is to look at something that my national advisory committee already is studying under the heading of Advanced Warning Systems. Amateur Radio operators are already familiar with them because we have been doing this for years. We have a lot of advanced warning systems."

"We need to look at the capabilities of technology are, what people are going to have for personal communications devices in the future and come up with some intelligent ways to allow people to program their devices so that they can get alerts to the hazards they want to be notified about, in some cases 24 hours a day, 7 days a week wherever they are."

From Rudman's comments it appears as if the concepts developed by ham radio operators along with overall advancements in personal communications technology could play a role in the future of the Emergency Alert System. Translated into everyday language, it means saving lives. (ARNewsline™)

AMERICA FIGHTS BACK: BAYGEN RADIOS DROPPED ON AFGHANISTAN

Radio has become an important tool in the United States military campaign in Afghanistan. In addition to its on tactical communications, the United States air dropping wind up radios to the Afghan public. Amateur Radio Newsline's Bruce Tennant, K6PZW has the details:

For more than two weeks the United States and its coalition allies have not only been dropping bombs and food ration packs into Afghanistan. They have also been air dropping a new secret weapon in their war on terrorism. The world famous Bay-Gen wind-up radio.

According to the British Broadcasting Company on-line service, Americans forces have reportedly also been air-dropping hundreds of the small Bay-Gen Freeplay wind-up radios into Afghanistan as the first step in what promises to be a battle for the hearts and minds of the Afghan people. The radios are thought to be specially designed fixed-frequency models that will automatically tune to information broadcasts issued by the United States military.

The BBC says that Washington is relying on the work of its renowned Commando Solo broadcasting unit to reach Afghans over the airwaves. The six EC-130 planes that make up the Air National Guard's Commando Solo fleet serve as flying radio stations. The unit has a record of operating in U-S conflicts such as those in Panama, Bosnia and Haiti. And in addition to the efforts by the U-S military to air-drop radios, relief agencies are also working to supply commercial wind-up models to refugees, many of whom have fled their homes because of severe food shortages in Afghanistan.

The BBC on-line article says that the wind-up radios will be used to publicize food drops and the message that "the people of Afghanistan are not the enemy." The article also quotes journalist Nick Grace, of the website Clandestineradio.com who believes the Commando Solo unit is also involved in jamming the Taleban-run station Voice of Shari'ah. (BBC)

HAM RADIO AND THE WAR: TERRORIST ATTACKS CAUSE 2 METER BEACON DELAY

The terrorist attacks in New York City and the Pentagon caused a new ham radio beacon to be delayed. This, according to Tim Marek, K7XC, who was getting ready to put one on 144.288 MHz from Northern Nevada when the attacks on the East coast occurred.

Marek is a Radar Tech on the Naval Electronic Warfare Range in Nevada and he says service to the nation came first. In a posting to the VHF Reflector, Marek says the Navy compressed a four week pilot training event into two weeks. As a result he wound up working 18 straight days of 12 hour or longer shifts helping to train US pilots for their missions.

This task completed, Marek, has finished assembling the new beacon and has K7XC slash B running 10 watts into a Ringo Ranger from his home in grid DMZ09. He hopes to find a mountaintop location and a horizontal antenna for it in the near future. A 432 MHz beacon at the same location is in the works as well. (VHF Reflector)

HAM RADIO AND THE WAR: HEALTH CONCERNS CAUSE CQ TO ASK CONTESTERS TO E-MAIL LOGS

This is Rich Moseson, W2VU, Editor of CQ magazine, with a message for anyone planning to participate in next weekend's CQ World Wide DX Contest, or any other CQ-sponsored contest.

Because of security concerns, we are asking everyone who submits a log for our contests to do so by e-mail. The rules for each contest give you the appropriate e-mail address. Logs received through the mail at the CQ offices will be held unopened until all potential health risks have been evaluated. We cannot guarantee that these logs will ever be opened.

We know this will inconvenience a small number of participants in our contests and we regret the need to make this request. But our logs come from all over the world, and even from Trenton, New Jersey. And while the risk that amateurs might be involved in any sort of terrorist activity is very small, mail en route may be subject to tampering. We cannot ask our staff members or contest committee volunteers to possibly expose themselves to dangerous packages sent through the mail when there is an alternative.

We've already received several e-mail messages critical of this request, suggesting that we are giving in to terrorists. We don't see it that way. We are not canceling the contest. But we are taking reasonable precautions to protect our staff from what is, based on this week's news, a very real and fast-growing threat. (CQ Magazine, W2VU)

ENFORCEMENT: PART 15 VS HAM RADIO

Interference to a Washington state two meter repeater has been traced to a legal albeit faulty Part 15 device. The Portland, Oregon FCC office recently investigated interference to the Clark County Amateur Radio Club repeater in Vancouver operating on 147.84 MHz. The interference was traced to a Gemini model V C 2000 Part 15 video transmitter located about one mile away. The owner was contacted and voluntarily removed the device from service. Interference gone. Case closed. (Portland SBE Bulletin)

EMERGING TECHNOLOGY: SATELLITE RADIO VS. RF LIGHTING

A major battle has developed between the deliverers of satellite radio and a company that will soon manufacture R-F lighting. This, as XM Satellite Radio and Sirius Satellite Radio ask the FCC to reduce the level of allowed emissions from a particular new model of outdoor light bulb to reduce potential interference to satellite delivered radio signals.

The trade publication Radio World reports that Sirius and XM have specifically asked the FCC to require that Fusion Lighting lower the bulbs radio frequency emission levels y 99.9% of current levels. According to Radio World, Fusion's R-F lamps are designed to operate in an unlicensed portion of the microwave spectrum. Unfortunately, the lamps hold the possibility of interfere with S-band communications channels used by satellite services.

But Fusion says that granting the request would be undue overegulation and effectively put the company out of business. They say that the microwave powered lamps are still in development and at least a year from commercial sale.

Reportedly, the FCC has already spent several months trying to resolve the dispute. So far, no resolution. (Radio World)

EMERGING TECHNOLOGY: PAY TO LISTEN TO OLD ART BELL RADIO SHOWS

If you are a fan of Art Bell, W6OBB's, "Coast to Coast A-M" radio program and you miss tuning in one night, its going to cost you money to hear a repeat of the show on the world wide web. This, after Premiere Radio Networks announces that as of Monday October 15th there will be a fee to access old shows.

According to the Premiere announcement the longtime free audio streaming has disappeared and has been replaced with a new $6.95 a month subscription service called Art Bell's StreamLink. With StreamLink you can listen anytime you like to any Art Bell Show from the last 30 days.

Not everyone is happy with the decision to charge including Bell. According to a posting to his website, it was not his decision to change the free Internet access. Rather it was a decision made by Premiere based on cost.

Bell says that there are now millions of people on the Internet and bandwidth costs money. About $1.5 million per year for all the Premiere shows. He says that Premiere hopes to break even.

W6OBB says that he has been receiving many angry e-mails and that he understands the anger at having to pay for what was free. But he also understands the company cannot continue to cover the ever growing cost.

Bell adds there is at least one bright spot. Says W6OBB, "it is still free on the Radio."

More information is on the web at www.artbell.com. (Art Bell Website)

Several hundred thousand Scouts and Scout Leaders and others are expected to be on around the world for this annual event.

Listen for scouts on 3.740 and 3.940 on 75 meters, 7.270 on 40, 14.290 on 20, 21.360 on 15, 28.390 MHz on 10 plus the WARC bands.

And as a special added attraction, International Space Station Commander Frank Culbertson, KD5OPQ has said that he will try to make some general QSO's for the scouting Jamboree. He will operate on the usual ham radio space to ground frequencies. Because of Culbertson's limited time on the air, non-scouting stations are being asked to give preference to scouts trying for a contact with KD5OPQ on board the ISS. (Q-News, SAREX Remailer, K6DUE, KC6ROL)

OUR HERITAGE: RADIO PIONEER DONALD HINGS

Tom Farley, KD6NSP writing in the CGC Communicator notes that he is always trying to publicize radio pioneers that have not been written about. One of these is Donald Hings whom Farley describes as a Canadian wireless inventor who came up with an early form of the walkie talkie and played a big role in the Canadian and British war effort.

Unrecognized compared to people like the late Al Gross, Hings was recently presented with the Order of Canada by her Excellency, the Right Honorable Adrienne Clarkson, the Governor General of British Columbia.

His granddaughter has built a nice web site to honor his radio accomplishments. Its at http://sitka.triumf.ca/morgan/dlhings. (CGC Communicator)

OUR HERITAGE: THE SOUTHERN APPALACHIAN RADIO MUSEUM

According to an Internet posting by John Travis, W4QCF, if you like old radios, there is a new museum just for you. Called the Southern Appalachian Radio Museum, its located in Ashville North Carolina and is described as a dream come true for many years for members of the Quarter Century Wireless Association Smoky Mountain Chapter 145. The sponsoring group also recently received the club call W4AFM, which once belonged to Bill Hayes who was licensed in 1926. You can get a glimpse at what's there by visiting the museum website at www.saradiomuseum.org. The real world museum is open every Wednesday evening and John Travis says that you are invited to come and see it. (W4QCF)

The Radio Club of America has announced its list of names to be inducted as Fellows in the organization. Among them is one well known to anyone who remembers the very early days of our news reporting operation.

One of the 20 inductees for the year 2001 is Radio Design Group president James R. Hendershot. Ham radio oprerators better know him as Jim Hendershot WA6VQP, the founder of the Westlink Radio Network. Westlink Radio was the original name of the Amateur Radio Newsline when we first went on the air way back in 1977. (ARNewsline™)

INTERNATIONAL - IRELAND: NEW TELEPHONE TECHNOLOGY COULD CAUSE RFI

New high speed telephone technology in Ireland has been announced by their regulatory agency Eircom. The new system will provide Internet access using ADSL brand named 'I stream' using existing phone lines with subcarriers in the range 100 kHz to 1.1 MHz. This will allow faster speed downloading from the Internet and allow for existing voice calls to be carried on the same phone lines in the range 0 to 4 kHz.

But there is a downside. A large number of reports from United Kingdom trials show that radio receivers placed near the phone lines will have strong interference in the Long Wave and Medium Wave bands. There also may be interference in the High Frequency bands. And the system may be susceptible to interference from High Frequency transmitters as well. More details are available at www.eircom.ie. THAT FINAL ITEM: WHO REALLY WAS SAMUEL FB MORSE

And finally, we started this weeks newscast with reference to the Morse Code. There is no need to tell anyone that the Morse code is synonymous with ham radio. For almost a hundred years the “code” has been such an integral part of the Amateur Radio service that for some in the hobby its a way of life. To others it was a dreaded obstacle to upgrading to a higher license class until restructuring capped the test speed at 5 words per minute. Yet without the code there might never have been ham radio because its use preceded voice transmission by many years. Even so, there are probably very few in the hobby who know much about the man behind the dots and dashes. But as Amateur Radio Newsline’s Henry Feinberg K2SSQ tells us, the code is only a small part of the story of the man:

Samuel Finley Breese Morse was not a ham radio operator. In fact, radio was more than a century away when he was born on April 27, 1791, in Charlestown, Massachusetts.

His childhood is described as almost mundane. He was the son of Jedidiah Morse, a church pastor who was as well known for his abilities in geography. A close family friend was Noah Webster who was equally known for his dictionaries.

Morse attended college at Yale where he is described as having been an indifferent student. But his interest was aroused by lectures of the then newly-developing subject of electricity. After college, to the his parents dismay, Morse directed his enthusiasm to painting which he studied in England. After settling in New York City in 1825, he became one of the most respected painters of his time.

In 1832, while returning by ship from another period of art study in Europe, Morse heard a conversation about the newly discovered electromagnet and conceived of the idea of an electric telegraph. By 1835 he probably had his first working model in the New York University building where he taught art. Being poor, Morse used such crude materials as an old artist's canvas stretcher to hold it, a home-made battery and an old clock-work to move the paper on which dots and dashes were to be recorded.

In 1837 Morse acquired two partners to help him develop his telegraph. One was Leonard Gale, a quiet professor of science at New York University and Alfred Vail, a young man who made available both his mechanical skills and his family's New Jersey iron works to help construct better telegraph models. With the aid of his new partners, Morse applied for a patent for his new telegraph in 1837, which he described as including a dot and dash code to represent numbers, a dictionary to turn the numbers into words and a set of sawtooth type for sending signals.

By 1838, at an exhibition of his telegraph in New York, Morse transmitted ten words per minute. He had dispensed with his number-word dictionary, using instead the dot-dash code directly for letters. Though changes in detail were to be made later, the Morse code that was to become standard throughout the world had essentially come into being.

During the next few years Morse exhibited his telegraph before savants, businessmen and committees of Congress, hoping to find the funds to give his telegraph a large-scale test. He met considerable skepticism that any message could really be sent from city to city over wire. On his own, in 1843, without significant help from his discouraged partners, Morse finally secured funds from Congress to construct the first telegraph line in the U. S. from Baltimore to Washington D.C. Morse directed the wires to be mounted on poles and by May 1844, the first inter-city electromagnetic telegraph line in the world was ready. Then, from the Capitol building in Washington, Morse sent a Biblical quotation as the first formal message on the line to Baltimore These were four words that changed the world of telecommunications forever. The four simple words: "What Hath God Wrought!" And trhe rest -- as they say -- is history.

For the Amateur Radio Newsline, I’m Henry Feinberg, K2SSQ.

By the way, some of the information in this story came from the Locust Grove Samuel Morse historical site at www.morsehistoricsite.org. If you want to learn more about the man and his contributions to society, we say its well worth a visit. Its one of the best. (Various Morse related websites)

I'm still in need of some info for the following duplexer...

Motorola MLF6000A

This duplexer is in a Motorola C35MSY-1001B system. I found info on a MLF1000A and a TLF6000A ..... but nothing on a MLF6000A duplexer. I need to know if this duplexer can be used in the 33cm amateur band and what the loss is and the max power handling capability.

Do you really realize just what a fool you're making of yourself when you make these posts? No, I don't think that you do. It is really quite embarrassing to watch the display you've been putting on for weeks. I've tried to stay away from all of this because it is indeed beneath me, but decorum sometimes requires the genteel man to speak up to the unwashed Cretin who is making a fool of himself.

So: Unwashed Cretin, stop making an ass of yourself. The only way to accomplish that goal is to shut up completely. Unfortunately, you don't have that kind of self control.

And you are indeed an ass.

I'm looking for clean, non corrupt code plug (archive file) for a Motorola JT1000 450-512mhz. I am a licensed owner of the RSS, so nothing illegal is going on here. I just need a clean codeplug for my radio. H01SDH9PA3AN is the model number for the radio.
Thanks,
Steve

Yawn. Yawn. Roger did again what he does best. Plagiarising. Plagiarising. Plagiarising. As usual, nothing original from the pustule-brained copy-cat. And how are YOUR mentally challenged kids, Wog? Does Child Protective Services still have custody of them? It must be vacation-like for your little products of coitus to have three meals a day and real beds upon which to sleep.

Scheissman only has so many neurons, the rest having been long ago digested by the E. coli that live in his cavernous skull. S/h/it has only enough brain capacity for the same three (f)lames over and over, except of course when s/h/it is plagiarizing.

OK....I HAVE to ask. What is a "Palistainian"? Wog...splain that, willya?
Calm down, Wog. When you get angwy you type so fast that you forget to use your spew check. Wipe the spittle fwom yer chin and twy again. Then you can spew and spew and spew for all of your "acquantances". Yer "Palistainian" buddys would like that.

Want to hear some Steve Anderson "6.900 UPR" emulators on the high frequency ham radio bands?
Listen in to the Eastern United Patriots Network on 3.860 mHz at 8:00 PM on Monday Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday nights. Ham radio Lower Sideband 3.860 mHz. Three people on there stand out as quite unbalanced in the head. True candidates for the mental health unit.
One guy in Pa in particul;ar sounds just like he needs Prozac saying all kinds of nasty things about law enforcement and the "gubumint" and other such stuff.
Hopefully the FCC and the FBI are monitoring this group like they did Anderson's looney broadcsats too.

Why do you need 6 to 7 kilowatts on CB?

Don't you care about interference to your fellow CBers who share the band with you?

Reward offered in fugitive case
Ex-militia member wanted by State Police on a variety of counts
By Bill Estep
Lexington Ky Herald News 10/27/01

Federal authorities set up a $5,000 reward yesterday to try to catch ex-militia member Steve H. Anderson, who has been on the run since shooting at police in Bell County Sunday evening.
Carl Vasilko, resident agent in charge of the U.S. Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms office in Lexington, said the reward is for information leading to Anderson's arrest.

``In this particular case, we think there is a threat to the community, and to the law-enforcement community, so we're offering the reward to help facilitate the capture of Mr. Anderson,'' Vasilko said yesterday.

Anderson, 54, allegedly shot at police near Middlesboro after a sheriff's deputy stopped him for having no working tail lights on his pickup truck. No officers were hit, but police say Anderson did extensive damage to a police cruiser with an assault rifle, then fled into the hills. Police continued searching for him yesterday.

Police said they found pipe bombs in his truck. Based on that, ATF agents charged Anderson on Tuesday with one count of possession of an unregistered destructive device, Vasilko said.
Anderson also has been charged with attempted murder in Bell County. Federal, state and local authorities found explosives and weapons during a search of Anderson's home in rural Pulaski County.

Vasilko declined to confirm what police found in the search, but said it is possible there will be more charges against Anderson.
At the request of the federal government, U.S. Magistrate Judge J.B. Johnson Jr. has sealed the documents related to the search of Anderson's home, including an inventory of what agents found there.

Until this week's fireworks, Anderson was best known as host of a far-right radio program broadcast over short-wave radio from his house. He promoted anti-government, racist and anti-Semitic views, and often espoused violence, according to groups that monitored the show.
Earlier this year, the Kentucky State Militia kicked him out because of his extremist views.

There has been a war of words in cyberspace this week over Anderson's case, with some people on a Web site catering to militia members supporting him and others castigating him, according to information supplied by Mark Pitcavage of the Anti-Defamation League. ``If any `patriot' turns their back on Steve now ... shame on them,'' one supporter, ``California Republic,'' said in a posting.

Police said Anderson may have outdoor survival gear with him, but James Latham of Radio for Peace International, which monitors extremist broadcasts, said it is possible Anderson has holed up with a supporter somewhere. Extremist groups tend to have an ``effective underground'' to hide and help members, he said.

One Web message posted this week makes clear, however, that Anderson would not be welcome at the homes of some militia members. ``Steve Anderson is not, and has never been, a true patriot,'' the message said. ``He is yet another of the scumbags who have hijacked the militia/patriot movement to promote his own agenda. ... If you've followed Steve's posts over the years, on this and other boards, it's fairly plain to see that his paranoid fantasies finally got the better of him.''

You're fighting a losing battle, DP. When I had a CB years ago, it was one of the best sounding stations in the area. I could hear, and easily talk to, stations most could not. I received endless praise about the sound quality (thanks to a good, clean, microphone). And the station was totally legal (which seemed to surprise everybody).

Regardless of my endless lectures about the quality of the antenna and it's installation (height, location, grounding, etc), almost everyone in the area went with linears instead (and D-104 mics with echo, with radio modulation cranked to the max). Of course, these people could easily be heard, but half could not be understood and the other half could not operate most of the time because of complaints from neighbors. And still few of them could hear (receive) the distant stations in nearby counties I routinely talked to.

In other words, you could draw these people a blueprint of the perfect CB station, and they would still not get it. The lure of the bad boy image surrounding illegal linears is simply too much for many CB'ers to resist. The same with the need to fit in with the crowd (be like everyone else). For most people, both of these will outweigh "the right way" every single time.

Roger told me not to tell you this, but did you know that he is a pretty good dancer? That's right, he is. I knew he was going to be dancing when he left the office this evening....he had on those pretty little red velvet shoes that he likes so.
He may not be back until the early morning hours. I say this because he took a change of clothes with him in his "in case" bag in which he keeps a spare pair of silk panties and grape flavored condoms. He also took an empty hip flask with him and that usually means that he will be bringing home some carry-out DNA donations for those morning-after blues.
Roger will return your calls as soon as possible.
Thank you for your patience in this matter.

Doubtful

We run better or equal antennas as you do.

So, yes, power IS the deciding factor, when running a stacked set of mono-band 7 element antennas.

Power IS the deciding factor.

You may want to contact one of the Hams that stalks this newsgroup. His XYL is a Novice and allegedly stars in a movie produced and directed by a guy who calls himself Wrong Way.
I have yet to see the movie but I am told that she grunts out CQ in three different octaves at speeds ranging from five wpm at the start of the movie and builds her speed to 33 wpm at the climax.
I don't know the name of the movie but some of the guys here may be able to shed some more light on it. I think the movie may have been made in Georgia a few years ago and I saw a post that said the movie was being shown in the Atlanta area.
Good luck with your search.

No, operator skill and experience, a well designed antenna setup, quality radio equipment, and the ability to use that well, are the deciding factors. Sadly, most CB'ers have none of those, so they resort to power to help conceal their own limitations.

Dwight is correct. Good antennas and clean radios speak legions....the old CB mentality of "might is right" is absurd.
Remember that the next time your neighbors complain that your CB station causes RFI.

Typically the outlaw CBers who "compete" to see who can output the most outrageous number of watts create a powerplant by loading up the engine compartment of a 1980's vintage Chevy Suburban with alternators. The "32 pill" refers to 32 RF power transistors lashed together Jethro Bodine-style in order to produce upwards of several thousand watts of overmodulated, unfiltered RF which results in a broad, spectrally dirty signal that freely propagates harmonics across many frequency bands. The truck itself is likely festooned with antennas sporting 1/4" copper coils, more for show than resonant, and often features some inane slogan (e.g. "World Wide SkullCrusher") decaled across its side windows.

You make fun of Scheissman...lest you not forget...his last electroshock treatment resulted in the loosening of his already weakened bowels...he splattered his detritus about the walls and floor of his room and actually had the audacity to blame the spattered walls upon his detractors.
Roger splatters shit...therefore he is.....trouble is that nobody can quite determine from which end he shits/speaks. His diatribes are pure filth...obviously the effort of a syphilitic mind to express itself.
Physicians concur that high temperatures can adversely affect the thought processes of the brain...and since Roger's brain has spent months firmly embedded in his rectum one can easily reach the conclusion that Roger has suffered irreversible brain damage....
His blithering posts are indicative of a man with no brain function...

Does that come in a mag-mount model?

I don't think so, toll. You, like many of the other misguided souls in this newsgroup, have misconstrued the meaning of the word "communication".
It's not about 'power'; it's about control, cooperation, and courtesy.
With nothing more than a stock CB, I can communicate with anyone anywhere on the planet. I can also win a keydown against the biggest amp you can find. It's easy. All you have to do is know how to communicate.

BTW, in reference to your recent comments regarding grammer, I can send you the same book I offered to give to twist -- it will define for you the 'preposition', and it will explain how it's something you shouldn't end a sentence with. (pun intended) the E-Bay search field to get ham radio related items only?

Nate,

Before entering your search criteria you should select the category (or categories).
You would select:
Consumer Electronics
then within Consumer Electronics select Radio Equipment, then within Consumer Electronics , Radio Equipment, select Ham Radio; once those selections are made (and stored in your favorites) make sure that the box is checked for search only....
* then enter your search criteria.
One thing to consider is that the person posting must have selected all the same category information you are using.

Do yourself a favor, stay away from the Yaesu 8000-R or 8100-R. Both have such thin circuit boards that the solder connections can not stand heat and cooling. I have two and they have been back for service more times than I can count.

Probably a bit too British for most Merrycans, but there is always Tony Hancock in 'The Radio Ham'. Not really a movie... one of a BBC TV half-hour comedy series from the 60s. Considered 'a classic' over here, along with 'The Blood Doner'. Of course, in reality there are no radio amateurs as ludicrous and incompetent as the character portrayed by Hancock.... well, maybe a just few...

3686. Need auto digital switch

I thought maybe a ham could help me with this:

I need help either designing or finding an IC that will do some automatic data switching (muxing) for me.

I have several instruments which transmit continuous data streams to a serial port (RS232). It's easy enough to plug them into my computer and via Quickbasic, open the port, input a line, parse it and use the information. No initialization is needed to be sent to the instruments to start the data streams.

My problem is that I can only hook one unit to my computer at a time. I only have one 9 pin serial port on my portable with no options other than very expensive PCMCIA cards to add more. I could use a mechanical switch to change inputs manually, but that isn't really a good solution.

What I need is an electronic switch which when the inputs are hooked to my equipment and the output to my computer, will cycle through the data inputs and switch them sequentially to the output (the computer 232 port). Luckily, all instumentation I have using serial data, needs only 1 wire plus the ground to communicate since it's all one way. So there's only need to do one contact switching. I need the switching rate to be on the order of between 1 and 3 seconds per channel, because each device sends data streams at a rate of about one per second. (all data has headers so identifying the info to parse is not a problem)

The switch must be potable so it's able to go in the field with me to do some data logging.

I actually have found a chip to do this or a similar job. It's called a cco1047BC3, but it's a proprietory chip by Vaisala used on their radiosondes and they are unwilling to give out any info, even a pinout. (I have a handful of these). These might not be the best anyway since they switch at about 2 channels per second, but the idea is there all contained in one chip, complete with oscillator to do the timing/switching. It's US patent 4295090 and 4295091 in case anyone wants to look it up on the web.

Certainly with all the digital ICs that exist one must do the job I need,,,,,,maybe using a 555 or something to do the timing.. Can anyone help me with this project.

Thanks

Are you looking for a way to show support for the country's war against terrorism, or support for those directly affected by the September 11 attack? Do you have space on a tower, mast, or other antenna support? If so, think about this.

Towers and other support devices can make great places to hang an American flag. And, they can be lighted with a simple floodlight so they can be visible at night.

I have done just that myself. I have a flag at about 45 feet, illuminated at night. You can see what mine looks like on my website at:
http://www.qsl.net/w0osk

I hope others will consider doing this as a way to show support for the effort.

If you missed last evening's "Great Liberty Net" Pre-Game show, you missed a good one. Not only did the Kooky Jammer from Indiana show up, but also to did the Bulbuss Lardassed Bowelmovement too! The were all to happy to "share" 3.950 at net time with the LN, but apparently nobody bit on the bait, untill BUB and KE showed up on 3.950 to give Dave and Sidney an RF-ass whoopin! Then you should have heard the proverbial shi+ hit the electric fan! Music playing, dirty foul language, noisemakers, train whistles (now I know why they sell these things at hamfests...) and everything else in between. All this time there was much rejoicing and "situation reports" and hootin and hollerin going on at frequency-X down on 3.-60 (hmmm....)
Does this mean that the good ole days of the 3.950 wars are back upon us? Will Commrade Dayveed again try to recruit from the dormant legions of screwballs up on 14.313 who are chompin-at-the-bit for some old time days of "radio fun"? Will 9ART make an appearance on 3.950 next week? (as was alleged would be doing next week someplace) Will BLB live long enough to see next week? (400 pounds, tied to an O2 bottle 24hrs a day from 40+ years of smokin Marlboros don't help) Will Dave start his 3-hour long spanish language lessons and one way ghost talkin transmissions again? Will Vic's systaloic and diastolic readings set a new record? (Even old Harrisson from Sarasota checked in last night after a loooong abcence! He made up for it with his usual 15 minute long monologues and old Reed Irvine "accuracy in media" tape recordings from the 90's - Oy kabrash!)

Tune in next week folks! same Kook-Time - same Kook Channel(s)
The best SWL show on Ham Radio SSB fer shure

There exist very colorful, but poisonous birds, which can be quite dangerous to handle. For example, the hooded pitohui has poisonous feathers which will leave toxins on your hands when you handle it. If ingested, even small amounts will cause your mouth to burn and then go numb for several hours. Native to New Guinea, some varietes of pitohui have been captured and sold as exotic pets. Most are poisonous, and would not be something you would want to take home. See for example, Science News, Oct 21, 2000, p 263.

So yes. Birds can be dangerous.

Especially since they like little worms like the kids Stu has down by his crotch.

As an alternative, you can probably have your local Motorola delaer program the unit for you for a reasonable fee.

I would say it will be an "unreasonable fee" judging by the Motorola dealers I have competed with over the years. Typically $75 per radio, even in large numbers. My shop made good money programming Motorola radios because they charged so much.

Funny, isn't it, how you didn't provide a link to the original message.
Geez, I wonder why. Could it be because the link would show you up for the liar that you are?

Naaaaah. Here, let me help you out. The original message is at:

Denying what's in that link won't avail you, Scheissman.

[crap flushed]

Once more, Scheissman, I flame you into next week with the truth and you

IMPORTANT NOTICE BY EDITOR: Last weekend BARF-80 BBS (Home of the OPDX) began to show signs of problems and right after sending out OPDX.533, the system failed. Currently, the system is totally down, but I was able to retrieve most of my E-mail up through last Thursday (which was a real chore) for this week's bulletin. Due to the major technical problems on BARF-80, I am unable to send the following bulletin direct to the OPDX Mail List Server on "NSHORE.ORG" and the three DX Reflectors. Thanks to the Sysop on "NSHORE.ORG", the following bulletin was entered into the mail list for me. However, it does not look good for next week's bulletin, unless I am able to retrieve my E-mails from "NSHORE.ORG" (which is currently being held) while BARF-80 is being "totally reconfigured to LINUX". Please continue to send your DX info/announcements, and be patient during the next few weeks as this transition takes place. A special thanks goes out to the Sysops of "NSHORE" and "HAMNET" for their help in getting BARF-80 back on-line..... 73 and GUD DX de Tedd KB8NW

* PLEASE NOTE: The report "could" contain "Pirate/SLIM" operations. As always, you never know - "Work First Worry Later" (WFWL).

8Q, MALDIVES. Mark Haynes, M0DXR, informs OPDX that he has recently established a group of DXers which consists of members of the younger generation. The group is named the "Crystal Clear DX Group". They plan to undertake a DXpedition to the Maldives in August 2002. The team will consist of five to six operators with 3 stations on air for as much time as propagation will allow. The group has 3 main objectives:
1) To promote DXpedition and HF DXing for the younger generation and encourage similar future operations.
2) To show that a group of youngsters are capable of setting up and running a DXpedition to the point where it is recognized for its quality.
3) To concentrate on those stations who need 8Q7 as a new country on various band/mode slots. They plan to make at least 30,000 QSOs!
The team includes Tony/EA2AIJ, Simon/M0CLW, Fabian/ DJ1YFK, Mark/M0DXR, and one more youngster from the UK. Activity will be on all bands including the WARC bands. However, since most of the members on the team are still full time students in education, they are currently looking for assistance, contributions to help with their finances and sponsoring. If you can help, please contact Mark at: m0dxr@qsl.net ADDED NOTE: Mark Haynes, M0DXR, was a team member of the Comoros Dxpedition D68C that took place earlier this year. He also won the RSGB Young Amateur of the Year award 1999/2000, and is the training secretary at his local club, Harlow, near London.

CO2, CUBA. Pepin, CO2TK, reports that he will be active in the CQWW SSB Contest as a Single Op/Low Power/Single Band (10 meters) entry. QSL via F6FNU.

CORRECTION. Last week in OPDX.533 we listed the prefix "V6" for Ducie Island, it should have been "VP6". (ed. Not sure what happened, maybe the "P" key was not pressed all the way down.)

E3, ERITREA. E30NA is now active. Activity began on October 19th and with QSN reports on 20/17/15/12/10/6 meters over the past week. However, activity is expected on 160-6 meters on the usual DX frequencies. The team of operators are: Chris/DL5NAM, Wolf/OE2VEL, Falk/DK7YY and Marcus/DJ7EO. They should be active until November 3rd. The team's QTH is approx. 10 miles SE of Asmara, the capital city of Eritrea (Grid Locator: KK95GB). It was mentioned this past week that there will be NO operations from any of the E30 islands at all! All IOTA activities had to be cancelled due to the political situation and power problems. More details are available on the E30NA Web site at: http://www.qsl.net/e30na

FG, GUADELOUPE. Edin, T97M, will be active as FG/T97M from October 22-30th. Activity will be on all bands, SSB, CW and RTTY. QSL via K2PF: Ralph G. Fariello, 23 Old Village Rd, Hillsborough, NJ 08844-4008, USA. Also, Edwin will join Danny, T93M, to be active in the CQWW DX Contest as a Multi/Single sign FG5BG.

HS/E2, THAILAND (CQWW SSB Activity). Champ, E21EIC, informed OPDX that the HS0AC HQ station of RAST cannot be active in CQWW SSB Contest because the HS0AC shack will move out to a new area and currently has no electrical power. So, Champ states that he, E20RRW and HS0XNO will be active in the CQWW Contest from his home as E21EIC as a Multi/Single class. His team will use a Kenwood TS-940s w/100w and a 8 element 4 band Yagi and dipoles. QSL via E21EIC (Direct or Bureau). Champ also mentioned to look for the following Thai hams to be active in the contest:
HS5AYO SOAB LP QSL via CBA
HS1CKC SOAB HP QSL via CBA
HS4BPQ SOSB 15m. LP QSL via E21EIC
HS9EQY SOAB LP QSL via E21EIC
E20HHK SOSB 20m. LP QSL via E21EIC

IOTA NEWS.....
AS-079. Take, JI3DST, will be active from Miyako Island (Miyako-jima Hirara City, Okinawa-ken) from December 29th (0700z) through January 5th (0000z). He will sign JI3DST/6. His activity will be on 40/17/15/12/10/6 meters SSB. QSL via the Bureau (Bureau is BEST) or direct to JI3DST:
Takeshi Funaki, 2-18-26 Hannan-cho Abeno-ku Osaka-city, Osaka 545-0021, Japan.

EU-130. Paolo, IV3UHL, informs OPDX that he will take part in the CQWW DX SSB Contest from Gorghi Island. For those interested in IIA, the reference number is UD-08. His callsign will be IV3UHL/P, and he will be operating as a Single Band (20m) entry. The island is uninhabitated (exeption: birds, mice, small snakes, mosquitos etc.). His station will be powered by a gasoline generator. The rig will be IC-775 and the antenna is a vertical loop.

JT, MONGOLIA. Ken, K4ZW, reports that he is in the process of rescheduling his trip to JT-land. Travel will commence before the end of the year. The dates will be announced at a later time. The good news is that conditions to those areas that are in need of Zone 23 will be better than if they had gone last month. Ken states, "Just need to make sure I pack a few extra pair of long underwear!"

KC6, ANTARCTICA. Chris Post, N3SIG, Firefighter/EMT in the United States Antarctic Program at the McMurdo Station on Ross Island in Antarctica (IOTA AN-011), is now active as KC4/N3SIG until March 2002. He informs OPDX that he will be active (usually) every other day starting around 2000-2100 Eastern U.S. time. He will also be active for the CQWW SSB

Contest at the end of this month. His main modes of operation are SSB on 20/18/15 meters. Look for him on 14243 kHz to start. Chris also informed OPDX that special QSOs can be arranged by sending an E-mail to the following address: n3sig@arrl.net
All QSL cards go to AI3D, please include a SASE.

LIGHTHOUSE NEWS.....
Jim, K2JXW, Founder and President of the Amateur Radio Lighthouse Society (ARLHS), announced the ARLHS second annual "ARLHS Lighthouse Christmas Lights QSO Party" will take place December 22-23rd. See the fellowing Web site for guidelines and prizes:
http://www.waterw.com/%7eweidner/arlhs/xmas-guide.htm
Or visit pages 2 and 3 of the society's web site at: http://www.arlhs.com

ARLHS members Anita/N5AOK and H. O./WA5MLT will activate Boliver Point Light, Texas, during the Amateur Radio Lighthouse Society's second annual Lighthouse Christmas Lights event 2001. The event period will start 0001z Saturday, December 22 and will continue through 2359z Sunday, December 23rd. Listen for the special event callsign N5L. Activity during the daytime will be on 20/15/10 meters and during nighttime on 40 meters. QSL direct with SASE to N5AOK.

LT1, ARGENTINA. The team of LU1FAM, LU1FD, LU1FGE, LU1FGZ, LU1FKR, LU2FT, LU3FP, LU3FQG, LU3FZW, LU5FA, LU5FHM and LU6FQD is glad to inform OPDX that the next Multi-Multi operation from LT1F "Bad Power" will be in the upcoming CQWW DX SSB Contest. QSL via LU1FKR.

LT5, ARGENTINA. Bob/LU2FA and Seba/LU4FPZ will be operating in the CQWW SSB Contest as LT5F and as a Multi Single entry. Pay special attention to 80 meters.

PJ4, NETHERLANDS ANTILLES. Peter, PA3CNX, will be active from November 5-30th, while on holidays from Bonaire (SA-006), and will be signing PJ4/PA3CNX. His equipment will consist of: Kenwood TS-2000 (160m-70 cm), Windom antenna for 80/40/20/10 meters (Tnx GB Antennas). His suggested frequencies are: on SSB - 3790, 7070, 14340, 28440 and on FM 29580 kHz. If 6 meters is open, he will call around 50110 kHz. QSL via the bureau PA3CNX (R08), or direct via the callbook address. For the latest information, check Peter's Web site at: http://home.wxs.nl/~cnx

QSL INFO AND NEWS.....
Bob, N4CD, reports that his 3W2DC activity from Ho Chi Minh City, Vietnam, between October 2-15th is now QRT. He made 5000 QSOs, mostly on CW. However, there was very high QRN at his operating location in downtown Ho Chi Minh City (Saigon). His license allowed him only to operate on 10/15/20 meters. QSL via N4CD, direct or via the Bureau. His address is: Bob Voss, 3133 Charring Cross, Plano, TX 75025, USA.

Will, K6NDV, is now back home after his 3D2CI/3D2CY operation and reports that with the help of Doug, N6RT, the Logs are now on-line at: http://dx.qsl.net/logs (Just follow the 3D2CI - 3D2CY - 3D2AD link).

Tom, G0PSE, reports that the log from the activity by GB0SM, which took place between October 6-13th, from St. Mary's, Isles of Scilly (IOTA EU-011), is now available on-line at: http://www.qsl.net/gb0sm
E-mail QSL requests for cards to be received via the Bureau can be sent to: tom@tctaylor.demon.co.uk -or- g0pse@qsl.net

Please note the QSL cards for GB0REL have now been dispatched. This station was active from Rathlin East Light during the International Lighthouse Weekend, 2001. Any station who worked GB0REL and has not received a QSL card should contact Jim, GI0PGC, whose address is correct in all current callbooks. His E-mail address is: jim.henry@btinternet.com

SPECIAL EVENT. Members of the REF89's and F5KCC's activated the special callsign TM5SIA during the 23th International Hamexpo in Auxerre on October 20-21st. They will continue to use the callsign until October 30th. Activity will be on all bands HF and VHF, CW/SSB/FM and maybe some RTTY. Locator is JN17. They request to please avoid double QSOs on same band. Some of them will enter the CQWWDX SSB Contest on the last weekend of October. All the contacts will be confirmed. QSL Manager is Pierre, F2WS.

T2, TUVALU. A group of JA operators will be active from here between November 1-8th and they are calling their operation "The Tuvalu membership of the United Nations commemorative DXpedition". Team TUVALU consists of:
Katsu JH7OHF/AH6G a member of K5K
Ted JJ1LIB/N1GO a member of 5T5U/S07U
Hiko JN1HOW/AH6PW a member of 5T5U/S07U
Mamo JQ1KNH/W6KNH a member of 5T5U/S07U
Their activity will be on 160-6 meters CW/SSB/RTTY. They will also have a 6 meter beacon on 50105/QSX 50130 kHz. The team will pay special attention on 160m for EU/East Coast and 6 meters for EU on long-path openings. They will have 3 stations active 24 hours day and use the special callsigns T2T (HF) and T2SIX (6m) to commemorate Tuvalu's entry into the United Nations. Pilot stations are: HF - 7K1WLE and JF6OJX; 6m - JA1RJU. Equipment will be: IC-756PRO+AMP, two TS-570G+AMP, FT-920+AMP, IC-706MK2 (for 6m beacon). Antennas are: a 4 element triband Yagi for 20/15/10 meters, a 4 element duoband Yagi for 17/12 meters, a 4 and 7 element Yagi for 6 meters and a 160-30m verticals/dipoles. QSL information is: HF via JN1HOW and 6m via JH7OHF, both direct only.
JN1HOW - Toshihiko Niwa: 1081-8 Sakae, Kitakawabe, 349-1213 JAPAN
For more info and a possible log search, go to the Web page: http://www1.famm.ne.jp/~ndxa/pedi/t2-2001/t2-2001.html

V2, ANTIGUA. Team Antigua will once again activate V26B on the Beautiful Island Nation of Antigua and Barbuda in the 2001 running of the CQWW SSB Contest on October 27th and 28th. Their plans are to enter the contest as a Multioperator/Multi-transmitter category (Grid Square is FK-97 and IOTA Number is NA-100). Members of Team Antigua will also make special attempts to be active on RTTY, PSK31, 160 meters and the WARC Bands a few days both before and after the contest. There is also a possibility of some 6 meter with conditions permitting! It is most likely the operators will make their presence felt on all bands starting on or about October 22th until about November 4th. The members of Team Antigua and their callsigns are:

V26A Dale, N3BNA - QSL via WB3DNA V26O Bob, N5NJ - QSL via N5NJ
V26AK Tony, N2TK - QSL via N2TK V26OC Brian, N3OC - QSL via N3OC
V26B Sam, WT3Q - QSL via WT3Q V26TZ Tom, ZP5AZL - QSL via W3HNK
V26E Darrel, AB2E - QSL via AB2E V26U Bill, W2UDT - QSL via W2UDT
V26EW Ed, N2ED - QSL via N2ED V26YR John, W2YR - QSL via W2YR
There will be a few new members who will announce their QSL routes once their Antigian callsigns become finalized. TWO ADDED NOTES OF INTEREST:
1) The "Special Collectors Edition (Worked 5 Band and 6 Band) Certificate Program" from V26B is continuing this year. However, due to the extreme costs of mailing everyone who has worked them on all 5 and 6 bands in the past (and there have been quite a few certificates mailed), they are now requesting that if you work them on 5 or 6 bands and would like a certificate, to please send them a "Self Addressed Stamped Envelope (Business Size)" along with 1 USD or IRC equalivant (to assist with printing costs) with your log information to W2UDT for processing.
2) SPECIAL TOP GUN PLAQUE CONTINUES FOR THE 2001 CQWW SSB EVENT - Starting on October 27th through the end of the 2001 CQWW SSB Contest, a Special Plaque is available to the "FIRST" operator to work V26B on all 6 Bands during the Contest. This Plaque is being sponsored by their very own Mr. Douglas Priest, W3CF/V26DX.
For a complete station description, complete with photographs and rate charts of the Team Antigua, V26B, Superstation. Please visit their Web page at http://www.frc-contest.org and click on the DXpeditions page and then the Team Antigua, V26B Link!

V4, ST. KITTS & NEVIS. Larry, KJ4UY, will once again be going to Nevis as V47UY. He will be leaving on November 21st, and will operate from November 22nd thru December 4th and returning to Florida on December 5th. Larry will be staying at his good friend Karl's, V44NK, QTH. He will be using Karl's Kenwood TS450S/Heathkit SB220 or his Icom IC-756 with a KLM KT34A for 10/15/20 meters, an A3WS for 12-17 meters, a 30 and 40 meter dipole, and a HF2V for 40/80/160 meters (160 meters 100 watts only). Larry will be operating SSB/RTTY/PSK-31, with some CW, and will be operating all the bands that he has propagation. He will try to operate the CQWW CW contest to give others a multiplier, but he states that his CW is QRS, so please have patience. He hopes that it will help him improve. Please QSL to Larry's home callsign, KJ4UY. USA hams send SASE. DX send SAE plus return postage or via bureau. Larry looks forward to giving out as many as possible contacts for a new country or/and new band/mode country.

YN, NICARAGUA (Reminder/Update). Frosty, K5LBU, anounces that he will be making his third trip to YN2-land for the CQWW SSB Contest. He will leave Houston on October 24th, arriving the same day. He will team up with Ed/ W5GCX, and Laurei/G3UML. They will start putting up antennas on the 24th, so that they will be able to play on the air and check them out before Friday at the start of the contest. Activity will be on 160-10 meters. This time they will have a Mini-Quad that will have 3 elements and a Balun that will let them transmit on 6 meters. They will use a new callsign this year during the contest which is shorter; listen for YN2EJ. Laurei/G3UML will do the QSLs for Europe and Africa and Frosty/K5LBU will do the QSL cards for all other areas.

ZL1, NEW ZEALAND (Special Event/Activity). The Hamilton Amateur Radio Club in Hamilton, New Zealand, has applied for and been given the callsign ZL6JAM for uses during and after the "16th New Zealand Scout Jamboree" at Mystery Creek Hamilton from December 29th to January 6, 2002. The station will be active from the site from 2000-0500z during this period, and outside these hours if possible. As this station is being set up for Scouts (both boys and girls aged 11 to 16), these kids would love to talk to kids around their own age, as well as Hams from around the world. The frequencies planned are: 3593, 3677, 7075 and 14260 kHz. They will be as near as possible to those frequencies. 15m and 10m will be used depending on conditions. A special QSL card is being printed for the Jamboree. QSL details are direct with 1 IRC or 1 USD to: ZL6JAM, P O Box 606, Hamilton, New Zealand. Please include an addressed envelope with direct QSL applications. No stamp required.

The movie "Hatari" with John Wayne has lots of radio action. They work both a base station boatanchor and go mobile on VHF (??) several times.
No one uses a call sign and it must have been quite an experience for any ham back then to be DX'ing and suddenly stumble upon hard-drinking, cursing Trappers ragchewing illegally (?) on the radio. It's shown several times a year on cable, check it out.

. A truck and a 4X4 going full tilt across the African Savanna in pursuit of a charging Rhino that repeatedly rams the truck with his big ugly tusk while the two teams stay in touch and "work" the rhino via VHF (? based on apparent antenna length). Fun movie, but not for women's libbers. Hard to say if it's a cool take on radio given the multi-mode "action-style" usage or poor continuity due to lack of legal Ham procedure. You decide. One of those movies made back when men were men and women were proud of 'em.

And here's another,.....

"The Thing" , James Arness vers. Actuall, I think it's more properly called "The Thing From Another World !".

No ham per se, but I recall milcomms, arctic base stations (portable?) , and maybe aero-mobile as well. I recall a few scenes of Radio Op. twiddling dials over static, etc. while captain urges him to "keep trying!!". Or somesuch . Maybe not much for Ham ,though a real fun flick Those of you who feel good grounding is irrelevant suggest you watch the

Can anyone please tell me there experience with this... is it supported, is it likely that bugs will be fixed, with upgrades, is it easy to use, does it cover the full functions of the radio...

Any feedback would be appreciated.. Is there a demo version of this...

Many thanks...

You may want to contact one of the Hams that stalks this newsgroup. His XYL is a Novice and allegedly stars in a movie produced and directed by a guy who calls himself Wrong Way.
I have yet to see the movie but I am told that she grunts out CQ in three different octaves at speeds ranging from five wpm at the start of the movie and builds her speed to 33 wpm at the climax.
I don't know the name of the movie but some of the guys here may be able to shed some more light on it. I think the movie may have been made in Georgia a few years ago and I saw a post that said the movie was being shown in the Atlanta area.
Good luck with your search.

No, Aaron, they don't. That's the difference between the ARS and the license-free radio services like CB. In addition to caring about our own enjoyment of radio, we hams also care about other people's enjoyment of radio. They don't.

Not quite hamming but I think in one of the "Gilligan's Island" episodes use is made of a Hallicrafters receiver. Maybe also, in, god forbid, "Fantasy Island". Thankfully, I never saw the latter and don't remember the former. "Plan Nine from Outer Space" has some cardboard boxes that look like radios.

Each to his own I suppose. I saw it in the theatres when it was 1st released and was thrilled by it as a little boy. Also, think the theme song about the cute baby elephants is a classic and maybe won an Oscar. None of this makes it a good movie, but like I said, each to his own. Besides, even today I still lust for that pouty French girl and wonder why. Ce'st la Vie.
The only REALLY good JW movie was "True Grit", IMHO.

Hell, Scheissman can't even get s/h/it's References lines right, and loudly denies this when it is pointed out to s/h/it. As well deny that

The Red Tent (1969), a foreign language film (available with english subtitles) includs a ham radio sequence involving the flying of the antenna from a kite. This one will appeal to the code proficient.

So, if your running equal antennas as I am, and I run twice the output power that you do, you still have a chance of being heard when I am keyed up?

Typical argumentative "I am holier than you, and my antenna system will whip your linear's butt".

Notice how he only quoted PART of my text, since if the rest was taken into account, it would make his comment fecal matter.

No, that would be on the base station.

On the mobile, it isn't uncommon to find people running 3, 4, 5 even 6 element mobile antennas at a keydown.

>
> > Power IS the deciding factor.

So, with equal antennas, you believe the guy with a lower power output from his transmitter or amplifier will have a greater chance of being heard than someone with twice the output power?

Please explain that.

You, like many of the other misguided souls in > this newsgroup, have misconstrued the meaning of the word "communication".

We are not talking about comms, we are talking about a shootout competition.

Listen during CQWW and you will find the same things on the amateur bands.

Besides, you can throw anything into an argument, and if it is off topic, you will find that you can argue any point.

> It's not about 'power'; it's about control, cooperation, and courtesy.

And with my 2Kw amplifier, I can do so more often, with more reliability.

If that WASN'T the case, you wouldn't find the proliferation of amplifier manufacturers in the commercial and amateur arena, would you? I mean, after all, everyone wants to spend money on unecessary items? Don't you?

I can also win a keydown against the biggest amp you can > find. It's easy. All you have to do is know how to communicate.

Your going to win against a mobile to mobile competition using a barefoot radio against someone with a 80Kw output? All else being equal?

75 meters. Enough said.

2 meters, just in case you didn't get it the first time.

Hollingsworth went after the ARS before CB radio service. You wonder why?

ARS is just as dirty, just as political, and has just as many bad apples as the CB radio does in proportion. When the US ARS service has as many people in it as the CB service does, then you can compare the two. Otherwise, your comparing apples to oranges.

In addition to caring about our

lol.

Hence the problem with ARS operators coming to the 11 meter band.

Hence the problem with ARS operators getting busted for signal jamming

Hence the problem with ARS operators building illegal output amps.

Hence the problem with ARS operators and them building illegal 11 meter amps.

Hollingsworth is beginning with the ham bands because hams raised enough hell to get him appointed. His title is 'Special Counsel for Amateur Radio' BTW. And if you want to see some the results just go to Rec.Radio.Amateur.Misc where a few idiots that have been Rileyed now find it safer to conduct their stupidities.

Apples and Oranges, all right. The Amateur Service cared enough to begin the resurection of the Enforcement Bureau.

In the undisclosed town where I ran a Kenwood dealership, the local MSS was it's own worst enemy. Their attitude was better than a large advertising budget on our part. Even new Moto radios bought from them had a $75 programming fee tagged on for EVERY one. They didn't even like to talk to hams about radios, unless you knew the owner who was a ham and were in his "clique".

We programmed all our radio sales for free, and made reasonable changes for free during the life of the radio. For a competitor's sold radios we would charge a few bucks at most, and for a large quantity we did it for the current bench rate. For Ham's that were not pests it was usually free, provided we had time. They might have to wait because customers took priority. However, there were a few hams that wanted reprogramming every couple of days, and didn't care if you were busy- they paid the same rates as the customers. They really should have bought ham radios that were self programmable...

I see it as "the federal government tired of the constant problems that where brought to their attention via letter writing and phone calls, and as such, they got a "cop" to police the problem area (spectrum).

Reading anything else into it is utter gibberish.

His title is 'Special Counsel for Amateur Radio' > BTW. And if you want to see some the results just go to

I am not saying he is doing a bad thing, nor am I against what he does.

Nor do I disagree that the idiots running class C boxes, dirty overmodulated radios (see my problem with Eitner and his advocation of clipping limiters, etc) or trashy equipment need to be run off the air, given stiff fines, etc.

However, the person running a clean station, that has fun on his radio doesn't need to be bothered, either. I can run 3Kw - 3500 watts around my neighborhood and have no problems with any of my neighbors. However, I can also hook up a driver amp, and a CB radio and take out the entire subdivision.

I have ALWAYS been an advocate of running power, but running power CLEANLY.

lol. I doubt that very much. Please cite reference to the claim (not calling you a liar, but I don't think that it was ARS that brought Hollingsworth on, I see it more as the Senators and Reps. getting tired of the constant complaints). However, you may be right, what with the @$$holes that proliferate 75 and 2 meters. I may be wrong, but I doubt it.

morbid, it was the quakers I promised could rear a clutch and thats just what they did. 2 nice healthy babies. I,m not sure if I will get another cockbird yet. I have another pair of kakarikis, with a green split for pied cockbird.
The interesting thing with these chicks was that 2 had very dark grey fluff and 2 had silver fluff. Turns out the dark chicks are green and the pale ones are pied. I am learning with these as they are my fist kakariki babies. I don,t know yet if I will be able to sell them.I will have to try and force myself I think but by golly the prospective owners will have to be special lol.

What's especially disturbing about this is that you are a licensed ham, Shane. Apparently you are one of the ones "gone bad".

Do you mean as in you would have a website about forest preserves because "park" is part of your name?

Picking some titillating combination of letters out of context from a complete symbolic set such as a callsign or name to make some pejorative assertion thereupon is imbecilic.

Believe it or not, yes, he would still have a chance of being heard when you are "keyed up" especially in single sideband mode when you would be emitting basically no signal at all unless you were speaking.
The second you stop talking, even if your transmitter is still on, he can be heard regardless.

Furthermore, the propagation path from your location to the receiving station may not be as good as the path from his location to the receiving station. If I'm on the east coast and in the greyline along with a station on the east coast of, say, Australia, and you're in the midwest...the greyline enhancement on my signal at the receiving station might be the difference that allows me to (as we used to say on the CB band back in the 70's) "walk the dog" so to speak.

>Typical argumentative "I am holier than you, and my antenna system will whip >your linear's butt".

It isn't ONLY power or ONLY the antena, Toll. You key up with 10,000 watts on AM, and if I key up with a "measly" 100 watts P.E.P. on USB, my signal will ride your carrier right to the receiving station. I will be heard. Get a shortwave receiver and park it on 10 MHz at night and eventually you'll hear the proof of this concept in the Spanish-speaking sideband stations riding WWV's 10kW AM carrier across most of North America.

>Notice how he only quoted PART of my text, since if the rest was taken into >account, it would make his comment fecal matter.

I think neither of you took everything into account. I haven't either, since I'm not here to write a book on basic communications theory.
What we're saying is that there are less expensive and more efficient ways to get your signal to a desired location - without interfering with everyone else on the band for 500 khz on either side of you.

Illegal is illegal no matter how clean you try to make it.
Ninenty-nine percent plus of the hams run legal, ninenty-nine Easy. Each doubling of output power gives a 3 dB increase. If I have a million watts and you have two million watts, your signal isn't going to be twice as strong.

Good point. Equal antennas will mean virtually equal signal.
Doubling the output power gives a 3 dB increase. That's less than half an S-unit. If he's running an S-9, and I have an equal antenna, that means I'll be slightly over an S-8 1/2. That's not much of a difference.

Anyone aware of a safe, reliable alternative to an expensive Motorola 4008B RIB? I'm finding lots of inexpensive (some $50) aftermarket RIBs out there that APPEAR well constructed...but is there any particular aftermarket RIB with a good reputation? how about the tiny little RIB at 2wayprogramming.com? i don't want my radios (HT1000, GP300/350, Saber) damaged, and i'm willing to spend the money on a Motorola RIB if i HAVE TO. but maybe there's a particular aftermarket RIB out there basically identical in design, performance, and reliability compared to a Motorola unit...minus the price? maybe?

See if you can rent a movie called Testament. I saw it in the theater during the 1980's. It's about life in the US after a nuclear strike and the main character is a little boy that uses a ham radio to talk to people outside his city.

Thanks for clearing that up -- I always thought that the whole purpose of radio communications was communications. I didn't realize that radio was invented and developed for 'shootouts'. With that in mind, the FCC and the ARRL need to rethink the rules of the game. All those QRP rigs are for people that don't have a life, I guess. And what's the point of using a microphone? Just make a big switch, the bigger the better (which seems to be the mentality of radio engineering these days, huh?)

BTW, my mommy has been dead for quite a while, so I guess that makes you a necrophiliac.

I've talked to Antartica, Argentina, Japan on 28MHz (ham 10 meters) using a lousy attic dipole and 100W rig (TS440SAT) so you don't need kilowatts of power when propagation is good.

Get a "general" ham license, only 5 words a minute code test now and some multiple choice written test.
Look at http://www.aa9pw.com/radio/exam.html for practice tests.

You can then use a linear legally on many ham bands, AM, FM, SSB, digital modes, and there are many HF SW bands with differing long distance DX "skipland" propagation characteristics. Many work just fine when "skip" is dead on CB 11 meters, like when the sunspot cycle bottoms out.

Don't feel blown off by a previous bad experience with a ham club, there's many more out there that you'll like.

Here's another:

TCM just last month showed a movie called "Angry Red Planet."
TCM emphasized it's "Red Scare" aspects and it's over the top fer sure! B-Movie Extraordinaire and lots of Radio action.

Made in the fifties, it stars Peter Graves and dates from the 50's.
Peter is a scientist doing EME (Earth-MARS-Earth) bounces when he starts getting increasingly detailed messages with a secret Commie plot !! No kidding. Even my kids got into this one due to the bizarre lab props Graves had. Peter Graves working Martian DX. A must watch for fun !

Is it just me, or was anybody else annoyed at the way the prof could make anything in the world, but couldn't make one of those bicycle-generator things he was so fond of power some sort of transmitter?

The receiver they always had, and some other standard boat stuff should have provided all the components he would've needed for a really simple QRP CW rig, and I doubt you'd have to sit on one frequency sending SOS for too terribly long before someone heard and started DFing your signal.

Maybe the island had really restrictive CC&R's... ;)

If you want cheap and reliable in a monoband HT, find a used HTX-200 for about $60-75. If you want more than the 200 can give you, and don't mind paying more, check out the product reviews on Ahh yes. But you see, nobody was talking about SSB mode until you brought it up. We where talking about keydowns, and the amplifiers we use in them, and the antenna systems. With keydowns, you use AM, and AM only. I would prefer to use FM, since their is no heterodyne, etc., and the capture effect of FM would REALLY prove who won the event. However, FM doesn't have the "loud scratchy" AM quality, and the people won't use it.

Gets rid of the cheaters, so they don't want it.

Nobody runs SSB in keydowns, so you are bringing up apples and oranges.

You pull up on a line, seperated by about 25 feet. How much different can the propogation be?

Blah blah blah. He is talking about something irrelevant. We where talking about mobile to mobile competition, in a controlled environment.

Actually, not if I am modulating my carrier. And at 100 watts, you won't do that. Experiemented with it, tried it, and it doesn't work.

The sideband noise is so large on those massive multi-amplifier setups that you easily see 4 or 500 watts of BS alongside the carrier when viewed on a spectrum analyzer.

Besides, again, we aren't talking about SSB. We where talking about a controlled environment shootout.

I

That has more to do with propogation of different regions of the earth, than it does with real world applications with CB shootouts, which is what this conversation was about until you attempted to change it.

I understand what you are talking about, and have used it to my advantage at times.
However, your off topic. Which basically invalidates your argument.

I totally agree. FM is best for shootout, since the capture effect will ONLY
let the strongest station be heard. SSB is best for long range comms (that the average person has access to.. Spread Spectrum is even better, but how many of us have a nice Harris sitting in the shack)?

However, the conversation we where having, that you interjected into, was about CB amplifiers and competition with them. Not about what was the best way to talk.

Have a good one bud.

Power doesn't equal splatter. I can kick a speech processor on, and effectively get another 3dB, which would be an S unit, with louder modulation, which, in effect, puts you down in the dirt.

Not typical CB mentality. Its laws of physics here. Please see my other post regarding how the shootout competition is held before you begin to tell me I am wrong.

No, but it does put the edge on the guy running the double power.

Actually, on the keydown line, all else is about equal.

It comes down to a fight about who has the largest PEP output, and the most efficient antennas.

Hams argue it is ALL about antennas. CBers argue its all about power.

I argue its all about who spent the most fucking money. :)

1 2290 driving 2 2879s, driving 8 2879s driving 5 8877s off a single 300A leece neville driving a pair of 4CX15000s, with 5 double stator alternators

A0 output.

You honestly think that won't do 80 grand carrier power?

Nobody said anything about linear amplification here, either. The tubes are biased WAY into cutoff (hence the massive overdrive, to overcome the grid bias).

Had this argument on the ham amps reflector, and they finally admitted it WAS and IS possible.

Unless we ham exceed the upper power limit (typically 1KW) we can legally build linear output amps for use on most ham bands. Even 10 meters if we build one for our own personal use.

Why mess with illegal 11 meter CB stuff if you have a ham license,

Good for FM or Morse code, but not AM or SSB. And you better have a good harmonic filter on the output of that setup!

Toll,
It was because the hams themselves requested it. ARRL and individual hams had become disgusted with the junk that was being carried on and pressured FCC to do something about it.
It was at this time that Mr. Hollingsworth was promoted to Legal Counsel for the Enforcement Bureau. At the same time, there was another storm brewing out in Wisconsin and in Michigan from consumers being swamped/receivers paralyzed by illegal CB stations. No need to rehash the results of that. Anyway, a few out of the larger number of hams were creating much adverse attention in the international community, so ARS was hit first. Rest assured, it won't stop with ARS. No need to argue over that, either. Que sera, sera.

Ok Clint; you don't have to charge anyone for any professional service like boat/RV repair, Waiter, Electrical, Plumbing or even to build them a house in the country if you are either independantly wealthy, have a filthy rich parent or are heavily subsidised party elite or movie star (or perhaps your time is over-valued?).

As a Brother Ham, I was wondering if you had a spare mansion in Beverly Hills and a pension for me to retire to? (I noticed Bill C. went to New York instead)

Pardon the belch;

<soapbox>

All that seems to be changing for economic and security reasons, etc. Now they just get rid of the technicians and substitute installers, and ship the radios away to a depot where they perform a wholesale flat-rate repair. This way, security is maintained while employing wetback, kid, prisoner or volunteer for manual or less skilled technical operations like mobile installations and "picking frequencies", or even a god person such as a federal agent or police officer who may have any of the above executed for touching one of "his" radios.

One side-effect of this, is that when a sophisticated system goes down, the search is on for a competent repairman, as many have disappeared since the system was first put on line. Someone may in fact have to be flown out while the clock is ticking. Of course the ultimate answer to all this would be a complete phase-out of privately owned systems completely, and complete takeover by carrier owned systems with leased portable units such as Nextel or a few of the cellular carriers.

This almost does away with the slave labor, because the portable unit doesn't require installation, and can be easily shipped to depot level for programming and repairs.

All this cuts the overhead and "problem" of having to hire someone just to program radios, change fuses and replace antennas (and occasionally to fix a repeater, dispatch console or link) who may need to be shot in the head as a security "concern" by virtue of excessive experience.

There was a book made into a TV mini-series in the mid-70s:
"The French Atlantic Affair". It was pretty good, with a plot about some downsized NASA folks hijacking a cruise ship.

Hero was a vacationing Amateur who brought his HF transceiver along. As I recall, it was a Swan, but the resolution still could have happened!

I don't know if it ever made it to video, but I couldn't find any reference to it. They may have changed the title at some point.

Hey Tim, how come you are on 20 meters every single day? This lends a lot of credence to what Leland says - that you are likely bootlegging on ham bands. Since you can't really have a conversation there my guess is that you look around for a "zoo" frequency to play on.

No sense in trying to make 11 meter contacts if 20 is the one jumping off.

I mess with whatever I like to do. I enjoy some of my friends that I have met on this newsgroup and talking with them on the freeband. They have no interest in becoming licensed hams (because of posts like yours that I am responding to right now... But don't take offense. Some people get turned off by that attitude), but enjoy the hell out of radio.

And with the prices the way they where on multiband HF equipment, I don't blame some of them for sticking with their 125 dollar modified 148s. Not all of us can afford a 781A, ya know? Prices are getting better, but this " HF Radio on a Chip" thing is going to bite us in the ass already. Hams are now looking to get RID of the DSP and go back to mechanical filters.

Oh well, I enjoy both services, and will continue to operate both. I will also continue to promote people to use power properly in WHATEVER SERVICE THEY WANT TO, even if it means they are illegal.

To each his own. But your point is taken, and was made almost 10 years ago when I got my ticket.

You are such an eloquent writer!

Sooo, just because YOU don't like the contests, that means it should be ILLEGAL???

There are sooo many other places that a person could go to have a QSO. Have you tried 2m SSB?

Perhaps the reason that the bands are so crowded during a contest is that there are a lot of hams ACTUALLY OPERATING AND ENJOYING THE CONTEST???? Why not try it instead of complaining??

I personally don't like traffic nets, but I don't want to make them illegal!

Contesters do a lot for the hobby.... coming up with new communications methods (i.e. PacketCluster), finely honing their operating skills and stations, trying out new antennas and radios. The big thing with some of the contesters I know is running QRP and Fox hunting. It is not so much how much power, but how efficient your operating skills are. And of course every contest I know has Mid-power and low power categories. But again this requires more skill.

I don't expect everyone to like contesting. At least I respect the other person to be able to like this thing they like to do.

Yeah, "True Grit" is it. Was "Baby Elephant Walk" from that movie?

I like contests, not because I try to compete for the high score, but it provides a steady supply of quick contacts when I'm trying out an antenna or rig. Also, the "WARC" bands (10MHz, 18MHz and 24MHz) usually do not have contest activity when the more traditional HF bands are hopping with contesters.

I have found HF to be a lot of fun since I got my Extra Lite :-)
Been mostly SSB, but there's a code key around here somewheres...

Following ranting heard on 14.175 MCs

Originally scheduled for return on 1 June 2001, the IARN bulletin service (heard on 14.275 USB, 3.975 LSB,and 3.890 AM for 13 years during 1987 through 1999) and very popular amateur radio talk show came alive again to a shocked amateur radio community. The shock stems from FCC Special Counsel Riley Hollingsworth's devious public representations at large ham gatherings for the last two years that he was somehow responsible for K1MAN's suspending the show at midnight on 31 August 1999. Nothing could be further from the truth.

The reason given by licensee Glenn Baxter for this action was the pending $10,000,000 lawsuit for libel against the FCC for its bogus fines against K1MAN for perfectly legal bulletin transmissions which the FCC tried to maliciously and falsely characterize as willful interference (a felony). K1MAN appealed to the full Commission and this entitled appeal was illegally "deep sixed" by the FCC and thus blocking K1MAN from the Court of Appeals in Washington, D.C. where they knew full well that they would lose. A pretty slimy bunch, indeed, who are simply afraid to face K1MAN in open court. The Supreme Court in Washington has inscribed on the building "Equal Justice Under Law." What a sham the corrupt FCC makes of the great United States of America!

K1MAN sued the Commission for libel under the Constitutional Amendment that guarantees the right to petition the government for a redress of grievances. United States District Judge Gene Carter dismissed the suit with prejudice, and this dismissal was upheld by the Court of Appeals in Boston. We have enemies in this country that are just as dangerous as Mr. Bin Laden. These enemies will do away with due process of law as well as the rest of the Unites States Constitution if we allow them to.

Riley Hollingsworth of the FCC swaggers around the amateur radio community and scares hams with his illegal and bullying tactics and covers this with a claim to be "cleaning up" amateur radio. He has done that, for sure, but at the expense of the United States Constitution? And you fools and ARRL are buying this?

This is what the American Amateur Radio Association is all about. We need an amateur radio representative organization with the courage to stand up to this devious and slimy bully (Riley Hollingsworth) whose real agenda is to deliver our valuable HF spectrum to the commercial interests. Make no mistake about this fraud who resides at the FCC and who gets paid by our hard earned tax money out here in the real workaday world.

Fortunately the United States government has checks and balances to fight corruption, and one of these is called freedom of speech and freedom of the press. This is what the IARN Amateur Radio Talk Show is for all of us loyal Americans at this defining moment in the history of amateur radio.

So, Riley, old pal, the opera isn't over until the fat lady sings, and we challenge you to try and trash our precious (and hard fought for) United States Constitution. You, at the FCC, have won a few rounds by cheating and have fooled many fellow radio amateurs by your clever and cunning trickery, but this football game is far from over.

We at AARA, the American Amateur Radio Association, are glad to be back in the game, and we are going to fight hard to preserve our wonderful hobby and valuable public service called amateur radio. You cheap and tricky politicians are going to have to compete for our valuable radio spectrum in the proper manner and through honest methods in the full view of public scrutiny and the sound understanding by both radio amateurs and the public of what is really going on here. 73, and good luck in the contest, Mr. Hollingsworth.

frequency, and worked the world for $0.

We are building a teleoperated semi-autonomous robot for use in urban terrain, ie mostly non line-of-sight environments.
I want to get a live video feed from a panoramic camera mounted on the robot back to the operator. Using an RF link, how is this best achieved?

My guess is that the higher the frequency used, the more difficulties will be encountered with obstructions etc. A lot of video xmtrs seem to work at about 1.2 or 2.4GHz.

I figured that the lower the frequency the better for transmitting through walls/building etc. So would not an HF xmtr be the most reliable, all other things being equal, antenna gains/power etc?

Try to please everyone, and you'll please no one. I, for one, care nothing about pleasing people who endorse criminal behavior that endangers the life and/or safety of others.

Besides, complaining about whether a post is on top or bottom is pretty lame.

Judging by the number of amateur "appliances" sold every year, I doubt that is the masses.

And last time I looked, not too many of the amateur contesters using that type of equipment.

Next troll, please.

Yes, please see other post describing my 2 meter station. TR9230 with 8877 homebrew amp.

Had a small mirage Class AB brick to drive the 8877 with, due to 10 watt output of Kenwood, though.

It was thoroughly enjoyable. As is my CB DXing, and amateur radio DXing.

I can, and do, enjoy both services.

Of course. Same with the CB shootout contests. They judge the power levels by the amount of transistors in the final output amplifier, or the number of alternators in the AC output categories.

Depending on the amount of QRM, either, both, or neither.

It was a licensed, ACTIVE amatuer that taught me how to build tetrodes with handles.

I will be forever in debt to him, as well as his 35 Kilowatt 4CX15000 station.

Because the ham bands are infinitely more important than the cb garbage band and hams had been requesting the FCC to do something about the bad apples in ham radio for some time. They do not want ham radio to become anything like the sewer pit of miscommunications the children's band is, so Hollingsworth was appointed to clean it up. When he gets done there, cb is next.

Not many, but they're the ones who know that they earned every point because youll never again have to replace that 45 dollar tube if its tuned properly into a good load. it is done to make the amp more bullet proof and not to increase the power output. i own a 4 tuber 811a amp myself that i am getting ready to retube with 572b's and replace the power supply to allow them to run full output.

the 811a is going to drive the heathkit just right. this was a letter to another guy here in houston but if i would have known yall were so interested i would have posted it here too.

It also shows that they know nothing about signal strength. In a QST article about two years ago, tests were independently done on signals with and without an amp. A 100 watt signal produced a reading of s-5. Boosting it to 1000 watts with a linear only produced an increase to s-7.

All that power for a two point increase in strength? I'll take a good antenna any time. Besides, you can't work 'em if ya can't hear 'em.

I feel silly for playing with radios instead of going to medical school. People seem to need livers a lot more than they need radios.

PS when I heard about JFK, I was fiddling around with a transistor radio.

I agree. I spent my time putting together a LOWFer station back in High School as my final exam project in electronics class. While everyone else was using 555 or 556 timers to make stupid little fart noises or beeps, etc., I built a working transmitter and QSL'ed almost the 11 western states. It was a blast. Found out interesting things, too, like black PVC is about useless at RF, since it has something in the paint that screws up inductance calculations pretty bad.

So, I guess I can say Been their, done that. It is fun, though. I just prefer building high power amplifiers now. Nothing different, except the power levels.

It can be a blast. When you really want to get down to it, build a couple single or dual tube transmitters. Pain in the butt, but it is nice to have your filaments light your logbook rather than a lightbulb :)

Nobody has argued against that.

You guys are so quick to jump the proverbial CBers ass, that you don't realize what your saying, nor that I have agreed with you.

My statement was, and still is, that if your sitting side by side in a mobile, with the same antenna systems, the guy with more watts is going to win the competition.

Bottom line.

No, you shouldn't be. Just because someone enjoys something you don't doesn't make them the idiot, though.

Your lack of comprehension in the fact that someone else could actually like doing something you find no enjoyment makes you one, however.

Please provide proof that Competition CBers or amateur operators who enjoy contesting are homosexuals. Otherwise, your credibility goes quickly

I know Tim personally, have met him, and consider him a friend.

You have never met him, and know him from nothing but a newsgroup.

You believe EVERYTHING you see on the internet.

I also retract my statement about him not owning an amp. I just remembered he did pick one up while I was away from the newsgroup.

However, Yeah, I do consider myself his guardian angel. Jealous?

That's called a "pile up" and it's a recognized communication tool;
even the shipboard CW maritime operators utilized that technique for some 80 years in order to pass their time-sensitive weather observations every six hours. Don't attempt to equate your "shoot outs" with an 80+ year-old highly efficient communication method; that you'd even try shows you have no understanding of basic single-channel mass comms.

>I can also win a keydown against the biggest amp you can

"Key-down" and "communication" are contradictory; doing one prohibits the other from occurring.

I love the way the FCC quietly goes about its business subtly collecting bits of evidence from here and there, maybe in your neighborhood, maybe from a distant monitoring station, maybe from on here, then jumps on the federal criminal with huges fines and confiscation of communication equipment. From then on other agencies such as the IRS join the fray and carefully scrutinize this individual, who will for life have a federal conviction on his record. Is all this worth it to you? It's so easy to live a law-abiding life -- why not try it for a change?

Go to http://www.imdb.org and enter in the search Amateur radio, there are 138 movies with amateur radio, here are the top 10:-

1. Fairylogue and Radio-Plays, The (1908)
2. "Acme Radio Hour" (1995)
3. Automatic Radio Compass: Part I, The (1955)
4. Automatic Radio Compass: Part II, The (1957)
5. Representative Radio (2001)
6. Radio Rampage (1944)
7. Radio Rhythm (1929)
8. Radio Rhythm (1931)
9. Radio Riot (1930)
10. Radio Riot (1949)

That would be a contest as to whose receiver front end would be first to get trashed.

BTAIM, other things figure in also. Such as operator skill, mode, which band is being used, and location. I would put my money on a location close to the ocean and 100 watts, against a QTH several hundred miles inland and 1000 watts.

Krell still misses the point.

It is organized between classes that are compared by the amount of transistors in their final amp.

It is in a cordoned off area, with two lanes, similiar to the way a drag strip is arranged, via lanes.

They are both going to the same station, which has a tape recorder going, and the person who is heard over the other advances to the next round.

Their are no other variables, unless one is cheating.

Your entire argument is over something entirely different!

HAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA Its a recognized communications nightmare today. Just look at the amount of people complaining about the contests in magazines, and the problems inherent with them.

Not many people can get through when "the big guns" are operating.

Most also take up excessive bandwith, and actually USE that as a tool.

Nobody said CBers where any different, but your calling a pile-up a communications tool is simply amazing.

> even the shipboard CW maritime operators utilized that technique for > some 80 years in order to pass their time-sensitive weather observations

And they still do today? Doubtful.

The pile-up of yesteryear might have been helpful. Today it is a nuisance.
As are contests.

Don't attempt to equate your "shoot outs" with an 80+ > year-old highly efficient

When does the efficiency come into play? When the DX station is responding and some idiot is actually KEYING on him while doing so?

At least with CB shootouts our keydown period is on the order of 10 seconds.

communication method; that you'd even try > shows you have no understanding of basic single-channel mass comms.

On CB shootouts, we aren't using single channel mass comms, and contesting has nothing to do with that today.

Yes, and having a contest going pretty much precludes me from using my 5 watt QRP rig (because I lost the finals in my TS440 while I am at sea and that is all I can milk her for, while my ship is going down) to get help.

Not saying it would be impossible, just a HELL of a lot harder.

Yes. 75 meters is becoming a joy to operate again.

Actually, that isn't true. After a statute of limitations, you can apply for your rights back, and have that felony removed or "stricken" from your record.

Nice try, though. Wanna go another round full of half-truths?

Is all this worth it to you? It's so

I have Jeff. And for the most part (aside from the occassional traffic infraction or operating my radio in a way you don't see fit) I still do.

I haven't heard of any of these movies, but I am interested enough to find out. However, I think you should of checked out your search a bit more, because I believe that some of them, such as Radio Riot and Radio Rhythm, are actually about amateur broadcasting or pirate radio.

NOW AVAILABLE  Program "WIRESKIN.exe"

EDUCATIONAL, PRACTICAL.

This little program demonstrates the effects of the increasing resistance of copper conductors as frequency varies from DC up to 1GHz or more. As examples it computes performance of a straight round wire, an open-wire transmission line, of any sizes and dimensions, and a radio half-wave transceiving dipole. The effects on performance of summer-day versus winter-night temperatures can be investigated just by holding down a keyboard key.

See how fast the HF loss of balanced-pair lines increases as the wires get closer together and Zo decreases. Loss can be greater than coax. Again, just hold down a key. Get the wire spacing down to 1.05 of the wire diameters and see what happens.

Use the program to calculate the loss at speech frequencies of a Victorian 400-mile overhead phone line, London to Edinburgh. Yes, Washington could phone Chicago more than 100 years ago - long before the tube and transistor had been invented.

Or of a twin 1-inch diameter, 10 feet spacing, 100 mile power transmission line at 60Hz. Did you know skin effect begins at power frequencies? Or compute loss of 100 feet of 75-ohm line at 21 MHz. Or calculate Q and bandwidth of a 1/2-wave dipole at 144 MHz. The End-effect, to which much importance is attached. is included.

As a sideline, convert kilometres to miles, mm to inches, or degrees Celsius to Fahrenheit. Or diameter in mm to AWG.

Only one file. 40 kilobytes. Not zipped up. Run immediately. Download WIRESKIN in a few seconds from URL below.

Absolutely complete program. Nothing extra to pay for updates. There are and will be no updates. No catch. You would have to pay $50 anywhere else for this high quality software. There is nowhere else this software is available anyway. Get it while I'm in this generous mood. This is not an advert for Sawanotsuru Japanese Saki. But it's lovely stuff anyway. Actually Brian your exactly opposite of reality. Signals in the medium Uhf range tend to get obstructions easier. They tend to reflect and bounce around things because of the shorter wavelength involved. However with analog video you will get some strange distortions in the signal. And with digital you will get 'drop out', like what happens on the Directv signal if its raining, etc.

HF is totally out of the question. The bandwidth of a video signal is way too big. If your planning on plopping it down wherever you want then expect to be trashed by legal users.

Hello

I have got a TM-G707 and would like to use a headset with it, I have been looking for one on the internet and can only find the Heil and MFJ sets. I Would like one with ear pads and a boom mic and either a foot switch or a button/switch for keying. Does anyone use a headset with the TM-G707, if so could you send me details about it please.

Thanks

Richard

Does 'smoke and mirrors' ring any bells?

All this goofball K1MAN thinks about is himself. His idea of ham radio is trashing up segments of the HF spectrum with useless promotions of his organization and self aggrandizing his 'accomplishments' or should I have said 'alleged accomplishments'.

I operate 14.275, and have since his 'coincidental absence for the last 2 years. Recently he has decided to reclaim it. Fine, as long as no one else is there, go for it. Otherwise expect some QRM. I'll leave the frequency when I damn well want to. And go ahead and take me to court on 'felony QRM charges'. This guy is in need of a rubber room.

Joe, a lot of my transmitters are such as you describe; I've built them out of components taken from junked TV sets. There's no greater thrill than making on-air contacts with gear you've built yourself from scratch. My 40m VFO uses a variable capacitor taken from a TV UHF tuner; I can park it on any 40m frequency and it will stay put all day. Those variables are built like a brick.

The writing style seems to match. The use of any particular name must be linked to the amount of alcohol in him.

You can tell a lot about people by listening to them, or in this case reading them. If you would just linger and listen you could also make these determinations.

I'm in the middle of about 3 Hickok tube tester projects ..and without the parts to complete any of them.

Looking for a:

752 ..or 752A case ..or even just the case cover a tube chart roller mechanism & thumb wheel ..almost any Hickok will do such as a ..752 ..800 ..600 .6000 ..or 532-539 series would do. (do not need the actual paper chart)

any version of a 752 ..or 752A paper roll tube data chart

You can email at netrunner@home.com if you have one of these items you'd sell.

No troll, Toll -- a lot of my transmitters were built from scratch (see previous post). Homebrewing is another branch of amateur radio just like contesting, DX, moon-bounce, satellites, meteor scatter, long-delay-echo, ssb, am, fm, digital, cw, spread-spectrum, QRP, et al. Just as not all 600 kilo-hams are contesters, neither are all homebrewers. Yet there are contests open only to those utilizing homebuilt equipment.

Diversity is what makes this hobby so great.

The amateur radio service is the only service permitted to build its own equipment without having to go through the type-acceptance process, and we're the only service permitted frequency agility (non-channelization). Just those alone show the measure of trust the government has in us.

Agreed. And we all know those contest generate as much magazine

My point is only that both services have useless competitions (in

That is inherent.

Although, I have sat and watched most, and the guy who USUALLY wins (read this as, either has something good as a rep, or is usually running an 8 pill into a 2 pill) takes the same lanes as the other guys winning.

When talking about RF, the lane choice isn't as distinct an advantage as it is in drag racing.

Some people just don't understand that, though.

You miss the point. I don't care about credibility from my "credentials",
I would much rather have the credibility from being able to shred someones technically incorrect answers and show them the error in their thinking.

Just like someone putting PHD behind their name does nothing for me to lend credibility to them.

After all, Clinton got to put President in FRONT of his name. Look at his credibility. If you only choose to look at ones initials / title / etc for credibility, you either don't know the subject well enough to formulate your own opinions, or don't have enough self confidence to do so.

Either way, it's unfortunate.

Besides, the few people that I DO trust DO have my call sign, and have stepped forward to show people that yes I DO hold a valid amateur license.

What attitude? You mean the attitude that FCC rules should be obeyed?

Homebrew, QRP, and other contests serve a purpose for many of the hams involved; practice for those times when emergency communications are needed, and power is hard to come by, or equipment has been damaged and repairs must be made with what is on hand.

Last time the power went out, I decided to have some fun with it, and built a crystal set from scavenged bits of old radios, and a tuning cap made from foil covered paper towel tubes. The only part I had to pull from one of my other sets was the earphone. All done in just a bit over an hour, facilitated by a butane soldering iron.

Of course, having two clear-channel stations (WBAP and KRLD) within 20mi makes crystal set building a bit more tolerant of inefficiency.

Out of 600,000 hams, how many complaints have you counted? 600? That would be 0.1% of all hams -- statistically negligible. Even if 6000 complained, that would only be 1%.

>Not many people can get through when "the big guns" are operating.

Even if there was a contest every weekend, that's only 28% of the week; but note that the WARC bands are always contest-free.

>Most also take up excessive bandwith, and actually USE that as a tool.

Please quantify "most" and "excessive" and tell us how your arrived at those conclusions.

>Nobody said CBers where any different, but your calling a pile-up a >communications tool is simply amazing.

You say that because you've never participated in one. I have -- the maritime bands had a world-wide pile-up every six hours for some 80+ years as ships passed their time-sensitive weather observations to shore stations. No other communication technique would have worked as well; after just 20 minutes every ship in the world had passed their WX OBS. Again, this was done every six hours for over 80 years, non-stop.

>The pile-up of yesteryear might have been helpful. Today it is a >nuisance. As are contests.

So we'll group you with the less than 1% of the amateur community who think likewise -- similar to that uncompetitive group who tend not to get very far in life, always being passed up for promotions and pay raises -- too timid to compete with others. But keep in mind that contesters and traffic handlers make the best HF operators during disaster communications.

>Yes, and having a contest going pretty much precludes me from using >my 5 watt QRP rig

Nonsense -- there are never contests held on the WARC bands. Never. And no matter what the contest, no one band is completely filled band-edge to band-edge. Also you can always find room on 10, 15, or 160 meters.

>I suggest you look at the 1750 meter license free band.

That's not a "service." 1750m is one of several frequency segments set aside for Part 5 "intentional emissions" (such as garage door openers and cordless phones) and "unintentional emissions" (computer monitors, microwave ovens, et cetera). Hobbiests have utilized the "intentional emissions" paragraph for comms, but no where in Part 5 will you see any mention of hobby communications; those hobbiests fall in the same category as garage door openers. Again, Part 5 is not "service," as I specified in my paragraph above.

I suggest you read Title 47 CFR Part 5 -- the CFR collection should be in any nearby college library.

As I said before, you should go back and read your own posts. I believe there is a difference between 'calls' and 'called', the verb from your

I have held a General class since 1966, but have been inactive for about 12 years.

I work in computers and software and so probably don't remember a whole lot of the theory I needed to pass the General more than 35 years ago.

Now I'd like to get my Extra. What do you all suggest as the best theory-and-regulations tutorial and study guide, either in print form or on the web?

Thanks...

Hi all,

I've just ordered a set of two telcom 100 radios from 'The Link' (Dixons mail order arm) for £39.99 for two.

Sounds great, but I can't find much in the way of research on the web and/or usenet for accessories for these radios.

Has anyone use them, and what is your experience with them?

Are PTT earpiece microphones available for this model? If so, where can I get them from?

Sure. So do the drug dealers. For what it is worth, I knew a kid some 15 years ago who was selling drugs. I told him I wasn't the police, but he should think carefully before selling more. He had made a ton of money. Had he gotten smart, he would have had a big head start in life (and I do NOT recommend this to get that start in life); but no, he was greedy. He kept selling drugs until he got busted IN THE COMPANY PARKING LOT where he worked. He sold 20 pounds of marijuana to an undercover cop. Cool. He was engaged to be married; unfortunately, he became engaged to jail. Most of the time was served as in-house-arrest (with the ankle device attached). He lost his job. He lost his girl. He lost his car and house. He is a convicted felon. He can never own any gun (and he loved hunting). I do not condemn the occasional 'experimenter', but if you wish to continue, be my guest. The FCC started fairly recently at ground zero - no enforcement. It is slowly ramping up. Don't expect any more sympathy from me if you get whacked than the guy who lost everything with his drug conviction.

Apples to oranges again.

Drag racing depicts cars.

Throroughbreds are usually depicted as horses.

Nice try, though.

So far, most of the hams doing the "shredding" can't figure out that I was talking about mobile to mobile shootouts, and keep telling me about locations, etc.

So, why not take a stab at it Aaron? Because EVERY time you attempt it, I take you down like the Red Baron?

Poor poor Aaron. Can't compete on a technical base, so he has to cheerlead while some hams that can't comprehend normal English take up his fight for him.

It matters where it came from.

In a matter of a couple weeks, I can get a PHD from a diploma mill.

Does that classify me as an EE? Not likely.

People who blindly follow those who just have initials are morons.

Those who prove themselves technically will always win, in the end.

Good morning, Dick.

Well, I actually don't really want something that's only a "study guide" ... that basically tells you all you need to know to pass the test, but doesn't tell you any more.

When I first got my license, in 1964, I had a book from AMECO called the "Amateur Radio Theory Course". It explained, in good detail, all of the bodies of knowledge that were required for the General class license at the time. It was normal book size (height and width) and about 250 pages as I recall. When I finsihed that book, I knew the stuff I needed to know ... I hadn't just learned to memorize a bunch of answers to questions out of a pool.

I would like to find ONE such book that contains the body of knowledge required for the Extra, if such a book is available.

i just upgraded. i bought an arrl study guide. studied/read it for about 6 hours, 3 hours on a friday, 3 hours on the next day, got up early sunday, surfed over to qrz.com and took the extra practice test about a dozen times during the morning, jumped in the car and drove to a ve session near here, plunked down $10 and a copy of my general license, took the test, (it's 50 questions and you must get at least 37 correct) and passed it.
it's a pretty touch test by the way. any way that's the way i did it. the extra spectrum makes the effort worth it, not near as crowded in the extra sub bands.

Rich,
The new Extra class test is 50 questions, not 35. It's still a mile wide, but it's an inch and a half deep, just like it always was. The Extra written never was all that hard, in my opinion. The Advanced was the killer.

That's because we engage in real communications, and not in activities that

PA-SitRep is a free, 100% non-commercial, nonprofit, e-mail list. This communications tool will enable you to monitor and report on major emergency situations throughout the State of Pennsylvania including weather emergencies, natural disasters, environmental disasters, civil disturbances and threats of terrorism, major fires, manhunts, and Amateur Radio Emergency Net activations.

If another major terrorist event should occur in Pennsylvania, list subscribers will immediately receive posts made to the PA-SitRep list. The PA-SitRep posting protocol caters to the users of digital cell phones as well as users of regular internet e-mail. Subscribers are encouraged to utilize their home, work and cell phone e-mail addresses for receiving messages from the PA-SitRep e-mail list. Subscribers are also encouraged to post major emergency situation reports to the list.

There are three classes of license now. The No-Code Technician which has a 35 written test and allows operations above 30 Mhz.

The General Class has a 35 question written test and a 5 wpm code test (very simple) plus the Technician requirements. Restricted (to certain sub bands) HF operations plus all VHF and above.

The Extra Class has a 50 question written test plus all General and Technician requirements.
All privileges in all bands.

Start with the Tech license. Get your feet wet.
Then move up. 5 wpm is not hard.

All hobbies are expensive. Just look at the shooting sports or flying.

In emergencies, Cell Phones have the problem having their systems overloaded. Or in the case of the WTC, the tower was taken out. The NYC FBI team is using Ham equipment (the Yaesu FT-817 5 watt HF/6m/2m/440 radio along with packs from Mountain Ops - http://www.moutainops.com) as there are no other means to communicate within the NYC area! (The radios have been modified to go out of band)

Hams are exempt from restricts on carrying a scanner in their cars in all states. Which may be a thing that you want to do.

And besides shortwave (HF), hams can communicate via satellite on the VHF/UHF bands. Plus they have their own version of the Internet called Packet Radio.

AMATEUR RADIO NEWSLINE(tm) REPORT #1263 - OCT. 26, 2001

Amateur Radio Newsline report number 1263 with a release date of Friday, October 26th, 2001 to follow in 5-4-3-2-1.

The following is a Q-S-T.

The ARRL says to get ready to fight to protect the 70 centimeter band and the FCC says to stop sending paper to its Washington office. These stories are first on Amateur Radio Newsline report number 1263 coming your way right now.

FORCED SPECTRUM SHARING: BATTLE LOOMS OVER PART 15 ACCESS TO 425-435 MHZ

The American Radio Relay League says that a battle is looming with the FCC over the agency’s proposes changes to its Part 15 rules governing unlicensed devices. Changes that would allow operation of advanced radio frequency identification devices between 425 and 435 MHz. And it could spell the word trouble for ham radio as we hear from our South-East Bureau Chief, David Black, KB4KCH.

The ARRL Letter explains the League's position. The FCC has decided to grant a request made earlier this year by SAVI Technology Inc. SAVI wants to us the spectrum for radio frequency package identification tags. To help make that happen, the FCC is issuing a Notice of Proposed Rule Making.

In comments on the VHF Reflector, Russ Pillsbury, K2TXB, discusses SAVI. He describes it as a big, multi-national company with significant worldwide funding. Pillsbury also says SAVI has large United States defense department contracts as well.

SAVI Technology sells radiolocation and wireless inventory control products. SAVI says it needs the rules change to meet customer demand for increased radio frequency identification system capabilities. And the FCC says it agrees with SAVI. The Commission says changes to its Part 15 rules would allow more advanced radio frequency ID systems on the 433 MHz band and would serve the public interest.

The Commission proposes creating a new section to Part 15. It would allow operating radio frequency ID systems between 425 and 435 MHz. Transmissions could be up to two minutes at a time. Maximum field strengths would be at the level now permitted only for extremely short-duration, intermittent control signals. And that's what ham radio operators don't like. They see that as a high potential for interference to Amateur Radio operations nationwide. And it's why the ARRL fiercely opposes the rules change.

The League takes a strong stand. The ARRL says the FCC has set the stage for another battle between amateur and commercial interests. League Executive Vice President Dave Sumner, K1ZZ, accuses the FCC of not having thought this one through. Sumner normally expresses ARRL Board policy. He says the Part 15 radio frequency identification proposal is: "contrary to the whole philosophy of the Part 15 rules."

Sumner says the radio identification devices SAVI proposes belong on other frequencies--specifically, those authorized for use by devices regulated by FCC Part 18 rules. Those regulations cover Industrial, Scientific and Medical devices. The FCC counters, saying the proposed rules change dealing with the ID systems is to harmonize its own rules with those in other parts of the world.

But Sumner fires back. He says 433.9 MHz is allocated for Industrial, Scientific and Medical devices only in ten European countries but not in the rest of the world. And it is not permitted in North and South America which make up I-T-U Region 2.

From the South East Bureau in Birmingham Alabama, I'm David Black, KB4KCH, for the Amateur Radio Newsline.

Another portion of the proposed rules change involves the Industrial, Scientific and Medical frequency allocation at 13.56 MHz. Dave Sumner says at first glance that proposal might permit increased emissions in the bottom 10 kHz of the 20-meter amateur band. Sumner adds that the ARRL will take a closer look at this section of the overall proposal before assessing its interference potential. The entire Notice of Proposed Rule Making and Order is contained in ET Docket 01-278 is available on the FCC website at www.fcc.gov and the ARRL Website at www.arrl.org. (ARRL, K2TXB, VHF Reflector)

FORCED SPECTRUM SHARING: FCC ISSUES 430 MHZ EXPERIMENTAL LICENSE FOR SOCAL

Hams in Southern California are on alert after the FCC issues an Experimental License to Digital Wireless Corporation in Los Angeles to test its systems in the 420 to 430 MHz Amateur Radio band. Digital Wireless Corporation is a manufacturer of secure, all-digital, Internet-linked trunked and non-trunked dispatch radio equipment that provides secure conversations and seamless network coverage for business, government and military users. The license with the call sign W-C-2-X-K-K permits holder Brent Jaybush and Digital wireless to operate within 5 km of their factory in Los Angeles through February 01, 2003. (FCC, ARNewsline(tm))

FORCED SPECTRUM SHARING: ARRL - NO COMMERCIAL USERS AT 2390-2400 MHz.

The ARRL says that it urges the FCC -- ‘in the strongest possible terms' -- to make no commercial allocations in the 2390 to 2400 MHz primary Amateur Radio Service allocation. In a bulletin to its members released on Wednesday, October 24th the League did however tentatively suggest hams might be willing to share the band with compatible government services that are displaced to make room for advanced wireless systems.

In its communication to the regulatory agency, the ARRL tells the FCC that advanced wireless systems are fundamentally incompatible with continued amateur access to the band.' The ARRL says the federal government 'has historically been a compatible sharing partner and that government uses would offer 'the least disruptive opportunities for sharing' in the band. (ARRL Bulletin)

RESTRUCTURING: NEW LICENSING REGS IN NEW ZEALAND

It’s a nation that now only has two license classes and a 5 word per minute code test. This as New Zealand joins the worldwide move toward simplifying the entry to ham radio. Amateur Radio Newsline’s Jim Meachen ZL2BHF has more:

The introduction of New Zealand’s Radiocommunications Regulations 2001 has brought changes for Amateur Radio Licensing in New Zealand. Forthwith there are only two classes of Amateur Radio Licence available -- The Limited and The General. The Novice and the Novice/Limited licences grades have been removed.

The Limited licensing procedure remains unchanged and the General licensing procedure is changed by the lowering of the Morse Code test to 5 words-per-minute. Novice and Novice/Limited licences will no longer be granted. Existing licences in these categories will remain valid under the new Regulations and with their original licence provisions.

New Zealand’s Licensing Authority the Ministry of Economic Development is encouraging existing Novice and Novice/Limited licensees to review their qualifications to see if they now meet the requirements of the new General Licence.

Amateur who have passed the previous Novice Morse test of 6 wpm and attained a pass of 50% or more in the theory and regulations examination, or 66% or more in the new multiple-choice computer-generated examination now meet the requirement for a General Licence and can immediately submit an application for an upgrade.

The existing ZL callsign grouping that indicates the class of licence of the holder will remain in force. This will require all licensees upgrading to a General licence to obtain a new callsign.

Included in the new Regulations is a long awaited provision for variation to the manner in which an amateur examination is carried out if there is need to vary the examination process for a candidate with a particular disability. Variation will be at the Chief Executive's discretion and the Ministry will deal with each case as it arises.

It is expected that the New Zealand Association of Radio Transmitter Morse Examiners will test at 12 wpm on request for those who may wish to meet this higher operating standard for overseas travel.

From Auckland New Zealand I'm Jim Meachen ZL2BHF for Newsline.

With more and more nations turning to 5 words per minute Morse testing, it appears as if it will soon be the standard -- worldwide. (NZART, ZL2BHF)

RADIO AND THE WAR: FCC STOPS ACCEPTING FILINGS IN ENVELOPES

If you are planning to write to the FCC in Washinton D-C – the word is – don't. This as the agency issues a public notice saying that filings enclosed in envelopes will not be accepted until further notice.

The reason is the same as the one CQ Magazine stated last week when it said it will no longer accept mailed in paper logs – the possibility of bio contamination. And while the FCC notice makes no direct reference to the anthrax scare, the Broadcasting and Cable newsletter says most view it at as a precautionary.

In a nutshell, heres what the FCC says to do. Document filers and messengers delivering paper communications to the agency will be asked to dispose of envelopes in a receptacle outside of its Washington, D.C., headquarters. Mail and packages delivered to the agency will be opened at an off-site location. If you must send a paper filing to the FCC, the only way it can be done is by clipping the papers together with a rubber band or other fastener with no envelope. Then you either hand carry it or courier it to 9300 East Hampton Drive, in Capitol Heights, Maryland. Those requesting confidential treatment of their documents must have materials placed in commission-provided envelopes. The FCC also says that filers have the option of submitting any document electronically.

And what about filings by U-S Mail to the Gettysburg Licensing facility in Pennslvania? Items like ham radio license renewals and the like? According to the ARRL Letter, the public notice on FCC mail makes no mention of any change in procedures regarding filings in envelopes to Gettysburg, but that could change at any time. RADIO AND THE WAR: RADIO SOLO HEARD IN THE USA

Last week we reported that the United States has been air dropping Bay Gen wind up radios into Afghanistan. We also said that the government six EC-130 planes that make up the Air National Guard's Commando Solo fleet serve as flying radio stations. Now we can give you an idea of what the airborn transmission to the Afghan populations sounds like. Take a listen:

Audio here
--

That signal was reportedly recorded by a shortwave listener on the U-S East coast on October 18th and posted to the Internet. And while we do not know exactly what's being said, an English translation posted to the Pentagon's website indicates its probably a transmission to Taliban fighters and might well say: "When you decide to surrender, approach United States forces with your hands in the air. Sling your weapon across your back muzzle towards the ground. Remove your magazine and expel any rounds. Doing this is your only chance of survival." (shortwave.com, ARNewsline(tm))

RADIO AND THE WAR: A RUN ON RADIOS

One of the hottest selling consumer electronic items since September 11th is the scanner radio. According to several news reports, the people buying them say that it gives them a sense of security knowing what's taking place in the community in light of the terror attacks on New York City and the Pentagon.

One story says that the Radio Shack chain, based in Fort Worth, Texas, has reported a major increase in sales. The same with such dealers as Scanner World USA, a mail-order business based in Albany, N.Y., and Uniden America Corp. of Fort Worth. In fact, some retailers report sales are up 10 percent to 30 percent compared with the same period last year.

That article quotes Norm Schrein, KA8PGJ, who is president of the Bearcat Radio Club in Dayton, Ohio. Schrein says he went to a trade show in Peoria, Illinois, four days after the attack. Business was so brisk that his stock of scanners was all but cleaned out.

But scanners are not the only hot product running off dealer shelves these days. All-band shortwave radios are running a close second. According to one news story the lure of shortwave receivers is that they allow for listening to broadcasts from around the world, including airline, shipping and military communications. Other reports say that shortwave gives the public yet another avenue to get news items not regularly reported by the U-S press. (Various published news reports)

ENFORCEMENT: DON'T USE ILLEGAL GEAR FOR BUSINESS

A Kentucky towing company is told to stop using the ham bands to communicate. This after the FCC receives complaints that the company's trucks have been heard on 10 meters. Riley Hollingsworth, is the FCC's Special Counsel for Amateur Radio enforcement matters:

Hollingsworth: “We sent a warning notice to STI Towing and Repair in Walton and Florence Kentucky about using 10 meter Amateur equipment in their business operation. Related to that, we sent a warning to an employee licensee of the company [named] Robert McCoy, N4ZTA of Florence Kentucky about the same matter.

Now that employee may have equipped the trucks wth unlicensed equipment. The trucks are tow-trucks number 21, 27, 52, 97, 99 and RR4 operating in the Walton and Florence Kentucky areas.”

STI Towing and Repair was given the usual time to respond. (FCC, RAIN)

ARRL MEMBERS: THE LEAGUE NEEDS YOU IN THE CC&R EFFORT

If you are an ARRL member, listen up. This one is for you.

Have you ever been denied the ability to put up an antenna, or to operate an Amateur Radio transmitter? Have you had any other restriction on your Amateur Radio activities because you live in a housing development or condominium complex governed by private land use regulations? Well, the ARRL Board of Directors has adopted a goal of trying for legislative action that helps overcome the unreasonable restrictions of C-C-and R’s that prohibit or restrict Amateur Radio antennas. And you can help. Heres how.

According to the ARRL Letter, the league has a sample letter at its website. That’s in cyberspace at www.arrl.org. If you are affected by a CC&R, or know someone in your Congressional district who is, please adapt the sample letter to your own situation and consider sending it to your member of Congress. And if you decide to write please send a copy to the ARRL's Office of Legislative Affairs.

AWARDS: DARA OPENS NOMINATIONS FOR HAM OF THE YEAR

The Dayton Amateur Radio Association says its opening the nominating period for the 2002 Dayton Hamvention Awards. There are three awards presented each year. They are the Radio Amateur of the Year, Special Achievement, and Technical Excellence.

The Radio Amateur of the Year is described as the special person who has made a long term commitment to the advancement of amateur radio. We are looking for a well-rounded individual who has contributed to our hobby in some outstanding way. The Technical Excellence award is for the person who has made an outstanding technical advancement in the field of amateur radio while the Special Achievement Award is reserved for the ham who has made an outstanding contribution to the advancement of amateur radio. This latter award is usually given to a respected amateur who spearheaded a single significant project.

All amateurs Novice through Extra are eligible. Awards are decided by the Awards Committee, based partially upon the information received. Magazine articles, newsletters, newspaper clippings, videos and the like are appreciated but cannot be returned. The deadline for nominations is January 31, 2002. Nominations can be submitted by US Mail to Post Office Box 964, Dayton Ohio 45401 or by completing the convenient e-form on the web at www.hamvention.org. (DARA)

ON THE AIR: CULBERTSON A HIT AT JOTA 2001

Astronaut Frank Culbertson left a global trail of excited Scouts the weekend of October 20 th as he made rapid-fire QSO's during the worldwide Jamboree-on-the-Air. The commander of the Expedition Three crew on board the International Space Station used the NA1SS call sign to rack up contacts in many places including Australia. There on Saturday, the 20th, Tony Hutcheson, VK5ZAI, took a portable station to the Riverland Scout Hall where a crowd of about 60 watched as one of the senior Girl Scouts asked Culbertson a question. Back here in the United States, sixteen Boy Scouts from Troop 48 in New Orleans gathered at the station of K5CFW, to pull off a quick QSO.

On the early afternoon pass over the U-S, KD4SFF, using the phonetics "Scouting for Fun," set up a station in his backyard in Greenville, South Carolina. He had five Scouts from Boy Scout Troop 555 over. Frank told one of them that he had grown up in South Carolina, and that he, too, had been a Scout.

Culbertson has been very active on the 2 meter band from the ISS. He talks to several schools each week as well as numerous open QSO’s worldwide. (AMSAT)

INTERNATIONAL: WINLINK ILLEGAL TO OPERATE IN VK

It appears that the very popular WINLINK messaging system is illegal to use in Australia. WINLINK is a program and intertie network that provides full-featured digital E-mail transfer, position reporting and weather service to the global amateur radio community where Internet access is not available. But as Q-News Graham Kemp VK4BB, tells us, the Australian Communications Agency says – “no!”

In news services this week we see the WIA's Federal Technical Advisory Committee Chairman John Martin VK3KWA reminding operators it's "just not on" to operate this program "down under". John has had discussion with the ACA on the topic, it's not a simple matter of changing the amateur regulations, rather the issue is tied in with legislation including the Telecommunications Act.

John concludes that in the short term there is no chance whatsoever of any change in the ACA's ruling that Winlink is illegal in Australia. Packet radio bulletin board operators should also be very careful about forwarding any Winlink traffic, and preferably filter it for manual checking before allowing it to go through.

Currently there are WINLINK nodes in the United States and nations worldwide. The one major exception is Australia. For the rest of the world where it is legal, more information is on the web at www.winlink.org. (Q-News)

ON THE AIR: LONG PATH FRIENDSHIP NET.

In this time of turmoil a group of hams from around the world are going to try to bring some light to the end of a rather dark tunnel. This with a new on-the-air fellowship gathering called the Long Path Friendship Net.

The net will start at 1430 UTC, Sundays on 14.165 MHz with K6HAE and WTZ in California and ZS6AN in South Africa as control stations. The founders say that this is a big planet and there are enough natural disasters to be dealt with as well as some sad man-made ones for which the proficient and friendly radio operator is a valued contributor.

Again, that’s the new Long Path Friendship Net every Sunday at 1430 UTC on 14.165 MHz in the Extra segment of the 20 meter band. (Press release)

THAT FINAL ITEM: REAL SKY HOOKS

And finally this week, you may find this one hard to believe, but its true. It comes under the heading of an honest to goodness sky hook -- and no we are not kidding. Bill Pasternak, WA6ITF, has more:

--

The proposal for these sky hooks comes from ATG industries in southern England. It wants to build reflective airships and have them operate at a height of 65,000 feet.

These craft would be unmanned and would station keep using solar powered electric engines and a lightweight diesel engine. ATG claims that these "skyhook" ships could keep position for up to 5 years. That they could act as a transponders for services such mobile telephones, broadband internet and digital radio.

ATG estimates that nineteen of these sky hook ships could cover most of the U.K. and replace as many as 4000 mobile telephone poles and up to 10,000 towers that are expected to be needed for the new G-3 technology.

For the Amateur Radio Newsline, I’m Bill Pasternak, WA6ITF.

Its not known how long these sky hook ships will take to develop or if they will ever be deployed. (Telecom Daily)

Yup, and the First Phone was a walk in the sunshine next to the Second.
I was licensed in 1955 age 11 and let it all expire for the Nam (did not stop recruitment BTW) so when I bopped in to take the exams again in the early 70s, barely passing the 13, I finished the General in one big hurry.
The FCC lady dug in her bag and gave me an Advanced that included about every CB myth in existence on antenna theory. That one kept me awake.
Guess I looked like a fugitive from 10-4 land.

Should have remembered the 50.

Geeze.."Depends Day" was a "B" grade movie made by Saliva Sally and Wrong Way...She still resides in a dental rental in Hiram, Georgia. Sally Saliva holds a Novice ticket and can often be heard (illegally) in the General portions of the Ham bands.
Sally and her latest love, The Enjunear, are often heard bouncing around the 220 MHz areas of the Novice Band...they use this band to coordinate stops at the local liquor stores and check-cashing outlets.
Saliva Sally has made at least one movie for which she is most famous.
For more information about Saliva Sally's movie, look at Mike's Package Store agenda for show times.
Now we have to determine if she is "Sally Saliva" or "Saliva Sally". Only Wrong Way knows for sure....

I wonder how many of "them" listen to hate-radio programmes that are carried on USA domestic shortwave radio?
Wonder if that wanted felon from Ky who ran UPR 6.900 mHz radio had a "hand" in this? Methinks the FCC perhaps should get it's act in gear and investigate program content of the remaining shortwave broadcasts out there.

FBI and CIA Suspect Domestic Extremists - Officials Doubt Any Links to Bin Laden
By Bob Woodward and Dan Eggen
Washington Post Staff Writers
October 27, 2001

Top FBI and CIA officials believe that the anthrax attacks on Washington, New York and Florida are likely the work of one or more extremists in the United States who are probably not connected to Osama bin Laden's al Qaeda terrorist organization, government officials said yesterday.

Senior officials also are increasingly concerned that the bioterrorism is diverting public attention from the larger threat posed by bin Laden and his network, who are believed to be planning a second wave of attacks against U.S. interests here or abroad that could come at any time, officials said. None of the 60 to 80 threat reports gathered daily by U.S. intelligence agencies has connected the envelopes containing anthrax spores to al Qaeda or other known organized terrorist groups, and the evidence gleaned from the spore samples so far provides no solid link to a foreign government or laboratory, several officials said. "Everything seems to lean toward a domestic source," one senior official said. "Nothing seems to fit with an overseas terrorist type operation."

The FBI and U.S. Postal Inspection Service are considering a wide range of domestic possibilities, including associates of right-wing hate groups and U.S. residents sympathetic to the causes of Islamic extremists. But investigators have no clear suspects, and are not even certain whether there are other undetected letters that contained the deadly microbe.

But federal health officials said yesterday that a new case of pulmonary anthrax in a man who worked at a State Department mail facility in Northern Virginia has persuaded them that more than one contaminated letter may have been sent to the Washington area. Health experts previously believed that a single letter, sent to the office of Senate Majority Leader Thomas A. Daschle (D-S.D.), likely caused all the anthrax reports in the Washington area as it came in contact with other pieces of mail in the system. Now the "working hypothesis would be that this is not cross-contamination," said Jeffrey Koplan, director of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. "There is not enough infectious material from cross-contamination to do that."

However, ongoing searches of truckloads of undelivered mail to the U.S. Capitol and other government buildings has turned up no other letters laced with anthrax bacteria, leading FBI officials to assume that the Daschle letter may still be the only local source. Two employees at the U.S. Postal Service's Brentwood facility in Washington have died from inhaling the lethal bacteria, and three other local postal workers have contracted inhalational anthrax.

"This envelope, Daschle's envelope, is not watertight or airtight or anything like that," one law enforcement official said. "It's porous. At one or two microns, there's plenty of room for the spores to escape." Although there is consensus at the FBI and CIA that al Qaeda associates are planning more serious attacks, "nobody believes the anthrax scare we are going through is" the next wave of terrorism, one senior official said. "There is no intelligence on it and it does not fit any [al Qaeda] pattern."

No links between known foreign terrorist groups and the anthrax letters have shown up on the daily Top Secret Threat Matrix, which includes the latest raw intelligence on potential bombings, hijackings or other terrorist attacks, one official said. Though "lots of things are alarming" on the list, there is little agreement on how, when or where an attack might be launched, officials said. FBI Director Robert S. Mueller III warned earlier this week that additional terror attacks are a "distinct possibility."

President Bush and other top U.S. officials have publicly voiced their suspicion that bin Laden and al Qaeda -- accused of carrying out the Sept. 11 suicide assaults on the World Trade Center and Pentagon -- may be responsible for the anthrax mailings.

But Mueller, Attorney General John D. Ashcroft and other law enforcement officials have said they have discovered no links between the mailings and bin Laden. Authorities, speaking on condition of anonymity yesterday, said they are increasingly doubtful that any connections will be found. One official said the only significant clue raising the possibility of foreign terrorist involvement is the conclusion of FBI behavioral scientists, who believe that whoever wrote the three letters delivered to Daschle, NBC News and the New York Post did not learn English as a first language.

But the writer could have lived in this country for some time, and the other evidence gathered so far points away from a foreign source, several officials said. The anti-Israel message in the anthrax letters and bin Laden's statements are echoed by U.S. extremist groups, said Rabbi Abraham Cooper, associate director of the Simon Wiesenthal Center in Los Angeles.
One group, Aryan Action, praises the Sept. 11 attacks on its Web site and declares: "Either you're fighting with the jews against al Qaeda, or you support al Qaeda fighting against the jews."

Cooper said a meeting this year in Beirut was attended by neo-Nazis and Islamic extremists united in their hatred of Jews. "Some extremists are now globalized," he said. White supremacists have been linked with anthrax in the past, but not in relation to an attack. Larry Wayne Harris, an Ohio microbiologist and former member of the Aryan Nations, was convicted of wire fraud in 1997 after he obtained three vials of bubonic plague germs through the mail. He was arrested the next year near Las Vegas when the FBI acted on a tip that he was carrying anthrax. But agents found harmless anthrax vaccine in the trunk of his car.

Cooper and officials at the Southern Poverty Law Project, which monitors U.S. hate groups, said they have seen no evidence of a domestic group capable of launching a sophisticated anthrax attack. One of the challenges that a would-be terrorist faces is learning how to alter the anthrax so that it will float in the air and disperse widely. The Washington Post reported this week that the spores in the Daschle letter had been treated with a chemical additive using technology so sophisticated that it almost certainly came from the United States, Iraq or the former Soviet Union.

White House spokesman Ari Fleischer said yesterday, however, that investigators believe a broad range of people are capable of the crime. "The qualityanthrax sent to Senator Daschle's office could be produced by a Ph.D. microbiologist and a sophisticated laboratory," he told reporters.

U.S. officials said the evidence so far does not point to either Russia or Iraq. However, FBI checks of private and government laboratories in the United States have not yet revealed any missing anthrax stockpiles, disgruntled scientists or other suspicious circumstances, one top official said.

Koplan, the CDC director, said he suspects more than one letter was involved based on his understanding of how difficult it is to contract inhalational anthrax. To cause the disease, 8,000 to 10,000 anthrax spores must enter a person's lungs.

Although some officials said it is possible for that many spores to have sloughed off the Daschle letter onto another piece of mail, Koplan said that is hard to imagine. "We all think that would be highly unlikely to virtually impossible," he said.
Koplan speculated that there may have been multiple mailings and that "there may be several places within the federal government that have been deemed targets." By contrast, the minuscule amounts of anthrax bacteria discovered at Walter Reed Army Medical Center and the CIA "may well represent cross-contamination," Koplan said.

William C. Patrick, who is retired from the U.S. Army installation at Fort Detrick, Md., said extensive studies show that once anthrax spores hit the ground or other surfaces they stick, and are very hard to "re-aerosolize. There's a theoretical possibility that a few spores picked up by an envelope might cause a skin anthrax infection, but a case of inhalational anthrax "is highly unlikely," Patrick said.
